

Old Guard Plans Cruise To Visit Havana, Panama And Other Points On Picturesque Caribbean

Preliminary plans for the sailing of Atlanta's Old Guard on a Caribbean sea cruise, which will begin Saturday, July 12, from New Orleans, were unfolded Saturday by Colonel W. M. Camp, commander, and Will L. Hancock, adjutant and treasurer.

A prospectus, carrying the details of the cruise, which will include Havana, Panama, the Canal Zone and Puerto Barrios, and which will take 16 days to make, was being circulated to members of the organization, one of the oldest and most exclusive in Georgia.

The trip will be made aboard the steamship Arturo, an oil-burner, operated by the United Fruit Company and known as one of the best equipped of the Great White fleet.

Plans call for 75 passengers, and officials announced that in addition to members of the Old Guard there will be room for several others who might wish to accompany them. Any person wishing to make the trip should communicate with Mr. Hancock, and their names will be submitted to a committee from the organization for passage.

Some of the most historic and most picturesque spots in the Caribbean sea will be visited by those in the party. Beautiful Havana, old landmarks which even the march of progress have left as testimonials of the early days of civilization in America, the wonderful engineering feats of the United States government in construction of the Panama Canal, and many other interesting and unique places will be included in the itinerary.

"No effort will be spared to make this the biggest and most eventful cruise the Old Guard has ever made," Mr. Hancock said Saturday. "Every detail will be attended to before we sail. Motor trips mapped out to places of interest include a run to Malabar, Maricao beach, the country club, the Casino grounds, the Oriental race track, and Central park in Havana.

"In addition a motor boat trip will be made to Morro castle and Cabanas fortress also is on the schedule. From the lighthouse one gets a panorama of the surrounding country. "At Cristobal, the Canal Zone, there will be an inspection of the world famous Gatun locks, spillways emergency dams and other installations made for the purpose of completing the Panama Canal. This feature alone will be of great educational value.

"We are trying to arrange a trip to Rio Duce via motor boat from Puerto Castilla at Guatemala. Some of the most picturesque country in the world is found here. There will be a series of dinners, parties, dances, etc., aboard the ship, and several dinners ashore in the Spanish country also are included in the program. Members of the Old Guard are planning the biggest and most successful cruise ever staged in its history."

The Old Guard is composed of prominent Atlantans, most of whom are some of former members of the Gate City Guard, which was organized in 1853. The Old Guard as an organization was organized in 1893 and is recognized as one of the most exclusive in the entire country. Some of Atlanta's most prominent citizens are actively identified with the organization.

DRY JONES MAY BE SONES LAW VICTIM

Continued from First Page.

my life and there was not a single drop of liquor in my baggage." He said he regarded the incident as closed, but Mr. Tuttle's announcement said that "in view of the conflicting statements attributed to the customs officials and to Representative Morgan our office on Monday will institute an immediate and thorough investigation."

May Reach Grand Jury

The customs inspectors, L. E. Crawford and James McCabe, who examined the representative's luggage, will be questioned before the federal grand jury if in Tuttle's opinion the agent's statements warrant such action. Before the grand jury Mr. Morgan could reiterate his denial.

The inquiry will seek to establish whether the customs law was broken and whether there was a violation of the Jones act, for which Mr. Morgan voted and which imposes a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $5,000 fine for breaking the prohibition law.

Mr. Tuttle acted on his own after the matter had been brought to his attention. The inspectors' reports quoted Mr. Morgan as admitting that he had the liquor in his bag, and added that the representative had threatened to "take care" of one of the inspectors on his arrival in Washington.

Before Mr. Morgan's identity had been learned, the inspectors said, one of his grips was opened against his repeated protests and his assertion that he had the right of free entry without search.

DE KING FUNERAL IS GREAT SPECTACLE

Aurora, Ill., March 30.—(United News).—In tribute, in sympathy and out of curiosity, thousands of citizens of Aurora and surrounding towns today attended the funeral of Mrs. Lillian DeKing, who was slain by a county day agent in a raid on her home last week.

The funeral was the greatest spectacle of its kind this town of 40,000 persons ever had experienced. Long before the hour set for the brief services at the home, just beyond the northern limits of the city, mourners and curious ones began to gather.

Unusually Interesting Tallulah Falls Benefit Program To Be Given on April 8

Photo by Bill Mason, Staff Photographer.

Above are shown some of the members of the Young Girls' circle who are active in aiding the Young Matrons' circle in its sponsorship of a great midnight show to be given April 8 at Keith's Georgia theater in a benefit for the Tallulah Falls Industrial school. Left to right are the Misses Isabel Breitenbucher, Marion Hull Smith, Sena Knox, Gertrude Harris, Harriet Turman and Runa Erwin. These young ladies, with other members of the girls' organization, have been assisting in the ticket sales and will co-operate with the matrons' group throughout the planning of the production.

Variety in truth will be afforded by the stage portion of the monster midnight show to be presented April 8, at Keith's Georgia theater, as a benefit for the Tallulah Falls Industrial school. About 15 acts will appear on the bill and included in these will be singers, dancers, comedians, instrumentalists, gymnasts, acrobats, a mind reader, and in point of fact, at least one exponent of every type of entertainment commonly encountered on the vaudeville stage.

"Queen of the Night Clubs," a drama of New York night life, featuring that colorful figure, Texas Guinan, has been selected as the feature picture to run in conjunction with the stage show.

In announcing the stage acts Saturday, M. L. Semon, manager of Keith's and head of the local showmen's committee which is assisting in the production, stated that a dozen acts are now assured while it is practically certain that three and perhaps more will be added. His theater and Loe's Capitol prize will offer their complete variety bills, while the Howard is expected to add some specialty acts as well as the services of Al Short, who will act as master of ceremonies.

In automobiles and on foot they came to express sympathy or to view the body of the woman who died at the hands of Deputy Sheriff Roy Smith brought protests from anti-prohibitionists throughout the country. In a flower-packed room, the body lay in its expensive coffin where for several hours a steady stream of persons passed through the little frame cottage.

Two-Mile-Long Procession

Along Aurora avenue on a high bluff overlooking the Fox river, highway patrolmen and traffic officers were kept busy clearing a path for the cortege which was more than two miles long.

The last two cars in the procession had not left the DeKing home when the casket was lifted from the hearse and carried into the St. Joseph's Catholic church where four priests were waiting.

Eight hundred persons were crowded in the church, but several times that number were unable to enter the two-story brick structure. The overflow crowd lined the curbing for blocks on each side, stood on lawns and porches, with heads bowed as the procession passed.

Friends and relatives of Mrs. DeKing, gathered on the lawn of the home watching the mourners pass in and out of the little screen doorway, were bitter in their denunciation of the officer who raided the home several days ago, struck down Joseph DeKing with the butt end of a shotgun, and then fired the fatal charge at his wife.

Friends Comfort Orphan

The assembled throng represented all walks of life. Members of various local unions, carpenters, plumbers, machinists and others stood side by side with prominent business men and city officials and discussed the incident that has aroused the city and Kane county as never before.

Gerald, the little bright-eyed boy who lost his mother in the raid of the dry agents, was the center of attraction. The boy had gone to the defense of his mother and father when he saw them fall to the floor, the mother dead, the father seriously hurt. The youngster grabbed a revolver and fired a bullet into the hip of Deputy Smith, a wound which has caused the concern of doctors who operated on him in Elgin last week.

Relatives and friends put comforting arms around Gerald today as he walked about the yard. The boy talked freely with his friends and said he did not want to kill any one. "I did not want them to kill my mother and father," he said.

Sobs were heard from various sections of the church as the Rev. Father Walter Fasnacht, of Glenn Ellyn, delivered his words of eulogy and comfort.

While the technical end of the matter is being capably handled by Atlanta's public spirited showmen, other details are being arranged by members of the Young Matrons' circle, sponsors of the show, with the assistance of the Young Girls' circle.

WARRANT EVIDENCE ONLY HEARSAY

Aurora, Ill., March 30.—(AP)—Boyd Fairchild, under-cover agent, who swore out the warrant which resulted in the raid on the DeKing home here, revealed today that he did not have first-hand knowledge that liquor was sold at the DeKing home.

Fairchild said that he obtained his information from a "friend." The agent said in swearing out the warrant that he had purchased liquor there. There is a possibility that he will face perjury charges, if these facts are true, it was said.

It was revealed that prohibition agents here had bribed a seven-year-old boy to purchase liquor for them. Chris Miller, in seeking to block efforts to have his son, Bobbie, called as a witness in a prohibition violation case, told how Bobbie had been given a quarter by prohibition agents for buying a pint of liquor from the home of Joe and Rosie Kline. They gave him a dollar and told him to go ask Kline for "a pint," Miller said.

Miller said he did not learn of this until two men called at his home two days ago to try and get the boy to appear as a witness against the Klines. He said he became so enraged he threatened to shoot the two men unless they left his home.

After Fairchild's statement, Hadley, representing the attorney general, said that after a cursory examination of the search warrant for the DeKing home he believed it was legal. He said he had been so sure of his examination had been merely superficial.

MICHAELSON BELIEVED ON WAY TO FLORIDA

Chicago, March 30.—(AP)—The arrest of Congressman M. A. Michaelson was the objective today of a deputy sent out by the United States marshal's office armed with a warrant charging him with violation of the dry law.

"If he isn't at home, camp there until he shows up," was the instruction given the deputy. It appeared week in the foyer of Keith's theater. Under the direction of Mrs. Herbert Reynolds, many outstanding examples of the students' handiwork have been secured for an attractive and unusual exhibit. Included are woven baskets, rugs and blankets, many of them of striking beauty and all the products of the boys and girls at the school.

Mrs. Virginia H. Warren, in general charge of ticket sales, announced Saturday that on Monday seats for the show will be placed on sale at the box office of the larger downtown theaters while screen "trailer" announcements will be used at these theaters.

Mrs. Howard Candler, Jr., also announced that her corps of comely "hostess ushers" who will add a note of hospitality to greeting the guests are in readiness for the affair and quite "up" on the correct methods for ushers.

Through the cooperation of the theater owners, executives, artists, employers and musicians, the show is to be offered without overhead expense of any kind, thus assuring that all receipts will go undiminished to the school.

as though the officer might be sitting on the doorstep some time, because it was reported Representative Michaelson had gone to Florida.

It was in Jacksonville the trouble started, due to the keen nose of a city policeman, and the jealousy of two trunks the congressman was bringing from Havana. Although Mr. Michaelson was indicted last October, the public knew nothing of the affair until two days ago.

I'M ALONE CASE NOT TO BE DROPPED

Washington, March 30.—(AP)—The department of justice announced today that there is no intention at present to drop the case against the captain and crew of the Canadian run-runner I'm Alone sunk March 22 by a coast guard patrol boat.

Full facts in the case have been placed before Attorney-General Mitchell. The material being studied by the department of justice includes the formal reports on the preliminary hearings in the case prepared by Arthur Henderson, a special assistant attorney-general assigned to follow the case.

Reports from New Orleans which said the department had decided to drop the pending cases against the crew of the schooner were contradicted by the department, which said there would be no conclusion about the case until this material is carefully considered, nor until after there has been a conference with the state department.

Meanwhile, pending instructions from its government, the Canadian legation is holding to its original position on the international aspects of the case. This contention will be predicated on the question of whether pursuit of a suspected vessel outside the one-hour sailing limit of the anti-smuggling treaty of 1924 is permissible, whether the nature of the chase was a proper one and whether the case justifies measures such as the sinking of the vessel and the accompanying loss of life.

WISCONSIN TO VOTE TUESDAY ON DRY APPEAL

Milwaukee, Wis., March 30.—(AP)—Wisconsin will hold a prohibition enforcement referendum Tuesday and indications tonight were the bitter fight between wet and dry factions would be carried on without letup until the time set for opening of the polls.

The referendum itself is divided into two questions, one proposing repeal of the state enforcement act and the second to remove the penalties for possession and sale of beer of 2.75 per cent alcoholic content.

The drys, headed by the Anti-Saloon League, W. C. T. U., the prohibition party and many church bodies of the state, plan to top their campaign tomorrow with major pleas.

The wet forces, led by Mayor Henry Curran, national president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, have urged voters to join the states of Nevada, New York, Maryland and Montana in disowning prohibition.

Women's organizations have urged voters to "stand by President Hoover" and Warren G. G. led by Major Henry Curran, national president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, have urged voters to join the states of Nevada, New York, Maryland and Montana in disowning prohibition.

The referendum was passed by a legislature controlled by republicans, a majority of whom are aligned with Governor Walter J. Kohler, one of President Hoover's supporters. Governor Kohler has remained silent on the referendum.

MRS. ROBERT MORAN DIES AT HOME HERE

Illness Fatal to Wife of Constitution Night City Editor.

Mrs. Robert Moran, 47, died at about noon Saturday at the residence, 645 Central avenue, after a long illness.

For many years a Baptist, Mrs. Moran several years ago changed her belief to that of the Seven-Day Adventists and during the later years of her life was particularly active in the work of that denomination.

Mrs. Moran is survived by her husband, Robert Moran, night city editor of The Constitution; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hamlin; five sisters, Mrs. J. B. Baggarly; Mrs. William Hower, of Buffalo, N. Y.; Mrs. Frank Walshall, Mrs. T. L. Adams and Mrs. B. M. Van Buren, of Amsterdam, Ga.;

Cash Cotton Prizes Offered By Fair to South's Farmers

Farmers living in Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Florida will compete for substantial cash prizes offered for the best single stalks of cotton, at the national cotton show which will be held at the Southeastern Fair in Atlanta, it was announced Saturday.

Sixty outstanding stalks of cotton will be awarded cash prizes ranging from $1,000 down to $10, it was said. The $1,000 prize will go to the best single stalk of cotton in the south to be selected from among the three stalks winning first prize at each of the three fairs, Atlanta, Memphis and Dallas.

Three brothers, H. L., L. L. and H. F. Hamlin, and three sisters-in-law, with the exception of her husband and two sisters her family resides in Macon. Funeral services will be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the chapel of the J. Austin Dillon Co. Dr. J. R. Mitchell will be in charge and burial will be in Greenwood cemetery, immediately after the funeral rites.

Dallas. These three winning stalks will be awarded $500 cash at Memphis, Atlanta and Dallas, and the best one of the three will be awarded an additional $500 at a special judging at Dallas.

Single stalks winning second place at each of the three fairs will receive $300 cash, third $200, fourth $100, fifth $50, sixth to tenth inclusive $25 each, and 11th to 20th inclusive $10 each. Oklahoma and Texas farmers will compete at the Dallas state fair of Texas, and Tennessee, Mississippi, Arkansas, Louisiana, Missouri and Kentucky farmers will compete at the Tri-State fair at Memphis.

Entry blanks and information may be had by communicating with the national cotton show in Atlanta, Dallas, or Memphis. Judging will be done by outstanding cotton authorities from each section, and selection will be made on the basis of score cards prepared by competent agricultural authorities, including experiment station and agricultural college workers.

CABLE'S

Greater Success in Life

—because of the PIANO

NO longer is the boy who knows how to play the Piano looked upon as a "sissy." Instead, he is more than likely to be a leader among his fellows—both now and in the future. In fact, the most successful men of today are genuine lovers of music, and they especially admire the Piano, the most inspiring of all instruments. Today, your boy can quickly learn to play the Piano by means of new, simple methods—with the added advantage of low-cost group instruction in school.

AND here is an exceptional contribution from Cable's! Any home choosing its first piano will be presented with a generous concession on any Cable-made piano of your choice—never before offered on the standard, nationally-known Cable products.

Easiest of Terms to Responsible Buyers

CABLE

Piano Company

84 N. Broad Street WALNUT 1041

DEPENDABLE

TO IDENTIFY GENUINE ASPIRIN

The Bayer Cross on every tablet identifies genuine Bayer Aspirin. When buying it, look for Bayer on the box, and the word genuine printed in red.

Bayer-Tablets Aspirin

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

LOFTIS

BROS. & CO.

ESTABLISHED 1890

36 Broad St., S. W.

Cor. Broad and Alabama Sts.

Entrance on the Corner

"Irene" Blue White Diamond. Solid 18k white gold ring. $37.50

Diamond Wrist Watch. An appealing design in solid 18k white gold, set with 4 brilliant blue white diamonds. Finest jewel movement. Special value $1.00 a Week $44

"Florence" Brilliant blue white Diamond. Solid 18k white gold ring. $100

Two-Toned Strap Watch. White rolled gold plated case with green gold filled edge. Luminous hands and numerals. Very special $10.50

We invite you to open a charge account—weekly or monthly terms to suit your convenience.

Open Mondays and Saturdays Till 9:30 P. M. Other Days Till 6:30 P. M. Call or Write for Catalog 374. Phone Bell, Walnut 3737

If you wish to order by mail

Any article in this ad will be sent you on down payment of 10% of total price. Balance payable as specified.

Loftis Bros. & Co., 36 S. Broad St., Atlanta, Ga.

Send for FREE Catalog!

FILL OUT COUPON AND MAIL TO US TODAY

Name _____

Local Address _____

Town _____ State _____

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

New World DICTIONARY

Based on the Original Webster

COUPON

Clip 3 Coupons

on consecutive days and present or mail same to this paper with 98c

This new high class up-to-date Dictionary is far in advance of any similar volume heretofore distributed by newspapers. Larger page, more words to page, more pages and contains many thousands more words, many new words not published in any other Dictionary. Unquestioned for Scholarship. Durable bound in dark green textile leather, gold stamping.

Special—To get it bound in embossed art cover, maroon and old gold, with full gold edges and thumb indexed, send $1.00 extra.

MAIL ORDERS If by mail, add 12c to pay postage, making $1.10 net for the 98c, or $2.10 net for the $1.98 Dictionary.

PIANO JAZZ

GUARANTEED IN 30 LESSONS

Beginners' or Advanced Song on 1st Lesson. No scales. No exercises. Taught by Note and by Rule.

Below are a few of our students. Call them for reference.

Miss Mattie Smith, WA. 4164.
Mrs. A. L. Camp, DE. 3261-J.
Miss Virginia Phillips, WA. 7684.
Mrs. H. A. Roberts, DE. 1888-W.
Mr. Harry Gault, HE. 478.
Miss Elsie Ewing, HE. 4540-7.
Mr. Ramon De Larras, DE. 6219-J.
Mr. Richard Blanchard, DE. 2701-J.
Mr. Eugene Diamond, DE. 2784-W.
Mr. W. B. Roberts, BU. 728-W.
Miss Emma Gonalla, BU. 6153.
Mr. Charles Turner, FA. 1065-J.

If at the completion of the thirty-lesson course you cannot play all popular songs, in an improvised style (provided you have practiced one hour each day) we will refund all money paid in.

Come in for a Free Demonstration. Free Practice Rooms.

Amro Studio

191 Peachtree St. Opposite 4th Nat'l Bank Bldg.

EMORY ORCHESTRA PLAYS WEDNESDAY

Concert Will Be in Auditorium of Woman's Club.

The Emory Glee Club and orchestra, Dr. Malcolm H. Dewey, director, will be presented in concert by the Atlanta Music Club at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning in the auditorium of the Atlanta Woman's Club as the seventh in the club's morning musicale series according to announcement by Mrs. Wilmer L. Moore, president of the Music club.

The appearance of the Glee club has come to be an annual event, and one regarded with peculiar interest and civic pride, particularly in view of the fact that the organization has been accorded recognition not only in cities outside of Atlanta, but in Europe, for the quality of singing consistently maintained. The same may be said of the orchestra for its serious aims and high standard of performance.

Special Program. That the program Wednesday morning, a part of which has been prepared especially for the Music club, may be enjoyed by more people, officials of the club have extended a special invitation to all members of the Woman's club and to the faculty and students of Emory university and their friends to be the special guests of the club on this occasion.

Miss Nana Tucker, chairman of the morning musicales, announces the program, in two parts, as follows:

First part presenting the orchestra—Hungarian Dance, No. 5, Brahms; and first movement of Symphony in G minor, Mozart by the orchestra; aria, "Ah, fors e lui," from Verdi's "Traviata," sung by Miss Minna Harker, coloratura soprano, with the orchestra; and the brilliant concerted number for piano and orchestra, "Capriccio Brillante," by Mendelssohn, with Mike McDowell at the piano.

A Group of Classics. Second part, presenting the Glee club, comprises a group of classic choruses or part-songs: "Break Forth, O Beauteous Light," by Bach; a sixteenth century two-part canon, "I Go Before My Chamber," by Thomas Morley; "On Wings of Love," by Mendelssohn-Lefebvre; and "Give a Rouse," by Bantock; a beautiful solo for baritone, "In the Silence of the Night," by Rachmaninoff, sung by George Rogers; and a group of spirituals, "Good News, Chariots Are Coming," by Curtis-Bull; "Wayward Boy," by Robinson, arranged by Dr. Dewey especially for the Emory Glee Club, and the familiar and beloved "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot."

Attention is called to the change of time, 10:30 instead of 11 o'clock, the usual hour for beginning the program.

SOUTHERN BANKERS WILL TOUR EUROPE

During the coming summer season a group of prominent southern bankers and their friends will sail from New York June 29 on the cruise steamer Calgarie for a cruise to "the land of the midnight sun," visiting Iceland, the North Cape to see the midnight sun, a dozen fjords, every Scandinavian capital, Visby on the Island of Gotland, and Scotland. When the party arrives at Boulogne, France, Rolls-Royce motor cars will be waiting to start the motor tour through Belgium, Holland, Germany, Italy, Switzerland, France and England and the party will sail from Liverpool, arriving in New York on September 15.

This private tour is under the business management of James Boring's Travel Service, Inc., with offices in Atlanta in the Henry Grady hotel. T. J. McGuire, southern division manager, will have personal charge of the party and will travel with it throughout the journey.

Salvation Army Provides Clothing For Poor Children

Children of Atlanta's poor in several sections of town will have nice enough clothes to go to church this Easter morning as a result of a big "good turn" by Boy Scouts in Scoutmaster Edin O. Collum's troop in West End, it was revealed Saturday by Captain Hugo Bloomberg, Salvation Army social service officer, here.

The clothes were left over from a store of second-hand garments collected by the troop to help a social service program carried on in connection with the West End Presbyterian Sunday school. The scouts offered them to the army's work, calling Ivy 2224, and they were collected and quickly distributed among the neediest of a long list of children whose pleas had been deferred by necessity because of the urgent demands made on the Salvation Army throughout the south for flood refugees.

Captain Bloomberg said that the amount of clothing available for pre-Easter distribution by the army this year was the smallest in several years because of the succession of flood emergencies.

MORRIS KNOWLES, NOTED ENGINEER, WILL SPEAK HERE

Morris Knowles, nationally known consulting engineer, of Pittsburgh, will address the Georgia section of the American Society of Civil Engineers at a dinner meeting at the Atlanta Athletic Club at 7 o'clock Monday night. Mr. Knowles will discuss city planning and zoning in its various relations.

Members of the city planning commission and members of city council who are interested in city planning have been invited to attend the dinner as guests. J. A. Higgs, secretary-treasurer of the section, said that the members, as citizens of Atlanta and as engineers, feel a deep interest in the work of the city planning commission, and that in order to properly show their interest, Mr. Knowles has been invited to speak here.

Hop Postponed. Mexico City, March 30.—(AP)—Lieutenant Colonel Oscar Morales Lopez, who is on a flight from Texas to Guatemala City, today postponed his intended hop-off from Mexico City to the Guatemala capital until Saturday, April 6.

Interest in Grand Opera Mounting as Season Ticket Sale Closes; Single Performance Sale Opens April 8

One of the brilliant, colorful scenes from Verdi's ever-popular masterpiece, "Aida," which will be given at the Auditorium by the Metropolitan Opera Company April 23, the Tuesday evening performance of the local season of grand opera for this year. Included in the "Aida" cast are Rosa Ponselle, Giacomo Lauri-Volpi and Julia Clausen.

With one of the most successful season ticket sales in recent years concluded Saturday night, the Music Festival Association now awaits only the opening of the sale of tickets for single performances Monday, April 8, to launch its final effort before the actual arrival of Atlanta's 1935 grand opera week.

G. A. Baldini, manager, announced Saturday that the season sale had been exceptionally satisfying, with a heavy demand for seats and with every indication that, by the time the single performance sale is well under way, the unqualified financial success of this season's opera will be assured.

Interesting information from the Metropolitan Opera Company in New York, received here Saturday, was that Editha Fleischer, the young American soprano, is to have her debut in a major role in Atlanta. The decision to stage this important event in Atlanta was reached after Miss Fleischer's singing over the radio, on a nation-wide hook-up of stations, recently aroused such a future of enthusiastic praise that her name was, practically overnight, one of the most talked of in operatic circles.

In Major Role. As a result of that success, the Metropolitan management decided to promote Miss Fleischer to major roles and she will therefore sing the part of Marguerite in Gounod's "Faust" for the first time in Atlanta.

Mr. Baldini stated Saturday that, while it was, of course, impossible to analyze preferences in operas until the actual arrival of Atlanta's 1935 grand opera week.

Alabama Reservations. Alabama: Mrs. J. A. Bullock, Sr., Montgomery; Dr. F. H. McConico, Montgomery; E. A. Adler, Birmingham; Mrs. Dan Klein, Montgomery; Mrs. Mary S. Stollenwerk, Union.

town: M. H. Sterne, Birmingham; Mrs. T. S. Jordan, Florence; Gerald D. Selzer, Shawmut; Miss Mary Frances Rudisill, Shawmut; Thomas E. Kirby, Anniston; William L. Welton, Birmingham; H. D. Agnew, Lafayette; E. L. Turner, Jr., Oxford; Mrs. Charles McDowell, Eufaula; Mrs. Carrie Woolf Turner, Birmingham; M. C. Stewart, Birmingham; Miss Ruth Hugdon, Montgomery; Miss Claire Griffin, Tallapoosa; Charles H. Chapman, Andalusia; Henry Shaefer, Opelika; Mrs. J. A. Scholl, Ensley; A. S. Wright, Opelika.

Florida: Frank H. Thompson, Lakeland; Mrs. Eugenia Park, Tampa; J. C. Packard, Marianna; Mrs. William M. Barnes, St. Augustine; Mrs. Marion Bowles, South Jacksonville; Arthur K. Hutchins, Miami Beach; Nelson H. Gildersleeve, Miami Beach; Mrs. J. A. Heffelfinger, Deland; Mrs. Stockton Brooks, Jacksonville; Mrs. C. P. Dickinson, Orlando; Mrs. George Hayman, Tampa.

South Carolina: Mrs. M. L. Roper, Laurens; Sgt. Kohu, Columbia; Clarence Cunningham, Waterloo, Laurens Co., S. C.; Miss Byrd Boehringer, Greenville; Rupert Taylor, Clemson College; Miss Alma Hyde, Greenville; L. M. Trawick, Jr., Clemson College; Mrs. Louise Y. Earle.

North Carolina: Mrs. A. W. Hartley, Charlotte; Mrs. J. A. Hines, Highlands; E. B. Sholly, Charlotte; Louisiana: Sumter D. Marks, Jr., of New Orleans.

Coming From Tennessee. Tennessee: Mrs. Flora Fader, Memphis; Stanley Lachman, Chattanooga; Miss Edna Beard Harris, Nashville; Miss Mamie Bitner, Greenville; H. M. Owen, Sweetwater; Mrs. Nalley H. Brigan, Copperhill; Miss Margaret Crecelius, Nashville; Mrs. W. W. Seranton, Fountain City; T. O. Trotter, Chattanooga; Dr. J. L. Walker, Murfreesboro; Mrs. James Van Deventer, Bearden; Miss Helen E. Galbreath, Knoxville.

Virginia: E. L. Trant, Richmond; Mrs. Robert Jones, Dorchester. Ohio: A. W. Heard, Wadsworth, Maryland: Kirk Hart, Baltimore. Texas: M. E. Kennedy, Paris.

Urban League Meets. T. Arnold Hill, director of industrial relations for the National Urban League, will deliver an address at dinner meeting of the Atlanta Urban League, to be held at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night at the Butler Street Y. M. C. A. The Urban League is composed of negro businessmen who have asked Hill to come to Atlanta to discuss their industrial problems with them.

Money Saved On All Optical Work. Your eyes examined and glasses fitted with spherical lenses for reading or distant vision for as low as $5.50.

Dr. Geo. S. Kahn. Registered Optometrist. Est. in Atlanta 16 Years. Special Prices on Kryptok Bifocals and Other Lenses Ground to Order.

Jacobs' Pharmacy Co. Main Store, 6 Marietta St.

STATE MEETING OF CHIROPRACTORS HERE THIS WEEK

Semi-annual convention of the Georgia Chiropractic Association will be held at the Henry Grady April 5 and 6, it has been announced by Dr. Michael Gershon, of Atlanta, president of the organization. Examination of applicants desiring to practice chiropractic in the state will be held April 3 and 4 here with the state board of chiropractic examiners supervising.

Speakers listed on the two-day program include Dr. J. M. Burgess, of Statesboro; Dr. L. J. C. Williamson, of Carrollton; Dr. F. A. Strobel, of Thomasville; Dr. Archibald England, of Macon; and Doctors Eugene Provost, Jr., Michael Gershon, Everett E. Clark and Leslie Adams, of Atlanta.

Small Parlor Grand $1,675

A large model, for the home in which there is no space problem. This is the standard home size, and an instrument of amazing power and depth of tone.

The Ebonized Baby Grand $1,425

This instrument is small enough for the most limited space, yet it retains that breadth and beauty of tone which a true grand piano ought to have. A very popular model.

Small Parlor Grand $1,675

A large model, for the home in which there is no space problem. This is the standard home size, and an instrument of amazing power and depth of tone.

The Ebonized Baby Grand $1,425

This instrument is small enough for the most limited space, yet it retains that breadth and beauty of tone which a true grand piano ought to have. A very popular model.

Small Parlor Grand $1,675

A large model, for the home in which there is no space problem. This is the standard home size, and an instrument of amazing power and depth of tone.

The Ebonized Baby Grand $1,425

This instrument is small enough for the most limited space, yet it retains that breadth and beauty of tone which a true grand piano ought to have. A very popular model.

Small Parlor Grand $1,675

A large model, for the home in which there is no space problem. This is the standard home size, and an instrument of amazing power and depth of tone.

The Ebonized Baby Grand $1,425

This instrument is small enough for the most limited space, yet it retains that breadth and beauty of tone which a true grand piano ought to have. A very popular model.

Small Parlor Grand $1,675

A large model, for the home in which there is no space problem. This is the standard home size, and an instrument of amazing power and depth of tone.

The Ebonized Baby Grand $1,425

This instrument is small enough for the most limited space, yet it retains that breadth and beauty of tone which a true grand piano ought to have. A very popular model.

Small Parlor Grand $1,675

A large model, for the home in which there is no space problem. This is the standard home size, and an instrument of amazing power and depth of tone.

The Ebonized Baby Grand $1,425

This instrument is small enough for the most limited space, yet it retains that breadth and beauty of tone which a true grand piano ought to have. A very popular model.

Small Parlor Grand $1,675

A large model, for the home in which there is no space problem. This is the standard home size, and an instrument of amazing power and depth of tone.

The Ebonized Baby Grand $1,425

This instrument is small enough for the most limited space, yet it retains that breadth and beauty of tone which a true grand piano ought to have. A very popular model.

Small Parlor Grand $1,675

A large model, for the home in which there is no space problem. This is the standard home size, and an instrument of amazing power and depth of tone.

The Ebonized Baby Grand $1,425

This instrument is small enough for the most limited space, yet it retains that breadth and beauty of tone which a true grand piano ought to have. A very popular model.

Small Parlor Grand $1,675

A large model, for the home in which there is no space problem. This is the standard home size, and an instrument of amazing power and depth of tone.

The Ebonized Baby Grand $1,425

This instrument is small enough for the most limited space, yet it retains that breadth and beauty of tone which a true grand piano ought to have. A very popular model.

Small Parlor Grand $1,675

A large model, for the home in which there is no space problem. This is the standard home size, and an instrument of amazing power and depth of tone.

The Ebonized Baby Grand $1,425

This instrument is small enough for the most limited space, yet it retains that breadth and beauty of tone which a true grand piano ought to have. A very popular model.

Small Parlor Grand $1,675

A large model, for the home in which there is no space problem. This is the standard home size, and an instrument of amazing power and depth of tone.

The Ebonized Baby Grand $1,425

This instrument is small enough for the most limited space, yet it retains that breadth and beauty of tone which a true grand piano ought to have. A very popular model.

Small Parlor Grand $1,675

A large model, for the home in which there is no space problem. This is the standard home size, and an instrument of amazing power and depth of tone.

The Ebonized Baby Grand $1,425

This instrument is small enough for the most limited space, yet it retains that breadth and beauty of tone which a true grand piano ought to have. A very popular model.

Small Parlor Grand $1,675

A large model, for the home in which there is no space problem. This is the standard home size, and an instrument of amazing power and depth of tone.

The Ebonized Baby Grand $1,425

This instrument is small enough for the most limited space, yet it retains that breadth and beauty of tone which a true grand piano ought to have. A very popular model.

Small Parlor Grand $1,675

A large model, for the home in which there is no space problem. This is the standard home size, and an instrument of amazing power and depth of tone.

The Ebonized Baby Grand $1,425

This instrument is small enough for the most limited space, yet it retains that breadth and beauty of tone which a true grand piano ought to have. A very popular model.

Small Parlor Grand $1,675

A large model, for the home in which there is no space problem. This is the standard home size, and an instrument of amazing power and depth of tone.

The Ebonized Baby Grand $1,425

This instrument is small enough for the most limited space, yet it retains that breadth and beauty of tone which a true grand piano ought to have. A very popular model.

Small Parlor Grand $1,675

A large model, for the home in which there is no space problem. This is the standard home size, and an instrument of amazing power and depth of tone.

The Ebonized Baby Grand $1,425

This instrument is small enough for the most limited space, yet it retains that breadth and beauty of tone which a true grand piano ought to have. A very popular model.

Small Parlor Grand $1,675

A large model, for the home in which there is no space problem. This is the standard home size, and an instrument of amazing power and depth of tone.

The Ebonized Baby Grand $1,425

This instrument is small enough for the most limited space, yet it retains that breadth and beauty of tone which a true grand piano ought to have. A very popular model.

Small Parlor Grand $1,675

A large model, for the home in which there is no space problem. This is the standard home size, and an instrument of amazing power and depth of tone.

The Ebonized Baby Grand $1,425

This instrument is small enough for the most limited space, yet it retains that breadth and beauty of tone which a true grand piano ought to have. A very popular model.

Small Parlor Grand $1,675

A large model, for the home in which there is no space problem. This is the standard home size, and an instrument of amazing power and depth of tone.

Exclusive French CHINTZES

Found in America only at Davison's and Macy's

69¢
yd.

On authentic documents in musty French archives these charming motifs were found and adapted for our chintzes. They are printed in France on semi-glaze percale with such technical perfection that they will not crack when crushed. The group includes 29 patterns developed in mellow color tones. The lowest verified price in Atlanta for chintzes of equal quality is $1.50.

Four Patterns Illustrated

A lovely floral pattern in bright colors with picotage enlivening the backgrounds of blue, straw, peach or green. 69¢ yd.

Flower-sprigged chintz with green, maroon, blue or cream grounds. The colors are expertly over-printed, with beautiful gradation of tone. 69¢ yd.

Such a print as French designers created a century ago! Cracked effect on cream ground with pattern in red, blue, green or mauve. 69¢ yd.

A French interpretation of an old English floral pattern; rich, mellow! Old-fashioned flowers against blue, green, mauve or parchment. 69¢ yd.

Draperies, Fourth Floor

DAVISON-PAXON CO.
ATLANTA—affiliated with MACY'S, New York

Fight for Emory Student Offices Is Keenest in Years

TWO PARTY SYSTEM BRINGS CONTESTS

The campaign for student body offices at Emory university, under the two-party system which prevails on the campus, is expected to be the most hotly contested in recent years with the announcement of the reorganization of the old campus party into the "All Emory" political party. Robert Crawford, of Dothan, Ala., is the presidential nominee, and Graves Smith, of Atlanta, is the vice-presidential nominee of the new party. The democratic party has nominated J. L. Harris, of Valdosta, Ga., for president and Luke Deuchamp, of Atlanta, for vice president. The election will take place on April 12.

The new party, according to Julian Dell, of Columbus, Ga., the chairman, will enter candidates for each position to be filled in the coming spring elections, on both publications and in the class and school elections.

Two Outstanding Candidates. The groups that compose this party are the Sigma Chi Fraternity, Beta Tau, Sigma Pi, Phi Delta Theta, Kappa Sigma, Chi Phi and Delta Tau Delta and a group styled the A. E. Club. The officers of the "All Emory" party are: Julian Dell, president; James Pollard, secretary, and Ivey Newman, treasurer. The executive committee consists of Gardner Allen, W. C. Westenberg, George Barker, Ivey Newman, James Pollard, Graves Smith and Julian Dell.

Crawford and Harris, the two presidential candidates, are among the most outstanding men on the campus. The former is a member of next year's senior medicine class and the latter of next year's senior class in the school of business administration.

Nominations for Y. M. C. A. officers are as follows: Joe W. Cannon, of Cordle, and Clarence Stauffer, of Atlanta, for president; Ed. Vinson, Byron, Ga., and Emmett Cartledge, Columbus, Ga., for vice president; Bill Daniels, Hawkinsville, Ga., and Jack Jenkins, Savannah, Ga., for secretary; Carlton Nunan, Atlanta, and Ed Zeigler, Savannah, Ga., for treasurer.

Cannon Active "Y" Man. Joe Cannon is a junior in the school of business administration, has been active in the Y. M. C. A. work for two or three years, was secretary for the past year, a past president of the Phi Gamma Literary Society, track manager and vice president of the Panhellenic council, and a member of Phi Delta Epsilon and Alpha Kappa Psi fraternities.

Clarence Stauffer, his opponent, is a junior in the college, who has been an energetic Y worker since his transfer from Transylvania college after his freshman year, chairman of the committee which successfully negotiated this year's Y. M. C. A. banquet, advertising manager of the Emory Alumni and is connected with the business administration of the campus.

Urban League Meets. T. Arnold Hill, director of industrial relations for the National Urban League, will deliver an address at dinner meeting of the Atlanta Urban League, to be held at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night at the Butler Street Y. M. C. A. The Urban League is composed of negro businessmen who have asked Hill to come to Atlanta to discuss their industrial problems with them.

Money Saved On All Optical Work. Your eyes examined and glasses fitted with spherical lenses for reading or distant vision for as low as $5.50.

Dr. Geo. S. Kahn. Registered Optometrist. Est. in Atlanta 16 Years. Special Prices on Kryptok Bifocals and Other Lenses Ground to Order.

Jacobs' Pharmacy Co. Main Store, 6 Marietta St.

Money Saved On All Optical Work. Your eyes examined and glasses fitted with spherical lenses for reading or distant vision for as low as $5.50.

Dr. Geo. S. Kahn. Registered Optometrist. Est. in Atlanta 16 Years. Special Prices on Kryptok Bifocals and Other Lenses Ground to Order.

Jacobs' Pharmacy Co. Main Store, 6 Marietta St.

A new Steinway piano can be bought from $900 up 10% down balance in two years. Any Steinway piano may be purchased with a cash deposit of 10%, and the balance will be extended over a period of two years. Used pianos accepted in partial exchange. PHILLIPS & CREW PIANO CO. 235 Peachtree St. WAL 8061

STEINWAY
THE INSTRUMENT
OF
THE IMMORTALS

Tragedy Followed Party At Apartments of Inman

GUEST'S FATAL FALL RELATED AT DIVORCE HEARING

At Apartments of Inman

Reno, Nev., March 30.—(AP)—Tragedy attended one of the many drinking parties in New York which have figured prominently in testimony in the divorce trial of Walker P. Inman against his wife, Mrs. Helene Garnet Patton Inman, daughter of an Indiana clergyman, it was brought out today. Mrs. Inman also is seeking a divorce and property settlement.

In concluding his cross-examination Inman, wealthy son of Mrs. James B. Duke, widow of the tobacco magnate, told of a death plunge from a window of the Inman apartment following a liquor party there. The victim, George Kinberg, whose death was pronounced a suicide, fell eleven stories to the pavement early one

FOUR DIE AS PLANE CRASHES IN PASS

Beaumont, Calif., March 30.—(AP)—The roughest mountain pass in American air lanes today took its toll of four lives when an air transport liner bound from Los Angeles to El Paso, Texas, crashed in the fog, exploded and burned into an unrecognizable mass with its pilot and three men passengers.

In a heavy fog, with disabled engine, the Standard Air Line monoplane, a Fokker with one engine, went to its doom in the heart of the pass just three miles north of here. The victims were: Delbert R. Everett, Jr., pilot, of Los Angeles; R. L. Blake, wealthy businessman, of Los Angeles; George Nico, wealthy Los Angeles contractor, and T. J. Kelly, stock broker salesman of Los Angeles and San Antonio, Texas, who was rushing to the bedside of his wife in San Antonio. At the Hotel Commodore in Los Angeles, where he had been stopping for some time, it was learned that he received a long distance call early today from his wife's parents in San Antonio, urging him to hurry home, that his wife had been injured in an accident.

A 12-year-old boy, Gerald Crane, living in the mountains near the scene of the tragedy, apparently was the only witness to the crash.

GUATEMALAN FLIER ESCAPES UNHURT

Mexico City, March 30.—(AP)—Lieutenant Colonel Morales Lopez, Guatemalan aviator, escaped unhurt today when his plane overturned in landing at the civil aviation field after a flight from the nearby Val Buena military field. The plane struck an obstruction which tore off a wheel, causing it to overturn.

The plane was considerably damaged. The aviator had decided to postpone his flight to Guatemala City for a week.

TWO KILLED NEAR TAMPAICO

Mexico City, March 30.—(United News)—Two men, an American airplane pilot, H. P. Nelson, and the paymaster of the Transcontinental Petroleum Company, were killed today in an airplane crash near Tampico. A third man, an unidentified employee of the J. F. Martin Construction Company, was injured. The plane was carrying the petroleum company's payroll to the oil field.

The plane was flying over the Las Matillas refinery, attempting to drop the payroll in sacks when the accident occurred. There is no landing field at Matillas.

PLAN OF PRORATING FUNDS WINS PRAISE FROM DR. DUGGAN

Prorating of available funds in the state treasury upon a 70 per cent basis is the "tax play" he has been asking for, Dr. M. L. Duggan, state school superintendent, Saturday said in letters addressed to city and county school superintendents. The state school system is better off than it had been previously, under the new executive order prorating the funds, Dr. Duggan said.

Equal participation of the school department in the available funds puts the department in a position to pay more promptly than heretofore, as previously it had been the policy of the state to pay all other appropriations in full before the schools were given anything, Dr. Duggan said.

NEW YORK CENTRAL ARRANGES TO BUY 100 LOCOMOTIVES

Washington, March 30.—(AP)—Financing for a purchase of 100 locomotives by the New York Central system was arranged today in a motion picture filed with the interstate commerce commission by that company. The Central asked the commission to permit the sale of $6,000,000 in equipment trust certificates which will represent 75 per cent of the cost of the engines, the balance being paid directly out of the road's treasury.

FLUSH THE KIDNEYS BEFORE BREAKFAST

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Eating too much rich food creates acids, which excite the kidneys. They become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood. Then we get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys, or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin drinking a quart of water each day, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, and in a few days your kidneys may act fine.

This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush and stimulate the kidneys; also to help neutralize the acids in the system, so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby often averting serious kidney complications.—(adv.)

morning, after the Inmans had retired, the witness said. The first the hosts knew of the suicide was when police came to the apartment.

Witnesses previously had testified that Mrs. Inman used intoxicants excessively and that certain men were unduly attracted to her. The defense, however, had introduced testimony designed to show that Inman always kept liquor in his home and drank with his wife, guests, and even with his servants.

Inman said he always had an affection for his wife and did not desire to punish her. He again told of alleged indiscretions of Mrs. Inman and reiterated that there was no chance for a reconciliation.

Explaining that he did not believe a man could live with a woman for several years without retaining some regard for her, the plaintiff said he was sorry things turned out as they had.

His property settlement with Mrs. Inman came up for further scrutiny during his cross-examination. He testified he thought the settlement was fair, but admitted that his attorney had offered Mrs. Inman more in a trust fund, but the income would have been much smaller than $15,000 annually. The plaintiff insisted that in spite of all the disclosures made to him it was his desire to give his wife a fair settlement.

Univ. of Georgia Glee Club Sings Here on April 11

The University of Georgia Glee Club will play in Atlanta, Augusta, Savannah, and 11 other towns and cities in the state this year. The itinerary will start March 23 when they play at Gainesville in the Brenau auditorium, and will conclude with a performance on April 11 at Woman's Club auditorium here.

PRINCE PRESTON,
Leader of University of Georgia Glee Club.

According to Hugh Hodgson, director, the club this year will comprise about 50 men, and will offer a program we believe unique in amateur performance. The first act will be informal and will feature solos, chorus work, the male quartet, instrumental numbers, and four specialty acts including jazz harmonies by the Four Horsemen orchestra.

Talent for the specialty acts was discovered by Mr. Hodgson last fall at university stunt night which was sponsored by the students. The best of these acts will make the trip with the club.

A feature of the show, according to the management, will be Works of Magic, an act conducted by Lindsey Hopkins, of Atlanta, and students in the university.

The Instrumental Club will feature a medley of waltzes. This group will include the "Merry Widow," "Tennine" (sung), "Beautiful Lady," "Venezian Love Song" (sung), "Dream of Heaven," and "Chocolate Soldier."

The concluding act this year will be the traditional high court of the Red and Black in which comedy by two clever black-faced men, solos, and chorus work will be featured.

Jack Parr, Athens, will give a short talk in this act in which familiar scenes from the campus will be depicted.

CALHOUN HEADS CITY'S YOUNGEST CIVIC ASSEMBLY

One of the most rapidly growing and active civic organizations in Atlanta is the local table of Loyal Knights of the Round Table, of which Clarence Calhoun, prominent attorney, is president. It is Atlanta's youngest civic club and meets every Wednesday at the Atlanta Athletic Club.

It has assumed active sponsorship of deserving boys around the age of 17 who are being given an education at such schools as Young Harris college, in the north Georgia mountains.

The basic idea upon which the club's ideals are founded are those which governed the conduct of the knights of King Arthur's round table. The membership is limited to 128, approximately 60 now being enrolled in the local table. The membership is largely made up of young and progressive executive of business establishments.

In addition to Mr. Calhoun as president, officers of the Atlanta table are H. H. Alexander and R. F. Fraser, Jr., vice presidents; Lee Morrison, secretary, and W. H. Sutton, treasurer.

Miss Hughes' Education Fund Nears $1,000 Mark

MANY SHOW KINDNESS TOWARD BLIND GIRL

Fund Nears $1,000 Mark

Nearly $1,000! That was the status Saturday afternoon of the trust fund established for the education of blind Hazel Hughes, according to a report from A. M. Smith, of Smith and Guest, 18

Houston street, who is in charge of the fund.

The actual figure shown by the computation Saturday was $946.47, an increase of $67 over Friday's total of $879.47. Mr. Smith said that he hopes that Monday's subscriptions will push the total well over the $1,000 mark, and that during this week the subscriptions will continue to pour in as steadily as they have since the fund was started.

It takes a great deal of money to send a girl through college nowadays, and unless the public keeps on responding the fund will not be sufficient to provide Hazel with the education necessary for a teacher of the blind. Mr. Smith said that he believes that the public will respond, however, and that the trust fund will keep on growing.

"I learn from the Atlanta Constitution that you are engaged in raising a fund whereby little Miss Hazel Hughes, the blind young daughter of County Policeman Hughes, who recently lost his life in discharge of his duty, may be enabled to realize her cherished ambition of a normal school education that she may become a teacher and self-supporting," said a letter recently received by Mr. Smith from Howard Patillo. "It should be considered a privilege to extend encouragement to this brave little girl and I enclose my check for $50."

Other letters received by Mr. Smith reveal the widespread interest in the trust fund, persons living outside of Fulton county joining local citizens in boosting Hazel's fund with checks. M. R. Lyon, of Marietta, said he considers any amount put in to the fund a good investment. Another letter said that the Fidelis class of the West End Baptist church "considers it a privilege to have even a small part in this worthy undertaking." Robert H. Martin wrote that he is "thankful for the opportunity to contribute toward such a worthy cause."

Father Slain On Duty. Hazel's father was a county policeman who was slain by an escaped maniac. He would have provided her with an education and on his death things looked dark for the little girl who has been blind since birth. The trust fund, however, has restored her prospects for an education.

Saturday's donations follow:

Formerly acknowledged	$879.47
Mrs. James S. Akers	10.00
Miss Frances Woodberry	2.00
Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Courtney	10.00
W. S. Witham, Sr.	25.00
C. L. De Foor	20.00
Total	$946.47

DAVISON-PAXON CO.

ATLANTA • affiliated with MACY'S, New York

First Time Shown in Atlanta! Patou's Three New "Capucine" Shades in Suede Crepe -- $2.69 Yd.

A Striking New Sports Silk

The Gorgeous Tones of the Nasturtium in . .

- (1) A Soft Orange
- (2) A Medium Orange with a Dash of Brown
- (3) A Gloriously Brilliant Red Orange

Colors—adding their sophisticated charm to the yellow family, already so very popular this season. The crepe, like the colors is unusual . . . a soft material with a dull suede-like surface that seems to imprison the colors.

For the Ensemble Blouses!

New Printed Silks $2.94 Yd.

With one suit and several printed blouses you can manage a variety of costumes that will see you through almost any occasion this season . . . for blouses can be so infinitely varied, there's no end to the lovely prints and brilliant colors suitable for them! Floral—geometric—conventional—stripes—checks—polka dots—bordered effects—all share honors in this smart assembly!

Silks—Second Floor

100 Pieces Plated Silver Hollowware

$4.94

Pitchers—Vegetable Dishes—Well and Tree Platters—Sugar and Creamers—Gravy Boats—Flower Bowls—Covered Dishes—Candle Sticks—Water Pitchers—of heavily-plated silver. Finished with a neat etched border! Backed by a 15-year replacement offer!

Silverware Dept., Street Floor

Turn Your Clothes Closet Into a Cedar Chest—with Reefer's

No-Moth

No-Moth. $2.00
Refill. . . . $1.50

NO-MOTH is a small device that hangs on the base-board of your closet—filling it with a fragrant cedar aroma that drives out the moths but does not cling to your clothes! It takes but a moment to install it—and then your clothes are protected for an entire season!

Found Exclusively at Davison's in Atlanta

30-Day demonstration beginning Monday in the Notion Department—Street Floor.

Notion Dept., Street Floor

Lace Gowns

Are Especially Favored by Fashion for Formal Occasions

Flattering—subtle—sure of themselves . . . with the lines of Paris and the daring slenderness of youth . . . lace frocks hold the favor of the Miss, the youthful woman and the matron for formal wear! The most important style notes from the recent Paris openings feature in our very smart collection.

$49.50 to $97.50

Model sketched is a Chanel reproduction in light beige Chantilly lace combined with brown tulle. Note the unusual chic of the long full skirt and the hip-length dinner coat. $97.50.

Home of Fashion
Third Floor

Frocks formerly $13.95 to $16.50.....$10.95
Frocks formerly $10.95 and $13.95.....$7.95

W. W. Larsen, Georgian, Golden Future for Television, and Further Development Member of Farm Aid Body, For Radio Predicted by DeForest Officials Meeting Here Outlines Scope of Inquiry

Little Hope of Cure-All in Legislation—States and Farm Agencies Must Aid Solution.

Editor's Note:—As the only Georgian member of congress on either of the two congressional agricultural committees now holding hearings on comprehensive farm relief legislation to be considered at the forthcoming special session, Representative W. W. Larsen, of the twelfth district, was asked by The Constitution Washington bureau to outline his views on the subject. In the following article he reviews the situation and tells what he hopes to see accomplished.

BY W. W. LARSEN.

Washington, March 30.—The difficulty in securing farm relief legislation lies not so much in finding helpful remedies as in securing the enactment of such remedial legislation as may be necessary. First of all, in order to obtain relief it may, and I am sure will be necessary to at least curtail privileges and immunities now enjoyed by other individuals and groups of industries. This necessarily means friction and opposition and hence may not be easily accomplished. Apt illustrations of this may be found among the tariff barons, and the special interests and speculators, who have liberated so long and comfortably upon the back of agriculture.

Personally, I have no plan or program to submit. As a member of the agricultural committee, and of congress I shall, of course, do all within my power to remedy and to relieve, so far as possible, the evils and handicaps from which agriculture is now suffering.

Little Aid By Legislation.

While I realize there will always be a personal equation involved in the farm problems, just as there is in all other lines of human endeavor, I am not among those who believe that substantial aid can be given agriculture by legislation. I am not, however, sufficiently optimistic—foolishly if one chooses to call it so—to believe or assert that any one person has a panacea for agricultural troubles or that congress can enact, by a single piece of legislation, a law that will cure all farm ills. I do believe a legislative program, involving the passage of several separate and distinct pieces of legislation, will greatly aid agriculture in this country. But, many pieces of such legislation necessary to farm relief for want of jurisdiction cannot be considered by the committee of which I am a member. For instance, the ways and means committee, and not the agriculture committee, has jurisdiction of such tariff revision as may be necessary to put agriculture upon a basis with manufactured products and manufacturing establishments. The committee of Muscle Shoals in accordance with provisions of the national defense act of 1926, whereby the $70,000,000 national investment there may become operative and made of benefit to agriculture in the manufacture of cheap fertilizer, nitrates, etc., is a subject for consideration of the military affairs committee and not the committee on agriculture and, so as to many other matters regarding farm relief legislation.

Must Have Ample Authority.

It has been suggested that, first of all, we should adopt a definite farm policy and an agricultural program. Perhaps we should. It might be well to create a farm board to be composed of members skilled in his agriculture and finance and who also possess the capacity for, and understanding of, transportation problems, merchandising, etc., and especially the disposition of produce in domestic and foreign markets. I think such board should be given ample authority to properly function in all necessary ways to aid farm operation and farmers' cooperative organizations. It should make accurate surveys of agricultural production at home and abroad; investigate demands for such products, market conditions and facilities in domestic and foreign countries; and should disseminate such information among cooperative associations and groups of agricultural products throughout the nation. The board should also cooperate with and aid the individual farmer and cooperative organizations in all legitimate problems confronting them, and should recommend to congress from time to time the enactment of legislation deemed necessary to meet the legitimate needs of agriculture.

States Must Aid.

In addition to the national program there are some things which I believe should be done by the states themselves. Agriculture and agriculture-related industries are not alone in their problems. In many instances the farmer is bearing an undue amount of the tax burden and it should be lifted from his shoulders. Land and real estate investments are not bearing an equal burden with other lines of industries and incomes. The banking laws of both state and nation might be so amended as to at least encourage, if not force, country banks to function for the benefit of agriculture and of the community where located, and to prohibit the operation of small country communities and lending them to the financial institutions which are now being used by speculators in stocks, bonds and other securities. They should also be forced, by legislation, if necessary, to protect depositors in such institutions against dissipation and loss of profits.

HOUSE WILL CONCLUDE HEARINGS WEDNESDAY.

Washington, March 30.—(P)—The house agriculture committee decided today to end its hearings on the farm relief question next Wednesday except for several witnesses who will be unable to reach Washington before that date. The witnesses who will appear after that time will include farm and cooperative marketing leaders, Secretary Hyde is expected to testify before the hearings are closed.

SENATE COMMITTEE IDLED TODAY

While the house was proceeding with the work of taking testimony much of the committee's time was spent in the form of statements from previous witnesses.

W. G. Root, a state senator of Sudersville, Md., Representative Goldsboro, a Maryland democrat, and R. H. Phillips, of Kensington, Md., were the concluding witnesses of the day. Goldsboro suggested that systematic distribution of market news and weather bureau reports would be of great aid to the farmer.

STATE PLANS GAS RATES REVISION

Continued from First Page.

Natural Gas Corporation signed, officials of both companies who had been in conference here for several weeks left Atlanta Saturday. Arrangements for the carrying out of the contract will be put into effect at once, in order that Atlanta may have natural gas by the end of the year, it was said.

If natural gas is supplied to industries at low rates it will mean a real benefit to the city.

It is claimed that the natural gas can be substituted for coal in furnaces, hotels, office buildings, apartment houses and dwellings at a saving.

Natural gas is said to have 1,000 thermal units per cubic foot to 550 of artificial gas, thereby having a higher heating value in addition to the low cost of supplying the product.

Officials of the natural gas corporation will open bids in New York on Monday for the construction of a 434-mile pipeline from the gas fields to Atlanta. Surveys of the route are practically complete, and a major portion of the right-of-way has been secured, it was said.

Cities along the main pipeline will be served by the natural gas and an extension from Atlanta will provide Macon and other cities between Macon and Atlanta with the fuel, it was said.

Atlanta will be served through the complete network of pipelines acquired by the Central Public Service Corporation together with a number of other gas plants in the southeast.

NEWTON TO ACCEPT PASTORATE OFFER

Continued from First Page.

merce, publishers of this widely-known monthly magazine, and reluctantly accepted.

Glass Awarded Post.

"Dudley Glass, former newspaperman and for the past five years engaged in general advertising and publicity work, has accepted the appointment of editor of the City Builder, which has been offered him by Mr. Newton, taking effect April 1, it was announced by Benjamin S. Barker, executive vice president and secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Glass will combine his new duties with those of publicity secretary of the chamber, a post he has held for the past three years and will also continue his advertising and publicity business from his office in the Chamber of Commerce building."

"The Atlanta City Builder was established in 1916, when H. H. Kriegshafer was president of the Chamber of Commerce, and for the

This group of radio leaders assembled here Friday at the southern sales meeting of the DeForest Radio Company. First row, left to right: H. C. Holmes, general sales manager; W. J. Barkley, assistant to the president; Dr. Lee DeForest, inventor of the radio tube, and Paul Staake, advertising manager of the DeForest company, all from headquarters of the organization. Back row, southern DeForest sales leaders. Left to right: R. A. Farmer, W. A. Schuler, C. W. Chapman and J. T. Fulwiler, of the Atlanta firm of Fulwiler & Chapman, district representative of DeForest, and F. C. Manning.

Radio television now is an actual accomplishment, and is destined to attain perfection as rapidly as scientific thought and exhaustive research can develop needed improvements.

This was the statement here last week of Dr. Lee DeForest and W. J. Barkley, the former inventor of the radio receiving tube and the latter assistant to the president of the DeForest Radio Company. The two, along with Paul Staake, advertising manager, and H. C. Holmes, general sales manager of the DeForest company, Friday attended a meeting of southern representatives of their organization at the Biltmore hotel.

They announced that the Jenkins Television Corporation, with which they are associated, now is constructing a number of television receiving machines and in the fall will put them on the market in the mass.

"But all this will require time and much patient research and development on the part of the trained corps of television engineers which Mr. Jenkins and myself are getting together. Just how long will be required to fully realize this great dream is difficult to say—perhaps five, perhaps ten years—not longer. However, motion pictures in the home by radio television are already possible. Next year will see many thousands of television receiving sets on the market with a rapidly increasing popular demand for this new and delightful form of entertainment."

While Dr. DeForest talked with keen interest concerning the future of television, Mr. Barkley was equally optimistic concerning radio's further development.

"Research is going to bring out additional tube efficiency for radio," he predicted. "Present tubes do not operate on the really long wave bands. The scope of tubes can be infinitely increased, and television is going to be another big development that will go hand in hand with radio. It will never induce radio, for the two must work in co-ordination to give the public what it wants and is waiting for."

The meeting at the Biltmore assembled about 100 DeForest sales representatives from all parts of the south. It was featured by an elaborate banquet and entertainment Friday night at which Dr. DeForest was chief speaker over a radio microphone. During the day Paul Staake outlined a million-dollar advertising program for 1935 on behalf of DeForest tubes, and the other headquarters officials joined with southern sales leaders in discussion of merchandising problems confronting the industry.

Camp Fire Honors Awarded

Photo by Bill Mason, Staff Photographer.

Atlanta Camp Fire members receive high honors. Mrs. Harry L. Hall, left, chairman of the committee of awards, and guardian of Ahikantaka camp, recently received the "Wakan Honor," the highest honor ever awarded to anyone in the south by the national headquarters of the Camp Fire Girls. Gladys Pratt, at right, was made a "Torchbearer," the highest honor of Camp Fire, at the same time.

past four years it has been edited by Mr. Newton.

"Louie D. Newton, with the cooperation of the extension committee of the Chamber of Commerce," has made the City Builder outstanding among the publications issued by the chamber. Mr. Newton, president of the chamber, said Philip H. Alston, president of the Atlanta chamber Saturday. "It has not only reported the activities of the Atlanta chamber, but it has reflected the spirit and progress of Atlanta, of Georgia and of the south."

Many Prominent Writers.

"Many prominent men and women of Georgia have contributed to the columns of the City Builder, which has consistently encouraged the development of industry and culture throughout the south. The Chamber of Commerce has a high regard for the resignation of Mr. Newton, but we realize that his new duties and responsibilities will fully occupy his time."

"The appointment of Dudley Glass as editor of the City Builder," said B. S. Barker, executive secretary of the chamber, "has met with the approval of the Chamber of Commerce officials. For the past three years Mr. Glass has served efficiently as publicity secretary of the chamber, and will continue in that capacity. He is in close touch with the work of the Chamber of Commerce, is an experienced editor and writer, and we are confident that under his direction the City Builder will maintain the high standard set by Mr. Newton."

"Dudley Glass, the new editor, has lived in Atlanta for more than 20 years, most of which period was spent in active newspaper work, as city editor, feature writer and column conductor. He has a wide acquaintance not only in Atlanta but throughout the state. Five years ago he retired from active newspaper work to conduct his own general advertising and publicity business, which he will continue from his office in the Chamber of Commerce building."

"The City Builder has grown since its establishment in 1916 until it has become recognized as one of the foremost magazines in the country published by a commercial body. Its circulation is more than 7,500 copies monthly. It is sent to all members of the Chamber of Commerce, to trade bodies throughout the country, to all public libraries, and copies supplied monthly to members of the senior classes of the Atlanta high schools. It has become recognized as a valuable advertising medium."

"In editing the City Builder, Mr. Glass, like his predecessors, will have the advice and assistance of officials of the Chamber of Commerce and its extension committee, which meets monthly to discuss plans for the forthcoming issue. Mr. Newton has been invited to accept a place on this committee and give the benefit of his ex-

DR. SOKOLOV TO SPEAK AT JEWISH CONFERENCE

Dr. Nahum Sokolow, of Paris, renowned Jewish leader, will be one of the distinguished men attending the Southern Jewish Conference on Palestine, which meets Sunday, April 7, at the Biltmore hotel. Dr. Sokolow will address the afternoon session of the conference. Dr. Max Heller, of New Orleans, widely known southern Jewish leader, will head a delegation from his home city and will be chairman of the afternoon session.

The full schedule is as follows:

Morning session opens at Biltmore ballroom at 10 o'clock, with Dr. Harry P. Shugerman as chairman.

Invocation by Rabbi Tobias Geffen; greetings by J. Saul, chairman Atlanta U. P. A.; greetings by Mrs. Sam E. Levy, president Atlanta Hadassah chapter; greetings by Louis Isaacson, chairman Atlanta Zionist district; address by Dr. Harry P. Shugerman; address by Mrs. Harry Wiener, president Southern Region Hadassah; report of the Southern Region by Samuel Blitz, executive director; and appointment of committees.

The afternoon session will be opened by Rabbi Harry H. Epstein and will include an address by Dr. Max Heller, honorary chairman Southern Region U. P. A.; address by Dr. Nahum Sokolow, chairman World Zionist Executive; report of resolutions committee; report of nominations committee; and election of officers.

A reception and banquet will be given in honor of Dr. Nahum Sokolow at the Jewish Woman's Club at 7 p. m. by the Atlanta campaign committee of the U. P. A.

ALAMEDA PASTOR GETS TWO YEARS FOR PERJURIES

San Francisco, March 30.—(P)—Federal Judge A. F. St. Sure today sentenced the Rev. Oscar Gruver, Alameda pastor and treasurer of the California Lutheran synod, to two years in the federal penitentiary and a $5,000 fine.

Mr. Gruver recently was convicted of perjury and of making a false inheritance tax return.

In his defense the minister claimed he possessed a "dual personality." His executive self, he said, could not obtain information from his individual self. The case hinged on the charge that the minister concealed $100,000 of bonds in the estate of the late Julius Hohn, Oakland capitalist, from inheritance tax collectors. Mr. Gruver was administrator of the estate.

In imposing sentence, Judge St. Sure said the claim of a dual personality was "absurd." He pointed out that he was not able to segregate the personality from the individual in imposing sentence.

Easter Cantata.

The chorus of Atlanta university will sing the Easter cantata, "The Seven Last Words of Christ," at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the Ware memorial chapel at the university.

MORTUARY

MARY PILSNER. (Special)—The body of Mrs. Mary Pilsner, 62, who died Saturday at 1232 Howell street, will be held for burial at 10 o'clock this morning at the funeral home of Dr. W. F. Heston.

MRS. CORRIE LUCILLE LEE. Funeral services for Mrs. Corrie Lucille Lee, who died Saturday at 1232 Howell street, will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the graveside in Westview cemetery. The Rev. W. F. Heston will be in charge.

WILEY HILL SUTTON. Wiley Hill Sutton died Saturday at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. M. S. Clifton, 664 Madison street. She leaves another daughter, Mrs. R. J. Bates; two sons, W. H. and John Sutton; and a sister, Mrs. Pope Wilson. Funeral arrangements will be announced later by Barclay & Branch Co., funeral directors in charge.

MARTHA SPRINGER BETTIS. Martha Springer Bettis, two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bettis, 1024 Madison street, died Saturday at 1232 Howell street. Funeral arrangements will be announced later by Barclay & Branch Co., funeral directors in charge.

MRS. CORA L. NORTON. Mrs. Cora L. Norton, of Pelham, died Saturday at a local hospital. The body was returned to Pelham for burial at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the graveside in the cemetery at Pelham. The Rev. W. F. Heston will be in charge.

Phi Beta Kappa Services To Be Big Emory Event

The installation next Friday of the newly chartered chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic society, upon the Emory campus, will be one of the outstanding events of the school year and will assemble many Emory alumni and friends who long have been desirous of seeing the great scholastic group established locally.

The 31 members elected to membership and all of whom have accepted, are one honorary member, two juniors, 10 seniors and 18 alumni. There are five Atlantans among the undergraduate members.

The initiation ceremony will be held in the chapel of the theology building on Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. This will be followed by a complimentary dinner to the new members at Hotel Candler, Decatur, at 6 o'clock. The climax to the day's activities will be reached at the public address to be delivered by Dr. W. D. Hooper, professor of Latin at the University of Georgia, in the university auditorium at 8:15 o'clock, the same evening, April 5.

Honorary Member.

Dr. Harvey W. Cox, president of the university, was the only honorary member elected by the chapter, which is to be installed next week.

The foundation members are Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of Georgia School of Technology; Professor Paul E. Bryan, acting dean of the Lamar School of Law; Bishop Warren A. Candler; Dr. C. E. Dowman, prominent Atlanta physician; Judge J. K. Hines, of the supreme court of Georgia; Dr. James Houston, professor of English at Emory; Dr. E. H. Johnson, dean of the school of business administration of Emory; Dr. H. W. Ohlin, Wiatt Park, Fla.; Dr. H. J. Pearce, Sr., president of Brenau college; Dr. W. F. Quillian, president of Wesleyan college; Dr. Stewart R. Roberts, prominent Atlanta physician; Professor J. S. Stewart, of the University of Georgia; Professor J. G. Stipe, registrar of Emory university; Dr. G. C. White, dean of the college of arts and sciences of Emory university.

The four alumni members are Judge Nathan P. Bryan, United States circuit court of appeals, Jacksonville, Fla.; Professor Robert S. Iyer, former president of Southern Methodist university; Dr. Kemp Malone, philologist, Johns Hopkins university, and Judge William H. Thomas, justice of the Alabama supreme court.

The senior members elected from among the undergraduate students are: W. Frank Gresham, Prattville, Ala.; Reuben W. Holland, Barnesville, Ga.; James A. Jacobs, Atlanta; Joseph H. Levy, Atlanta; Marshall W. Lovell, Franklin, Tenn.; James J. Pollard, Greenwood, Miss.; Martin Van Teem, Marietta, Ga.; John H. Venable, East Point, Ga.; Lewis H. Walton, Atlanta, and Frank N. Wilder, Atlanta.

The only two junior members selected from the Emory campus are: Smith, of Atlanta, and Fred Ajax, of Corinth, Miss.

CONDITION OF MAN SHOT BY FATHER IS STILL CRITICAL

Clarence Drake, 21-year-old victim of a bullet said to have been fired last Wednesday by his father, W. F. Drake, of 644 Jeff street, late Saturday, still was in a critical condition at Grady hospital with doctors holding out little hope for his life. The elder Drake still was in custody at headquarters pending the outcome of his son's wound.

The bullet, said to have been fired at the boy during a quarrel, has lodged, doctors said, in the neck, near the spinal cord, and has gradually paralyzed the victim. The father was brought under heavy guard to the bedside at the hospital Friday night and after staying some hours was returned to his cell.

PARKS-CHAMBERS Inc.

Yes, a Stein-Bloch Suit

for Only Fifty Dollars Here

It's hand-tailored with all the excellence that has made Stein-Bloch clothes internationally renowned. The fabric is rich in texture. The patterns are exclusive. The value is the utmost that can be given. And—fit is our hobby and good service is our particular pride.

TAILORED FIFTY SUITS

Tailored by Messrs. Stein-Bloch

$50

Millions of Families Depend on Dr. Caldwell's Prescription

When Dr. Caldwell started to practice medicine, back in 1875, the needs for a laxative were not as great as they are today. People lived normal, quiet lives, ate plain, wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air and sunshine. But even that early there were drastic physics and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings to put into their systems. So he wrote a prescription for a laxative to be used by his patients.

The prescription for constipation, which he used early in his practice, and which he put in drug stores in 1922 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid vegetable remedy, intended for women, children and elderly people, and they need just such a mild, safe, gentle bowel stimulant as Syrup Pepsin.

Under successful management this prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. The fact that millions of bottles are used a year proves that it has won the confidence of people who needed it to get relief from headaches, biliousness, flatulence, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, colds and fevers.

Millions of families are now never without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and if you will once start using it you will also always have a bottle handy for emergencies. It is particularly pleasing to know that the most of it is bought by mothers for themselves and the children, though Syrup Pepsin is just as valuable for elderly people. All drug stores have the generous bottles. A trial is sure to convince any household of the merits of this famous prescription—(adv.)

J. B. Caldwell M.D. AT AGE 83

Insure Your Title with the GEORGIA TITLE & GUARANTY COMPANY
35-7 Broad St., N. W., Tel. Wd. 8025 Representing
NEW YORK TITLE AND MORTGAGE COMPANY
Capital Funds over $60,000,000
SECURE AS THE BEDROCK OF NEW YORK

Fine Dental Work Dr. Griffin Personally in charge.
Crown and Bridge Work ONLY $5
A Good set of teeth for only $10
All work guaranteed 10 years.
Dr. E. G. Griffin's Gate City Dental Rooms 933 WHITEHALL ST.

You Are Invited To Consult Our Real Estate Loan Department
Loans repayable monthly.
Loans with semi-annual reduction.
Loans with annual reduction.
Loans with no reduction until maturity.
First and second mortgage loans on improved property in Atlanta and suburbs.
Reasonable interest rates.
These are features of our Real Estate Loan Department arranged to meet varied needs.
Consultation without charge will help you to determine what kind of loans is best adapted to your requirements.
Insurance Mortgage Loans Surety Bonds
Spartlin, Harrington & Thomas
72 Marietta St.
Walker White, Manager Loan Department

TAME CITY COUNCIL
SESSION FORECASTMove To Raise Age Limit of Police Applicants To Come Up.

Prospect that the regular semi-monthly meeting of city council Monday afternoon will be a tame and routine affair was seen Saturday unless the Easter rabbits hatch out some new measure between now and the time of the session and get the promise of some member of council to sponsor the paper.

Alderman Ben T. Huiet, of the third ward, proponent of a measure to raise the eligible age for applicants to Atlanta's police department, which Mayor L. N. Razadale vetoed, announced Saturday that he will attempt to override the mayor's veto and force the age from 21 to 30 at present to the new limits which he sponsored and which call for limits from 23 to 35. He forecast victory, but since the measure passed city council at its last session by a majority of one vote, opponents predicted its defeat.

Two important measures offered to council by Councilman Joseph E. Berman, of the fourth ward, are slated for consideration and each will go to the meeting with favorable recommendations of the committees to which they were referred.

The first and the most important from the fact that more persons are affected by it will be a sanitation paper requiring all employees of cafes, restaurants and other places selling food to submit certificates showing they are free from contagious diseases. Members of the ordinance committee gave the measure their unqualified endorsement when members of the Atlanta Association of Restaurant Owners and Managers asked that it be passed in the interest of the "eating public."

Elimination of the minimum fines in traffic cases in the recorder's court is the second ordinance and bears the approval of the police committee of council. It is designed to permit judges of the recorder's courts to use their own discretion in assessing fines ranging from a $1 minimum to $200, the maximum.

Several minor zoning changes also will be up for consideration.

METCALF TO OPEN COLUMBUS STORE
MONDAY MORNING

John A. Metcalf, operator of the Metcalf Clothing store on North Forsyth street, Saturday announced the opening Monday morning of a Metcalf store on Broad street in Columbus, Ga. A few years ago Mr. Metcalf opened his first store in Atlanta with a view to attaining heavy volume in sales. "My Atlanta store has produced such results," he said Saturday, "that I am selling a hat a minute and am giving Atlanta quality merchandise at extremely low prices. In the new store in Columbus the same quality, variety and style will be offered."

Midnight Show Tonight
Opens Big Film at Met

CORINNE GRIFFITH AND VICTOR VARCONI

Midnight Show Opens Met Bill.

The Metropolitan offers the Dixie premier of "The Divine Lady" this week, commencing with the midnight show tonight at 12:01 a. m. "The Divine Lady" is one of the real super-specials of the silver screen. Corinne Griffith, H. B. Warner and Victor Varconi are the stars.

At the midnight performance the Met offers its full program for the week, with Richards and Church, the singing team incomparable, formerly with Al Fields Minstrels, and Charley White's Jolly Jazzers.

There is a bewitching fascination to love stories of famous characters of history, more so than there is to just plain fiction, and E. Barrington, one of the most popular of modern writers, has taken the love of Lady Hamilton and Lord Nelson and has made of it one of the most interesting and beautiful romances ever to appear in book form.

The novel was a best seller, and made excellent material for a motion picture, but a motion picture that must be produced on a most lavish scale. That has been done and "The Divine Lady," starring Corinne Griffith, which will be shown at the Metropolitan this week, is the picture made from Barrington's best selling novel of the same name.

Many are familiar with the little boyhood who, peculiarly enough, got her start to undying fame because of her lack of regard for conventions and her falling in love with the son of her mother's employer.

The son, after he had tired of her and wished to marry into a wealthy family, sent her to another country, where her youthful beauty attracted the eye and heart of a nobleman much older than herself, one Lord Hamilton, who honored her with a proposal of marriage which she accepted, with the idea of remaining true to him. That idea held fast until she was wholly and completely captivated by the attractive and heroic Lord Nelson, and their romance in what gives the story its beautiful romance.

Production Costly.

The production has been produced on a scale even more lavish than the novel justified. Over a million dollars has been expended upon the production. The exquisite settings of those rather ancient times have been faithfully reproduced. Costumes befitting the great characters the players portray have been created. Battle scenes of Lord Nelson's fleet against that of Napoleon are reproduced on a gigantic scale. In fact everything connected with the picture has been done on an extremely large and lavish scale.

To begin with, there was the necessity of securing a vast of ability to portray the roles. There must be a lady star of "divine" character, of beauty sufficient to portray the vivacious Lady Hamilton, capable of love and loving. For that part Corinne Griffith, the screen's loveliest lady, was secured. Then, there must be a dashing Lord Nelson, handsome, va-

JAYCEES TO CONDUCT
GOOD HEALTH EXHIBITExposition To Be in Conjunction With State Campaign.

In recognition of the importance to the state of the health of its people, Governor L. G. Hardman has issued an official proclamation designating the week of April 8 to 13 as "Good Health Week" for Georgia as a result of the preparations of the Atlanta Junior Chamber of Commerce to conduct a Good Health Exposition during that week.

The exposition will be held at the city auditorium and will be open to the public daily throughout the week between the hours of 2 and 11 p. m. Governor Hardman's proclamation calls attention to the vital need of health education throughout the world, and points out that it is only through enlightenment and observance of the well-defined rules of sanitation and good health that the present rate of sickness and premature death can be lowered.

For nearly three months officers and members of the Junior Chamber have been working strenuously in preparation for the exposition and the educational campaign that will accompany it.

That their efforts have been successful is indicated by the large number of interesting, educational and novel exhibits listed for the exposition and by the elaborate educational and entertaining program of moving pictures, dancing, vaudeville features, music and other features, including a quantity of valuable literature on health care to be given away free to the thousands who are expected to attend the exposition.

25 Are Fired.

Tallahassee, Fla., March 30.—(AP)—Dismissal from the state motor vehicle department today of 25 additional employees was announced by D. B. Pinkston, acting motor vehicle commissioner.

Illant, Victor Varconi seemed born for the role and was given it.

H. B. Warner Chosen.

The other character, Lord Hamilton, must be chosen—stern, yet kind and honorable. No one other than H. B. Warner seemed fitted for it, so the role was given him.

And on down the line of the main characters in the story, the players were selected for the roles they could most capably fill, without regard to the cost.

As a whole, "The Divine Lady" represents one of the most auspicious efforts ever attempted for the screen. It is a gem of the silver sheet, and is of "read show" caliber if ever a picture was. New York gasped when they saw it, crowds thronged the theater in which it played, and all attested its real greatness.

April Showers Remarkable Values

During Myers-Miller's---

QUICK CLEARANCE SALE

Beginning Tomorrow Morning

6-Piece Quality Dinette Suite • 2-Pc. Genuine Mohair Suite

$4.75 Cash $69.75 Choice of Finishes

In various designs, woods and finishes, including Modern Art in Kennelworth Oak; Early American in Mahogany Veneer and Walnut combinations; Old English in English Oak. Each one of these suites is prettier than the other and they are strictly adapted to small dining rooms or breakfast rooms. Price range is as wide as the assortment of patterns and finishes beginning with a dandy 6-piece suite in genuine mahogany (chairs upholstered in tapestry). Special during this Quick Clearance at $69.75.

$4.75 Cash $98.75 Genuine Mohair

A two-piece suite similar to the above, upholstered in genuine 100% mohair, nicely tailored and with carved wood frame. The frame is of hardwood in hand-rubbed brown mahogany finish. All cushions are reversed in nice quality tapestry. This suite is so constructed as to insure long service, and is of such quality as to be worthy of any home. The Quick Clearance Sale price is only $98.75.

3-Pc. Fiber Suite, $39.75
Table Aquarium With Each Suite

$2.75 Cash Delivers This Suite $39.75 Table Aquarium Free

The three-piece suite is beautifully finished in nut brown, consisting of full-size davenport and two rockers. Upholstered in attractive cretonne over coil spring construction. This suite is priced during this Quick Clearance Sale at $39.75.

Free!

This Table Aquarium as pictured here given with every Fiber-Suite sold this week.

Free!

Garden Hose—Complete

25 feet high-grade 1 1/2-inch hose, complete with couplings, washers, nozzles. Special at $1.98. No Phone, C. O. D., or Mail Orders.

Unfinished
Breakfast Suites

Five pieces, four chairs and table. $9.45. 45¢ Cash Delivers Set.

3-Piece Bedroom Suite---Special

$4.75 Cash Delivers This Suite $79.75 Three Quality Pieces

This suite consists of 6-drawer vanity, four-poster bed and chest of drawers. This is a dandy suite at an exceptionally low price, quality considered. Suite is genuine mahogany veneer, and priced for quick clearance at $79.75.

10-Pc. Dining Room Group

$4.65 Cash Delivers the Entire Group $119.65 Buffet Mirror Included

This splendid 10-piece group includes 60-inch Buffet, Oblong Extension Table, spacious China Cabinet with large linen drawer, five Side Chairs and one Host Chair upholstered in nice quality Jacquard Vellour, and beautiful Buffet Mirror. An extremely neat design and well-constructed suite at the special price during this Quick Clearance Sale. A really wonderful suite at a new low price, at $119.65.

$1.00 Cash Delivers Your Choice of Refrigerators

It is time for everyone in Atlanta to consider their refrigerator problems. Make your selection tomorrow while all the sizes are here. The refrigerators featured in this sale are constructed of first-quality ash, perfectly insulated. A really high-grade refrigerator at a new low price.

Top Icers

All sizes in the popular top-icers and all at special savings during this week. Sale prices begin at—$11.95

Side Icers

All sizes included in this big event. Sale prices on 3-door refrigerators start at—

$32.50

A. L. MYERS, Pres. and Treas. T. C. DICKSON, Vice Pres. and Secy.

MYERS-MILLER
Furniture Company

154-156 Whitehall, S. W.

Where Good Furniture Is Not Expensive

We Give $5 for your old refrigerator on purchase of a new one over $20.

The ATLANTA and LOWRY
NATIONAL BANK

Established in 1865

Condensed Statement of Condition at Close of Business

March 27, 1929

Comptroller's Call

ASSETS

Loans and Discounts, $34,882,866.62
5% Redemption Fund 50,000.00
Stock in Federal Reserve Bank 195,000.00
U. S. Bonds and Other 9,495,883.56
Other Bonds and Securities 3,061,156.02
Banking House and Other Real Estate 1,465,095.66
Customers' Liability Account:
Letters of Credit and Acceptances 138,955.32
Cash on Hand and Due from Banks 15,042,531.36
$64,331,488.54

LIABILITIES

Capital Stock $ 4,000,000.00
Surplus 2,500,000.00
Undivided Profits 1,572,312.42
Reserves 727,814.52
Circulation 1,000,000.00
Bills Payable 3,675,000.00
Letters of Credit and Acceptances 138,955.32
DEPOSITS 50,717,406.28
$64,331,488.54

TRUST COMPANY OF GEORGIA

Condensed Statement of Condition at Close of Business March 27, 1929

ASSETS

Loans and Discounts, $ 8,458,828.36
Stock in Federal Reserve Bank 90,000.00
Stocks and Bonds 5,618,173.59
Banking House and Other Real Estate 1,481,473.21
Cash on Hand and Due from Banks 510,325.03
$16,158,800.19

LIABILITIES

Capital Stock $ 2,000,000.00
Surplus 1,000,000.00
Undivided Profits 1,739,286.79
Reserves 357,600.27
Bills Payable 3,000,000.00
Real Estate Mortgage Bonds 977,000.00
DEPOSITS 7,084,913.13
$16,158,800.19

The entire Capital Stock of the Trust Company of Georgia is owned by the Shareholders of The Atlanta and Lowry National Bank

Combined Invested Capital, $12,811,599.21

OLDEST NATIONAL BANK IN THE COTTON STATES

TECH WILL OBSERVE HONOR DAY APRIL 3

Dr. David Marx To Be Orator at School's Annual Program.

Georgia Tech this year will observe its annual honor day program on Wednesday, April 3, when Dr. David Marx, of Atlanta, is to be the orator of the day. Announcements will be made of election to all honorary societies and the presentation of all medals earned during the year.

The exercises are to be held in the Georgia Tech auditorium and will begin promptly at 9 o'clock.

Following is the program:

Honor Day Greetings—President M. L. Brittain.

Address—Dr. David Marx.

Reading of Honor Roll—Registrar H. H. Caldwell.

Presentation of Fraternity Scholarship Cup—Dean Field.

Presentation of Phi Kappa Phi certificate—Professor Hendricks.

Announcements of initiatives to Tau Beta Pi—Professor Mason.

Announcements of initiatives to Beta Gamma Sigma—Professor Noel.

Presentation of textile scholarship medal given by National Association of Cotton Manufacturers—By representative of association.

Presentation of prize given by Georgia Cotton Manufacturers Association—J. J. Scott, president of the association.

Presentation of medal of American Institute of Architects—Professor Bush-Brown.

Presentation of Alpha Kappa Xi key—Professor Noel.

Presentation of Delta Kappa Xi key—Professor Wynn.

Presentation of Briarcliff Society scholarship cup—Professor McDaniel.

Presentation of gold T's—President Brittain.

Presentation of Tau Beta Pi scholarship cups—S. A. Cannon, president of Tau Beta Pi.

P. S. Twitty Seeks Okefenokee Bear; It Must Be Dead

Waycross, Ga., March 30.—(Special.)—Peter S. Twitty, state game and fish commissioner of Georgia, was the first to send in his application for a bear from the Okefenokee swamp, but Mr. Twitty explicitly explained that he wants a "dead bear."

He wants it for the museum at the state capitol, and he stipulated that he couldn't run the risk of a live bear.

Mrs. Mary W. Rogers, who claims Kerrville, Texas, as her home, writes to the Waycross and Ware County Chamber of Commerce, however, and asks them to send her a bear from the great Okefenokee, and says she wants it alive.

"I saw in our local paper that there are bears in the Okefenokee swamp. I want to purchase a baby bear for a pet. Could you get one for me, or do you know of anyone who can?"

There are persons living in the swamp and others in Waycross, for that matter, who agree to provide the bear for the Texas applicant, but they are wondering if the lady at Kerrville fully appreciates what will be her task in raising an Okefenokee bear to manhood, or womanhood, as the case may be.

TWO WHOLESALE FIRMS COMBINE AT SAVANNAH

Savannah, Ga., March 30.—(Special.)—The large wholesale firms of I. Epstein & Brother Company and Frank & Company, Inc., are to combine their interests on June 1, it was announced here today by Leopold Adler, president of the Epstein company.

The personnel of the combined organization will be largely identical with those of the two former companies, it was stated. The large building now occupied by the Epstein company at Bay and Jefferson streets will be the headquarters. Frank & Company are located in West Broad street.

Under Mr. Adler's announcement the idea is for the combined company to extend the radius of trade and to emphasize to a greater extent the wholesale facilities of Savannah in the textile and wearing apparel field in this territory. The two firms now enjoy a large business in Georgia, Florida and South Carolina and plan to extend this into Alabama.

Epstein & Brother Company was formed in 1865, doing then principally a jobbing business. The Frank company was formed in 1870. Both concerns are rated among the leading wholesale houses in the southeast.

PENNY COMPANY WILL HOLD SPRING BUYING MEETING

The spring regional buying convention of the J. C. Penny company will open Monday afternoon at the Biltmore hotel. Approximately 200 representatives of the Penny company are expected to attend the meeting, representing more than 100 stores throughout the southeast.

Monday and Tuesday sessions will be devoted to merchandising and personnel problems. The convention will last throughout the week, with the last four days devoted to intensive buying on the part of the store managers. Speakers will include Lew V. Day, chairman of the convention; George H. Bucknell, first vice president; Walter A. Reynolds, director of sales, all of New York; E. G. Ruffin, Atlanta district manager, and G. L. Williams, Washington district manager.

Here's the Way to Heal Rupture

A Marvelous Self-Home-Treatment That Anyone Can Use on Any Rupture, Large or Small

COSTS NOTHING TO TRY

There is no longer any doubt but what the plan used by Capt. Collins is the only way to completely heal rupture without an operation.

If you are ruptured, no matter how badly or long, send your name and address to Capt. W. A. Collins, Inc., 225 N. Collins Bldg., Watertown, N. Y., and try free the wonderful invention that healed for him the two worst ruptures you ever heard of. He threw away his truss, never had to wear it again. His two large ruptures, that had kept him bedridden for years, were both healed naturally by his own method without support of any kind. It was a marvelous cure of rupture, and you can have a free trial of his wonderful home treatment by merely sending name and address, no charge whatever. Don't fail to send for this free trial. It is certainly wonderful.

SOUTHERN INDUSTRIAL MEET HERE IN APRIL

Development Officials of 13 States Gather in Atlanta April 11 and 12.

Atlanta will be host to a southern gathering of representative development officials on April 11 and 12, when the fourth southern industrial conference will be held. This conference, under the auspices of the southern division of the American Mining Congress, will bring together the best industrial thought of 13 southern states, according to Dr. Henry Mace Payne, consulting engineer and secretary of the southern division, with headquarters at Washington.

(tentative program announced by Dr. Payne includes addresses by Eugene R. Black, governor of the federal reserve bank; Senator Hubert D. Stephens, of Mississippi; B. L. Buzze, president, A. B. & A. railroad; M. L. Brittain, president, Georgia School of Technology; Birney Ives, editor, Columbus Commercial Dispatch; L. J. Poles, general manager, Mississippi state board of development, and others.

The southern industrial conference was launched four years ago by Dr. Payne, in co-operation with L. O. Crosby, president of the Mississippi state board of development, and development officials of Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Louisiana, the Carolinas, Kentucky, Virginia, Texas, Oklahoma and other states.

The first conference was held at Memphis, in 1925, followed by a larger conference at Birmingham in 1927, and a third at Gulfport last year.

The conference sessions will be held at the Biltmore hotel.

A few years ago the American Mining Congress determined to make a general mineral survey of the south, and established a southern division for that purpose. Under the appropriation it could not cover the entire south in full detail, but has already accomplished great results. A few years ago its consulting engineer, Dr. Payne, asked the editor of the Manufacturers Record to make some suggestions in regard to a mineral survey of Florida.

Discovering great opportunities for a Portland cement industry, Dr. Payne submitted reports to leading cement makers of the north and west. As a direct result a $5,000,000 Portland cement plant was established at Tampa and land near Ocala was purchased by leading Pennsylvania cement people for another plant. The Gulf, Mobile & Northern railroad arranged for a part of Dr. Payne's time for a mineral survey of Mississippi and he has discovered there many minerals of rare importance never before known in the state, and has already secured a number of industrial enterprises to use them.

LONDON TO INDIA AIR ROUTE OPENED BY GIANT PLANE

London, March 30.—(United News.)—The long heralded 5,000-mile London-to-Karachi, India, air route was officially opened tonight after Sir Samuel Hoare, British air minister, had accompanied the mail on the first leg of the journey from Croydon air-drome today to Basle, Switzerland, with a brief stop en route at Le Bourget field, Paris.

Sir Samuel Hoare and his pilot, in a 20-passenger plane, took off from Croydon field at 10 p. m. At 1:45 p. m. they had left Le Bourget field with the tri-motored plane under the control of Captain Wilcockson. The mails will be transported by train for 150 miles through the Alps to Geneva, tonight where one of a fleet of new all-metal flying boats especially built for the overwater flight to Alexandria harbor will take them up into the air again. The Alps journey and a short motor car journey from Alexandria harbor to Aboukir air-drome are the only phases of the line which are not aerial.

Although the actual flying time is only 52 hours, the trip will be made but once each way every week, consuming six days 5 1/2 hours.

Supreme Court of Ga.

The call of the following cases for argument will begin at 9 o'clock a. m. on Monday, April 15, 1929.

2031. Finn et al. vs. Lister.

2032. Taylor vs. Justice et al., comrs., etc.

2033. Taylor vs. Wright, treasurer, etc.

2034. Green vs. Stollville Consolidated School District et al.

2035. Knight & Son vs. Hood.

2036. South Georgia Power Co. et al. vs. Baumann et al.

2037. Denton vs. Mobley, supt., etc., et al.

2038. Smith vs. Smith.

2039. Howard et al. vs. Boone, admn.

2040. Jennings et al. vs. Jennings.

2041. Rabinovitch vs. Douglas et al., comrs., etc.

2042. Rowles Co. vs. Douglas et al., comrs., etc.

2043. Bolton et al. vs. Kelly & Sons et al.

2044. McLarty et al. vs. Abernethy.

2045. Bailey vs. White, receiver.

2046. Hood vs. Hood et al., exrs.

2047. Martin vs. Citizens Bank et al.

2048. Harrison, admn., vs. Mayo et al.

2049. Hamm vs. Wilson.

2050. Sikes vs. Seckinger.

2051. Hardin, trust, etc., vs. Rubin et al.

2052. Phillips vs. Holtzendorf.

2053. Dismville Brick Co. vs. Williams et al.

2054. Whitaker vs. Wilson.

2055. Reed vs. State.

2056. Hicks vs. Johnson.

2057. Carter vs. Lowry, sheriff.

2058. Taylor vs. Martin et al. vs. Soggin.

2059. Davis vs. Brittain Brothers Co.

2060. Saxon vs. National City Bank of Rome, Ga.

2061. Burkhalter vs. Wilson et al.

2062. Western Union Telegraph Co. vs. Burt.

2063. Chattahoochee Fertilizer Co. vs. Quinn et al.

2064. Knight vs. Dixie Realty Co., trustee, et al.

2065. Talmadge, comr., etc., vs. Connelly.

2066. Talmadge, comr., etc., vs. McDonald.

2067. Talmadge, comr., etc., vs. McRae.

2068. Talmadge, comr., etc., vs. Myers.

2069. Talmadge, comr., etc., vs. Seymour et al.

2070. Lumpkin et al. vs. Patterson et al.

2071. Lumpkin et al. vs. Lumpkin et al.

2072. Briefs must be served by April 8, and must be filed (and costs, where due, paid) by April 11, though counsel desiring to be heard in cases numbered 1070 et seq., need not attend before Tuesday, April 16, at 2 p. m.

Georgia School Press Body To Meet in Athens May 10

Athens, Ga., March 26.—(Special.)

Designed to assemble the high school journalists of the state for discussions and addresses on various problems of scholastic journalism, the annual convention of the Georgia Scholastic Press Association will be held at the Henry W. Grady School of Journalism, University of Georgia, on May 10, in connection with the state high school meets.

Sponsored by the Georgia chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, and the school of journalism, the Scholastic Press Association was organized on the Athens campus last year for the following threefold purpose: (1) to stimulate interest in high school English courses; (2) to improve the standards of high school journalism; and (3) to bring about a closer association between the high school students interested in journalism and the Grady school.

Representatives of the high schools of the state will have parts on the program this year to discuss their own problems in connection with the publication of high school newspapers, magazines, and annuals. Tentative plans call for 15-minute talks by student editors, after which there will be 15-minute round-table discussions by those in attendance.

Newspaperman Speaks.

In addition to the talks and discussions by the high school students, members of the faculty of the Henry W. Grady School of Journalism will discuss various problems of high school journalism for the benefit of the students. A prominent Georgia newspaperman, whose name is to be announced later, will make the principal address of the day. Officials of the university will greet the delegates, who will be provided some form of entertainment while they are in Athens.

Through the association, the Athens Banner-Herald gives two prizes of $25 in gold for the best high school newspaper and the best high school magazine. Any school in the state, whether a member of the association or not, may compete for these prizes. Contestants for the prizes, however, must submit bound volumes of their publications for the 1928-1929 session to Professor John E. Drewry, of the school of journalism, by May 1 in order that the committee may pick the winners by the time of the convention, May 10.

Bulletins Sent Schools.

With a membership consisting of leading high schools of Georgia, the association is making an effort to enroll all high and preparatory schools of the state in which there is any kind of publication. School officials have been informed through a letter from Athens that they may enroll their schools by sending their names to Professor Drewry. The annual membership fee of $5 a year does not have to be paid until the date of the convention.

Throughout the present session member schools of the association have been sent bulletins designed to be helpful to those involved in the school publication work. These bulletins have dealt with the writing of the simple news story, the writing of headlines, page make-up, and school publicity.

James A. Branch, of Boys' High school, Atlanta, is president of the association; Miss Lucille Printup, of Commercial High school, Atlanta, vice president and treasurer, and M. L. St. John, of the Athens High school, secretary. Professor Drewry, of the Henry W. Grady School of Journalism, is faculty adviser to the association.

MILL STRIKE SETTLED BY ONE S. C. COMPANY

Central, S. C., March 30.—(Special.)

Prompt settlement of the strike at the Isaqueena Mill was effected here at noon today, when officials of the mill and representatives of the workers reached an agreement in less than six hours after the day shift of 500 workers had walked out.

The night shift, consisting of 200 men, walked out in sympathy Friday night at 6 o'clock in protest against the "stretch-out" system inaugurated in the mill three months ago.

Under the agreement effected today, the number of looms for each operative will be reduced from 48 to 24. This places the mill on its old basis of operation.

The best of order has prevailed here since the strike. No antagonism was shown toward mill officials, and the dispute was marked by the absence of agitators. Only bona fide operatives of the mill, many of whom have been with the Isaqueena mill for many years, participated in the protest, seeking a revision of the scale of production in the plant.

M'CUTCHEEN IS NAMED

Editor Appointed Factory Inspector by Stanley.

Pat T. McCutcheon, editor of the News and Banner at Franklin, Ga., has been named factory inspector by Hal M. Stanley, commissioner of commerce and labor. The appointment of Mr. McCutcheon is to fill the vacancy caused by the death of I. L. Griffin. The appointment begins at once. McCutcheon will visit various parts of the state from time to time to make inspections regarding child labor, employment of women, etc. He was for four years superintendent of printing and has many friends all over Georgia. He was formerly president of the Georgia Weekly Press Association.

Don't Delay! Call at Once! Male or Female. Call or Write

No matter what your trouble is, no matter how serious your disease may be, Dr. Young's Herb Treatment will surely help you.

No dangerous drugs or surgical operations. All diseases treated with pure nature herbs—with astounding results in every case.

THE ORIENTAL HERB CO.
33 Houston St. Atlanta, Ga.
Hours 9:00 A. M. to 7:00 P. M.
Walnut 2189

DR. T. Y. YOUNG
Famous Herb Specialist in Atlanta City 20 Years

DR. T. Y. YOUNG, JR.

Armies Navies Kings Emperors

what are they..when LOVE holds the destinies of nations!

If you could see only ONE Motion Picture in 1929, that picture should be "THE DIVINE LADY," because—

- 1 It is a smashing Broadway $2.00 success.
- 2 It has one of the greatest star casts ever assembled—Corinne Griffith, H. B. Warner, Victor Varconi, Ian Keith, Marie Dressler and Montagu Love.
- 3 It has been hailed by critics as "a superfilm ranking with the red-letter products of the industry!"
- 4 Its beautiful songs and stirring musical score are a whole evening's entertainment in themselves.
- 5 It is the sixteenth and greatest sea picture directed by Frank Lloyd, who made "The Sea Hawk" and "Weary River."

SEE and HEAR...

CORINNE GRIFFITH

"THE DIVINE LADY"

From E. Barrington's Best Selling Novel!

On the same immense program
Jack Richards and Billy Church

"The singing team incomparable"—formerly stars of Al G. Field's Minstrels

Charley White's Jolly Jazzers

The Dixie Premier—Midnight Show—Tonight 12:01

METROPOLITAN

A FIRST NATIONAL VITAPHONE PICTURE

Hear "LADY DIVINE," the popular theme-song, a Witmark hit

First National

Every Picture a "Double Feature"

TECH WILL OBSERVE HONOR DAY APRIL 3

Dr. David Marx To Be Orator at School's Annual Program.

Georgia Tech this year will observe its annual honor day program on Wednesday, April 3, when Dr. David Marx, of Atlanta, is to be the orator of the day. Announcements will be made of election to all honorary societies and the presentation of all medals earned during the year.

The exercises are to be held in the Georgia Tech auditorium and will begin promptly at 9 o'clock.

Following is the program:

Honor Day Greetings—President M. L. Brittain.

Address: Dr. David Marx.

Reading of Honor Roll—Registrar H. H. Caldwell.

Presentation of Fraternity Scholarship Cup—Denn Field.

Presentation of Phi Kappa Phi certificates—Professor Goodley.

Announcements of initiatives to Tau Beta Pi—Professor Mason.

Announcements of initiatives to Beta Gamma Sigma—Professor Noel.

Presentation of textile scholarship medal given by National Association of Cotton Manufacturers—By representative of association.

Presentation of prize given by Georgia Cotton Manufacturers' Association—By J. J. Scott, president of the association.

Presentation of medal of American Institute of Architects—Professor Bush-Brown.

Presentation of Alpha Kappa Xi key—Professor Noel.

Presentation of Delta Kappa Xi key—Professor Wynn.

Presentation of Briarcliff Society scholarship cup—Professor M. D. Daniel.

Presentation of gold T's—President Brittain.

Presentation of Tau Beta Pi scholarship cups—S. A. Cannon, president of Tau Beta Pi.

P.S. Twitty Seeks Okfenokee Bear; It Must Be Dead

Waycross, Ga., March 30.—(Special.)—Peter S. Twitty, state game and fish commissioner of Georgia, was the first to send in his application for a bear from the Okfenokee swamp, but Mr. Twitty explicitly explained that he wants a "dead bear."

He wants it for the museum at the state capital, and he stipulated that he couldn't run the risk of a live bruin.

Mrs. Mary W. Rogers, who claims Kerrville, Texas, as her home, writes to the Waycross and Ware County Chamber of Commerce, however, and asks them to send her a bear from the great Okfenokee, and says she wants it alive.

"I saw in our local paper that there are bears in the Okfenokee swamp. I want to purchase a baby bear for a pet. Could you get one for me, or do you know of anyone who can?"

There are persons living in the swamp and others in Waycross, for that matter, who agree to provide the bear for the Texas applicant, but they are wondering if the lady at Kerrville fully appreciates what will be her task in raising an Okfenokee bear to manhood, or womanhood, as the case may be.

TWO WHOLESALE FIRMS COMBINE AT SAVANNAH

Savannah, Ga., March 30.—(AP)—The large wholesale dry goods firms of I. Epstein & Brother Company and Frank & Company, Inc., are to combine their interests on June 1. It was announced here today by Leopold Adler, president of the Epstein company.

The personnel of the combined organization will be largely identical with those of the two forming companies, it was stated. The large building now occupied by the Epstein company at Bay and Jefferson streets will be the headquarters. Frank & Company are located in West Broad street.

Under Mr. Adler's announcement the idea is for the combined company to extend the radius of trade and to emphasize to a greater extent the wholesale facilities of Savannah in the textile and wearing apparel field in this territory.

The two firms now enjoy a large business in Georgia, Florida and South Carolina and plan to extend this into Alabama.

Epstein & Brother Company was formed in 1885, and then principally a jobbing business. The Frank company was formed in 1870. Both concerns are rated among the leading wholesale houses in the southeast.

PENNY COMPANY WILL HOLD SPRING BUYING MEETING

The spring regional buying convention of the J. C. Penny company will open Monday afternoon at the Biltmore hotel. Approximately 200 representatives of the Penny company are expected to attend the meeting, representing more than 100 stores throughout the southeast.

Monday and Tuesday sessions will be devoted to merchandising and personnel problems. The convention will last throughout the week, with the last four days devoted to intensive buying on the part of the store managers. Speakers will include Lew V. Day, chairman of the convention; George H. Bucknell, first vice president; Walter A. Reynolds, director of sales, all of New York; E. G. Ruffin, Atlanta district manager, and G. L. Williams, Washington district manager.

Here's the Way to Heal Rupture

A Marvelous Self-Home-Treatment That Anyone Can Rupture, Large or Small

COSTS NOTHING TO TRY

There is no longer any doubt but what the plan used by Capt. Collings is the only way to completely heal rupture without an operation. If you are ruptured, no matter how badly or long, send your name and address to Capt. W. A. Collings, Inc., 1234 Collings Bldg., Watertown, N. Y., and try free the wonderful invention that healed for him the two worst ruptures you ever heard of. He threw away his truss; never had to wear it again. His two large ruptures, that had kept him bedridden for years, were both held naturally by his own muscles without support of any kind. It was a marvelous cure of rupture, and you can have a free trial of his wonderful home treatment by mail, send name and address, no charge whatever. Don't fail to send for this free test. It is certainly wonderful.

SOUTHERN INDUSTRIAL MEET HERE IN APRIL

Development Officials of 13 States Gather in Atlanta April 11 and 12.

Atlanta will be host to a south-wide gathering of representative development officials on April 11 and 12, when the fourth southern industrial conference will be held. This conference, under the auspices of the southern division of the American Mining congress, will bring together the best industrial thought of 13 southern states, according to Dr. Henry Mace Payne, consulting engineer for the American Mining congress and secretary of the southern division, with headquarters at Washington.

The tentative program announced by Dr. Payne includes addresses by Eugene R. Black, governor of the federal reserve bank; Senator Hubert D. Stephens, of Mississippi; B. L. Bugg, president, A. R. & A. railroad.

Representatives of the high schools of the state will have parts on the program this year to discuss their own problems in connection with the publication of high school newspapers, magazines, and annuals. Tentative plans call for 15-minute talks by student editors, after which there will be 15-minute round-table discussions by the students in attendance.

Newspapermen Spoke.

In addition to the talks and discussions by the high school students, members of the faculty of the Henry W. Grady School of Journalism will discuss various problems of high school journalism for the benefit of the students.

A prominent Georgia newspaperman, whose name is to be announced later, will make the principal address of the day. Officials of the university will greet the delegates, who will be provided some form of entertainment while they are in Athens.

Through the association, the Athens Banner-Herald gives two prizes of $25 in gold for the best high school newspaper and the best high school magazine. Any school in the state, whether a member of the association or not, may compete for these prizes. Contestants for the prizes, however, must submit bound volumes of their publications for the 1928-1929 session to Professor John E. Drewry, of the school of journalism, by May 1 in order that the committee may pick the winners by the time of the convention, May 10.

Bulletins Sent Schools.

With a membership consisting of leading high schools of Georgia, the association is making an effort to enroll all high and preparatory schools of the state in which there is any kind of publication. School officials have been informed through a letter from Athens that they may enroll their schools by sending their names to Professor Drewry. The annual membership fee of $5 a year does not have to be paid until the date of the convention.

Throughout the present session member schools of the association have been sent bulletins designed to be helpful to those involved in the school publication work. These bulletins have dealt with the writing of the simple news story, the writing of headlines, page make-up, and school publicity.

James A. Branch, of Boys' High school, Atlanta, is president of the association; Miss Lucille Printup, of Commercial High school, Atlanta, vice president and treasurer, and M. L. St. John, of the Athens High school, secretary. Professor Drewry, of the Henry W. Grady School of Journalism, is faculty adviser to the association.

tives of the mill, many of whom have been with the Isaqueena mill for many years, participated in the protest, seeking a revision of the scale of production in the plant.

M'CUTCHEN IS NAMED

Editor Appointed Factory Inspector by Stanley.

Pat T. McCutcheon, editor of the News and Banner at Franklin, Ga., has been named factory inspector by Hal M. Stanley, commissioner of commerce and labor. The appointment of Mr. McCutcheon is to fill the vacancy caused by the death of I. L. Griffin. The appointment begins at once. McCutcheon will visit various parts of the state from time to time to make inspections regarding child labor, employment of women, etc. He was for four years superintendent of printing and has many friends all over Georgia. He was formerly president of the Georgia Weekly Press Association.

Don't Delay! Call at Once! Male or Female. Call or Write

No matter what your trouble is, no matter how serious your disease may be, Dr. Young's Herb Treatment will surely help you.

No dangerous drugs or surgical operations. All diseases treated with our pure-nature herbs—with astounding results in every case.

THE ORIENTAL HERB CO.

33 Houston St. Atlanta, Ga. Dr. T. Y. YOUNG, JR.

Hours 9:00 A. M. to 7:00 P. M. Walnut 2189

DR. HENRY MACE PAYNE.

road, M. L. Brittain, president, Georgia School of Technology; Birney Ames, editor, Columbus Commercial Dispatch; L. J. Folse, general manager, Mississippi state board of development, and others.

The southern industrial conference was launched four years ago by Dr. Payne, in co-operation with L. O. Crosby, president of the Mississippi state board of development, and development officials of Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Louisiana, the Carolinas, Kentucky, Virginia, Texas, Oklahoma and other states.

The first conference was held at Memphis, in 1926, followed by a larger conference at Birmingham in 1927, and a third at Gulfport last year.

The conference sessions will be held at the Biltmore hotel.

A few years ago the American Mining congress determined to make a general mineral survey of the south, and established a southern division for that purpose. Under the appropriation it could cover the entire south in full detail, but has already accomplished great results. A few years ago its consulting engineer, Dr. Payne, asked the editor of the Manufacturers Record to make some suggestions in regard to a mineral survey of Florida.

Discovering great opportunities for a Portland cement industry, Dr. Payne submitted reports to leading cement makers of the north and west. As a direct result a $5,000,000 Portland cement plant was established at Tampa and land near Ocala was purchased by leading Pennsylvania cement people for another plant. The Gulf, Mobile & Northern railroad arranged for a part of Dr. Payne's time for a mineral survey of Mississippi and he has discovered there many minerals of rare importance never before known in the state, and has already secured a number of industrial enterprises to use them.

LONDON TO INDIA AIR ROUTE OPENED BY GIANT PLANE

London, March 30.—(United News.)—The long heralded 5,000-mile London-to-Kanchi, India, air route was officially opened tonight after Sir Samuel Hoare, British air minister, had accompanied the mail on the first leg of the journey from Croydon airport today to Basle, Switzerland, with a brief stop en route at Le Bourget field, Paris.

Sir Samuel Hoare and his pilot, in a 20-passenger plane, took off from Croydon field at 10 a. m. At 1:45 p. m. they had left Le Bourget field with the tri-motored plane under the control of Captain Wilkeson. The mails will be transported by train for 150 miles through the Alps to Genoa tonight where one of a fleet of new aluminum flying boats especially built for the overwater flight to Alexandria harbor will take them up into the air again. The Alps journey and a short motor car journey from Alexandria harbor to Aboukir airdrome are the only phases of the line which are not aerial.

Although the actual flying time is only 52 hours, the trip will be made but once each way every week, consuming six days 5 1/2 hours.

Supreme Court of Ga.

The call of the following cases for argument will begin at 9 o'clock a. m. on Monday, April 15, 1929.

8031. Fin vs. Liffert.

8032. Taylor vs. Justice et al., comrs., etc.

8033. Taylor vs. Wright, treasurer, etc.

2039. Green vs. Snellville Consolidated School District et al.

2040. Knight & Son vs. Hood.

2041. South Georgia Power Co. et al. vs. Baumann et al.

2042. Denton vs. Mobley, supt., etc., et al.

2043. Smith vs. Smith.

2044. Howard et al. vs. Boone, admx.

2045. Jennings et al. vs. Jennings.

2046. Robinson vs. Douglas et al., comrs., etc.

2047. Howies Co. vs. Douglas et al., comrs., etc.

2048. Bolton et al. vs. Kelly & Sons et al.

2049. McLarty et al. vs. Abercrombie.

2044. Abercrombie vs. McLarty.

2061. Bailey vs. White, receiver.

2062. Hood vs. Hood et al., exrs.

2063. Martin vs. Citizens Bank et al.

2064. Harrison, admx., vs. Mayo et al.

2065. Hamm vs. Wilson.

2066. Slat vs. Schlinger.

2069. Hardin, trustee, etc., vs. Robin et al.

2070. Phillips vs. Holtendorff.

2071. Plaquemine Brick Co. vs. Williams et al.

2072. Whitaker vs. Wilson.

2073. Reed vs. State.

2074. Hicks vs. Johnson.

2075. Carter vs. Lowry, sheriff.

2077. City of Marietta et al. vs. Scoggins.

2078. Western United Telegraph Co. vs. Field vs. Hargis.

2079. Saxon vs. National City Bank of Rome, Ga.

2081. Burkhalter vs. Wilson et al.

2082. Mobley, supt., etc., et al.

2087. Chattahoochee Fertilizer Co. vs. Quinn et al.

2088. Knight vs. Dixie Realty Co., trustee.

2090. Talmadge, comr., etc., vs. Cordell.

2091. Talmadge, comr., etc., vs. McRae.

2092. Talmadge, comr., etc., vs. Myers.

2100. Talmadge, comr., etc., vs. Beynon et al.

2101. Lumpkin et al. vs. Patterson et al.

2102. Patterson et al. vs. Lumpkin et al.

Briefs must be served by April 9, and must be filed and read, where due, until by April 11, though counsel desiring to be heard in cases numbered 2070 et seq. need not attend before Tuesday, April 15, at 9 a. m.

Georgia School Press Body To Meet in Athens May 10

Athens, Ga., March 26.—(Special.) Designed to assemble the high school journalists of the state for discussions and addresses on various problems of scholastic journalism, the annual convention of the Georgia Scholastic Press Association will be held at the Henry W. Grady School of Journalism, University of Georgia, on May 10, in connection with the state high school meets.

Sponsored by the Georgia chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, and the school of journalism, the Scholastic Press Association was organized on the Athens campus last year for the following threefold purpose: (1) to stimulate interest in high school English courses; (2) to improve the standards of high school journalism; and (3) to bring about a closer association between the high school students interested in journalism and the Grady school.

Representatives of the high schools of the state will have parts on the program this year to discuss their own problems in connection with the publication of high school newspapers, magazines, and annuals. Tentative plans call for 15-minute talks by student editors, after which there will be 15-minute round-table discussions by the students in attendance.

Newspapermen Spoke.

In addition to the talks and discussions by the high school students, members of the faculty of the Henry W. Grady School of Journalism will discuss various problems of high school journalism for the benefit of the students.

A prominent Georgia newspaperman, whose name is to be announced later, will make the principal address of the day. Officials of the university will greet the delegates, who will be provided some form of entertainment while they are in Athens.

Through the association, the Athens Banner-Herald gives two prizes of $25 in gold for the best high school newspaper and the best high school magazine. Any school in the state, whether a member of the association or not, may compete for these prizes. Contestants for the prizes, however, must submit bound volumes of their publications for the 1928-1929 session to Professor John E. Drewry, of the school of journalism, by May 1 in order that the committee may pick the winners by the time of the convention, May 10.

Bulletins Sent Schools.

With a membership consisting of leading high schools of Georgia, the association is making an effort to enroll all high and preparatory schools of the state in which there is any kind of publication. School officials have been informed through a letter from Athens that they may enroll their schools by sending their names to Professor Drewry. The annual membership fee of $5 a year does not have to be paid until the date of the convention.

Throughout the present session member schools of the association have been sent bulletins designed to be helpful to those involved in the school publication work. These bulletins have dealt with the writing of the simple news story, the writing of headlines, page make-up, and school publicity.

James A. Branch, of Boys' High school, Atlanta, is president of the association; Miss Lucille Printup, of Commercial High school, Atlanta, vice president and treasurer, and M. L. St. John, of the Athens High school, secretary. Professor Drewry, of the Henry W. Grady School of Journalism, is faculty adviser to the association.

tives of the mill, many of whom have been with the Isaqueena mill for many years, participated in the protest, seeking a revision of the scale of production in the plant.

M'CUTCHEN IS NAMED

Editor Appointed Factory Inspector by Stanley.

Pat T. McCutcheon, editor of the News and Banner at Franklin, Ga., has been named factory inspector by Hal M. Stanley, commissioner of commerce and labor. The appointment of Mr. McCutcheon is to fill the vacancy caused by the death of I. L. Griffin. The appointment begins at once. McCutcheon will visit various parts of the state from time to time to make inspections regarding child labor, employment of women, etc. He was for four years superintendent of printing and has many friends all over Georgia. He was formerly president of the Georgia Weekly Press Association.

Don't Delay! Call at Once! Male or Female. Call or Write

No matter what your trouble is, no matter how serious your disease may be, Dr. Young's Herb Treatment will surely help you.

No dangerous drugs or surgical operations. All diseases treated with our pure-nature herbs—with astounding results in every case.

THE ORIENTAL HERB CO.

33 Houston St. Atlanta, Ga. Dr. T. Y. YOUNG, JR.

Hours 9:00 A. M. to 7:00 P. M. Walnut 2189

DR. HENRY MACE PAYNE.

road, M. L. Brittain, president, Georgia School of Technology; Birney Ames, editor, Columbus Commercial Dispatch; L. J. Folse, general manager, Mississippi state board of development, and others.

The southern industrial conference was launched four years ago by Dr. Payne, in co-operation with L. O. Crosby, president of the Mississippi state board of development, and development officials of Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Louisiana, the Carolinas, Kentucky, Virginia, Texas, Oklahoma and other states.

The first conference was held at Memphis, in 1926, followed by a larger conference at Birmingham in 1927, and a third at Gulfport last year.

The conference sessions will be held at the Biltmore hotel.

A few years ago the American Mining congress determined to make a general mineral survey of the south, and established a southern division for that purpose. Under the appropriation it could cover the entire south in full detail, but has already accomplished great results. A few years ago its consulting engineer, Dr. Payne, asked the editor of the Manufacturers Record to make some suggestions in regard to a mineral survey of Florida.

Discovering great opportunities for a Portland cement industry, Dr. Payne submitted reports to leading cement makers of the north and west. As a direct result a $5,000,000 Portland cement plant was established at Tampa and land near Ocala was purchased by leading Pennsylvania cement people for another plant. The Gulf, Mobile & Northern railroad arranged for a part of Dr. Payne's time for a mineral survey of Mississippi and he has discovered there many minerals of rare importance never before known in the state, and has already secured a number of industrial enterprises to use them.

LONDON TO INDIA AIR ROUTE OPENED BY GIANT PLANE

London, March 30.—(United News.)—The long heralded 5,000-mile London-to-Kanchi, India, air route was officially opened tonight after Sir Samuel Hoare, British air minister, had accompanied the mail on the first leg of the journey from Croydon airport today to Basle, Switzerland, with a brief stop en route at Le Bourget field, Paris.

Sir Samuel Hoare and his pilot, in a 20-passenger plane, took off from Croydon field at 10 a. m. At 1:45 p. m. they had left Le Bourget field with the tri-motored plane under the control of Captain Wilkeson. The mails will be transported by train for 150 miles through the Alps to Genoa tonight where one of a fleet of new aluminum flying boats especially built for the overwater flight to Alexandria harbor will take them up into the air again. The Alps journey and a short motor car journey from Alexandria harbor to Aboukir airdrome are the only phases of the line which are not aerial.

Although the actual flying time is only 52 hours, the trip will be made but once each way every week, consuming six days 5 1/2 hours.

Supreme Court of Ga.

The call of the following cases for argument will begin at 9 o'clock a. m. on Monday, April 15, 1929.

8031. Fin vs. Liffert.

8032. Taylor vs. Justice et al., comrs., etc.

8033. Taylor vs. Wright, treasurer, etc.

2039. Green vs. Snellville Consolidated School District et al.

2040. Knight & Son vs. Hood.

2041. South Georgia Power Co. et al. vs. Baumann et al.

2042. Denton vs. Mobley, supt., etc., et al.

2043. Smith vs. Smith.

2044. Howard et al. vs. Boone, admx.

2045. Jennings et al. vs. Jennings.

2046. Robinson vs. Douglas et al., comrs., etc.

2047. Howies Co. vs. Douglas et al., comrs., etc.

2048. Bolton et al. vs. Kelly & Sons et al.

2049. McLarty et al. vs. Abercrombie.

2044. Abercrombie vs. McLarty.

2061. Bailey vs. White, receiver.

2062. Hood vs. Hood et al., exrs.

2063. Martin vs. Citizens Bank et al.

2064. Harrison, admx., vs. Mayo et al.

2065. Hamm vs. Wilson.

2066. Slat vs. Schlinger.

2069. Hardin, trustee, etc., vs. Robin et al.

2070. Phillips vs. Holtendorff.

2071. Plaquemine Brick Co. vs. Williams et al.

2072. Whitaker vs. Wilson.

2073. Reed vs. State.

2074. Hicks vs. Johnson.

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

All Christendom Celebrates Easter In Song and Praise

The Resurrection, Most Joyous of Christian Fetes, Is Worldwide in Observance.

ATLANTA CHURCHES TO BE CROWDED

Hoovers Will Observe Day Quietly; New York Annual Parade Threatened by Rain.

From end to end of the ever expanding borders of the Christian world, in all languages spoken by human tongue Easter, the season symbolic of the religion that has turned the eyes of men outward and upward, that has planted a promise of unfettered resurrection, is observed today.

Rome, Jerusalem and Seville held the most interest for those overseas, as in these three cities were to be celebrated the most magnificent of fetes. But in every city, town and village of the old world and in missions throughout the Orient and in Africa special services were held.

In America the observance in the national capital and in New York centered interest. Washington will witness the president in attendance at simple ceremonies at the little Quaker Meeting House. Gotham will witness its annual parade down Fifth Avenue after the hundreds of churches in the metropolis disgorge their thousands who have listened to famous ministers retell the simple story of the resurrection and to equally famous musicians rendering magnificent musical scores.

In Atlanta it is expected that the attendance under divine services will set a record.

The weather forecast is bright and the churches have arranged unusually elaborate musical services. In Episcopal and Catholic churches the choir will render their cantatas during the morning services, and in many of the Methodist, Presbyterian and Baptist churches the musical services have been saved for the night worship.

ROME IS PREPARED FOR LAVISH SERVICES.

Rome, March 30.—(AP)—After today's brief night of rain, the otherwise somber services of Holy Saturday, Rome was ready tonight for the commemoration of Easter.

As it will be the first Easter in 50 years in which the Holy See and the Italian state are reconciled, tomorrow's solemnization will take on a new and more joyful character.

Tomorrow, moreover, will be one of the three recognized "tipping days" in the Italian year. The other two fall on New Year's and Assumption Day, August 15, known here as "Ferragosto."

Everybody's junior, postman, personal servant and harbor will expect an appreciable donation to make the feast complete.

One of the most touching features of Sunday's celebration will be afforded by the pilgrimage to raise the coffin of the resurrection martyrs.

These processions, which date from the third century, A. D., are present in the morning and evening. That which occurs at the Catacombs of St. Callixtus, on the Appian Way, conducted by the Trappist monks, is particularly worth witnessing.

Is Peter's Jubilee Year.

Before the fall of the temporal power of the papacy in 1870, saints were fired from the canon of Castel St. Angelo, the mighty fortress constructed by the Emperor Hadrian which dominates the route to the Vatican, and over which rises the heroic statue of St. Michael the Archangel, with the flaming sword.

Tomorrow, however, only the daily regulation "mass" given by which all good Romans set their watches and clocks, will ring out. Prior to 1870, the Vatican and St. Peter's were lit up at the evening by thousands of blazing tapers, but not even with the reconciliation of the church and state will that old custom be renewed this year.

In any event, the Easter Day tapers, but not even with the reconciliation of the church and state will that old custom be renewed this year.

The reigning pontiff when Columbus made his discovery of America. That pope, a Spaniard, introduced a number of his country's customs into the Roman fetes, heightening their picturesque qualities.

The pope will usher in Easter celebrating mass in the restored Sistine chapel tomorrow. The band of his palatine guard will give a concert in a courtyard of the Vatican.

The Italian royal family will pass the day quietly at their hunting lodge near Pisa, while Premier Mussolini presumably will be at his villa, Caprena, with his family.

The influx of pilgrims because of the pope's Sacerdotal Jubilee year is greater than at any Easter since the previous Jubilee year in 1925.

The pontiff spent Holy Saturday in busy fashion, visiting the installation of the new Vatican library in the Bevefede courtyard and thence going to the Vatican Pope Alexander observed minutely the repairs there going on.

On Tuesday he will descend into St. Peter's to celebrate mass for 5,000 young French pilgrims, receiving them later in the day in a collective audience.

SUN SHINES BRIGHT IN HOLY CITY.

Jerusalem, March 30.—(AP)—The holy city of Jerusalem was bathed in bright sunshine all day today, pre-figuring the advent of Easter under fair skies tomorrow. Never more than this year has Jerusalem shown itself a holy city in reality, as feasts of all creeds follow each other in rapid succession.

Pilgrims of every race are crowding the streets of the ancient Jewish camp-

MUSIC OF EASTER WILL BE FEATURED IN MANY CHURCHES

Cantatas and Pageants Are Planned—Good Weather Is Promised Atlanta Church-Goers.

From Atlanta's churches, her temples of worship to God, massed voices will lift today, Easter Sunday, in a swelling chorus of hosannas to the risen Lord.

From vaulted cloister and arched roofs of the great city churches; from the simple walls of smaller community churches; from the trained voices of famous choirs, and from the sweet spontaneity of childish notes the great peans of praise will rise to the eternal skies of the universal God.

Bright skies have been promised by the official weather prophets, so the church-going throngs probably will be greeted by good weather in which to make their pilgrimages to their respective houses of worship.

Hardly a church in the city but has announced some form of special music service for Easter Sunday. Vocal offerings range from the classic compositions of the great masters of the cantata to the primitive music of the old-fashioned "fa, so, la" singers. There is melody and harmony to please every ear, a worship of song interpreted to suit the need of every heart.

Old-Fashioned Music.—To be heard at the East Point Second Baptist church. To many of the older people this type of singing will bring back memories of days of long ago, days when man's life was more simple and elaboration had not touched daily life.

The cantatas will be rendered by the choirs of North Avenue Presbyterian, St. Mark Methodist, Covenant Presbyterian, Capitol View Methodist, Decatur Presbyterian, Park Street Methodist, Emory Methodist, Peachtree Christian, First Baptist of Decatur, and St. John's Lutheran.

The Nelson Dodd Methodist, First Christian, Calvary Methodist, West End Methodist, St. Luke's Episcopal and Wesley Memorial churches have announced pageants as their special contributions to the Easter praise service.

An Easter festival will be given by the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Peachtree Christian.—Peachtree Christian will present a special musical program at the 5 p. m. service with the singing of long chorales and the double quartet taking part.

A twilight Easter music festival is announced for 5 a. m. at the Second Baptist, while Buckhead Baptist church also will give a Easter music service at 5 o'clock.

St. John's church at College Park will present a choral service at 11 a. m. At the Henry Gray hotel, at 9:30 a. m., the Atlanta Bible class will present a program featuring quartet, violin soloist and a saxophone duo.

And, at the Salvation Army headquarters, the "Terrestrial Standard" band will play at morning and evening services. This band also will play for the Alpha class at Wesley Memorial church at 9:30 o'clock.

Following this, will go to Grace hospital to give a 20-minute concert for the patients. The army's "Song-Brigade" will give a service of song in the afternoon entitled "Judith."

Special Easter Music.—Churches which have announced special Easter music at one or both services today include: Druid Hills Baptist, Westminster Presbyterian, Church of the Epiphany, Stewart Avenue Methodist, First Methodist, All Saints' Episcopal, Central Presbyterian, First Presbyterian, Calvary Baptist, Second Baptist of East Point, St. Luke's Episcopal, East End Methodist, Oakhurst Baptist, Rock Springs Presbyterian, Morningside Presbyterian, Peachtree Road Presbyterian, Trinity Street Presbyterian, Central Presbyterian and the Church of the Immaculate Conception.

St. Luke's Episcopal church will give an Easter pageant at the church school at 3:30 p. m., while a full choral holy communion will be observed at 4 a. m.

At Trinity Methodist Sunday school, at the Sunday school in the morning, the Georgia Tech Y singers, under the direction of Robert Mell, will give a special program.

Cantata at Decatur.—"From Death Unto Life" is the title of the cantata to be given at the First Baptist church, of Decatur, at 7:30 p. m.

In addition to a pageant at 7:30 o'clock old time songs on the subject of "Heaven" will be sung at the evening services at the First Christian church.

The Bible school of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer will hold an Easter festival at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Special Easter music.—Will be given by the senior Epworth league at the evening service of the East End Methodist church.

At All Saints' church, a special Easter music service, under the direction of Dr. George H. Bromberg, organist and choir director, will be a feature of the 11 o'clock services. A children's festival service will also be held at this church at 4 o'clock.

The First Christian at East Point will turn its evening service over to the Bible school, when the intermediate and junior departments will present a pageant entitled "Spring Fancies." This program will start at 7:30 o'clock.

Peachtree Christian.—Mauder's famous cantata, "Olivet Calvary," will be given at the evening bells service, at 5 o'clock, at the

Continued on page 16, column 1.

SNOOK IS TOLD TO KEEP QUIET ON SPY SYSTEM

Department of Justice Directs Retiring Warden To Take With Him No Prison Records or Data.

OFFICIALS AT PEN SILENT ON ORDER

In View of Snook's Fight on Spy Plan, Obedience to Newest Department Action in Doubt.

BY HERMAN D. HANCOCK.

Department of justice officials Saturday moved to prevent publication of details incident to the planting of federal agents in the Atlanta penitentiary, whose resignation takes place officially at midnight tonight, to carry away no data or copies of records when he quits his post.

While Warden Snook and other officials at the institution declined to comment on the orders, or to admit whether they had been received, it was learned from authoritative sources that such a message had been sent to the local prison head.

Snook will quit the institution and leave Deputy Warden A. C. Aderhold in charge until the department names his successor. It also was learned Saturday that another mysterious individual, presumably a federal agent, has been in Atlanta for the past several days conferring with local prison heads. Much conjecture has arisen as to whether he is to be the new warden of the pen.

Pen Spy Program.

Chafed by a survey of the institution by newspaper men and, the subsequent publication of findings of the committee, Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney-general in charge of federal prisons, who also is said to have instituted the pen spy program, and Attorney-General William Mitchell are declared to have wired the warden complaining about the survey of the prison by newspaper representatives.

The story in question was carried exclusively in "The Constitution" and showed among other items taken from the annual report of the federal penitentiary and correctional institutions that Snook's institution is the only one of the larger prisons which closed the fiscal year ending June 30, 1928, without a deficit.

Message Not Available.

Text of the message which the warden received was not available, but it bore the signature of Attorney-General Mitchell and directed the warden's attention to a rule of the department, established since Mrs. Willebrandt has been in office which prevents publication of any news from the department except on order of the attorney-general or under his direction.

Conjecture as to whether the Atlanta official would obey the orders of the message was rife Saturday night inasmuch as the spy system was introduced and first came to public knowledge from stories carried exclusively by "The Constitution." These publications, among other things, have been given as the reason why Mrs. Willebrandt, acting for the attorney-general, asked for Snook's resignation.

His protest against the spy system is the reason, Snook's friends declare, why he has been relieved of his position. They point to his record of efficient administration to show that Mrs. Willebrandt's charge that he was removed because of an "utter lack of administrative ability" was not the real reason why he was fired. They also contend that the latest reason, that the prison reeks with dirt, dope and disease, is without foundation in fact.

Best-Governed Prison.

The story which "The Constitution" carried last Wednesday morning and which contained excerpts from the annual report which the department releases, showed by statistical comparison that the Atlanta pen is the best-governed and administered in the country. "The survey failed to substantiate the charge that dirt, dope and disease are raging."

Although the message which the attorney-general sent the warden did not contain any reference to any specific "data or records" or copies of records which the department did not wish to be taken away, it was summed that it was aimed primarily at the spy record which the warden has declined to furnish to newspapermen.

Pen Here Made Money.

A total of $850,000 was appropriated for operation of the Atlanta pen for the year ending June 30, 1928, according to records. Snook spent $806,254.23 and turned $43,745.77 back into the treasury. He was told not to fail to use his entire appropriation in the future as money was too hard to get out of congress, it is reported.

Leavenworth had $840,210 allocated, spent $800,044.54 and ran a deficit of $39,408.54; McNeil Island had $250,000 and spent $271,509.71, running a deficit of $21,509.71.

Close scrutiny of the report shows that the Leavenworth farm earned a net profit of only $32,620.77 while the Atlanta farm showed a net profit of $49,444.50. The report without salary deductions showed that Leavenworth made $49,290.57.

Continued on page 16, column 1.

Gloomy Easter in Prospect For Ann Watson, Coma Victim

LITTLE GIRL UNCONSCIOUS FOR 31 DAYS

LITTLE ANN WATSON

The sun may shine this Easter day but there'll be no sunshine for Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Watson unless their little daughter, Ann, emerges from the coma which has enveloped her tiny form for 31 days and smiles upon the Easter eggs and rabbits which will be strewn about her little white cot in the Georgia Baptist hospital.

Ann, the victim of a motor truck accident and unconscious all of the 31 days with the exception of a few hours early this month, still was unconscious late Saturday, but her condition was somewhat improved. She was still hopeful of restoring her to health.

To her bedside today, as they have every other day since February 28, will go her parents, who have never given up hope for their child's recovery. With them they will take the Easter eggs and rabbits which Little Ann would have had at home. These they will place about her downy bed and sit by, waiting patiently for the smile they have grown to love so dearly in the five years they have had their little girl.

To her many child acquaintances, particularly those with whom she attended Forrest Avenue kindergarten, it will be a day of days but they won't forget her for through all kinds of weather and the exciting hours of school life many of them have not missed a daily trip to the hospital to inquire for their little friend.

Those who were struck down by a truck half a block from her home, 544 Angier avenue, on her way to kindergarten on the morning of February 28, she was knocked unconscious but was restored to consciousness for a few hours a week later. Then she lapsed into a coma again and from that she has not emerged.

Continued on page 16, column 1.

Continued on page 16, column 1.

Continued on page 16, column 1.

Continued on page 16, column 1.

Continued on page 16, column 1.

Continued on page 16, column 1.

Continued on page 16, column 1.

Continued on page 16, column 1.

Continued on page 16, column 1.

Continued on page 16, column 1.

Continued on page 16, column 1.

Continued on page 16, column 1.

Continued on page 16, column 1.

Continued on page 16, column 1.

Continued on page 16, column 1.

Continued on page 16, column 1.

Continued on page 16, column 1.

Continued on page 16, column 1.

Continued on page 16, column 1.

Continued on page 16, column 1.

Continued on page 16, column 1.

FEDERAL FORCE DRIVES REBELS NORTHWARD

Calles Cavalry Victorious in Engagement Near Jimenez—Escobar Retreats Toward Juarez.

ENVOY OF REBELS PROMISES SAFETY

Next Battle in Revolt Expected at Naco, Where Federal Army Is Reported Outnumbered.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The federal steam roller yesterday rolled back the Mexican rebel forces in the state of Chihuahua another step with a reported clash at Corralitos, a short distance south of Jimenez.

General Juan A. Almazan informed Mexico City that his advance cavalry had forced the retreating insurgents to leave "numerous dead and wounded in the field." From these reports it appeared that the southward advance of Rebel General Escobar Friday had been suddenly reversed at Relano at sunrise yesterday, but the cause was not apparent, for the rebels occupied that town without resistance.

Five regiments of insurgents, probably about 1,500 men, had opposed the federal cavalry while the main force continued to withdraw northward on ten troop trains.

The situation at Naco, near the Arizona border, still remained without reaching the boiling point of attack. The superior insurgent force rested on its arms within sight of the town while the federal defenders clung to their entrenchments. Airplanes were prepared to support the defense of the town.

FEDERAL CAVALRY KILLS MANY REBELS.

Mexico City, March 30.—(AP)—National headquarters tonight announced that "many rebels were killed and wounded" in a cavalry engagement near Corralitos, south of Jimenez. The rebel horsemen were said to have been driven back toward their main army.

Secretary of War Calles had telegraphed the president that the exact number of rebels killed was not known because the battle field had not been cleared. The rebels were led by General Francisco Urbalejo and General Amadeo Lopez commanded the federalists.

The government also declared that Rebel General Gonzalo Escobar had retreated with his entire army during the day.

Escobar in Retreat.

General Calles had simply relayed here the report sent him by General Urbalejo, who was in direct command of the federal army in the north.

"I have the honor to inform you that General Escobar moved all of his troops last night to Relano," the report said. "But at sunrise today, with the hesitation that always accompanies the action of criminals, he retreated with his infantry above ten trains while his cavalry were retreating overland. When we advanced on Relano early today to start the attack, we found no resistance."

"I ordered General Amadeo Lopez, who commanded our advance cavalry, to follow the rebels rapidly. He did this and made contact with the rebel cavalry near Corralitos, and after a short fight forced them to retreat westward in full disbandment, leaving the ground dead and wounded in the field."

The report did not give the number of insurgents engaged, but if five rebel regiments listed in it were at normal strength their number would have been 1,750.

The Evening Communique also announced that the federal army, under command of Lieutenant Colonel Pablo Sidar, had reached Mazatlan.

REBEL ENTRY PROMISES SAFETY.

Washington, March 30.—(AP)—General Ugarre, newly appointed high commissioner of the Mexican revolutionary party to the United States, has promised that he will guarantee the safety of the rebels who are seeking refuge in the United States.

The revolutionary commission established permanent headquarters here today in the Fairfax hotel. Besides Ugarre, it includes Ignacio Moran, a financial agent, and Francisco J. Santa Maria, a legal adviser. Dr. Juan Manuel Alvarez Del Castillo, former Mexican minister to Germany, is co-operating in a legal capacity with the mission.

MORE U. S. TROOPS SENT TO BORDER.

El Paso, Texas, March 30.—(United News)—Additional United States troops will enter Sunday for Columbus, New Mexico, to strengthen the border patrol there, it was announced at Fort Bliss today.

The second platoon of troop F, Eighth cavalry, has been ordered to join the first platoon of the same regiment, already there.

Columbus is the border town raided by Pancho Villa, Mexican rebel, several years ago.

CAPTURED MINER RELEASED BY FEDERALISTS.

Mexico City, March 30.—(AP)—The United States embassy learned today that T. L. Carathan, an American mining man, who had been the prisoner of bandits for 10 days, while they sought to collect a ransom of 20,000 pesos, was released Thursday by federal troops.

Ten thousand pesos had been paid the bandits, "on account," before the federalists made a surprise attack on the stock exchange community itself.

Continued on page 10, column 3.

Continued on page 10, column 3.

Continued on page 10, column 3.

Continued on page 10, column 3.

Continued on page 10, column 3.

Rich's To Become $15,000,000 Firm Covering South

GEORGIA FARMERS INCREASE ACREAGE FOR MINOR CROPS

U. S. Bureau's Estimate Shows Wider Planting of Oats and Hay and Winter Wheat.

Atlanta Department Store Plans Extension of Activities to Other Southern Cities.

BY LOYD A. WILHOIT.

As a preliminary to extending its activities to other cities throughout the southeastern states, M. Rich & Bros. Co., widely-known Atlanta department store and one of the greatest mercantile establishments in the country, Saturday announced that it has taken steps whereby it will become a $15,000,000 institution headed by the same corps of efficient officers who are now in charge of its direction.

Headquarters of the Rich interests under this plan will continue to be centered in Atlanta, with business operations blanketing the southeast and drawing to this city an ever-increasing volume of commercial activity resulting from constant increases and expansions.

Under the plan announced Saturday the Rich company will separate its retail holdings from its mercantile business, forming two distinct corporations. The corporation owning and managing the real estate interests will be known as M. Rich & Bros. Co. and the corporation owning and operating the department store business will be Rich's, Inc.

Full Capital Assured.

Assuring Rich's, Inc., of full capital with which to operate an aggressive and expanding business throughout the south, 100,000 shares of common stock of no par value and 10,000 shares of preferred stock of $100 par value will be issued at once. Later an additional 275,000 shares of common stock of no par value and 20,000 shares of preferred stock of $100 par value will be issued. This will give Rich's, Inc., an authorized capital of $15,750,000, with members of the Rich family owning and controlling approximately 70 per cent of the stock issued.

Rich officials announced Saturday that all stock to be issued at this time have already sold. Hayden, Stone & Co., of New York, and the Trust Company of Georgia of Atlanta, both nationally-known securities firms, have been named fiscal agents for Rich's, Inc., and advised in perfection of plans for its future program.

Under the new Rich regime, Walter H. Rich, president; David H. Strauss, vice president and treasurer, and Frank H. Rich, secretary and general manager, will continue in their present capacity with Rich's, Inc. As was the case prior to change, William F. Rich, Sr., chairman of the board, and James P. Figg, Jr., president of the Coca-Cola Company.

Mr. Bigelow is a member of the firm of Hayden, Stone & Co. and is widely known here by reason of the fact that a few years ago he married Mrs. Nina Hopkins Grant, one of Atlanta's most socially prominent young women.

The history of the Rich company for the past 61 years has corresponded with the growth and development of Atlanta and the southeast. It was established here in 1867 by the three original Rich brothers, Morris, Emanuel and Daniel Rich. These three pioneer merchants, who set stamped Rich's with the high ideals of service which have distinguished it all through its career, and the store which began the beginning was sure and steady.

Started in One Shop.

From a simple partnership in a one-story shop on Whitehall street, the store became M. Rich & Bros. Co. in 1901, being incorporated in the year. In 1905 it moved into a four-story building on Whitehall street, and five years later it took up quarters in the magnificent and modern building at Broad, Alabama and Forsyth streets which it now occupies.

Throughout this time, it has remained under management and financial control of members of the Rich family, and the same store policies that were instituted at the founding have increased the patronage of the company to section-wide proportions that have been ever-increasing. For over 61 years it has kept pace with Atlanta's department store needs, and under the new plan of operation the Rich interests will continue at its helm and direct its policies, expansions and activities of all kinds.

Walter H. Rich, president, is a son of the late Emanuel Rich and has been with the company for 28 years. David H. Strauss, vice president and treasurer, has been with the company 37 years.

Frank H. Neely, secretary and general manager, has held his present office for five years and prior to that time was an executive of the Fulton Bag and Cotton Mills.

William T. Rich, director, a son of the late Daniel Rich, is secretary and treasurer of the Jacobs' Pharmacy Company.

St. Robin, director, is general merchandise manager and has been with the company for nine years. Richard H. Rich, director, a grandson of the late Morris Rich, is manager of the ready-to-wear division and has been with the company seven years.

James P. Flynn, director, is manager of the silk department and has been with the company 30 years.

Continued on page 14, column 3.

Continued on page 14, column 3.

Continued on page 14, column 3.

Continued on page 14, column 3.

Continued on page 14, column 3.

Lilies, Eggs, Clothes Brighten Easter Day

BY PAUL STEVENSON.

Vistas of lilies of the valley bedazzling the eye, the spectacle of brown jack rabbits laying multi-colored eggs, the ocean waves of ubiquitous straw hats and the shimmering of gay and gorgeous raiment for the female form driving all the merrily betokening the gladness of another Easter tide has arrived.

To the tune of happy anthems flung far and wide in the air Atlanta's big Easter parade will march down Peachtree street in all its glorious splendor just as parades of more or less magnitude will move down Broadway and Main street, down the country road to the Four Mile church and across the public squares and the esplanades and the boulevards of many big, little and in-between real estate subdivisions of this fair land today in celebration of Easter Sunday.

Along with the Easter parades will come the Easter egg hunts, which, in red, green, blue, yellow, orange, magenta, vermilion and what else have you colors, will encase the time-honored hard-boiled product of the poultry yard which has formed the inspiration of so many jokes by the joke-smiths and which has kept many a vaudeville act before the public long after its period of usefulness.

The lowly egg and the ungilded lily come into their own today. No clear statement of facts is available to tell just when and where the egg and the lily along with the Easter Day exercises with such success as to soon become indispensable. An Easter without eggs, lilies and rabbits would be like liver without onions, like Nip without Tuck and like a flapper without a lipstick.

Glad rags also adorn the day. From the boutonniere dandy of Broadway and his corsaged consort to the yellow shod field hand and his red ribboned mate every inhabitant of this wide land will doll up for Easter and parade before the neighbors in finery of one kind or another. It's the nation's great show-off day if it doesn't rain.

Easter Day dates back to the Pagan ceremonies say some, while others say else—but it makes little difference as to its why's and wherefore's. As a day of joy, of celebration and of glamor and beauty it is celebrated alike by Christians and Agnostics, Mahometans and Parsees, Voodoos and Scotch Presbyterians; by Hard-shall Baptists and by Seventh Day Adventists, by the riff-raff and the hoi-polei and by the aristocrats and near-aristocrats of nearly all countries. It's a day of song and clothes, of praise and pagantry, so it behooves us all to observe it without regard to expense, as the old man will pay all the bills anyway.

Atlanta Plans Reception For Education Association

Plans for the reception by Atlanta of its largest convention, the meeting of the National Education Association to be held here June 28 to July 4, are going rapidly forward and the program for the meetings of the 10,000 or more delegates already has been tentatively completed. It was announced Saturday by Fred Houser, secretary of the Atlanta, tourist and convention bureau.

In the April issue of the Journal of the association there is printed a complete list of Atlanta's hotels and their rates and in the January issue a road map of the United States reproduced for the benefit of the thousands of teachers and administrators who will motor to Atlanta. It also has been learned that the railroads are offering special fare-and-a-half rates for round trip tickets to the convention.

The Atlanta convention, the sixty-seventh for the association, will be host to an informal inter-American conference on education to which representatives of 20 Central and South American countries have been invited. This conference will be held in conjunction with the meeting of the national association with a view to the later establishment of an Inter-American Federation of Education Associations.

Tentative Program. The tentative program for the meeting, as it now stands, is as follows: Friday, June 28, evening: First general session in Atlanta auditorium.

MUSIC OF EASTER WILL BE FEATURED

Continued from First Page.

Peachtree Christian church. The music of the organ, the tower chimes and the double quartet will be used in this presentation.

The vocal class of Henry Mullins will add the Young People's Conference to present an elaborate program of readings, vocal solos and choruses at the Pryor Street Presbyterian at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

"Hosanna," an Easter cantata by Nott, will be given at the 5 o'clock vesper service at the Covenant Presbyterian church.

Miss Jo Beth Apperson, harpist; Miss Kathryn Donahue, violinist; Mrs. Joseph L. McMillin, soprano.

Wesley Memorial will give an Easter pageant entitled "Tops and Reveille" with St. Mark's Little Symphony orchestra, the Wesley chorus and the double quartet taking important part in the musical program. This will be at the 7:45 hour.

George Lindner, violinist, and Charles Johnson, pianist, will assist the choir of Druid Hills Methodist church in elaborate programs for both services.

"The King Called Jesus" an Easter pageant, will be given at 7:30

Among the speakers will be William John Cooper, United States commissioner of education.

Saturday, June 29, morning: Second general session; noon, first luncheon of life members of National Education Association; afternoon, visitors to the convention will be given a tour of the city by automobile. At 7:30 p. m., a pageant at the Park Street Methodist church.

Park Street Cantata. "Olivet to Calvary" will be the cantata sung at the evening service by the choir of Park Street Methodist church.

A pageant, "The Call of the Cross," will be given at 7:30 p. m. at the Nellie Dodd Methodist church.

The cantata to be given at the Decatur Presbyterian church at 5 o'clock is "From Olivet to Calvary." Mrs. Grace Johnson Hartlee is organizer and director.

"Now He Hath Arisen," a cantata, will be sung by the choir of St. John's Lutheran church.

A number of visiting singers will assist the choir of the North Avenue Presbyterian church in presenting the cantata, "The Paschal Victim," by J. S. Matthews, at 7:45 p. m.

The choir of Saint Mark's Methodist, under the direction of Miss Eda E. Bartholomew, will give the cantata "Alleluia, Hail With Gladness," at the evening service.

Monday, July 1, morning: First business session of representatives assembly, fourth general session; afternoon, meetings of the departments of the association; evening, fifth general session.

Tuesday, July 2, morning: Combined sixth general session and meeting of the representative assembly; afternoon, meetings of the departments of the association; evening, sixth general session. Pageant by the pupils of the Atlanta public schools.

Wednesday, July 3, morning: Second business session of the representative assembly, seventh general session; afternoon, meetings of departments of the association; evening, eighth general session.

Thursday, July 4, morning: Independence Day exercises in Atlanta auditorium; noon, adjournment.

and other soloists will assist the choir, under the direction of Mrs. C. M. Stodghill, to present an unusual musical program at Buckhead Baptist on Sunday morning and at the vesper hour at 5 o'clock.

The choir of Jefferson Street Methodist will sing "The Holy City" at the evening service at 7 o'clock.

Wesley Memorial pageant.

Wesley Memorial will give an Easter pageant entitled "Tops and Reveille" with St. Mark's Little Symphony orchestra, the Wesley chorus and the double quartet taking important part in the musical program. This will be at the 7:45 hour.

George Lindner, violinist, and Charles Johnson, pianist, will assist the choir of Druid Hills Methodist church in elaborate programs for both services.

"The King Called Jesus" an Easter pageant, will be given at 7:30

Heads of Rich Mercantile Interests

These men will head Rich's, Inc., newly announced organization which will operate the Atlanta Rich store and extend its operations into other southeastern cities. They will hold in Rich's, Inc., the same positions they held in the M. Rich & Bros. Co. department store. Front row: left to right, Richard H. Rich, director; David H. Strauss, vice president and treasurer; Walter H. Rich, president; Frank H. Neely, secretary and general manager, and Sol Rubin, director. Back row: James P. Flynn, Prescott Bigelow, Harold Hirsch and William Rich, all directors.

p. m. at West End Presbyterian church.

An Easter pageant is also announced for Calvary Methodist, at 10 in the morning, and again at 7:30 o'clock in the evening.

The cantata to be presented at the 11 o'clock hour at Emory Methodist church is "Life Everlasting," with Mrs. N. A. Goodyear as organizer and director.

Park Street Cantata.

"Olivet to Calvary" will be the cantata sung at the evening service by the choir of Park Street Methodist church.

A pageant, "The Call of the Cross," will be given at 7:30 p. m. at the Nellie Dodd Methodist church.

The cantata to be given at the Decatur Presbyterian church at 5 o'clock is "From Olivet to Calvary." Mrs. Grace Johnson Hartlee is organizer and director.

"Now He Hath Arisen," a cantata, will be sung by the choir of St. John's Lutheran church.

A number of visiting singers will assist the choir of the North Avenue Presbyterian church in presenting the cantata, "The Paschal Victim," by J. S. Matthews, at 7:45 p. m.

The choir of Saint Mark's Methodist, under the direction of Miss Eda E. Bartholomew, will give the cantata "Alleluia, Hail With Gladness," at the evening service.

Monday, July 1, morning: First business session of representatives assembly, fourth general session; afternoon, meetings of the departments of the association; evening, fifth general session.

Tuesday, July 2, morning: Combined sixth general session and meeting of the representative assembly; afternoon, meetings of the departments of the association; evening, sixth general session. Pageant by the pupils of the Atlanta public schools.

Wednesday, July 3, morning: Second business session of the representative assembly, seventh general session; afternoon, meetings of departments of the association; evening, eighth general session.

Thursday, July 4, morning: Independence Day exercises in Atlanta auditorium; noon, adjournment.

and other soloists will assist the choir, under the direction of Mrs. C. M. Stodghill, to present an unusual musical program at Buckhead Baptist on Sunday morning and at the vesper hour at 5 o'clock.

The choir of Jefferson Street Methodist will sing "The Holy City" at the evening service at 7 o'clock.

Wesley Memorial pageant.

Wesley Memorial will give an Easter pageant entitled "Tops and Reveille" with St. Mark's Little Symphony orchestra, the Wesley chorus and the double quartet taking important part in the musical program. This will be at the 7:45 hour.

George Lindner, violinist, and Charles Johnson, pianist, will assist the choir of Druid Hills Methodist church in elaborate programs for both services.

"The King Called Jesus" an Easter pageant, will be given at 7:30

and other soloists will assist the choir, under the direction of Mrs. C. M. Stodghill, to present an unusual musical program at Buckhead Baptist on Sunday morning and at the vesper hour at 5 o'clock.

The choir of Jefferson Street Methodist will sing "The Holy City" at the evening service at 7 o'clock.

Wesley Memorial pageant.

Wesley Memorial will give an Easter pageant entitled "Tops and Reveille" with St. Mark's Little Symphony orchestra, the Wesley chorus and the double quartet taking important part in the musical program. This will be at the 7:45 hour.

George Lindner, violinist, and Charles Johnson, pianist, will assist the choir of Druid Hills Methodist church in elaborate programs for both services.

"The King Called Jesus" an Easter pageant, will be given at 7:30

and other soloists will assist the choir, under the direction of Mrs. C. M. Stodghill, to present an unusual musical program at Buckhead Baptist on Sunday morning and at the vesper hour at 5 o'clock.

The choir of Jefferson Street Methodist will sing "The Holy City" at the evening service at 7 o'clock.

Wesley Memorial pageant.

Wesley Memorial will give an Easter pageant entitled "Tops and Reveille" with St. Mark's Little Symphony orchestra, the Wesley chorus and the double quartet taking important part in the musical program. This will be at the 7:45 hour.

George Lindner, violinist, and Charles Johnson, pianist, will assist the choir of Druid Hills Methodist church in elaborate programs for both services.

"The King Called Jesus" an Easter pageant, will be given at 7:30

and other soloists will assist the choir, under the direction of Mrs. C. M. Stodghill, to present an unusual musical program at Buckhead Baptist on Sunday morning and at the vesper hour at 5 o'clock.

The choir of Jefferson Street Methodist will sing "The Holy City" at the evening service at 7 o'clock.

Wesley Memorial pageant.

Wesley Memorial will give an Easter pageant entitled "Tops and Reveille" with St. Mark's Little Symphony orchestra, the Wesley chorus and the double quartet taking important part in the musical program. This will be at the 7:45 hour.

George Lindner, violinist, and Charles Johnson, pianist, will assist the choir of Druid Hills Methodist church in elaborate programs for both services.

"The King Called Jesus" an Easter pageant, will be given at 7:30

and other soloists will assist the choir, under the direction of Mrs. C. M. Stodghill, to present an unusual musical program at Buckhead Baptist on Sunday morning and at the vesper hour at 5 o'clock.

The choir of Jefferson Street Methodist will sing "The Holy City" at the evening service at 7 o'clock.

Wesley Memorial pageant.

Wesley Memorial will give an Easter pageant entitled "Tops and Reveille" with St. Mark's Little Symphony orchestra, the Wesley chorus and the double quartet taking important part in the musical program. This will be at the 7:45 hour.

George Lindner, violinist, and Charles Johnson, pianist, will assist the choir of Druid Hills Methodist church in elaborate programs for both services.

"The King Called Jesus" an Easter pageant, will be given at 7:30

and other soloists will assist the choir, under the direction of Mrs. C. M. Stodghill, to present an unusual musical program at Buckhead Baptist on Sunday morning and at the vesper hour at 5 o'clock.

The choir of Jefferson Street Methodist will sing "The Holy City" at the evening service at 7 o'clock.

Wesley Memorial pageant.

Wesley Memorial will give an Easter pageant entitled "Tops and Reveille" with St. Mark's Little Symphony orchestra, the Wesley chorus and the double quartet taking important part in the musical program. This will be at the 7:45 hour.

George Lindner, violinist, and Charles Johnson, pianist, will assist the choir of Druid Hills Methodist church in elaborate programs for both services.

"The King Called Jesus" an Easter pageant, will be given at 7:30

and other soloists will assist the choir, under the direction of Mrs. C. M. Stodghill, to present an unusual musical program at Buckhead Baptist on Sunday morning and at the vesper hour at 5 o'clock.

The choir of Jefferson Street Methodist will sing "The Holy City" at the evening service at 7 o'clock.

Wesley Memorial pageant.

Wesley Memorial will give an Easter pageant entitled "Tops and Reveille" with St. Mark's Little Symphony orchestra, the Wesley chorus and the double quartet taking important part in the musical program. This will be at the 7:45 hour.

George Lindner, violinist, and Charles Johnson, pianist, will assist the choir of Druid Hills Methodist church in elaborate programs for both services.

"The King Called Jesus" an Easter pageant, will be given at 7:30

and other soloists will assist the choir, under the direction of Mrs. C. M. Stodghill, to present an unusual musical program at Buckhead Baptist on Sunday morning and at the vesper hour at 5 o'clock.

The choir of Jefferson Street Methodist will sing "The Holy City" at the evening service at 7 o'clock.

Wesley Memorial pageant.

Wesley Memorial will give an Easter pageant entitled "Tops and Reveille" with St. Mark's Little Symphony orchestra, the Wesley chorus and the double quartet taking important part in the musical program. This will be at the 7:45 hour.

George Lindner, violinist, and Charles Johnson, pianist, will assist the choir of Druid Hills Methodist church in elaborate programs for both services.

"The King Called Jesus" an Easter pageant, will be given at 7:30

and other soloists will assist the choir, under the direction of Mrs. C. M. Stodghill, to present an unusual musical program at Buckhead Baptist on Sunday morning and at the vesper hour at 5 o'clock.

The choir of Jefferson Street Methodist will sing "The Holy City" at the evening service at 7 o'clock.

Wesley Memorial pageant.

Wesley Memorial will give an Easter pageant entitled "Tops and Reveille" with St. Mark's Little Symphony orchestra, the Wesley chorus and the double quartet taking important part in the musical program. This will be at the 7:45 hour.

George Lindner, violinist, and Charles Johnson, pianist, will assist the choir of Druid Hills Methodist church in elaborate programs for both services.

"The King Called Jesus" an Easter pageant, will be given at 7:30

Emory 'Hitch-Hiker' Reaches

C. MONELLE M'MILLAN TO VISIT FLOOD AREA

Montgomery on Trip to West

Pursuing his leisurely southward and westward way from Atlanta, C. Monelle M'Millan, Emory graduate, who last week started upon what is to be a 15,000-mile "hitch-hike" Saturday was in Montgomery, Ala., preparing to "hop" again Monday, heading for the southern part of the state.

Friday he was presented to Governor Bibb Graves and went to the United States army air training school at Montgomery, where he was "treated" to a ride over the Alabama capital city.

He plans this week to pass through the Elba region where the recent floods were the most devastating and swing westward as he approaches the Gulf of Mexico, establishing contact with Mississippi into Louisiana and thence to New Orleans.

Mac's first stop of any length was in Birmingham, at which city he arrived after an uneventful trip from Atlanta. He stayed in "the Pittsburgh of the South" for some days, visiting the steel mills and generally looking over the smoky city, part of the time in company with Emory alumni with whom he established contact.

On to Montgomery he went from Birmingham, riding as is his wont in large and comfortable automobiles, passage in which is readily offered by the drivers after seeing his cadet blue R. O. T. C. uniform acquired during his undergraduate days at Emory.

Thus far the meandering collegian has met with uniformly good treatment and has had no difficulty in getting rides or establishing contact with Emory alumni and reports that he is anxious to get on farther to the west and into a section of the country with which he is less familiar.

Brown Cafeteria

OPEN SUNDAY 11:30 A. M. TO 2:30 P. M.
5:30 P. M. TO 8:00 P. M.
60 PEACHTREE STREET

Gas Heaters

No. 50 as illustrated... $11.25
No. 40 ..... 9.00
No. 25 Rued ..... 13.50
We stock every repair part for these heaters.

RIVETED RANGE BOILERS
30-Gallon ..... $7.20
40-Gallon ..... 9.45
We do not sell the lighter weight electric weld boilers.

These are cash prices delivered in Atlanta or vicinity.

PICKERT
PLUMBING SUPPLY CO.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL
197 Central Ave., S. W. WAL 8189

CHRYSLER MOTORS PRODUCT

Plymouth has the stamp of Chrysler Quality — not the look of Low Price

YOU can be proud to own a Plymouth, the Chrysler Motors car in the lowest-priced field: —proud, because Plymouth is a full-size car, not a miniature—a comfortable car in which you and your family and friends can relax to the fullest instead of feeling crowded and cramped; —proud, because Plymouth has a distinctively Chrysler-like style and manner, a richness and dignity not to be found in other low-priced cars;

—proud, because Plymouth is so typically Chrysler in performance—so swift in traffic, so eager on hills, so competent in maintaining top speeds, hour upon hour, smoothly, quietly and without effort.

Plymouth is full-size and full-quality in every single particular.

In addition to its full-size body, its full-size chassis, its full-size modern engine, its full-size axles—Plymouth gives you the easy control of Chrysler

PLYMOUTH—product of Chrysler engineering and craftsmanship—has been so named because its endurance and strength, ruggedness and freedom from limitations so accurately typify that stalwart Pilgrim band who were among the first American Colonists.

full-size weatherproof internal-expanding four-wheel hydraulic brakes.

Yet for all its size, Plymouth is so perfectly balanced and so skillfully engineered that unsurpassed economy of operation and upkeep is assured.

For reasons of both pride and purse, Plymouth is today's finest investment in the lowest-priced field—the one car of that field that reflects fine quality without even the suggestion of low price.

Coupe, $655; Roadster (with rumble seat), $675; 2-Door Sedan, $675; Touring, $695; De Luxe Coupe (with rumble seat), $695; 4-Door Sedan, $695. All prices: c. b. factory. Plymouth dealers are in a position to extend the convenience of time payments.

PLYMOUTH
AMERICA'S LOWEST-PRICED FULL-SIZE CAR

Keep Them Out of YOUR Garden

SPRAY your plants and shrubs with EVERGREEN—the safe, sure way to rid your garden of plant insects. EVERGREEN kills most common varieties—including Cut Worms! Used and endorsed by experienced gardeners everywhere.

Absolutely non-poisonous to humans, animals and birds—harmless to the tenderest plants, yet deadly to insects. Pleasant to use—economical—easily applied, simply mix with water according to directions, and spray.

Start Now—give your garden the protection that only EVERGREEN can give. Buy it at seed, hardware or drug stores, or send 35c for trial bottle (makes 6 gallons of spray against plant lice).

McLaughlin Gormley King Co.
1736 S. E. 5th St. Minneapolis, Minn.

Best General All-Purpose Insecticide
M-G-K QUALITY
EVERGREEN
NON-POISONOUS INSECTICIDE
Seeds Plants Bulbs Supplies
"Everything for the Garden"
H. G. HASTINGS CO.
Seedsmen—Nurserymen
Mitchell St. at Broad Walnut 9241-9464

Henry Motor Co.
East Point, Ga.

Harry Sommers, Inc.
Spring and Hunnicutt, Distributor and Dealer

DeKalb Motor Co.
Decatur, Ga.

Open Evenings

Joseph H. Cohen
342 Peachtree St.

Pruitt Motor Co.
Buckhead, Ga.

'Who's Who in America' Lists 326 Residents and 325 Natives Of Georgia; 161 From Atlanta

Dr. Roland Harper, of State University, completes study of famed Year Book.

ROYAL ARCH MASONS WILL HONOR VISITORS

BY MRS. JOHN E. DREWRY.
Athens, Ga., March 30.—(Special.) With 326 residents and 325 natives listed in a recent edition of "Who's Who in America," the state of Georgia takes a leading position as the producer of men of distinction, adding to its established reputation as a section famous for its beautiful girls, big cotton crops, luscious apples, aromatic tobacco and meaty peaches.

Standards of admission to "Who's Who" are high and no sketch in that big red volume can be paid for, which means that the Georgians whose sketches are contained therein were included because they belong to one of these two groups:

1. Those who are selected because of special prominence in creditable lines of effort, making them the subjects of extensive interest, inquiry or discussion; and

2. Those who are arbitrarily included because of official position—civil, military, naval, religious or educational.

With the exceptions of Virginia and Tennessee, which have 427 and 327 residents, respectively, in "Who's Who," Georgia leads the southern states, whose standings are: North Carolina, 305; South Carolina, 194; Florida, 191; Kentucky, 273; Alabama, 229; Mississippi, 102; Louisiana, 158.

Of the 326 Georgia residents in "Who's Who," Atlanta leads with 161, according to Dr. Roland M. Harper, research professor of economics in the University of Georgia, who has completed a study of the Georgians listed in the 1927 edition, and who is authority for the figures used in this article. Dr. Harper expects to make a similar study of the 1930 edition when it appears.

Athens comes second with 32 residents, Macon third with 29, and other Georgia towns thus: Savannah, 26; Augusta, 17; Rome, 7; Columbus, Gainesville and Milledgeville, 6 each.

Georgia men far outnumber women in "Who's Who," there being 301 white men and 29 women. Five negroes are included from this state. Most of the Georgians whose biographies have thus been published are married, there being only eight single men and nine single women. Of the men, 258 are living with their first wife, 26 with their second, one with his third and 10 are widowers. Of the women, besides those single, six are married, four widowed and one divorced. Of the married and widowed men, about two-thirds report children, totaling 320 sons and 235 daughters living and 56 deceased. Not quite half of the married women and widows report children.

Averaging somewhat higher than for the nation as a whole, 73.6 per cent of the resident Georgians in "Who's Who" are college graduates, as against 61 per cent for the country as a whole. Of the remaining Georgians, 12.9 per cent attended college, and 13.5 per cent did not. "Graduates of the University of Georgia constitute 17.5 per cent of the total, or a little more than all other colleges in Georgia combined," Dr. Harper's study reveals. Mercer and Emory almost tied for second place.

Educators lead the professional and business men from this state in the volume, there being 68. Of the 223 white men in the list who hold college degrees, other than the educators, there are 39 lawyers and judges, 28 clergymen, theologians and historians, 21 public officials, congressmen, etc., 16 scientists, 15 physicians, surgeons, etc., 10 journalists or publishers, nine railroad officials, manufacturers, or capitalists, eight writers or historians, and seven engineers or architects. As for the 78 white men who did not go to college or did not graduate, 35 are bankers, 12 ex-governors or public officials, eight manufacturers, five railroad officials, five lawyers or judges, five clergymen, three librarians, two educators, two writers and not more than one in any other occupation.

Nine of the 20 Georgia women in "Who's Who" are writers, four are clubwomen, or social workers; three are educators; two are librarians, and two are artists.

The five negroes are educators, bishops, and theologians.

The average age of the Georgians in "Who's Who" at the time Dr. Harper made his study was 58 years.

Much readable information about one's fellow Georgians can be obtained from these succinct biographies, which by their very brevity throw all sorts of light on persons whose life histories are little known in spite of their prominence. For example, Bowdoin Thibault, publisher of the Augusta Herald, has both the A. B. and A. M. degrees from Princeton university, and has studied at Johns Hopkins university, and the University of Virginia. It was Dr. W. P. Melton, of Atlanta, formerly an English professor at Emory university, who introduced journalistic instruction in this state, according to "Who's Who."

FULTON, DEKALB SOLONS SUMMONED BY GRAND JURORS

Members of the Fulton and DeKalb county delegations in the state legislature have been invited to meet with the Fulton grand jury at 10 o'clock Monday morning at the court house to discuss "certain matters," it was learned Saturday after the letters of invitation had been received by the representatives.

Hooper Alexander, of the DeKalb delegation, said that he understands that the grand jury wishes to discuss the crime situation and possible means of remedying it, and desires the views of the local representatives.

In a recent statement, Solicitor-General John A. Boykin expressed the opinion that certain Georgia criminal laws should be amended or otherwise changed in order to properly deal with the criminal element in the state.

STORAGE

The most modern warehouse in the South for household goods.
Long Distance Removals.
Cathcart Van & Storage Co.
134 Houston St., N. E., WA. 1721

BLADDER PAINS YOU CAN AVOID

Many pains—suffered needlessly—in bladder and kidneys—their passages and outlets—can be safely relieved with India's ancient remedy—Santal Midy. Good also for sore membranes, an aid to bladder catarrh and to better control of functions. Genuine capsules bear signature of Dr. L. Midy, the originator.

Jason Burr Council No. 13, R. & S. M., at its semi-annual assembly on April 15, will act as host to O. Frank Hart, of Columbia, S. C., general grand master of the council in the United States; Charles C. Davis, of Central, Ill., general grand high priest of Royal Arch Masons of the United States; and other prominent Masons who expect to stop over in Atlanta on their way to the grand council and grand chapter conventions of Georgia, to convene in Macon on April 16.

The gathering will be the regular spring assembly of this body for conferring the eighth, ninth and tenth degrees of York Rite Masonry, and will be open to all Council Masons. All those qualified are invited to attend, according to Recorder William A. Sims, of 101 Marietta Street building. Among others expected, in addition to the two general grand officers, are: Rt. Em. Charles S. Wood, grand commander of Knights Templar of Georgia; J. T. Walthrop, grand master of the Council in Georgia; August G. Miller, grand recorder of Georgia; and Rev. Charles L. Bass, E. H. Johnson, Dr. J. P. Bowdoin, H. Warner Hill, Thomas H. Jeffries and W. F. Wells, past grand officers of Georgia.

One at Waycross Still Unconscious After 190 Hours

Waycross, Ga., March 30.—(Special.)—Unconscious for more than 190 hours, all of which time has been spent in practically a hopeless condition, G. P. Peritt, 52 years old, Waycross woodyard operator, today showed slight signs of a rally, according to reports made by his family. He seemed slightly more "cheerful," though his state of coma has not broken, it is stated.

Peritt was struck over the head when he attempted to settle a dispute between two negroes in front of his home early Friday night of last week. Theodore Henry, 22-year-old negro, arrested in connection with the assault, has confessed to striking the blow, according to a report from county officers today.

PALM BEACH WILL HAVE NEW COUNTRY CLUB, GOLF LINKS

Palm Beach, Fla., March 30.—(P.)—Organization of a new country club in this noted winter resort, and construction of a $500,000 golf course, tennis courts, swimming pool and clubhouse were announced here today. The new club, for which a state charter already has been issued, is to be known as the Seminole Golf Club, and building operations will be started this summer with a view to having all the proposed recreational facilities ready by next December, club officials said.

Edward F. Hutton, New York and Palm Beach millionaire, is president of the new organization, while Jay E. Carlisle and Martin Sweeney, also members of the wealthy society colony, have been named vice president and secretary, respectively. The organization committee also includes a group of men prominent in the winter life of Palm Beach.

The club property is located on a 70-acre tract, with 2,000 feet of ocean front, within sight of the historic lighthouse at Jupiter.

NEGRO ARRESTED FOLLOWING ATTACK ON AGED FARMER

Lexington, Miss., March 30.—(P.)—A negro was under arrest today in connection with an attack on Ed C. Tackett, aged Holmes county farmer, who was beaten and robbed last night at his home at Richmond.

Tackett was aroused last night by bricks landing against his window, and was ordered to leave the house. He attempted to escape but was beaten unconscious in the yard and the assailant left with his pocketbook, containing some change and a $30 check.

Regarding consciousness, he crawled to a neighbor's house and spread the alarm. A posse led by bloodhounds arrested Bertie Wade, 22-year-old negro, at his home near Dickens, when they found bloodstained clothing in his home. The negro said he was attacked last night by robbers which caused the bloodstains.

Large Florida Land Companies Seek Flood Control

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 30.—(P.)—Several large land interests in south Florida have united in an effort to secure a plan of action towards obtaining federal aid in the matter of Everglades flood control, and will send representatives to Washington to work to this end it became known here today.

George F. Benschel, prominent resident of this city, who has been associated with Everglades development for years, announced that he, representing the Southern States Land and Timber Company, and John C. Sherman, representing the Brown company's interests in the Lake Okechobee region, will leave the first of next week for the national capital. Other large land interests in the Everglades are connected with the movement, it was said, but their names were not revealed.

Benschel stated that he and Sherman will confer in Washington with Glenn B. Skipper, republican national committeeman from Florida; Chairman Dempsey, of the house rivers and harbors committee; Senator Duncan, of Florida; Senator Park Trammell, of Florida; Congresswoman Ruth Bryan Owen, Congresswoman Herbert Brane and others.

May Mudge, Actress Of Gay Nineties, Dies At Santa Barbara

Santa Barbara, Cal., March 30.—(P.) May Mudge, known on the stage of Europe and America during the "gay nineties" as May Belfort, died in this city last night after a lingering illness.

Her cowboy songs and impersonations made her the toast of Paris and London 35 years ago. She was equally popular in New York, where she secured many stage successes.

Atlanta Company Conducts School of Instruction For Oil Burner Salesmen and Service Staff Men

Executives of the Preferred Equipment Company, Inc., who attended the school of instruction held here Saturday. Front row, left to right, J. A. Vance, Sam Ford, of Augusta; C. L. Murdoch, Milton Jones, R. B. Brogdon and R. J. Porterfield, of Athens. Back row: George Simons, Memphis; Harry Dougherty, Chattanooga; W. A. Matheson, sales program instructor; Harry Woodward, president; R. L. Stutzman, southeastern manager; A. F. Boyd, division manager; Bryan Wright and L. A. Hamilton, vice president.

HART OIL BURNER SCHOOL IS HELD FOR DEALERS HERE

The Preferred Equipment Company, Inc., distributor of the Hart oil burner in this territory, held a school at the Henry Grady hotel Friday and Saturday for its dealers and dealers' service men throughout the territory.

The school was held under auspices of the Preferred Oil Burners, Inc., of Peoria, Ill., and many dealers from Georgia, South Carolina, Illinois and Tennessee attended. The idea of this school is to equip dealers for selling as well as to afford instruction on proper installation. These schools will be held twice yearly.

W. A. Matheson gave several lectures on the development of the oil burner industry, and E. A. Wright, in charge of the engineering department in Peoria, gave lectures on the proper installation and mechanical points of the burner.

GADSDEN TIMES TO ISSUE SUNDAY EDITION TODAY

Gadsden, Ala., March 30.—(P.)—After 61 years as a six-day afternoon newspaper, the Gadsden Times tomorrow begins publication of a Sunday edition, the first Sunday paper ever issued here.

REFORESTATION PLAN FOR LOW GRADE LANDS

Washington, March 30.—(P.)—Reforestation of low grade farm lands at the expense of the federal government was advanced today by G. F. Holsinger, president of the Virginia Farm Bureau Federation, as a means of curtailing excess farm production.

Appearing before the house agricultural committee, Holsinger said he believed removal of marginal land from production would cut down the surplus sufficiently to increase the prices received by the farmers.

A stop also should be put to the bringing into production of new lands through irrigation and reclamation, he said.

The Virginia witness expressed belief that when a surplus has been produced, it should be gotten rid of immediately and not held off the market to shut off a rise in prices that would come if there were not an under-product in the next season.

Another witness before the house committee was Dr. J. G. Brown, of Woodville, Va.

RICH'S Takes A Vital Step FORWARD

In 1867 Rich's had its beginning in the simple partnership of three brothers, Mr. Morris Rich, Mr. Emanuel Rich and Mr. Daniel Rich—far-seeing pioneers who glimpsed in the ashes of a war-ravaged village the vision of a mighty Atlanta of the future.

THE BUSINESS PROSPERED in a modest, one-story structure on Whitehall street; in 1901 it was incorporated as M. Rich & Bros. Company; in 1905 the one story grew to four; in 1924 the store was moved to its present location.

AND NOW WE TAKE ANOTHER STEP—in tempo with the march of modern progress. In order that the Rich policies may be developed to their fullest extent and our merchandising structure be increased to a splendid new scale—we are so organizing our business that expansion to other cities may be easily and readily carried forward.

Now the title, "Rich's," by which we have been affectionately known to our friends becomes the firm name of:

RICH'S
Inc.

with the same basic principles that have characterized our store for 61 years, and continuing:

- THE SAME CONTROL OF OWNERSHIP
- THE SAME EXECUTIVES AND DIRECTORS
- THE SAME MANAGEMENT AND PERSONNEL
- THE SAME STORE POLICIES
- THE SAME LOCATION AND ACCESSIBILITY

May the good will of Atlanta and the South toward their Southern Institution continue on into the glorious future that we foresee and predict, and hope to help bring to fulfillment.

M. RICH & BROS. Co.

Walter H. Rich
President

RICH'S
Inc.

Walter H. Rich
President

Annual Georgia Educational Conference To Be Conducted At Savannah April 15 to 20

Leading Educators of Nation Listed on Five-Day Program—Atlantans Scheduled To Speak.

Educators and teachers throughout the state will be attracted to Savannah on April 15-20 for the 44th annual convention of the Georgia Education Association, and the yearly meetings of affiliated organizations.

Renowned speakers in many fields will address the association and its departmental organizations. Leaders have been secured from all parts of the country.

The Georgia Superintendents' and Public School Officials' Association will convene in its 35th annual session, while the Georgia Congress of Parents and Teachers will also hold its 16th annual meeting. A number of lesser educational organizations will swell the gathering.

Among the speakers before the Georgia Education Association will be President Lel W. Lamkin, of the national education association. His address will follow that of H. B. Ritchie, dean of the Georgia State Teachers' college, and president of the association.

Others to address the body will be Miss Florence Hale, director of rural education of Maine; Chancellor Charles M. Shelling, of the University of Georgia; L. H. Dennis, director of vocational education for Pennsylvania; and Mrs. Edith B. Joyce, president of the Elementary Principals' Association, of the national education association, of Norfolk, Va.

Dr. George D. Strayer, of teachers' college, Columbia university, will speak before the association, as will Prof. M. L. Duggan, state superintendent of schools. Others include Dr. Joseph S. Stewart, of the University of Georgia; H. B. Wilson, director of the American Red Cross, Washington, D. C.; Dr. James E. Rogers, director of National Physical Education Service, of New York city, and G. E. Hamilton, New York.

The convention of the Georgia Education Association will be held April 17-20, opening in session at the municipal auditorium on Thursday, April 18. The meeting will continue through Saturday of the same week, opening each day will be a musical program.

On the opening day the address of welcome will be made by Governor Sasser, mayor of Savannah. President Ritchie will respond. Committees will be appointed to prepare business to come before the convention at the closing session.

The 35th convention of the Georgia Superintendents' and Public School Officials' Association will open Wednesday afternoon, April 17, at the municipal auditorium. Following a statement by Professor Duggan, the following are on the program: J. Marvin Starn, superintendent of Covetia county schools; Dr. Peyton Jacobs, dean of the school of education, Mercer university; W. J. Andrews, superintendent of Stephens county schools; J. C. Dixon, supervisor of school administration of the state department of education, and Chancellor Duggan.

Professor Duggan will address the gathering the same night, to be followed by Governor L. G. Hardman. Miss Hale will conclude the evening program.

On April 18 addresses will be made by John Harris, superintendent of Carlton county schools; Mrs. Helen G. Gurr, superintendent of Terrell county schools; Lee M. Favrot, field agent of the general education board; Miss Katherine Dozier, member of the state board of education; R. Z. Zellars, Hart county representative; Dean Ritchie, Kyle T. Alfriend, secretary; Dr. Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of Atlanta public schools; Jene A. Wells, superintendent of Fulton county schools; R. C. Norman, state tax commissioner; Dr. Lamkin, L. B. Evans, superintendent of Richmond county schools; J. E. Mathis, superintendent of Americus schools, and Walter B. Hill, special supervisor.

In the evening the Georgia Association of Superintendents will hold its annual banquet at the De Soto hotel. Five-minute talks will be made by leading school administrators.

Friday afternoon a meeting will be held at the senior high school for reports of superintendents and an address by Dr. Strayer.

Departmental meetings of the Georgia Education Association will be held at 3:30 o'clock, April 19, at the senior high school building, corner of Bull and Hall streets.

The Georgia State Kindergarten Association, headed by Mrs. Lee Worsham, Macon, president, and Miss Margaret Thurman, Atlanta, secretary, will visit the Savannah kindergartens at 10 a. m. April 19. A dinner will be held at 6:30 o'clock the same day. The business meeting will be held the following morning at the Eastside kindergarten.

A preliminary meeting of the Georgia Congress Parents and Teachers will be held Monday afternoon, April 15, at the municipal auditorium, followed by the formal opening at 8 o'clock that night. Mrs. J. D. Miller and Mrs. Fred Wesels will preside jointly. Among the features of the opening night will be an address by Dr. Ernest R. Groves, University of North Carolina.

The convention will be called to order by Mrs. Miller and Mrs. P. H. Jeter at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. Conferences will follow the department of extension, the department of welfare and the department of home service.

On Tuesday afternoon specialized conferences, with Mrs. Miller director and Mrs. H. D. Cutter, recording chairman, will be held. The conferences will consist of the following: local officers and association chairmen, district presidents and county organizers, council presidents, high school and college committee, parent-school groups, publicity and conferences of department chairmen, education, health, welfare and home service.

On Tuesday evening a musical program, a pageant and other features will be given. An address will be given by G. E. Hamilton.

On Wednesday morning the convention will be called to order by Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Barnard Williamson, followed by business, including reports. Conferences will continue during the afternoon. The convention will break up after a banquet and post-convention meeting of the board of managers Wednesday night.

The officers of the Georgia Education Association, in addition to Dean H. B. Ritchie, are Superintendent J. E. Purks, Cedarston, vice president; Chancellor Shelling, treasurer, and Kyle T. Alfriend, 400 Vineville avenue, Macon, secretary.

COURT TO HEAR 300 UNCONTESTED DIVORCE CASES

Hearing of uncontested divorce cases will begin Monday before Fulton Superior Judge Virlyn B. Moore. About 300 cases are on the docket, it was

PROF. FRANK M'KIBBEN TO SPEAK WEDNESDAY

Consulting Engineer of General Electric Company Will Be Honored at Dinner.

Professor Frank P. McKibben, consulting engineer for the General Electric Company, will deliver a lecture on electric welding of structural steel at the Atlanta Athletic Club at 8 o'clock Wednesday night, it was announced Saturday by A. J. Kroeg, of the industrial department of the company.

The local chapters of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, American Institute of Electrical Engineers, American Institute of Civil Engineers, architects, are welders, contractors and builders have been invited to attend a dinner at 6 o'clock Wednesday night at the Athletic club at which Professor McKibben will be the guest of honor.

FRANK P. M'KIBBEN.

At the dinner, Lou Gordon, of the W. R. C. Smith Publishing Company, will preside as toastmaster, and Robert Gregg, president of the Atlanta Steel Company, will deliver an address.

Professor McKibben's home is at Black Gap, Pa., and his office is at the General Electric headquarters in Schenectady, N. Y.

DATE FOR PRIMARY WILL BE SET SOON

Date for the city primary will be set this week or the earlier part of next, it was announced Saturday by J. P. Wall, chairman of the city democratic subcommittee. At that time a dozen council members, three aldermen, four members of the board of education and the superintendent of waterworks will be nominated, making a total of 19 officials on what is known as the "city-year" in city political circles.

Alderman P. L. Moon, of the second ward, has announced he will not be a candidate for reelection, and Councilman J. E. Turner will be a candidate for his post, thus leaving the field clear for selection of a councilman from that territory. No candidate has announced definitely for the post thus far.

Smith to Run Again. Alderman Robert E. Gunn, of the sixth, and Oscar H. Williamson, of the ninth, will be candidates to succeed themselves.

W. Zule Smith, superintendent of the Atlanta waterworks for many years, will offer for another term. Councilman Sam Wardlaw, of the first, will be in the race to succeed him, as will Councilman J. W. Rountree, of the third; John A. White, of the fourth; Jack Hardy, of the sixth; James T. Oshum, of the seventh; James L. Wells, of the eighth; Raleigh Drennon, of the ninth; Nelson Spratt, of the tenth; George Lytle, eleventh, and Tom Smith, twelfth.

Councilman Ellis B. Barrett, of the fifth, will retire from city council to occupy his new home in the northern section of the city, and the probability is that James E. Bowden, former councilman from the fifth, will offer for the post.

Ford May Enter Race. Former Alderman Charles M. Ford, of the tenth, will oppose Councilman Spratt for the post from that ward, according to announcements.

George W. Powell, president of the board of education and school commissioner from the ninth ward, probably will be a candidate to succeed himself because of his desire to place the schools on a stable financial basis.

Ray D. Warren, commissioner from the tenth, also will offer, as will Mrs. Paul East, of the eleventh, and Mrs. A. E. Wilson, of the twelfth.

The primary date probably will precipitate a debate in the meeting of the executive committee. Some of the members favor a late primary to eliminate "lame ducks," while others contend that an early primary should be held in order to get the "ordure" over.

GAS FIGHT READY

County To Oppose Collection of Gasoline Levy.

A bill of exceptions to carry the case of the Fulton county commission against William A. Wright, comptroller general, to the state supreme court was prepared Saturday by T. B. Gress, assistant attorney-general.

The county commission won its case in Judge Virlyn B. Moore's division of Fulton superior court to restrain the state from collecting the tax on gasoline for use of city and county automobiles, and Judge Moore denied the state a new trial.

Mr. Gress is assisted in the case by the law firm of Troutman & Troutman, said Saturday at the courthouse and a week or more may be required to dispose of them.

Judge Moore has been on the major bench which will be handled this week by Judge John D. Humphries.

EICH AND MERRITT TO TRIAL THIS WEEK

Cases of Accused Wife Slayer and Alleged Fiend Are Set.

Ernest Eich, 19-year-old alleged slayer of his 18-year-old wife, Elizabeth, and Alvin E. Merritt, alleged north side fiend, will go on trial in Fulton superior court Thursday.

Eich is under indictment for first degree murder. At the time of his wife's death he claimed that she had shot him and then killed herself. The state contends that the bullet which killed Mrs. Eich pierced her back and could not have been fired by her. The shooting took place in January in the Washington avenue home of Eich's parents. Eich was a patient at the Grady hospital for nearly two months but recently was removed to the Fulton tower.

The trial of Merritt originally was set for Tuesday but was postponed Saturday. It will be his second appearance before a jury, the first resulting in his being sentenced to serve from 13 to 16 years in the penitentiary.

The cases will be heard by Superior Judges Edgar E. Pomeroy and J. Ogden Persons but the individual assignments have not been announced.

Chance To Win Free Camp Scholarship Is Offered by Rich's To Southern Girls

An interesting scene at one of the camps to which M. Rich & Bros. Co. will send two southern girls without tuition costs under the terms of an offer made by the Atlanta department store.

Southern girls, who are under 15 years of age, Saturday were given the chance to win free scholarships to Georgia and North Carolina camps this summer under the terms of an offer made by the camp bureau of M. Rich & Bros. Co. Each contestant, to qualify, must write a letter to her parents giving reasons why she should be sent to a camp this summer.

Writers of the two best letters will be awarded camp scholarships and tuition paid for the full season of eight weeks in any one of the following girls' camps which may be chosen: Camp Dixie, Clayton, Ga.; Miss Elise Stokes, director; Eagle's Nest camp, Howard, N. C.; Miss Carol P. Oppenheimer, director; Kew-Wee-Ta camp, Fairburn, Ga.; Miss Pauline Trimble, director; Laurel Falls camp, Clayton, Ga.; Miss Lilian E. Smith, director; Camp Orona, Cashiers, N. C.; Mrs. C. J. Metz, director; Camp Parry-Dise, Highland, N. C.; Mrs. H. L. Parry, director; Camp Tulela, Gainesville, Ga.; Miss C. B. Brannham, director. The letters will be judged by Miss Jessie Muse, principal of Girls' High school of Atlanta; Miss Myra Graves, supervisor of physical education of the Atlanta public schools, and the Rev. N. R. H. Moor, rector of St. Luke's Episcopal church, Atlanta.

Information about these camps and about the contest may be secured at the camp bureau of M. Rich & Bros.

Co. at all times. Rules of the contest are as follows: 1. Any girl in the south who will not be 15 before July 1 may enter. 2. Letters must be 500 to 700 words in length. 3. Letters must be legibly written and on one side of the paper only. 4. The name, age and address of contestant must appear at the top of each sheet. 5. Letter must be signed by parent or guardian who vouches for the fact that it is the child's own composition. 6. Letters must be postmarked not later than May 1 and sent to Katherine Culbertson, Camp Bureau, M. Rich & Bros. Co., Atlanta, Ga. 7. Winners will be announced in The Constitution of Sunday, May 13. 8. Any girl under 15 already registered in any one of these camps is eligible. Her registration fee will be refunded.

"STUNT" PROGRAM

Judean Council Sponsors Event Tonight.

The Young Judean Council of Atlanta at 8 o'clock tonight at the Educational Alliance will sponsor "stunt night" as one of the events of Young Judean week. The clubs that will

MRS. TOMPKINS IS BETTER AFTER SUDDEN ILLNESS

Rome, March 30.—(AP)—Mrs. Laurence Tompkins, wife of the Atlanta (Georgia) sculptor of that name, was believed to be recovering today from an attack of ptomaine poisoning which developed last Wednesday after she had eaten some preserved mushrooms. Until last night it was not believed she would survive.

Mr. Tompkins formerly lived in Atlanta, while Mrs. Tompkins, formerly Miss May Arthur, has visited here frequently and spent a portion of her girlhood in Athens, where she lived with an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Hodgson. She was widely known for her beauty and during the war posed for posters and magazine covers done by James Montgomery Flagg.

participate in this program are the Aronsons, B. F. J., S. I. J., T. E. L., and Trudean. Many novelty stunts will be on the program. A small admission will be charged.

Notice to the Public

We have closed our branch Peachtree Street Store and will be found by our customers and friends at our Main Store only, 109 Whitehall Street, thru to Broad.

Rountree Trunk & Bag Co.

CHRYSLER "75" ROYAL SEDAN, $1535 (wire wheels extra).

Until you drive a Chrysler— You'll never know real performance

STEP into a Chrysler—"75" or "65." Start to drive. Instantly you experience a difference in performance as real and impressive as Chrysler's outward beauty.

To be sure, other cars may proclaim their finer, greater performance. But, demonstration proves that it is far from being comparable with that of Chrysler.

Ever since its inception Chrysler has been the admitted pacemaker in performance for the entire industry. Today, Chrysler is even further in the lead than ever before.

Because of exclusive features pioneered and perfected by Chrysler through the application of advanced engineering principles, Chrysler reaches new peaks of proficiency in speed, power, pickup, stamina, safety and long life.

Make it a point today to see, to ride in and to drive a Chrysler "75" or "65." Once you learn the difference between Chrysler performance and other performance you'll never be content with less.

Come to Our Showroom!

This is Chrysler Spring Style Show

and

"Learn-the-Difference" Week

Ask for a Demonstration

NEW CHRYSLER "65"		NEW CHRYSLER "75"
Business Coupe . . .	$1040	Touring Car . . .	$1075
Roadster . . .	1065	4-Door Sedan . . .	1145
(with rumble seat)		Coupe . . .	1145
2-Door Sedan . . .	1065	(with rumble seat)
NEW CHRYSLER "75"
Royal Sedan . . .	$1535	Crown Sedan . . .	$1655
Coupe . . .	1535	Convertible Coupe . . .	1795
(with rumble seat)		(with rumble seat)
Roadster . . .	1555	5-Passenger Phaeton . . .	1795
(with rumble seat)		7-Passenger Phaeton . . .	1865
Town Sedan . . .	1655	Convertible Sedan . . .	2345

Wire wheels extra. All prices f. o. b. factory.

CHRYSLER

CHRYSLER MOTORS PRODUCT

Henry Motor Co.

East Point, Ga.

Harry Sommers, Inc.

Spring and Hunnicutt, Distributor and Dealer

Open Evenings

DeKalb Motor Co.

Decatur, Ga.

Joseph H. Cohen

342 Peachtree St.

Pruitt Motor Co.

Buckhead, Ga.

FLORIDA LAWMAKERS SET FOR BIG SESSION

Racing, Tax Revision, Farming and Other Subjects Must Be Disposed Of.

Tallahassee, Fla., March 30.—(P)—Taxation and questions of revenue, reorganization of the state's administrative forces with a view to greater efficiency of operation, local option with reference to the racing question, and alleviation of farming and marketing conditions, are expected to face the Florida legislature when it opens Tuesday for what is expected to be the busiest session in history.

Considered of greater importance than any of the other items for discussion and possible enactment of laws by the solons are those of reorganizing and realigning the state's tax structure on such a basis as to bring the eventual elimination of state and county indebtedness. The business of bringing into being a revised system of revenue calculated to operate with the greatest efficiency at a minimum cost to the state is also expected to be brought to the attention of the legislature.

Organization of the two bodies will be accomplished at a formal caucus to be held Monday night before the formal opening of the legislature on Tuesday.

Legislators today were anticipating with interest the suggestion from various points that an attempt may be made at the Monday night caucus to unseat "Hoover democrats" during the period of organization. Discussion of the proposition was almost evenly divided between groups of solons. The first favored the entire elimination of the caucus privilege and seats to members of the body who were alleged to have split their allegiance to the democratic party at the November election.

Officials of both bodies will be named at Monday night's caucus. Governor Carlton was in seclusion at the executive mansion today in his attempts to whip together the final divisions of the address that he will make to the joint bodies of the legislature in session Wednesday noon.

It was also understood that the governor may recommend the grouping together of a number of boards and bodies of the state government now operating as units.

Chief among these was understood to be the departments of game and fish, with which Governor Carlton is understood to have envisioned a fusion of the state shell fish commission.

While it was understood that Governor Carlton will advocate the joining together of numerous boards, and the abolition of some, it was also believed that he will recommend creation of two or three new boards whose duties would develop under state expansion as he sees it now.

Agriculture was given standing in the informal discussions as to the governor's address as a project which will receive major attention.

The question of racing which is expected to be brought before the legislature in local option bills will not be considered by Governor Carlton in his address, according to current comment of the solons and those close to the executive offices today.

CARRIED $125,000 WORTH OF JEWELS; PAIR ARRESTED

Topeka, Kan., March 30.—(United News).—Two men, arrested on a transcontinental train with $125,000 worth of diamonds concealed in their baggage and belts, were held here tonight as suspects in the $400,000 robbery of Harry Amole, New York jewelry salesman, in San Francisco last Thursday.

The men gave their names as John Shultz, alias John Schopen, St. Louis, and Frank Peterson, alias George Gross, Kansas City. Two women companions were held with them.

The two men were arrested by county officers in their state rooms on a Union Pacific train between here and Wamego, Kan. They denied implication. The two women, police said, had driven here from Kansas City to meet the pair.

California officers were en route here tonight to view the suspects.

CONVICT GIVES UP AFTER ESCAPING BY FORGED ORDER

Washington, March 30.—(P)—Richard Von Eichen, one of two convicts at Leavenworth penitentiary who recently obtained release by using forged release orders, has surrendered again to the penitentiary. The department of justice in announcing his return today said that Von Eichen was serving a four-year sentence for stealing automobiles. His partner in the successful escape was arrested and returned to custody several days ago.

Nothing Surpasses Pleasant-tasting SCOTT'S EMULSION

For Those Who Need the Health-giving Benefits of Cod-liver Oil Vitamins

Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J.

PELLAGRA CURED

Are your lips, throat, tongue raw and red? Is your skin itching, itchy, sore, and cracked? Are you losing weight? Check these danger signals of dread Pellagra NOW and prevent the development of this terrible disease into the frightful advanced stages which affect the brain, act on the nerves, and shorten your life.

Write for 20-page book describing signs and symptoms, stages of development and starting new scientific face cream about cost and cure of this horrible affliction. Send no money; just your name and address.

AMERICAN COMPOUNDING CO. Box 2003, Jasper, Ala.

Southeast Photographers Convention Here Monday

Top, Leah B. Moore, of Memphis, president of the Southeastern Photographers Association and, below, Miss Emma Gerhardt, of St. Louis, one of the important speakers at the three-day convention of the association which opens here Monday.

Photographers of the southeast will gather in Atlanta Monday for the opening of the annual convention of the Southeastern Photographers' association, which will be held at the Henry Grady hotel on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

A program of interesting lectures and demonstrations on the art of the camera, together with a number of unusual entertainment features, has been arranged for the meetings, which will bring together several hundred photographers from the states of the south.

Leah B. Moore, of Memphis, president of the association, will open the first session at 11 o'clock Monday morning. There will be illustrated lectures and trade discussions both morning and afternoon on each of the three days, with a "mystery dance" featuring the Monday night program.

A lecture on "Studios of Europe," by Richard N. Speaight, London court photographer on Tuesday night, and the annual banquet and dance, with naming of new officers for 1930, on Wednesday night.

The luncheon period for the three days will see a "get-together" luncheon on Monday, a "keep together" luncheon on Tuesday, and a "fall together" luncheon on Wednesday.

Among the prominent figures in the photographic world who will speak will be Miss Emma Gerhardt, of St. Louis, who will speak on "Reception Room Methods" on Monday afternoon, and on "Composition" on Tuesday morning.

Thomas Southworth, of Memphis, will discuss "Flash Light Specialties" on Monday at 1:30, while a review of his demonstration is programmed for 1:30 Wednesday afternoon.

James F. Thompson, of Knoxville, will speak on "Commercial Photography and Photo Finishing" on Monday afternoon.

Harry Devine and Karl Foesten, of Birmingham, Ala., will demonstrate and lecture on color plate on Tuesday morning, while the afternoon of that day will be devoted to a viewing of the Speight European exhibit of court photographic work at the Biltmore hotel.

Wednesday's program include a lecture on "Lighting and Posing of Women" by Jack Cassaday, of Memphis, and one on "Photographic Technique" by A. B. Cornish.

All entertainment will be supplied from the membership of the photographic clubs of Knoxville, Birmingham, Atlanta, Chattanooga and Memphis. The visiting photographers will be taken to Stone Mountain on Wednesday afternoon as guests of the Atlanta photographers.

Cox Is Selected As Memorial Day Grand Marshal

Colonel Charles H. Cox, regimental commander of the 122d infantry, has been named grand marshal for the annual Memorial Day parade, it was announced Saturday by the Ladies' Memorial Association. Elaborate plans already are under way, it was said, and it is believed that the parade on April 28 this year will be one of the largest ever witnessed in the south.

Immediately upon accepting the post of grand marshal, Colonel Cox announced that the 122d infantry, "Atlanta's own" national guard regiment, would parade for the first time in this city as a full regiment, out-of-town companies in Marietta, Calhoun, Cedarhurst and Elberton participating. Other organizations which will be asked to join in the annual parade will include outfits from Fort McPherson, various patriotic and civic bodies and others.

Colonel Cox stated Saturday that his chief of staff, those to compose the personal staff of the grand marshal, the line of march and other details of the celebration will be announced this week. "We will bend every effort to make this year's event the biggest of its kind we ever had," he said. "I deeply appreciate the compliment paid me in asking that I head this annual tribute to the south's 'lost cause,' and I promise my best in making it the impressive and big affair it should be."

Prominent Figure.

The selection of Colonel Cox places in charge of the Memorial Day program a son of one of the oldest southern families and a prominent figure in military and business circles of this section for many years. He is a descendant of soldiers in the war of the sixties and saw service himself on the Mexican border and in the World War. Early in the war with Germany he was aide-de-camp to Brigadier-General James D. Erwin and following the war was adjutant-general of Georgia, and more recently colonel of the 122d infantry, a place he has held since organization of the regiment more than five years ago.

Colonel Cox made an enviable record during his administration of military affairs in Georgia, the national guard received highest praise of war department officials for its expansion, high esprit de corps and all-round efficiency.

Colonel Cox has served in many affairs where large crowds were handled and was warmly praised for his part as aide to Henderson Hallman, in the Lindbergh reception two years ago when the Atlantic flight hero was the guest of Atlanta.

Handled Big Crowds.

In this affair he had direct charge of handling the enormous crowds which lined the streets and easily congested at points where Colonel Lindbergh stopped. The success of this big event was acclaimed and the Atlanta "plan" successfully applied in other cities where the hero was entertained.

A series of orders dealing with general plans for the parade and designating units and the line of march will be announced this week, Colonel Cox said, and in working with representatives of various organizations it is hoped to attract many thousand visitors to Atlanta.

On the occasion of the first full gathering in this city of the 122d infantry a barbecue will be given to officers and men of the regiment at the auditorium-armory immediately following the parade, it was announced.

A session at the city hall, a barbecue at 1 o'clock at the Country Club and a golf tournament over the links in the afternoon.

PARKER ASSIGNED TO COMMAND 6TH CORPS AT CHICAGO

Washington, March 30.—(P)—Major General Frank Parker, who has been assistant chief of staff in charge of operations and training at the war department, was assigned today to command the sixth corps area at Chicago, relieving Major General Paul B. Malone. General Malone will sail from New York May 3 for the Philippine division of the army.

EIGHT STILL SEIZED

Huge Quantity of Liquor Destroyed by U. S.

Eight stills ranging in size from 15 to 300 gallons were seized and destroyed by federal prohibition agents during the last few days of March, according to reports made public Saturday by H. P. Wright, deputy prohibition administrator for the northern district of Georgia.

A large quantity of other whisky making paraphernalia also went under the axe, including 60 fermenters and several thousand gallons of beer, the whole being valued at more than $1,500. Raids were conducted in Polk, Dawson and Lumpkin counties.

Use Your Charge Account!

Rich's Bargain Basement

New Materials Encourage April Sewing!

After-Easter Sale! Men's $1.39

Fine Shirts $1.19

—Shirts that will stand double wear all through the spring and coming summer! Broadcloth in solid white and fancy stripes—woven madras, rayon stripes and attractive printed designs. Collars attached and neckband styles with collars to match.

Silk Ties $1

—Beautiful silk ties with figured designs and solid colors to match your shirts.

For Spring Decorations! $3.69 Spreads $2.95

—Lustrous rayon spreads with Jacquard or hand-printed designs. Rose, blue, gold, helio, coral, etc.

$1.19 Sheets $1

—Well-known "Gramercy" sheets of a fine smooth finish weave. Fully bleached. 81x90.

$1.19 Pillows 98c

—Cheerful summery pillows of gay cretonnes and printed satens. Attractive odd shapes in large sizes.

Formerly $39.50 to $49.50

$28

Formerly $25

$18.95

$14.95

Formerly $19.95

Post-Easter Sale of Coats

—Worth twice this price in style, in materials, in trims of Russian fitch, caracul, mole, monkey, squirrel, broadtail! Cape effects, throw collars, tailored modes. Crepe back satin lined.

—Silk faille moire, twill bloom and broadcloth coats to go whisking out early in the sale! Tailored styles, ensemble types, and fur trims. Crepe back satin lined. In black, navy, tan and green.

2000 Pieces Women's Undies 98c

PAJAMAS that invite comfortable sleep—of broadcloth, voile and crepe in plain and novelty patterns, 34 to 44.

Voile, crepe and batiste GOWNS, both sleeves and sleeveless, tailored and lace trimmed. STEP-INS and TEDS, of voile and batiste, lace and hemstitched trimmed.

69c

75c Hose 39c

Erlanger To Show 'The Trial Of Mary Dugan' Next Week

FAMOUS COURT PLAY COMING TO ATLANTA

Business being light at the courthouse and Solicitor-General John A. Boykin reported "gone fishing" the court scribe happened in on Louis Haase, manager of the Erlanger theater Saturday.

Talk fell to the rage for detective stories and comment on the courtroom being too small to hold the large crowds which seek to hear murder trials. Mr. Haase had been reading in the newspapers that the courtroom of Judge E. E. Pomeroy was too small to hold the audience that sought admission to the trial of W. Lawrence Shippey, who Thursday night was acquitted of the murder of Hall Davis.

"How do you like this?" Mr. Haase asked as he pushed a telegram from Charles L. Wagner in New York across his desk.

Barbara Hastings Leads

The telegram told of the coming of "The Trial of Mary Dugan," which will open at the Erlanger a week from Monday night. Mr. Wagner is bringing to Atlanta the original New York cast augmented by Barbara Hastings, an Atlanta favorite as Mary Dugan and Robert Williams as her leading man.

"The Trial of Mary Dugan" is one of the most successful plays of the decade. It opened in New York a little over a year ago and had long runs in Chicago, Philadelphia and Washington from where the company is coming to Atlanta. It also is being produced in London, Berlin and Australia.

The play is unique in that it is one scene. The curtain rises on a courtroom. Judge is on the bench and jury in the box. Mary Dugan is on trial for murder. The trial is opening and the curtain is not dropped again until the jury brings in its verdict on Mary.

Judges Are Invited.

Mr. Haase said he was inviting Solicitor-General Boykin, the judges of the superior court, Chief of Police Beavers and Chief of Detectives Poole to the opening performance.

"We want to know what the real court people think of this play," Mr. Haase said.

The company will arrive from Washington Monday morning and spend the week sightseeing in and around Atlanta.

Use Your Charge Account!

Rich's Bargain Basement

New Materials Encourage April Sewing!

After-Easter Sale! Men's $1.39

Fine Shirts $1.19

—Shirts that will stand double wear all through the spring and coming summer! Broadcloth in solid white and fancy stripes—woven madras, rayon stripes and attractive printed designs. Collars attached and neckband styles with collars to match.

Silk Ties $1

—Beautiful silk ties with figured designs and solid colors to match your shirts.

For Spring Decorations! $3.69 Spreads $2.95

—Lustrous rayon spreads with Jacquard or hand-printed designs. Rose, blue, gold, helio, coral, etc.

$1.19 Sheets $1

—Well-known "Gramercy" sheets of a fine smooth finish weave. Fully bleached. 81x90.

$1.19 Pillows 98c

—Cheerful summery pillows of gay cretonnes and printed satens. Attractive odd shapes in large sizes.

Formerly $39.50 to $49.50

$28

Formerly $25

$18.95

$14.95

Formerly $19.95

Post-Easter Sale of Coats

—Worth twice this price in style, in materials, in trims of Russian fitch, caracul, mole, monkey, squirrel, broadtail! Cape effects, throw collars, tailored modes. Crepe back satin lined.

—Silk faille moire, twill bloom and broadcloth coats to go whisking out early in the sale! Tailored styles, ensemble types, and fur trims. Crepe back satin lined. In black, navy, tan and green.

2000 Pieces Women's Undies 98c

PAJAMAS that invite comfortable sleep—of broadcloth, voile and crepe in plain and novelty patterns, 34 to 44.

Voile, crepe and batiste GOWNS, both sleeves and sleeveless, tailored and lace trimmed. STEP-INS and TEDS, of voile and batiste, lace and hemstitched trimmed.

69c

75c Hose 39c

SEX QUESTIONNAIRE PROFESSOR HONORED

Unanimously Elected President of Southern Society of Philosophy.

Lexington, Ky., March 30.—(P)—Dr. Max Meyer, who was "temporarily relieved from active duty" at the University of Missouri following the distribution of a sex questionnaire, was unanimously elected president today of the Southern Society of Philosophy and Psychology in annual session at the University of Kentucky here.

Dr. Meyer's name was put before the society by the executive council, which unanimously favored his selection.

No mention was made of the sex questionnaire, but Dr. Meyer's friends said it was practically the unanimous opinion of members that the election of Dr. Meyer to the presidency testified as to the society's stand in the matter.

Nashville, Tenn., was selected as the meeting place for 1930. No date was set.

Use Your Charge Account!

Rich's Bargain Basement

New Materials Encourage April Sewing!

After-Easter Sale! Men's $1.39

Fine Shirts $1.19

—Shirts that will stand double wear all through the spring and coming summer! Broadcloth in solid white and fancy stripes—woven madras, rayon stripes and attractive printed designs. Collars attached and neckband styles with collars to match.

Silk Ties $1

—Beautiful silk ties with figured designs and solid colors to match your shirts.

For Spring Decorations! $3.69 Spreads $2.95

—Lustrous rayon spreads with Jacquard or hand-printed designs. Rose, blue, gold, helio, coral, etc.

$1.19 Sheets $1

—Well-known "Gramercy" sheets of a fine smooth finish weave. Fully bleached. 81x90.

$1.19 Pillows 98c

—Cheerful summery pillows of gay cretonnes and printed satens. Attractive odd shapes in large sizes.

Formerly $39.50 to $49.50

$28

Formerly $25

$18.95

$14.95

Formerly $19.95

Post-Easter Sale of Coats

—Worth twice this price in style, in materials, in trims of Russian fitch, caracul, mole, monkey, squirrel, broadtail! Cape effects, throw collars, tailored modes. Crepe back satin lined.

—Silk faille moire, twill bloom and broadcloth coats to go whisking out early in the sale! Tailored styles, ensemble types, and fur trims. Crepe back satin lined. In black, navy, tan and green.

2000 Pieces Women's Undies 98c

PAJAMAS that invite comfortable sleep—of broadcloth, voile and crepe in plain and novelty patterns, 34 to 44.

Voile, crepe and batiste GOWNS, both sleeves and sleeveless, tailored and lace trimmed. STEP-INS and TEDS, of voile and batiste, lace and hemstitched trimmed.

69c

75c Hose 39c

Plot To Hold Up Bank Is Foiled; Cashier Suicides

Dayton, Ohio, March 30.—(P)—Sheriff Robert Blank, of Montgomery county, announced today that Sherman Mills, cashier of the First National bank at West Alexandria, near here, committed suicide March 13, because a hold-up of the bank, which he had arranged to cover his alleged shortage, failed to materialize.

Mills for many years was a respected citizen of West Alexandria. His shortage was found to be between $55,000 and $60,000, Sheriff Blank said.

Sheriff Blank stated that Lawrence Kreider, held in connection with another hold-up had confessed a plot to hold up the village bank, which had been arranged by Mills.

Only his arrest in connection with a gas filling station hold-up here, prevented his carrying out his part of the plot. Kreider admitted to the sheriff.

Learning of the plot, Sheriff Blank advised state bank examiners to make an investigation of Mills' accounts and it was their unexpected appearance at the bank that prompted Mills to end his life.

Use Your Charge Account!

Rich's Bargain Basement

New Materials Encourage April Sewing!

After-Easter Sale! Men's $1.39

Fine Shirts $1.19

—Shirts that will stand double wear all through the spring and coming summer! Broadcloth in solid white and fancy stripes—woven madras, rayon stripes and attractive printed designs. Collars attached and neckband styles with collars to match.

Silk Ties $1

—Beautiful silk ties with figured designs and solid colors to match your shirts.

For Spring Decorations! $3.69 Spreads $2.95

—Lustrous rayon spreads with Jacquard or hand-printed designs. Rose, blue, gold, helio, coral, etc.

$1.19 Sheets $1

—Well-known "Gramercy" sheets of a fine smooth finish weave. Fully bleached. 81x90.

$1.19 Pillows 98c

—Cheerful summery pillows of gay cretonnes and printed satens. Attractive odd shapes in large sizes.

Formerly $39.50 to $49.50

$28

Formerly $25

$18.95

$14.95

Formerly $19.95

Post-Easter Sale of Coats

—Worth twice this price in style, in materials, in trims of Russian fitch, caracul, mole, monkey, squirrel, broadtail! Cape effects, throw collars,

BIG CATHOLIC BAZAR OPENS TUESDAY NIGHT

More Than 7,000 Tickets Are Sold for "The Whoopee" This Week.

Under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus and the United Catholic Societies of Atlanta, one of the largest bazars in the history of the city will begin next Tuesday night.

This frolic designated "The Whoopee" will be held in the building formerly occupied by the American Furniture Company at the corner of Auburn avenue and Pryor street. The interior of the building has been turned into a palace of pleasure, gaily festooned with flags and vari-colored decorations.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Knights of Columbus has taken charge of the dining room and lunches and dinners will be served each day until the close of the bazar on Saturday night, under the direction of the following committee: Mrs. Mae McAlpin, chairman, assisted by Mrs. C. L. McGowan, P. A. Aiklen, C. L. Collins, John Hurley and many others.

Dance Each Night.
An orchestra will provide dance music each night, in addition to which there will be a program of entertainment under the direction of Green B. Adair, Atlanta recording artist, assisted by Mrs. Norton Sullivan, Vincent Hurley, Fred Roberts and L. F. Gordon. Among the artists who are scheduled to appear will be Gertrude Morrow, Mrs. Trotti, Mrs. G. B. Adair, George McNulty, lyric tenor, and Mrs. Norton Sullivan. A special series of numbers will be given by Green Adair and his young son.

The entire arrangements for "The Whoopee" are under the direction of J. C. Gavin, general chairman; R. A. McGill and John Bradley, vice chairman.

There will be forms of fun and frolic for young and old, and one afternoon designated later in the week will be given over entirely to the entertainment of the children.

7,000 Tickets Sold.
Over 7,000 tickets have been sold and a close competition is being waged for a radio and watch, which the committee has offered to the two most successful contestants in the sale of the tickets.

Again in the spirit of contest, separate committees have been appointed to handle the program of entertainment each evening and on each of these committees have been placed the obligation of the previous evening in providing the utmost entertainment and enjoyment for all visitors.

The committee in charge of the opening program for Tuesday night is as follows: William McAlpin, chairman; Walter Greany, Bernard Collins, John Kelly, John Tischer, Eugene O'Brien, Paul McDermott, Joseph Cornin, P. P. Hanley, John B. McCallum.

Excursion Trip Costs Italian Residence Here

Thomas Deharardinas, a native Italian, must return to the land of his birth as a deported alien because he took an "excursion trip" into Canada during May, 1927, it was decided Saturday at the completion of the hearing before Judge S. H. Sibley on the habeas corpus proceedings which had been instituted.

Deharardinas first came to this country in 1920, it was brought out, and in 1927 took a "boat ride" from Detroit into Canadian waters and returned. Shortly afterwards he was convicted for violation of the motor vehicle theft law, it was stated, and sentenced to serve a term in the Atlanta Federal penitentiary. According to the laws of the United States, if an alien is convicted of an act involving moral turpitude within five years of his entry into this country, he is subject to deportation.

The point involved was whether or not the boat trip and return constituted an "entry," whether the five-year "probation" period had elapsed before the alleged crime was committed. Judge Sibley ruled that the "return" to Detroit, while not illegal, constituted a date of entry.

Be Ready

When your Children Cry for It

Baby is likely to wake you any night with that sharp cry which means just one thing—colic! Be ready. Keep a bottle of Fletcher's Castoria in the house.

A few drops of this pure vegetable, pleasant-tasting preparation comforts a colicky, fretful or feverish baby in a jiffy. In a few moments your anxiety is over and baby's sleeping soundly again. And you've only done what your doctor would advise. He'll tell you Fletcher's Castoria doesn't contain any harmful drug—that it's safe for the youngest infant and effective for children of all ages in cases of constipation, colic, gas, diarrhea and those upsets when you don't know just what is the matter. Avoid imitations. Genuine Castoria bears the Fletcher's signature.

Fletcher's CASTORIA

Haverty's Forty-Fourth Anniversary Recalls Old Ad In 1890 Constitution Typical of Publicity Policy

This advertisement, clipped from The Constitution of October 5, 1890, is typical of the "truth in advertising" and "exact illustration of merchandise advertised" policies which have always ruled at the Haverty Furniture Company. The widely known business house now is observing its forty-fourth anniversary in business in Atlanta.

"Truth in advertising" has been an unvarying policy of the Haverty Furniture Company, veteran Atlanta commercial establishment, which now is celebrating its forty-fourth anniversary in business here.

In addition, it has always been the policy of the Haverty company to show in its advertisements exact illustrations of the merchandise advertised. This policy, together with a strict adherence to the truth in statements made regarding merchandise, official pointed out Saturday, has built for the Haverty company an enviable public confidence during the 44 years the company has been in business.

The illustration above is an exact copy of an advertisement appearing on the top of the front page of The Atlanta Constitution in 1890. This is published in connection with the 44th anniversary of the Haverty company. L. A. Witherspoon, vice president and manager of the Atlanta store, announced Saturday that his store will join Monday with the other 18 Haverty stores in celebrating the anniversary event. He cordially invited friends and customers of the company to visit the store Monday or same time during this anniversary.

Officers of the Haverty company are J. J. Haverty, president; Clarence Haverty, vice president, and Mr. Witherspoon, general manager. The concern was founded 44 years ago on East Hunter street in a small store by J. J. Haverty. Its development was sure, and it was not long until the store removed into larger quarters on Whitehall street, where the Rhodes-Haverty company was formed. This company was in operation for 20 years, giving place in 1894 to the Rhodes-Spook-Haverty company, which occupied a store in the present site of the Peachtree Arcade.

Later the store moved to Pryor street and Auburn avenue. Five years ago the present store was completely renovated at a cost of $100,000 and the Haverty company took up its quarters at Pryor and Edgewood with 110,000 square feet of floor space and five floors.

Haverty stores are now located in Atlanta, Dallas, Houston, Memphis, Savannah, Charleston, Birmingham, Columbia, New Orleans, Montgomery, Asheville, Little Rock, Fort Worth, Greenville, Chattanooga and Decatur, Ga.

Vera Myers, Star Of Light Opera, Now in Concert

Atlanta, most all of them, remember with gobs of pleasure the visits to Atlanta of Vera Myers, musical comedy and light opera star of exceptional Princeton. Her clear voice and the grace of her dancing were high lights of two engagements of the great Ziegfeld success, "Sally," and she was one of the principal performers in the second season of summer light opera, given at the Atlanta theater.

Miss Myers has now deserted the musical comedy stage and is going in for higher realms of her art. Programs have been received in Atlanta of song and dance recital she is giving in New York at the Town Hall on Saturday evening, April 20. She is to be assisted by Leon Goldman, violinist, while Edna Sheppard will be the accompanist.

It is safe to say that most stray Atlantans who happen to be in New York on that date will be found at the Town Hall from 8:30 p. m. on.

STONE MOUNTAIN CARS TO OPERATE INTO CITY SOON

Stone Mountain cars will make the complete trip from downtown Atlanta to Stone Mountain under an order passed Saturday by the Georgia public service commission, effective April 28.

James A. Perry, chairman of the commission, announced that the rate of 1920 will apply with regard to single cash fares, this rate having been restored Saturday by the commission.

The Stone Mountain cars began operation Saturday at 8 a. m. because of the congestion and in an effort to reduce the loss, but on the complaint of the people of Atlanta, restoration of the former practice of sending the cars on into Atlanta from Decatur has been ordered by the commission.

The 1920 single cash fare rate from Atlanta to points on the Stone Mountain line follows: To Decatur, 10 cents; to Scottsdale, 12 cents; to Clarkston, 18 cents; to Mount Zion, 24 cents; to Stone Mountain, 30 cents.

Commutation books of 12 single trip tickets, or six round trips, good for ten days, under the 1920 rate cost as follows: Atlanta to Scottsdale, $1.45; to Clarkston, $1.80; to Mount Zion, $2.14; to Stone Mountain, $2.50.

BIG OCEAN LINERS RE-ENTER SERVICE OF OLD DOMINION

April brings the big ocean liners back into service with the Old Dominion Line fleet between Norfolk and New York. The Robert E. Lee will make her first sailing of the season from Norfolk on April 4, and the George Washington, her sister ship, will re-enter this service on April 17. Both steamers have been employed in the regular daily service of the Eastern Steamship Lines between New York and Boston during the winter months.

These popular ships are an added attraction to the regular service of daily sailings to New York, and both possess the luxuries and conveniences found in de luxe hotels and transatlantic liners, including social halls, lounge dancing decks, sun parlors, music rooms, excellent restaurants, suites with twin and double beds, and a wide range of other rooms with or without adjoining private baths and showers. The ballroom on the George Washington will be considerably enlarged when that ship re-enters the service.

Oglethorpe Debaters Meet Princeton Here This Week

JAMES B. C. HOWE.

The first annual debate between Princeton university and Oglethorpe university, "The Princeton of the South," is scheduled at 8 o'clock Wednesday night in the chapel of Lupton hall, Oglethorpe. The subject for debate is "Resolved: That the practice of advertising is now carried on in a socially and economically harmful way."

Oglethorpe will have the negative.

The Atlanta institution will be represented by Allan Watkins, son of Judge Edgar Watkins, Sr., and James B. C. Howe, two seniors of Atlanta and Washington, D. C., respectively. Both are students in the School of Literature and Journalism.

Watkins was a member of the Oglethorpe debate team that won a unanimous decision over L. S. U., Baton Rouge, La., here last February. He is prominent in student activities on the Oglethorpe campus and the valedictorian of the 1929 graduating class.

Howe Making Debut.
Howe is debating for the first time in an inter-collegiate affair. He has been at Oglethorpe for two years, having entered the junior class in 1927, and has been an active member of the student body since that time. He is on the staffs of the Stormy Petrel and The Yamacraw, and is a member of the Le Conte Honorary and Scientific fraternity.

Atlanta Store's Personnel Will Conduct Annual Sale

Every employee of the J. M. High Company will be literally on tiptoe this week as the Whitehall street department store launches its annual buyers' and managers' sale and as the various departments of the establishment vie with each other in piling up results on allotted sales quotas.

The sale, beginning Monday morning and lasting through Saturday, is an event in which the personal element between store employees themselves and between employees and their patrons has widest scope, according to High officials.

The sale is store-wide, with the buyers and managers of the various departments in complete charge of all merchandising and advertising and with A. R. Dorsen, head of the store, and his corps of executives sitting back watching and encouraging the departmental heads as they direct the store's affairs and activities during the week.

For some past the buyers and managers have been closely organized for this annual event. Purchasing of select merchandise, it was stated Saturday, was entirely in their hands, and committees named by the buyers themselves have taken charge of the separate operations of the sale.

"I certainly congratulate the buyers and managers on the results they have obtained in their preparation for this sale," Mr. Dorsen said Saturday. "They have assembled a magnificent array of merchandise of the finest quality and latest style, and they have conducted their purchasing operations in such a manner as to be able to offer this merchandise at prices that will prove sensational."

The buyers and managers Friday night gave their annual sale impetus when they conducted a special radio broadcast. In addition, they have provided for a closer personal touch by arranging for each salesperson at High's to call his or her particular customers by phone and tell them of the values to be offered in the event.

As stated above, quotas have been established for the departments, and the buyers and managers are urging their staffs to their greatest efforts in order to win honors in the sale.

Loftis Takes A Leading Role

---In the Building of America's Largest and Finest Structures!

Our spacious new home at 45 Mangum Street, where an additional floor space of 69,000 square feet has been provided for service to our rapidly growing clientele.

Approximately $2,000,000 Involved in Our Present Contracts Now Under Construction

—which include in addition to the U. S. Dept. of Commerce Building at Washington—the Jefferson County Court House, Birmingham, Ala. ($217,000 contract under the Southern Ferro Concrete Co.); Rhodes-Haverty Building, Atlanta, also under the Southern Ferro Concrete Co.; Shrine Mosque, Atlanta; U. S. Veterans' Hospital, Little Rock, Ark.; Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Gadsden, Ala.

Other Recently Completed Projects:

Loew's Theater, Columbus, Ohio; Alabama Theater, Birmingham, Ala.; Chevrolet Motor Plant, Atlanta; Reed House, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Chattanooga Savings Bank and Office Building, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Southern Railway Shops, Winston-Salem, N. C., and Columbia, S. C.; Berry School, Rome, Ga.

Specify Loftis when the better kind of Heating and Plumbing is desired at a low cost.

Loftis Plumbing & Heating Co.

45 Mangum St., S. W. :: Atlanta, Georgia

APRIL IS PROCLAIMED CITY'S SAFETY MONTH

Acting Mayor Aids Council in War on Traffic Accidents.

Acting Mayor Robert F. Pennington Saturday proclaimed the month of April as "Safety Month" and urged all citizens to co-operate with members and officials of the Atlanta safety council in the 30-day drive which the organization has launched in an effort to stem the death toll from accidents.

E. Stevens, president of the council, announced Saturday that leading Atlantans and officials of the organization will deliver five-minute radio speeches each week night during the month. The first of the series of addresses will be made at 6:25 o'clock Monday night.

Jere Wells, Chairman.
Jere Wells, superintendent of Fulton county schools, is chairman of the home safety movement sponsored by the organization, and is sending safety circulars into every home by school children.

George Diebert, secretary of the council, is actively in charge of arrangements, and Saturday declared that plans have been laid for the most pretentious effort the organization has ever made. All civic societies throughout the state have been asked to co-operate in the movement.

Toll Is Increasing.
Mayor Pennington's proclamation concerning the drive follows: "Whereas, reports indicate that during the first three months of 1929 more of our citizens were killed and injured as a result of accidents than during the corresponding periods of 1926, 1927 and 1928, and "Whereas, the Atlanta safety council and co-operating organizations will make an intensive effort during the month to reduce the needless toll of accidents."

"Therefore, I, Robert F. Pennington, mayor pro tem of the city of Atlanta, do hereby proclaim the month of April, 1929, as

SAFETY MONTH
and do call upon and urge each and every citizen of the community to be more thoughtful of himself and others to the end that accidents may be reduced.

"Given under my hand this 13th day of March, 1929.
(Signed)
"ROBERT F. PENNINGTON,
"Mayor Pro Tem."

WELFARE BOARD REPORTS BETTER PRISON SYSTEM

Important improvements in Georgia jails were shown by the state department of public welfare's survey of the state jail system covering the period from 1922 to 1928, according to a statement by J. S. Kennedy, chairman of the state board of public welfare, at a meeting of the board in the office of Comer M. Woodward, executive secretary.

Mr. Kennedy said that the National Crime Commission recently issued a misleading report concerning jail conditions in Georgia, and that the report was based on 1921 conditions.

Dr. Woodward has done good work in correcting the erroneous statement by the National Crime Commission, Mr. Kennedy said.

The biennial report of the department, prepared during the past quarter, shows that there has been an enormous increase in demands upon the department for service. Mr. Kennedy said that the distribution of the recent criminal statistical study of Georgia courts made by Hugh Fuller met with approval not only in the state but throughout the nation.

Attending the meeting were Mrs. J. A. Thomas, of Columbus, vice chairman; Mrs. E. Suarez, of Culbertson, and Dr. John G. Harrison, of Mercer university, Macon.

Now, I'm Both
CONTENTED
and
SATISFIED

My Easter clothing and hat business was better than I ever hoped to do. I told you a few days ago that I was CONTENTED but NOT SATISFIED with sellin' "a hat a minute." We beat all records Saturday, and now I'm both CONTENTED AND SATISFIED, but we over-looked the working man (in our mad rush to do business) so now here's what I'll do for him, tomorrow!

You See This Here Knife?
One of 'Em Is Yours for Nothin'

Read on. Listen to my story. We expect to sell one thousand pairs of men's good overalls this week 'cause we've got 'em to sell regular 220 weight, blue and white denim (high back) overalls for—

$1.45
All Sizes to 44

Triple stitch overalls, with all the extra pockets (UNION MADE).....$1.85

One of these razor steel Jack Knives will give you 25¢ with every pair of overalls sold this week. The Mostert Clothing and Hat Store, 72-74 North Forsyth St., Atlanta, has created a new trading center for every honest man who wears overalls.

Book Reviews in Tabloid

EASTER.
Contributed by Rev. Samuel T. Senter,
Pastor, First Methodist Church,
Atlanta.

The world to me seems like an Easter garden fair.
The hum of bees and scents of spring are in the air.
I look around, above and everywhere
'Tis all a garden, Christ is walking there.

'AN EASTER LOVE SONG.
By Frank L. Stanton.
The old-time Easter bonnet,
With ribbons red and blue—
A wren kiss beneath it
Was sweet as April dew.
That twinkles on the violets
Your sweetheart kissed for you.

II
On the way to meeting
Old lovers, hand in hand,
Seemed on a flowery journey
To Love's own Promised Land;
And the music of the bells of love
The heart could understand.

III
But Easter time is love time
Forever more the same,
Though laurel lilies dream love dreams
Or scarlet flowers flame;
And all the earth is beautiful
To those that know Love's name.

HARDY'S LAST POEMS.
"Winter Words in Various Moods and Meters," a volume of poems by Thomas Hardy, prepared for publication shortly before his death.

I watched a blackbird on a budding sycamore.
One Easter Day, when sap was stirring twigs to the core;
I saw his tongue, and crocus-colored bill
Parting and closing as he turned his trill:
Then he flew down, seized on a stem of hay,
And upped to where his building scheme was under way.
As if so sure a nest were never shaped on spray.

NEW FICTION RECEIVED.
Sooner Land. By George W. Ozden. Author of "The Land of Last Chance." The story is founded on the stirring times of the great middle west during the days of the homesteaders.
(Dodd Mead & Co., New York.)

Stumbling. By Dave E. Smalley.
This is a fascinating romance with a remarkable new slant of the crime problem. The question is asked "Is Man Really Master of His Own
Will?" The leading character in this story is a condemned criminal—"a born killer," but so changed by skilled surgery that only the judge can sentence him does not recognize him in his new role. And even the criminal does not recall the past for through the skill of a great surgeon who secretly operated on his brain he has no past and only recognizes himself as a respectable member of society. But "finger prints never lie," it is said.
This story is an interesting study of psychology and is worth the time given to it. (Barrs & Co., New York.)

Tune in the Tree. By Nella Gardner White, author of "David Strange." The story is woven around a servant girl who had just been told to "clean the attic." She is a servant to a narrow, selfish Mrs. Bunderly, and yet the tune life played for Katherine Durney was high and sweet for there seemed to be no discord in her heart, and each day was filled with love and beauty.
The tune of Katherine's life is sweet, there are no ripples of discontent for the little servant girl sees only the beauty in life. (Penn Publishing Co., Philadelphia.)

The Pindexter Pride. By Gladys Blake. An interesting story of the southland before the Civil War. It was in the days when the substitute for a telephone was a lean little pickaninny with a good stretch of leg, and on this occasion he was hitting the pike because "Ole Mis" had told him not to take a week to deliver her message.
The leading characters in this story are two little girls, Betty and Caroline, her English cousin. During her visit to "Knightswood," Caroline has many adventures, which she becomes the central figure. And another who is very much interested in Caroline is Phil Pindexter, the young son of the house, who becomes her right-hand man in all the exciting episodes that follow her steps while of youth. (Appleton's book, New York.)

The Alchemy of Murder. By Peter Oldfield, the author of "The Death of a Diplomat." While this is a mystery story in which the murder of a well-known philanthropist causes much excitement, and is a case for the detectives, it is something more than that, for it tells of an attempt being made to end war by gaining control of the world's chemical industry.
The reader is first introduced to Philip Trevanion, a young English consular agent, who, while en route to the land of the Alps on a vacation trip, and occupying No. 13 with his companion, later finds himself accused of the murder of the philanthropist and the victim of international crooks.
The story is full of exciting adventures and a romance that is equally as interesting. (Lives Washburn, publisher, New York.)

AUSTRALIA.
Undiscovered Australia. By Captain Sir G. H. Wilkins, M.C. This is an account of an expedition to trouble Australia to collect specimens of the rarer native fauna for the British museum—1923-1925. There are 47 illustrations and a map.

The writer of this handsome volume knows his subject for he was born in South Australia 40 years ago. It was here that he spent his boyhood hunting or herding sheep on horseback and at 21 was graduated from the Adelaide School of Mines as an electrical engineer. His first job after his graduation, however, was that of a photographer, having worked his way around the world as a picture news cameraman in the early days of the film industry. From the airplanes he took pictures of many thrilling sights. He traveled extensively up to the time of the great war when he headed the photographic section on the western front.
Among other things he spent two and one-half years in command of an expedition sponsored by the British museum for the purpose of collecting rare native fauna in Australia's remote regions.

This is the story he has written covering his experiences on this expedition. For his heroic flight from Point Barrow to Spitzbergen he was knighted by the king of England. At the time of the publication of this volume he was "somewhere" preparing a flight to the South Pole. (G. P.
Putnam's Sons, New York.)
P. S.—It is not necessary to give the readers the information that Captain Wilkins has already returned from his antarctic flight and landed in New York on March 12, where through the press he is telling of his thrilling experiences.

MISCELLANEOUS BOOKS.
TARZAN BOOKS.
There is no writer who has become more popular with his readers than

OCTAVUS ROY COHEN.

The Valley Olympus. By a writer who has become quite popular through his dialect writings with the south as a background. But he does not confine his work entirely to the southland. In this, his latest book, he tells the story of a young man's adventures in Hollywood.

The hero, Larry Wycoff, has accepted a position with a Hollywood law firm on account of his weary waiting for something more than a super role in the movies. He feels that fortune has indeed smiled upon him when Tyra Kelson, a Swedish screen star becomes so friendly that he finds himself very much in love, so much so that his legal firm urges him to marry her. It only for a year, to save her from the immigration law as well as the heartless producers. This condition of affairs is explained to the heroine and she quite willingly acquiesces in the plan offered. The hero, however, is not happy for he feels that he has taken the advantage of her. But while on a visit to his old southern home in Alabama he tells her of his love, and finds in this way that he is able to outwit the movie villains. The reader is engaged in this story of the old courthouse, the friendly sheriff and other pictures of a former story. There is plenty of humor, very little to cause the reader to lose interest, and as a whole a splendid romance. (Appleton's book, New York.)

Edgar Rice Burroughs, especially his interest in the Tarzan books, among them being The Beasts of Tarzan,
The Return of Tarzan, The Son of Tarzan, and The Ant Men, Tarzan and the Golden Lion, Tarzan and the Jewels of Opar, Tarzan of the Apes, Tarzan
the Terrible and Tarzan the Untamed.
50c. Atlanta book stores.

Readings in Public. Its Formation and Control. This handsome volume of more than a thousand pages, is edited by W. Brooke Graves, professor of political science in Temple university. The introduction is by Clyde L.
King, professor of political science in the University of Pennsylvania. The volume contains over 200 selections from the writings of famous contemporaries which have been carefully selected and woven together and which present a most attractive appearance to the reader upon opening the book.
The preface in a few pages tells the story of what has been done in making the selection of the speakers and writers on a subject which is vitally important to every man, woman and child in the United States.
It seems that several years ago Mr.
Graves began to plan a course on party government—three problems were presented: First, the manner in which parties influence opinion and control of the government; the organization of parties, the nomination of candidates, the conduct of elections, types of ballots; and the position and action of parties in the development of America and in our present day politics.
This is a very valuable book and should be in every library. (Appleton, New York. Price $6.)

The Grain Trade Through During the World War. Being a history of the food administration grain corporation and the United States grain corporation. By Frank M. Surface, economist for the United States Grain Corporation.
This is the story of a gigantic organization based on sound commercial principles. The plan of discussion is nothing more nor less than a picture of the whole of the wartime grain and four operations. It is a study for the student as well as leaders in the work of the United States. (The MacMillan Co., New York.)

MODERN LIBRARY.
From time to time we are adding books to this most interesting list of classics:

The Brothers Karamazov. Dostoy-evsky's famous novel, translated by Constance Garnett, is a noteworthy addition to the list. It appears as one of the February additions to the Modern Library, complete and un-abridged in one volume. Aside from the book's obvious literary achievement, it is, physically speaking, the finest volume that has ever been published for 35 cents a copy; there are 975 pages. It is interesting to note that this is the first time "The Brothers Karamazov" has been printed in this country.

An Outline of Abnormal Psychology.
Edited by Professor Gardner Murphy, of Columbia university, is another addition to the Modern Library. This book is not a reprint but stands out as the first of its kind to be published.
Besides a comprehensive introduction and summary by the editor, the volume includes a series of articles by leading specialists on every phase of nervous and mental abnormality.
These articles, although they have appeared before in various medical and psychiatric journals, have never been published together in one volume.

EMORY DEBATE TEAM
TO MEET PRINCETON

Modern Advertising System
Will Be Discussed
Here.

Emory university will hold its first intersectional debate of the present forensic season when Glenn Rainey and James Jacobs, of Atlanta, and Robert Elliott, of Norcross, meet Princeton university's experienced team composed of John Edgar Thiele, William
W. Haynes and Karl Holt Kreder, on Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in the university auditorium. This is probably the first time that any forensic combination of the "Big Three" has journeyed this far south to meet opposing speakers.

Emory university has selected one of her best combinations to debate

Princeton on the question, "Resolved, that national advertising as now carried on is socially and economically harmful." All three men are experienced in debate and each holds numerous campus honors.

Glenn Rainey, executive secretary of the debate council and coach of the freshman team, is doing work in the graduate school in history on a scholarship which he won in undergraduate work. James Jacobs, the second Atlantan on the Emory team, is a senior in the college of arts and sciences and a veteran of several debates.

Robert Elliott the youngest member of the team, is a junior in the college of arts and sciences and has already participated in six varsity debates without a single defeat.

Princeton's team will be composed of John Edgar Thiele, of the class of 1929, from Maplewood, N. J.; William Wallace Haynes, of the class of 1930, whose home is at Bristol, Tenn., and who was on the team which met Oxford last fall; and Karl Holt Kreder, of the class of 1931, who comes from Chevy Chase, Md.

The judges for this contest will be
Dr. Sam Small, of The Constitution;
Dr. W. W. Menninger, pastor of All

Saints Episcopal church, and Dr. T.
W. Noel, dean of the school of commerce at Georgia Tech.

Harvard follows Princeton on the Emory home schedule.

Fulton County's
Most Honest Man
Is Found in Gang

Every now and then there is published a story that if Diogenes had known so-and-so his search would not have ended in vain. Now comes J. A.
(Happy) Roberts, assistant purchasing agent and paymaster of Fulton county with a candidate for the honor of the traditional Hellene sought to bestow.

Roberts Saturday nominated one Jim Miller, chain gang member by virtue of recent conviction for a prohibition law violation.
Jim, a resident of the Bellwood prison camp, Friday picked up $50 in currency from the floor of a shack where the convicts kept their road massaging equipment. He was stone broke, as convicts usually are, but the idea of keeping the $50 evidently never entered Jim's head, for early Saturday morning he approached Roberts and turned over his find.

The money belonged to W. J. Moon, a teamster at the camp, and was returned to him. Jim will get a reward, paid in food, from the county.

$500,000 DAMAGE
AS FIRE DESTROYS
ANNEX TO HOTEL

Rocky Mount, N. C., March 30.—
(AP)—Fire early today damaged the six-story annex of the Ricks hotel here, causing a loss estimated at between
$400,000 and $500,000.

Seventy guests who were staying at the annex escaped. Several women were overcome by hysteria or fainted and had to be carried from the hotel, but none suffered injuries. Several firemen suffered slight burns and cuts.

NOTED DRY LEADERS WILL SPEAK HERE

Anti-Saloon Leader Chiefs Will Aid Drive on Liquor.

William P. McGarey and George
W. Morrow, field secretaries of the Anti-Saloon League, will speak on the 18th amendment and the league's second campaign, at an informal dinner to be given at 6:30 o'clock Monday night at the Chamber of Commerce by the manufacture and business committee of the league.

Robert P. Carson, chairman, will speak on the "Man of the Hour," and Patrick H. Callahan, business and civic leader of Louisville, Ky., will talk on "New Call of Our Flag."
Howard Hyde Russell, founder (1893) and associate superintendent of the league will act as toastmaster.

An announcement of the dinner, signed by the invitation committee, of which M. L. Thresher is chairman and Carolyn Cobb is secretary, points out that "the members of the national manufacture and business committee, dry men of all parties, wish their fellow citizens to know the present serious dangers and the new five-year campaign of the Non-Partisan Anti-Saloon League to meet and overcome them."
"The association opposed to prohibition and other wet organizations have been making the most stupendous efforts that have been made by them since prohibition came," the announcement says. "During 1928 they were able to capture a political party convention, dictate the candidate for president, name one of their number from the other political party for chairman and raise millions for the campaign. Even though they failed, at the polls this shows the strength of their organization. Since election they have announced a stronger program of publicity for the next four years."

Attention! Mothers, NURSERY NOW OPEN!
For the convenience of our customers we have opened a Children's Nursery on the third floor in charge of an experienced trained nurse. Check your babies all day and shop.
L.F.M. BEAUTY PARLOR AND BARBER SHOP
Formerly the Inman Park Beauty Parlor, Mrs. Hattie McMillan in full charge.
Experienced operators, Miss Ruth Beasler, Miss Ruth Edwards and Mrs. D.
Martin, to give you excellent service in Permanent Waving, Manicuring and Facials. Mr. C. W. White specialist in children's hair cutting.
Mrs. McMillan will be glad to welcome her old friends. Phone IVY 8629.

The L.F.M. Store
MODERN, FITZPATRICK, MUELLER, STONES & CO.

PHOTOS ENLARGED Limited
Time
Only! 49c Size
10x16
Convex
Your chance to get a lifelike bromide octagon Convex enlargement at a most regular price.
Bring in any photo, post card, old-time tintype or MAIN FLOOR—All styles of Enlarged Picture Frames.

L.F.M. UNEXCELLED VALUES FOR MONDAY!

Thousands and Thousands Yards New Spring Fabrics Specially Priced!

Sport Satin Merrill Rayon Sport Slip Satin, extra good quality. Lustrous, lightweight. New pastel shades. The yard Monday— 98c Yd.	FLAT CREPE Regular $1.79 quality, guar- anteed a washable Flat Crepe. One of the best values you can buy for the money, the yard, Monday only— $1.48 Yd.	40-IN. PRINTED CREPE Beautiful new spring pat- terns, 40 inches wide, large range of patterns to select from, special, the yard, Mon- day— $1.48 Yd.	40-In. Flat Crepe 300 yards just out of the packing cases, beautiful pat- terns; extra good quality Flat Crepe. You should have at least two or three dresses of this pretty silk. Reasonably priced for Mon- day, the yard, only— $1.95 Yd.	ORGANDIES Our regular 50c quality, permanent finish, pretty rainbow colors and solid white, 45 inches wide; guar- anteed, the yard, Monday only— 48c Yd.	New Dimity Guaranteed fast color Dim- ity and Batiste, large range of patterns, 40 inches wide; special Monday, the yard, only— 38c Yd.
---	--	--	---	--	--

Pajama Checks Colored Dimity and Pajama Checks in pastel shades of blue, orchid, peach, Nile and maize, also white. 17c Yd.	Damask Napkins 16-inch Damask Napkins, hemmed and laundered, ready for use. 95c Doz.	Genuine Lad-Lassie Genuine Lad-Lassie Cloth— Guaranteed fast colors. All the new spring patterns of stripes, checks, plaids and plain colors. 19c Yd.	SILK RAYON VOILES Regular 70c extra good qual- ity Rayon Voiles, large as- sortment of colors and com- binations; a real value, the yard, Monday only— 68c	Fast Color GINGHAMS Genuine 32-inch Fast Color Gingham Baby Checks and large checks, large selection to choose from; special, the yard, Monday only— 29c	40-IN. SILK CREPE New shipment of the new- est pastel shades, white and black, perfect quality; guar- anteed washable; 40 inches wide. Special, the yard, Monday only— $1.19 Yd.
---	---	--	--	--	---

39c Broadcloth PRINTED AND PLAIN All the best colors, and white as well as new Spring prints. Ideal Summer Frocks and Trimmings. 25c Yd.	NEW SPRING PATTERNS OF Printed Batiste Fast colors and 36 inches wide. These new day patterns will make smart, cool, at- tractive dresses for mother and maid. 25c Yd.	A. B. C. AND INDEPENDENCE PRINTS 36 inches wide. Fast colors. New, fresh patterns that will make Summer dresses. Inex- pensive, smart and cool— guaranteed perfect and fast colors. 25c Yd.	SHEETS Size 81x90. Full size seamless bleached sheets. Cases to match, size 42x36, 19c each 75c Ea.	Turkish Towels 20x40 Fast colored designs. In block plaid effects of Rose, Blue, Gold, Orchid and Green. Each 19c Ea.
--	--	---	--	---

2,500 NEW WASH FROCKS New Prints, Dim- ities, and Gingham, self and organdy trimmed, new style ideas, sizes 36 to 52; sleeveless and el- bow sleeves mod- els; a wonderful selection to choose from. Special Monday, each... 1 EACH. ALL SIZES AND COLORS UP TO 52	BOYS' Blouses and Shirts Boys' genuine fast color Broad- cloth Shirts; every new Spring color and com- bination. Ac- tual $1.00 val- ues. All sizes. Special Monday each... 59c	Monday Sensational Sale 500 New Spring COATS and DRESSES We are showing a very complete collection of smart new Coats, Dresses, Ensembles. Our prices are by far al- ways the lowest in Atlanta. You can find among our large assortment just the dress or coat that you have been looking for at a saving of 20 to 40%. A visit to our Ready-to-Wear Dept. Monday will help you secure the ap- parel you want and at the same time add dollars to your bank roll. See our display of smart and novelty dresses and coats spe- cially priced for Monday at this low price. $9.50 SECOND FLOOR
--	---	---

COMPANION SALE 1,000 GIRLS' WASH DRESSES Prints, dimities and gingham. Sizes 2 to 6 and 7 to 14. Bloomer and dress styles, all new colors— 1 EACH.	BOYS' DRESS PANTS Boys' well-tailored Knickerbockers. Lined and reinforced for long wear. Regu- lar $1.25 sellers. choice Monday only... 98c	NEW SPRING COATS The coats presented in this big display on our Second Floor are coats ex- clusively manufactured for the L. F. M. Store. They are actual reproductions of higher-priced garments. A selection you never dreamed of. Every new style, color and material represented in this group. Specially priced for Monday's selling at... $14.50
--	---	---

SALE MONDAY 1,000 PAIRS FULL FASHION CHIFFON AND SERVICE WEIGHT HOSE 1,000 pairs ladies' new silk hose, full fashioned chiffon and service weight; every pair a real value; all colors. Special Monday, the pair, only... 1 MAIN FLOOR	Boys' Guaranteed WASH SUITS Regular $1 Values 1,000 Boys' stylish well-made Wash and Play Suits. Every new color and color combination for spring and sum- mer wear; large selection of styles; every suit well made and bears the L. F. M. guarantee. Special Monday, each... 59c	WOMEN'S HANDY SEAL- PAX UNDERWEAR Made of pajama checks, built up and strap styles. Sizes 36 to 44. Elastic back band. Pre-lau- ndered... 1
---	---	--

500 PAIRS ARCH SUPPORT SHOES SPECIALY PRICED FOR MONDAY'S SELLING Ladies' patent and kid steel arch sup- port shoes; large range of styles and colors, spe- cially priced for Monday, the pair.... .65 BALCONY	PRINCESS SLIPS Lustrous Rayon Slips, dark and pastel shades; all sizes; spe- cial Monday, each... $1.95 THIRD FLOOR	1,000 MEN'S GENUINE ENGLISH BROADCLOTH SHIRTS EVERY SHIRT GUARANTEED Men's stylish new broadcloth shirts, large range of patterns with and without collars at- tached, regular $1.25 to $1.49 sellers, special Monday while 1,000 last, each... 1 MEN'S DEPT.
--	---	--

ARCH SUPPORT SHOES SPECIALY PRICED FOR MONDAY'S SELLING Ladies' patent and kid steel arch sup- port shoes; large range of styles and colors, spe- cially priced for Monday, the pair.... .65 BALCONY	PRINCESS SLIPS Lustrous Rayon Slips, dark and pastel shades; all sizes; spe- cial Monday, each... $1.95 THIRD FLOOR	1,000 MEN'S GENUINE ENGLISH BROADCLOTH SHIRTS EVERY SHIRT GUARANTEED Men's stylish new broadcloth shirts, large range of patterns with and without collars at- tached, regular $1.25 to $1.49 sellers, special Monday while 1,000 last, each... 1 MEN'S DEPT.
--	---	--

SPORTS SECTION

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

VOL. LXI., No. 289.

ATLANTA, GA., SUNDAY MORNING, MARCH 31, 1929.

Dodgers Promise To Send Crackers Catcher and Outfielder

GEORGIA WINS; PETRELS BEAT TECH

As long as the rantanker little Frankie Zoeller is playing ball in right field and scrambling up the hill after flies, the Crackers cannot be devoid of interest, regardless of their standing in the race. The "Half-Pint" seems like a fixture as lead-off man and his pepper is worth plenty in a tight race. Kenneth Rogers, the blond cyclone of the lens, has given you above a "movie" as Frankie set out for a fly ball, turning to estimate the distance, scrambling up the hill and making one of his spectacular catches. What Frankie thinks about could have been supplied by any fan who in recent years has watched the game from the old right field bleachers—for Frankie thinks out loud plenty, and how.

Catcher, Outfielder Promised Crackers

Spiller Back From Florida Has Assurance of Early Help—Meusel Sought.

BY BEN COTHMAN.
R. J. Spiller, of the Crackers, returned from Florida Saturday afternoon with a coat of tan, empty gas tank and promises from Wilbert Robinson, of the Dodgers.
Uncle Wilbert's promise was to the effect that he would leave an outfielder and a catcher here when his team comes to town April 6. The catcher most likely will be Alphonso Lopez, youthful wizard of the mask, and the outfielder will NOT be Nick Cullip, but may be Rosy Rosenfeld, last year with Birmingham. If Cullip comes to Atlanta, it will be only after he has had a trial in the big show. Just who the outfielder will be Spiller would not divulge.

In addition to this Spiller has been in touch with "Irish" Meusel and has sent the ex-big leaguer a proposition, asking him to report for a 30-day trial. Meusel is a free agent and wanted Spiller to hand over extra money for signing on the line. The colonel replied that he must be shown. West is "Out."
While in Florida the colonel learned that there was no chance at all of bringing "On-head" Max West back here from Newark and has heard that Dixie Carroll can be secured. Carroll is a fair sort of outfielder, but it is not thought that he is what Spiller needs for his nine, which is terrific slugging from a couple of outfielders. Cullip can fill the bill. Whether or not Meusel can be questioned, Spiller said Saturday afternoon that he had been told by Jack Hendricks and several others connected in the big top, that Meusel would be at the top of the Southern league list in driving in runs. If he can do that he is needed by the Crackers.

The third week of practice came to a quiet close Saturday with nothing more exciting than a peppy infield practice topped a long session at the plate by regulars. The Crackers have been blessed with very good weather for their preliminary training. It is finished now, with six exhibition games on the schedule for next week.

Two Cripples.
The weather has been such that everyone is in good shape with two exceptions. "Bull" Rauch, expected to be a sensation in the Southern this year, is in Miami letting Bonebraker Ferguson treat a sore arm, while Art Olson is about recovered from soreness in his throwing arm. The rest of the squad is in the best of physical shape. It is entirely evident, however, that more batting power is needed if the Crackers are to get anywhere in Mr. John D. Martin's annual baseball marathon. The team as it now stacks up is only a fair offensive club. It needs the spark, dash and verve that only a slugger can give, to set it rumbling along the right path. At present the spark is missing.
Although persons in Nashville are declaring that Bunty Brier, who had a string of 20 home runs with Milwaukee last year, will play nowhere except in Nashville, the Cracker management is still waiting word from Secretary Farrell, with whom claim was filed a week ago for Brier's services as a Cracker this summer.
Good Makes Deal.
Last December at Toronto Wilbur Good was given the privilege of making a deal with Brier and arranged for the short-named person to come here this summer. Then Mr. Lelievelt, Milwaukee manager, sold Bunty to Nashville. Upon hearing this Bunty went into the filling station business up in Michigan and buried Nashville a deft, to the effect that many gallons of gas would flow from his pumps before he played outfield for the Vols.
Good made his deal in the presence

Continued on Page 3, Column 3.

BRACEY SETS CENTURY MARK

Rice Flash Crosses Tape in 9.4 Seconds To Better Record.

BY J. H. ANDERSON.
Dallas, Texas, March 30.—(AP)—Claude Bracey, sensational southwest sprinter, bettered the official world's record for the 100-yard dash for the second time in two days when he ran the distance in 9.4 seconds at the Southern Methodist university relays this afternoon.
At the Texas relays yesterday in Austin, Bracey was clocked in 9.5 seconds, the mark generally recognized in the United States, but the official world record is 9.6 seconds.

Knute Rockne, famous Notre Dame coach and relay referee, said today's mark would not be considered for a record, due to the wind at the back of the Rice institute star. Rockne, however, said Bracey's 9.4 mark might be considered, as there was little wind when he sped down the straightaway in the Memorial stadium of the state university.
Bracey, a hero to his fellow Texans, first came into the national spotlight last spring when he was timed on several occasions at 9.5 seconds in the century. He made the Olympic team, but failed to show his spring form at Amsterdam. Both here and at Austin Bracey clearly demonstrated his superiority, although his margin of victory today was smaller than yesterday, due to a great race run by Leonard, of Texas Christian university, who finished second to the Rice star.

Nurmi Runs Again.
Paavo Nurmi, great Finnish distance runner, ran a special two-mile exhibition in 9 minutes 40.2 seconds. Nurmi's time was considerably slower than that of yesterday at the Texas relays and was several seconds slower than his record of 9 minutes 17 seconds.

The Finn ran against a relay of several runners, as he did at Austin. Led by Ted Canty, announcer, the crowd rose and cheered the four-event winner of the 1924 Olympics as he ran the last lap.

Bracey's wonderful sprint was the outstanding achievement of the first annual games sponsored by the Dallas school, but was not by any means the only excellent record made.
208-Javelin Throw.
Devan of the Emporia (Kansas) Teachers, hurled the javelin 208 feet 4 inches, bettering by 15 inches his mark of yesterday, which set a new Texas relay record. Abbott, of Illinois, and Frazier, of Kansas, ran a pretty race in the 2,000 meters, the former winning in 9:19 by a sprint at the finish. Portmess, of Northwestern,

Continued on Page 3, Column 3.

Charlotte Books Smyth Contest
Charlotte, N. C., March 30.—(AP)—The 1929 schedule for the Charlotte High school football team, announced today includes games with four out-of-state opponents.
Listed to play here were Columbia (S. C.) High, October 5, and Atlanta Tech High, November 9. Knoxville Central High will be played in Knoxville October 26, and Baltimore City college in Baltimore, November 30.

MAWNNIN'
By Ed Banforth
Thanks; But Wait.

Writing the great American novel is simple as a fifth grade essay compared to uttering a few well chosen words in response to wholesale congratulations. Never could do that gracefully. Not since I promised to love, honor and obey have I had to stop on the streets so often and blush while folks said kind things.

Being schooled in a rather harsh cloister where censure is frequent and praise scarce, I can be pardoned for being surprised to learn that so many folks were interested in what I did.

Lemme say right now that I feel as if I had been working on an earlier schedule for 10 years instead of one week. Thanks for the hand-shakes and the telephone calls.

Especially welcome were notes from B. L. Guinn, Fairfax, Ala.; Pres Atkins, of Norton, Va.; Forest Smith, of Hendersonville, N. C.; A. D. G. Cohn, writing from Greensboro, N. C.; L. O. Moseley, Harry Stearns, Jr., Austin Abbott and Cecil Burns.

McGILL IS HOME FOLKS.
On the front page of The Constitution this morning is the announcement that Ralph McGill, for seven years sporting editor of the Nashville Banner, is to join The Constitution staff Wednesday. That is the most important announcement The Constitution has made, take my inside tip.

Mack is home folks to Atlanta sport page readers. They know him and like his style. He undoubtedly is the best known sports writer who has done his stuff outside Atlanta—and your Atlantan surely is loyal to his home writing people.

McGill will go over big here, not only because he can write but on his personal contacts. Mack has the build of a heavy-weight wrestler and a smile that would make a traffic cop tear up the ticket and proffer a cigar.

CHAMPION WAFFLE COOK.
McGill is the world's champion waffle cook, keeps in condition by working out with any professional wrestlers who happen to be in town, reads and discusses learnedly the best sellers of the day and has been known to commit poetry.

Mack has an infinite capacity for suffering. He can worry more over the misfortunes of a baseball team or a basketball team or a football team than any five men you ever knew. Mack can make a good living as a professional worrier for any large corporation if he ever decides to leave the press game.
The big boy is a great writer, mainly because he has that faculty of becoming intensely interested in the event he is reporting. That is where his suffering comes in. If the Crackers happen to get away to a poor start, Mack will shed pounds by the dry tuff, I know.

Continued on Page 3, Column 3.

GEORGIA BEATS CAROLINA AGAIN

Bulldog Ace Holds Game-cocks to 4 Scattered Hits as Georgia Wins, 8-3.

Athens, Ga., March 30.—(AP)—Big Bill Parks, ace of the University of Georgia pitching staff, limited the South Carolina Gamecocks to four widely scattered hits today and the Bulldogs took an 8-3 victory to make it two in a row over the Birds.
The victory gave Georgia four southern conference wins. Clemson having fallen before the Bulldogs last weekend in a brace of tilts.
The Bulldogs began doing things in a big way in the fourth inning to-day, scoring three runs. Steele drove out a safety to start the scoring spree. Johnson and Jacobson drew walks, and Windus booted one, then a pair of sacrifices completed the scoring.
In the seventh the Bulldogs again began doing things in a bigger way. Chafin started things with a triple. Davenport followed suit. Herndon drew a walk, and Johnson contributed another triple, all of which enabled the Red and Black to count four runs.

A Gamecock rally in the ninth inning gave the homefolks a scare, but it was nipped after two runs were scored on an error, two walks and a hit.

Georgia	Ab.	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Chafin, ss	4	1	2	4	0	0
Herndon, cf	2	1	0	0	0	0
Johnson, 1b	4	1	1	14	2	0
Steele, rf	2	1	0	0	0	0
Windus, 2b	3	1	1	0	0	0
Jacobson, if	3	0	0	0	1	1
Sherman, c	3	0	0	0	1	1
Tate, p	1	0	0	1	1	0
Gorman, p	4	0	1	1	0	0
Totals	31	8	9	27	20	4

S. CAROLINA—ab. r. h. po. a. e.
Chandler, cf. 5 0 0 0 0 0
Edwards, 2b. 4 0 0 0 0 0
Winters, 1b. 2 0 0 0 0 0
Porter, 3b. 2 0 0 0 0 0
White, 2b. 2 0 0 0 0 0
Stoddard, rf. 4 1 0 0 0 0
Young, c. 2 0 0 0 0 0
Smith, p. 2 0 0 0 0 0
Richards, if. 3 0 0 0 0 0
Edwards, p. 2 1 0 0 0 0
Totals 33 3 4 14 10 3

Score by innings:
Georgia..... 010 300 405—8
South Carolina..... 000 000 010—3
Summary: Two-base hits, Steele; three-base hits, Chafin. Davenport, Johnson; stolen bases, Johnson, Herndon, Stoddard; double plays, Porter to Richards to Smith; base on balls, off Edwards 4; Edwards 4; left on bases, Georgia 3, South Carolina 5; hit by pitched ball, Edwards, by Parks; hits, off Parks 4, Edwards 8, struck out by Parks 6, Edwards 4; wild pitch, Edwards. Umpire, Philpott.

Inman Baptists Win Over Methodist Team

"Lefty" Howard was in mid-season form and made 12 would-be batters of the Grant Park Methodist cut vainly at his slants to aid Inman Park Baptist score a 12-to-8 win. Bennie Lyle led the attack of the victors, getting four hits in as many tries. Coach, skip of the victors, hit for the circuit. Both clubs are members of the Y-Club A. A.
Score by innings:
Inman Park..... 001 200 270—12
Grant Park..... 220 000 004—8

Dodgers Sign School Star for Mound Duty
West Palm Beach, Fla., March 30.—(United News.)—Jimmy Pattison, 20-year-old left-handed pitcher and a product of the Brooklyn scholastic diamond, has signed to pitch for the Brooklyn Dodgers this year. Manager Wilbert Robinson announced today.

Petrels Beat Tech In Ninth Inning

Delayed Rally Gives Oglethorpe Hard-Fought City Series, 5-4.

BY CY BELL.
Interesting and exciting was the game at Spiller's Saturday afternoon when Oglethorpe's Petrels snatched victory from the grasp of Tech's Engineers in the ninth inning, scoring three runs to win, 5 to 4.
That rally of the Petrels was as stirring a spectacle as people at Spiller's ever witnessed. It was the climax of a series of thrilling moments, both on offense and defense, by each of the teams. It was a hard-fought game and the Petrels truly earned their victory. If ever one was earned.

Of the many good plays, performed individually and by scintillating teamwork, an act staged in the fourth inning by Jimmy Frink, Tech third baseman, stands out. Oglethorpe had men on first and second with one man out. Kimbrell screamed one down the third base line that looked exactly like one of those hits that hop over the bag and go bounding into left field for a double.

Dived at It.
Frink hurled himself in front of the ball—regular, Walter Gilbert style—and stopped it. Kimbrell was safe at first and the bases were full, but Frink cut off one run and probably two. Frank Anderson, of Oglethorpe, came up with a brilliant play in the ninth that started off Tech scoring and, on the whole, the playing was better than usual.
Tech hopped off to a lead of one run in the first inning and the score was tied when Oglethorpe scored one in the fourth. The teams battled in this manner until the seventh, when the Engineers broke out in a rash of runs and made three tallies, two of them coming in on a single by Quinn and the other resulting from a double steal worked by Quinn and Smith.
It wasn't all over for the Petrels, however. They scored one run in the next inning and then three in the ninth to go ahead, 5-4. Tech rallied in the ninth and attempted to score a man from third via the squeeze, but Shorty Smith popped to Vaughn, while Tech's outfield showed more ability to smash the ball. The two catchers, Stevens of Tech and Thompson of Oglethorpe, can both hit and throw.

It was a fast game between two great college baseball teams, and though the two-game series is over the question of which team is superior to the other is still a moot one. The first game was tied at 5-all. Oglethorpe won Saturday, and if the two played tomorrow Tech would probably win, they are that evenly matched.
Oglethorpe's infield was the best both in defensive and offensive work, while Tech's outfield showed more ability to smash the ball. The two catchers, Stevens of Tech and Thompson of Oglethorpe, can both hit and throw.

Continued on Page 3, Column 2.

$100,000 Offered Tom-Mickey For 45-Round Tia Juana Fight
San Diego, Cal., March 30.—(AP)—Harry Pollok, acting for James N. Crofton, border sportsman, and his associates announced today that he had forwarded an offer of $100,000 as a guarantee for a 45-round match between Tommy Loughran and Mickey Walker at Tia Juana, Mexico, May 29, for the world's light-heavyweight championship.
The offer, Pollok said, was made to Loughran, the titleholder. Walker, he added, would receive a percentage of the gate receipts and a smaller guarantee.
The Tia Juana arena would be used for the event. The present seating capacity of the arena is 18,000, but it is believed the bowl could be enlarged to seat about 30,000 if necessary.

Lawson Wins.

TECH	ab.	r.	h.	po.	a.	e.
Smith, ss	5	0	1	0	5	0
Terrill, 2b	4	1	2	0	0	0
Meadell, 1b	3	0	1	0	0	0
Farham, cf	4	0	0	0	0	0
Stephens, c	4	0	0	0	0	0
Jones, if	4	0	0	0	0	0
Frink, 3b	2	0	0	0	0	0
Dunkley, rf	3	1	1	0	0	0
Quinn, p	3	1	1	1	0	0
Hutchinson, if	2	1	1	0	0	0
Edwards, 2b	2	1	0	0	0	0
xxxxxHeron	1	0	1	0	0	0
Totals	37	4	8	27	13	3

OGLETHORPE—ab. r. h. po. a. e.
Martin, ss. 5 1 1 0 5 0
Thompson, c. 5 1 1 0 0 0
Wall, rf. 4 0 0 0 0 0
Herrin, 2b. 5 0 1 4 2 0
Kimbrell, if. 3 0 0 0 0 0
Holcomb, cf. 1 0 0 1 0 0
Everett, 1b. 4 0 0 11 1 0
Lawson, p. 3 0 0 0 0 0
Riddle, if. 0 0 0 0 0 0
Vaughn, 3b. 3 0 0 0 0 0
Raymond, rf. 1 0 1 0 0 0
xxxxxGouldin

Walker Denies Offer Of Post by Dempsey
New York, March 30.—(AP)—Mayo Walker, commenting today on a report that he had been offered the presidency of a sports organization backed by Jack Dempsey and Humbert Fugazy, boxing promoters, said he had been made no such offer.
Fugazy also denied any offer had been made to the mayor.

Change of Closed Season on Rainbow Trout Needed in State

SPRING PERIOD OFFERS BEST TROUT FISHING

Season Closed During Spring While Game Fish Spawn in Winter.

BY DICK HAWKINS.

Muddy waters of flood time are leaving the branches and creeks of north Georgia and the mountain laurel will soon burst the bonds of its winter lethargy. The time will soon come when its flowers will carpet the mountain sides with their delicate pink and white. The bees are humming about the early flowers and down in the valleys the trout are darting from deep pools to shallows in search of spring food. Therein lies our tale.

To every sportsman who has felt the tug of a trout on the tip of a four-ounce fly rod there comes a time every spring when his work lies idle on the desk and his thoughts leave the mundane things of business to solve the problems of dry flies, hackles and leaders. That season is at hand, and if it weren't for one little item the trout streams of north Georgia would soon hear the swish of fly rod and the splash of boots.

But, alas, the hand of man has marred the picture. A few years ago some 25 north Georgia counties where rainbow trout abound in the streams, hardly a half dozen will allow fishing during the three spring months. Some of them started the closed season in March and others start next week but practically all of them prohibit fishing during the three months in the spring when rainbow are biting best. All of which is certainly stupid if the counties want to protect the game fish in their streams—which is purposed to be the object of most game laws.

To paraphrase a famous saying, "If the foregoing statement be treason, make the most of it." The rainbow trout, which is the chief game fish of most of the counties referred to, is a fall spawner and should be protected from about the first day of October through the winter months until about the first of the year. Their spawning period varies greatly with varying water conditions, but NO RAINBOW SPAWNS IN THE SPRING. The red-spotted trout spawn a bit earlier than the rainbow and the closed seasons during the spring months certainly will not protect them.

Change Needed.

If any of the counties in question should wish to protect bass, "brim," perch, pike or any of the spring spawners the game laws now set would be satisfactory but rainbow trout should be exempted and the closed season on these greatest of all fresh water game fish would embrace the fall and winter months.

One of the "grammarless" but powerful axioms of news writers has always been, "names in news," so we will offer a few names for your perusal.

We select the following counties as examples of our point only because we have fished for rainbow in all of them and for that reason profess a familiarity with the question at hand. Their situation is no better and no worse than that of the other counties in this category.

One Bright Spot.

Rabun county is the one bright spot in the list. Here the season is closed on the lakes during April and May when the bass, perch, warmouth, crappie, pike, bream and other lake fish are spawning and when the streams during the winter when the rainbow are busy propagating the race. The sanest way to pass prohibitive legislation is to name each fish separately in the code and close the season on each during its particularly spawning season, but if this causes too much worry the system used by Rabun county is effective. Their system is particularly sensible in north Georgia, where very few game fish other than trout are found in the streams.

The north Georgia mountains offer a paradise for fishermen and for fish, but without thoughtful legislation there may be another paradise lost. No state in the Union offers any finer natural resources in the same amount of territory than does north Georgia, but at least two things must be done if these resources are to be used to the best advantage.

There are literally hundreds of little streams in north Georgia which offer ideal water and feed for red spot trout and hundreds of others that are made to order for rainbow, but the streams need stocking. This is the first thing that must be done if natural resources are to be turned to good advantage.

Laws Must Be Changed. The other requirement has to do with game laws. These laws must be sensibly made and enforced. Great improvement can be made in the laws and will be when the law-makers of these counties realize their mistake. Peter S. Twigg, state game and fish commissioner. The writer will be glad to answer any inquiries along this line or any other questions that deal with game and fish.

Threë Musketeers of Georgia Tech

Tech R. O. T. C. members are fencing these days with all the vigor of Dumas heroes. Above are B. F. Wimberley (left) and W. A. Ruth (right) in an exchange of steel with H. L. Isenhour refereeing the match.

BRITTON-PTOMEY TO MIX THURSDAY

Former Champion Will Fight at Auditorium in Last Bout Here.

The Card.

Jack Britton vs. Willie Ptomey, 10 rounds.
Young Eskew vs. Ralph Taylor, 10 rounds.
Earl O'Neal vs. Dave Barrow, 6 rounds.
Young Ford vs. Homer Reid, 6 rounds.
Dick Bowen vs. Battling Nick, 6 rounds.

This is the 28-round card announced for Thursday night in the auditorium by Eddie Hanlon, American Legion matchmaker.

A substitute event in case either of those bouts fails to measure up to his expectations, has been arranged and will be tossed into the ring without hesitation, Hanlon says, which is a guarantee for the fans of sufficient action to give them their money's worth.

His main match, naturally, Hanlon expects to bring in the bulk of the receipts—Britton vs. Ptomey. Britton is the former welterweight champion of the world, a marvel of the ring, who, at 44 years of age, continues to fight and give a fine account of himself. Only a few nights ago he defeated "Farmer Joe" Cooper decisively in New Orleans and the week of the Stripling-Sharkey bout in Miami administered a licking to Spike Webb.

He is now training in New Orleans and Marullo's Gym, but planned to leave there Saturday night for Atlanta to finish up his training. Ptomey is the former army and navy champion, who boxed Stiles Attaway and Ted Goodrich in Atlanta without loss of prestige and who now is the University of Georgia boxing instructor. Ptomey is a big, strong chap and extremely difficult to hit a telling wallop and if he is right Thursday night he probably will give Britton one of the hardest fights of his lengthy career.

In the fight to the finals, Sojourner's class has been somewhat erratic, although they have our runner some fairly speedy men. Hal Davis, Port Shields and Charlie Parker are the fastest men on Sojourner's team, while "Droopy" Catrine is captain and star for "Gertie's" Garters.

Glenn Wright Joins Robins

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 30. (AP)—The Brooklyn team was encouraged today by the return of Glenn Wright from a successful visit to a specialist.

The former Pirate short fielder participated in the Robins' winning rally for four runs in the ninth yesterday to the extent of walking as a pinch batsman and scoring a run. An injured arm had prevented him playing hitherto.

Michelson Is Winner Of 26-Mile Marathon

Pawtucket, R. I., March 30. (AP)—Whitely Michelson, of Port Chester, N. Y., today won the third annual 26-mile marathon race from this city to Woonsocket and return. In a thrilling finish, he crossed the line barely five yards ahead of Max Lamp, of the Millrose A. C. of New York. Michelson's time was 2 hours 53 minutes and 10 seconds.

Jacket Swordsmen To Enter Southeastern Fencing Meet

Georgia Tech R. O. T. C. Unit Will Seek Title in Annual Tournament; Pearce To Aid.

When the annual southeastern fencing meet is staged the latter part of April the Gate City will have a representative present in the form of eight high-class exponents of the ancient art of swordsmanship.

Members of the Georgia Tech R. O. T. C. unit have formed a club and expect to enter the annual meet at Columbia, S. C., in an attempt to bring new laurels to the North Avenue school.

The club is sponsored by the R. O. T. C. at Tech and is backed by Colonel Pearce, commander of the unit. Officials elected at a recent meeting are: P. F. Wimberley, president; W. A. Ruth, vice president and G. S. Moore, secretary and treasurer.

These boys introduced the sport at the school and since have interested many students. At present there are 15 members who are striving to build the sport up to a higher plane at Georgia Tech. Practice began the first week in January and since that time much improvement has been noted. The boys work out each day with the exception of Monday and Saturdays at Tech gym and by the time for the annual Columbia meet they expect to have one of the best teams entered in the meet.

Though not blessed with a fencing coach, the boys among themselves have rounded into a promising outfit. They are aided in their efforts by Professors Morenus and Ervin. In Wimberley and Ruth the club has two outstanding fencers who lead the art.

Locust Grove Plays 22 Games

(Locust) Twenty-two games comprise the schedule of Locust Grove institute, which was announced here today. The institute will open its season with Boys' High school, Atlanta, here on April 5 and will close with South Georgia A. & M. at Tifton, May 17-18.

The schedule follows:
April 5—Boys' High school.
April 6—Oglethorpe Freshmen.
April 9-10—Tifton A. & M.
April 12—Oglethorpe Freshmen.
April 15-16—Monroe A. & M.
April 17—Madison A. & M.
April 18-19—G. M. C.
April 22—Riverside.
April 26-27—Athens High school.
May 4—Riverside.
May 6-7—Madison A. & M.
May 10-11—Monroe A. & M.
May 15-16—Middle Georgia A. & M. College.
May 17-18—South Georgia A. & M. College.

Golf's Vital Plays

Body Ease Essential to Good Putting, Henry Ciuci Writes; Rates Jones, Hagen, Farrell and Smith Best.

BY HENRY CIUCI, Crack Connecticut Professional. (Written Exclusively for The Constitution and The North American Newspaper Alliance.) (Copyright, 1929, by The North American Newspaper Alliance.) Henry Ciuci was one of the sensations of the last national open championship. A small, compact young man, he is one of the longest drivers in golf, and an exceptionally steady putter. While he has yet to win a national championship, Ciuci is rated with the stars, and he certainly is one of the most promising of the younger generation of professionals.

My theory of putting is that the paramount point is body ease. You can't putt well unless you are in a comfortable position, without the least suggestion of tenseness or strain.

The distribution of weight on the feet, the position of the wrists and the smoothness of the stroke are not as essential as ease. Any golfer will tell you are the toughest distances. That same year in the North-South open at Pebble Beach, Walter Hagen hit eleven one-putts greens, and he couldn't seem to miss anywhere. At any rate, he didn't fumble anything under ten feet.

For putting, will be involved as the weight will be 150 pounds. The match will open Mills stadium, Mullen's outdoor arena, which has been reconstructed to seat 22,500.

Ty Given Rousing Welcome at Havana

Havana, March 30. (AP)—Although Tyrus Raymond Cobb is visiting Cuba as a tourist and not as a world famous baseball player, he failed, on his arrival, to find the privacy accorded a private citizen. Gangs of waterfront urchins dogged his steps in wide-eyed hero worship until his automobile sped away to his hotel. "Ty" is a name pronounced by the lads of Cuba with as much awe as those of Adolfo Luque, Cincinnati Red pitcher and Mike Gonzales, catcher of the Chicago Cubs.

A. A. C. TO HOLD RING TOURNEY

Amateur Boxers and Wrestlers To Meet Here on April 16.

First step towards popularizing amateur boxing and wrestling in Atlanta will be taken on April 16 when the Atlanta Athletic Club holds a statewide tournament open only to amateurs.

It was announced some time ago by officials of the club that monthly tournaments would be held to encourage the youth of the state in these two sports, which of late have been rather dead in this section.

Athletic organizations from over the state, schools and colleges may enter teams or individuals, it has been announced. Entries will close Monday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock.

The bouts will be held in the main gymnasium of the club and the general public will be admitted. It is expected that the boxing and wrestling bouts will draw a capacity crowd.

There will be, it is understood, events held in all classes from the heaviest down to the flyweights. The A. A. C., although it has no boxing or wrestling team, has several members who are fairly proficient in the two sports and will have entries. These men are working out daily under the direction of Jarvis, boxing and wrestling instructor at the club, and Al Doonan, athletic director.

Quite a likely crew is working for the garden of sports, including Wayne Spradling, Nash and probably McCallie. All of these men are good in stick work, and coupled with the efforts of the remainder of the team, a high batting average is assured for the squad.

The Boys' High schedule for the first half of the season is as follows: East Point at B. E. S.—April 2, U. S. B. at U. S. B.—April 4, B. E. S. at U. S. B.—April 11, G. M. A. at B. E. S.—April 16, U. S. B. at B. E. S.—April 18, Fulton at Fulton—April 23.

Chicago Polists Win.

New York, March 30. (AP)—The triumph of the Twelfth Field Artillery of Chicago won the national Class C indoor polo championship tonight, defeating the Squadron A aggregation of New York, 18 to 8, in the final match.

Oakland City Baptist Team Beats Vanguards

Oakland City Baptist baseball team defeated the Vanguard Class of Gordon Street Baptist on the Mosley park diamond, 8 to 0. Yarbush pitched big league ball, holding the losers hitless for the three innings he occupied the mound. The hitting of Stewart was responsible for most of the winners' runs. Both teams are members of the Y-Club A. A., but are in different divisions.

The score by innings: R. H. E. Van. Class . . . 000 000 0-0 4 3 Batteries: Oakland City, Yarbush, Guimaran, and Moon; Vanguard Class, Schilling, Edwards and Brown; umpire, Hubert.

Fields and Sullivan Will Battle May 29

Chicago, March 30. (AP)—Promoter Jim Mullen today signed Jackie Fields, champion of the National Boxing Association, to meet Cy Sullivan, of St. Paul, May 29.

Fields will be involved as the weight will be 150 pounds. The match will open Mills stadium, Mullen's outdoor arena, which has been reconstructed to seat 22,500.

Gordon Wins Final Game From Fulton

Barnesville, Ga., March 30. (Special.)—Coach John Somer's Gordon team defeated the fast Fulton High team today, 12 to 2. Heavy stick work and fast defensive play of the Gordons was too much for the scrappy Atlantas. Barrentine led Gordon's artillery with two home runs and two-base hits, while Parks was close behind him with two home runs and a single. Slayden, Gordon's pitcher, held Fulton High to three runs and struck out eight batters. Meltons starred for Fulton on defense with nine chances without a slip. This was Gordon's second victory over Fulton High in the last two days.

Business Manager Now Is Golf Coach

George Lewis, long business manager of athletics at the University of Wisconsin, and an old Badger athlete, has been named coach of the university golf team.

VIENNA TO PLAY ILLINOIS STARS IN COURT MEET

Georgia Basketball Entry Will See Action in Last Game Wednesday.

BY ORLO L. ROBERTSON.

Chicago, March 30. (AP)—Forty high school basketball teams—the pick of the nation's best—start their quest for national honors Tuesday in the University of Chicago's eleventh interscholastic tournament.

Thirty-three states are sending their champions and near-champions into the battle which terminates Saturday night. Twenty-nine of the teams are state champions, four are runners-up, three won interstate tournaments, one was an interstate tournament runner-up and two are Chicago district title-holders.

Ashland Again Enters.

Ashland, Ky., the defending champion, completes the most representative entry list in the tournament's history. The national titleholders lost out in the semi-final round of the Kentucky state tournament but were invited to compete.

Pairings announced today place two of the strongest teams in the tournament together in the first round, Vienna, Ga., back for its third consecutive year after dropping one-point games to the champions of the last two tournaments, is paired with the Johnston City team, Illinois titleholders, in the last game of the first round Wednesday night.

Raton, N. M., and Portsmouth, N. H., champions of their respective states, open the play at 10 a. m. Tuesday.

More Southern Teams.

For the first time southern teams will outnumber entries from other sections of the country. Seventeen fives from below the Mason-Dixon line will carry the southern banner into the cage classic.

Six teams are from the New England territory; eleven from the middle west and six from the west and far northwest.

Three teams will be seeking to emulate the Carr Creek Mountaineer team, which was the sensation of the tournament last year. How, which is described as a "wide place in the road," enters the play as the Kentucky champions with a team that leads in its basketball on an outdoor gravel court.

Colorado is sending a team of farm-giant from the hamlet of Joeg in quest of the state's second annual championship. Windsor, Colo., won the title in 1924. Joeg is a village of 45 people, located 30 miles from a railroad, in the northeastern prairies of the state.

Louisiana makes a bid for national honors with its state champions from Jena, a village of 220 people, the first time since the instigation of the tournament Kansas, winner of two titles, will not be represented.

TUESDAY.

10 a. m.—Raton, N. M., vs. Portsmouth, N. H.
11 a. m.—Wheeler, N. M., vs. Winemuccia, N. M.
12 noon—Wheatland, Wyo., vs. Jean, La.
1 p. m.—Miles City, Mont., vs. Hartford, Vt.
2 p. m.—St. Paul, Minn., vs. Muskogee, Okla.

WEDNESDAY.

9 a. m.—Moorehead, Minn., vs. College Grove, Tenn.
10 a. m.—Wheeler, W. Va., vs. Boaz, Ala.
11 a. m.—Pocatello, Idaho, vs. Cumberland, Ky.
12 noon—Columbia, S. C., vs. Jackson, Mich.
1 p. m.—Yankton, S. D., vs. Bristol, Ark.
2 p. m.—Joeg, Colo., vs. Laurel, Del.
3 p. m.—Crane, Chicago, vs. Warren, Ark.

4 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner Miles City-Kelley game.
5 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.
6 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.

7 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.
8 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.

9 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.
10 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.

11 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.
12 midnight—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.

1 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.
2 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.

3 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.
4 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.

5 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.
6 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.

7 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.
8 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.

9 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.
10 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.

11 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.
12 midnight—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.

1 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.
2 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.

3 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.
4 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.

5 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.
6 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.

7 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.
8 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.

9 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.
10 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.

11 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.
12 midnight—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.

1 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.
2 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.

3 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.
4 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.

5 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.
6 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.

7 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.
8 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.

9 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.
10 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.

11 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.
12 midnight—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.

1 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.
2 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.

3 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.
4 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.

5 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.
6 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.

7 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.
8 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.

9 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.
10 p. m.—Winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game vs. winner St. Paul-Naugatuck game.

The SPORTLIGHT

When April Calls. Now that Young April's back again Where spring has melted out the snow, Why should we tarry longer here Who have so far to go?

The road is endless through all space, The light is shining on each hill, And each lost wind that whispers by Speaks of a deeper thrill.

Why should we tarry longer now To find where deeper pleasures dwell? Since life can show but these two things—A hail and farewell.

Still Around. The Cubs and Yankees are picked again by the majority of the pickers to take charge of the next world series.

But two of the main challengers were battling together in a world series 24 years ago, when one of them sent Matty out and the other countered with Bender and Plank. The old combination of McGraw and Mack is still a big force in baseball. If anyone is to upset either of the selected leaders, McGraw and Mack have as good a shot as anyone else—perhaps a better shot. Both have good clubs ready for the next chance. It has been 28 years since Mack won his first flag and it was 26 years ago that McGraw won the first of his ten pennants. These two old-timers have picked up 16 pennants along the line of march, and that isn't a spotty showing if they never win another.

Two All-Time Teams. Two all-time McGraw and Mack teams would be two of the great combinations of baseball. Something to this effect.

ALL-TIME MCGRAW TEAM.

Bresnahan, catcher.
Mathewson, McGinty, Marquard and Benton, pitchers.
Tenney, first base.
Frisch, second base.
Jackson, shortstop.
Devlin, third base.
Burns, Donlin and Browne, outfield.

ALL-TIME MACK TEAM.

Cochrane, catcher.
Bender, Plank, Coombs and Waddell, pitchers.
McInnis, first base.
Collins, second base.
Barry, shortstop.
Staker, third base.
Simmons, Hartsel and Seybold, outfield.

Neither has ever had an outfield to compare with that of the old Orioles—Keely, Brodie and Keeler, or the old Cubs—Sheekard, Hofman and Schulte, or the Yankees, with Meusel, Coombs and Ruth. Not to overlook the Red Sox combination with Lewis, Speaker and Hooper. Or Cobb, Crawford and Veach, of the Tigers.

Picking the best outfield of all-time on one team is an assignment some diligent researcher might work over. Here are a few choices:

Cobb, Crawford and Veach, of Detroit—the strongest offensive trio. Sheekard, Jones and Keeler, of Brooklyn.

Lewis, Speaker and Hooper, of Boston, the greatest defensive trio.

This might be taken as a rap at home talent, but apparently the best way to put any fighting into a fight is to sign up a pair of foreigners—German, Spanish, or what you will. Some of the home guard might pick up a few tips from Firpo, Schmeling or Paulino.

"How does one feel facing a six-foot putt for $10,000? asks a reader. How does one feel just after one has jumped off a tall building?"

Filling the Gap.

A query comes in asking what will happen in case the heavyweight contests ahead are as drab as many of the eliminations have been in the past. In this case, even if there is an ultimate survivor, he will hardly be given any public recognition as Tunney's successor.

Heavyweight champions in the past have at least had to whip a champion to arrive at the top. The last champion has retired from range, so his successor will have to prove his place, not by merely edging by with a shade to spar, but by giving proof that he belongs in the line of succession that ran from Sullivan to Tunney.

This means class. And it means more class than any of them have shown so far, although Schmeling has made the longest strides in the right direction. No such exhibition as the Sharkey-Stripling affair, no matter when or where it is held, will ever make the public accept the winner as Tunney's successor. The present idea of barely getting by is beginning to wear itself out. It is quite possible there will be no accepted champion of the heavyweights either this year or the next. There won't be unless someone can wade in and prove his place with something better than a grab and tug act.

A million or so golfers are now getting ready for their annual invasion of bunkers, ponds, ravine, thickets lakes, heel prints, swamps, rough, woods, bushes, rivers, sloping greens, worm casts, outerbounds and—gosh, how they dread it.

Let this man show you the New Motoring Economy

E. D. VAN FRANK, Mgr. Saunders System

Model "A" Ford . . . . . 7c per mile plus

Tennis Is First; Baseball Growing

BY FRED TURBYVILLE.

Cautious Carrigan Won't Brag on Trade

SMITHY TRACK CARD IS MADE

BY WELCH JORDAN.

Georgia Beats S. C. at Track

Columbia, S. C., March 30—(AP)—The Georgia Bulldogs proved too strong in every event on the card in today's track meet here with the Diana—Wells, South Carolina, first: Anderson, Georgia, second: Dickens, Georgia, third, Distance, 118 feet 7 inches.	Aug. 11, 12, 13.

Javelin—Anderson, Georgia, first: Kander, South Carolina, second: Kanner, Georgia, third, Distance, 184 feet 10 inches.	May 5, June 9
Broad Jump—Sanford, Georgia, first: Dickens, Georgia, second: Bolton, South Carolina, third, Distance, 20 feet 3 inches.	May 16, 17, 18.
Relay—Georgia, Young, Elmer, Hollis and Selma.	June 20, 21, 22.
	July 14, Aug. 1.
	July 25, 26, 27.

ELMA	June 20, 21, 22, 23 July 14, Aug. 18 July 25, 26, 27, 28
------	--

EMORY TRACK HOPES BRIGHT

Doubtful Members Make Strong Showings During Hard Practice.

'BUNION' DERBY OFF AGAIN TODAY

Pyle Declares He Is Certain of Making Money. 100 Runners Ready.

TECH GOLFERS LOSE TO 'BAMA

11, 12	May 13-15, 14, 15	Apr
4, 15	June 17, 18, 19	May
9, 20, 21	July 22-22, 23, 24	Jun
3, 24, 25	Aug. 26, 27, 28	Aug

Easter Will See Many Golfers Out

BY DICK HAWKINS.
Atlanta golfers are ferve near Henderson, Ky., was authorized by the state racing commission today. Dates will be September 4 to 11, just preceding the Lexington fall meeting.

'BUNION' DERBY OFF AGAIN TODAY

BY BRIAN BELL.

One hundred and six entries were on file at the "mad house" but serious headquarters. Mr. Pyle thought five or six might not show up for the start.

He is positive 100 will hear the starting gun. How many will see the start is another story.

BOB LAWSON, WALKER MIX
HERE TUESDAY

Net Tourney On at Emory

The ranking tennis tournament, which is held at Emory university every spring, got under way during the past week with some 40 entries. The purpose of this tournament is to select the team which will represent

Details see Southern Office of
CALIFORNIA WINE AND GRAPE JUICE CO.
12 IVY ST. ATLANTA, GA.

Official Southeastern League Schedule for 1929

	At Montgomery	At Jacksonville	At Tampa	At Columbus	At Pensacola	At Selma
MONTGOMERY		May 9, 10, 11 June 13, 14, 15 July 18, 19-20, 21 Aug. 22, 23-24, 24	May 13, 14, 15 May 20, 21, 22, 18, 19 July 22-22, 23, 24 Aug. 26-26, 27, 28	April 16, 17, 18 May 20, 21, 22 June 24, 25, 26, 27 July 29, 30, 31 Aug. 1	May 6, 7, 8 June 10, 11, 12 July 15, 16, 17 Aug. 19, 20, 21	May 2, 3, 4 June 6, 7, 8 July 11, 12, 13 Aug. 15, 16, 17 Aug. 21, Sept. 2
JACKSONVILLE	April 23, 26, 27, 28 May 30, 31, June 1, 2 July 8, 6, 7 Aug. 8, 9, 10		April 19, 20, 21 May 23, 24, 25, 26 June 28-28, 29, 30 Aug. 2, 3, 4	April 29, 30, May 1 June 3, 4, 5 July 8-8, 9, 10 Aug. 12-12, 13, 14	May 2, 3, 4, 5 June 6, 7, 8, 9 July 11, 12, 13, 14 Aug. 15, 16, 17, 18	April 22, 23, 24 May 27, 28, 29 July 1, 2, 3, 4-4 Aug. 5, 6, 7
TAMPA	April 22, 23, 24 May 27, 28, 29 July 1, 2, 3, 4-4 Aug. 5, 6, 7	April 16, 17, 18 May 20, 21, 22 June 24, 25, 26, 27 July 29, 30, 31 Aug. 1		May 2, 3, 4 June 6, 7, 8 July 11, 12, 13 Aug. 15, 16, 17	April 25, 26, 27, 28 May 30, 31, June 1, 2 July 5, 6, 7 Aug. 8, 9, 10	April 29, 30, May June 3, 4, 5 July 8, 9, 10 Aug. 12, 13, 14
COLUMBUS	April 19, 30, 21 May 23, 24, 25, 26 June 28-28, 29, 30 Aug. 2, 3, 4	May 16, 17, 18 June 20, 21, 22 July 25, 26, 27 Aug. 29, 30, 31 Sept. 2-2	May 5, 6, 7, 8 June 9, 10, 11, 12 July 14, 15, 16, 17 Aug. 18, 19, 20, 21		April 22, 23, 24 May 27, 28, 29 July 1, 2, 3, 4-4 Aug. 5, 6, 7	April 25-25, 26, 27 May 30, 31-31 June 1 July 5, 6-6 Aug. 8, 9, 10
PENSACOLA	April 29, 30, May 1 June 3, 4, 5 July 8-8, 9, 10 Aug. 11, 12, 13, 14	May 13, 14, 15 June 17, 18, 19 July 22, 23, 24 Aug. 26, 27, 28	May 16, 17, 18, 19 June 20, 22, 23 July 25, 27, 28 Aug. 29, 30, 31 Sept. 1, 2	May 9, 10, 11 June 13, 14, 15 July 18, 19-19, 20 Aug. 22, 23-23, 24		April 16, 17, 18-18 May 20, 21, 22 June 24, 25, 26 July 29, 30, 31 Aug. 1
SELMA	May 5, June 9 June 17, 18, 19 June 30, 31, 22, 23 July 14, Aug. 18 July 25, 26, 27, 28	May 6-6, 7, 8 June 10, 11, 12 July 15, 16, 17 Aug. 19-19, 30, 21	May 9, 10, 11, 12 June 13, 14, 15 July 18, 19, 20, 21 Aug. 22, 23, 24, 25	May 13-13, 14, 15 June 17, 18, 19 July 22-22, 23, 24 Aug. 26, 27, 28	April 19, 20, 21 May 23, 24, 25, 26 June 27, 28, 29, 30 Aug. 2, 3, 4

Williams Admits Arm Not So Good

hurriedly. But a number of the bees still rode—on the gentlemen of the party. The gentlemen didn't object to their riding, but they did object to their sitting down. From this time henceforth Billy Oliver will not dispute the highway with a swarm of bees. I have his word for that.

Racing at Dade Park Set for September 4-10

Lexington, Ky., March 30.—(AP)—The fall meeting at Dade Park track, near Henderson, Ky., was authorized by the state racing commission today. Dates will be September 4 to 11, just preceding the Lexington fall meeting.

Y. C. A. A Needs Two More Clubs

Port, Claret, Burgundy at $1.00 per gallon, thereby saving time and trouble. We sell this product the year round. If interested drop us a line. For further details see Southern Office of

CALIFORNIA WINE AND GRAPE JUICE CO.

WINE WINE

Why wait until grape season to make grape juice when you can buy our pure wine concentrated grape juice already prepared for you in the following types: Sherry wine, Tokay, Angelica, Muscatel, Moselle, Riesling, Maderia, Sauer, Port, Claret, Burgundy at $1.00 per gallon, thereby saving time and trouble. We sell this product the year round. If interested drop us a line. For further details see Southern Office of

CALIFORNIA WINE AND GRAPE JUICE CO.

12 IVY ST. ATLANTA, GA.

Prains Pushed to Make Tech Reluctant Carnival Best in History

EVENT DRAWS BEST TALENT IN SOUTHLAND

Annual Meet Gets Under Way at Grant Field On April 12.

By HERB CLARK.

With less than two weeks remaining before the first gun will be fired in the seventh annual southern relay meet, which will be sponsored at Grant Field by Georgia Tech on April 12 and 13, preparations for the handling of the large crowd of athletes and officials are well under way.

Coach W. A. Alexander, Tech mentor-in-chief, who is the head man on the staff of those working on the plans for the meet, has been hard at work of late, and his underlings are being driven to their limit to have the scene set for the spectacle.

Alex recently made public the list of officials for the relays. Sixty-three of the outstanding men in the realm of track and field athletics in the south have been selected to work, the list being headed by the name of Bill Street, who has been appointed to the post of referee, which he has filled so successfully in previous years. L. S. Erwin and H. J. Stegeman, who did such a satisfactory job of starting the races last year, will again be on hand to fire the guns.

Should Go Smoothly. With these few men to head the official staff and the number of capable assistants, the meet should go off smoothly from the time the first high school event is called until the last man in the college spring medley, the last event on the program, crosses the finish line on the final day.

The meet, which up until this year have been a one-day event, have brought an increasing number of first-class track stars, and this year the officials at the Atlanta have decided to stretch the time limit to two days, believing that they will be able to do more justice to the entrants in all classes. In former years, both college and high school races, together with a smattering of grammar school relays, have been crowded into the short space of a single afternoon, with the result that men who were good all-around runners with artists, and who desired to enter more than one event, were forced to refrain due to the necessary close scheduling of the races. The dashes were run off in immediate succession, and often the performances of the best men were hampered on account of the short rest period allowable between each event.

High School Day.

In the coming seventh running of the meet, the high and junior high school races have been bunched for running on Friday, which will leave Saturday free for the college athletes. The younger boys will thus receive more attention from the occupants of the grandstand and their performance will thus be at the highest level. On the following day, with but a few exceptions, these being two short relays for Atlanta grammar schools, the field will be turned over to the college contingent. The grammar school relays will be the class of the field also, as Coach Hal Barron, Tech track director, has been running time trials during the early days of the season, which were designed to eliminate the weaker teams before the day for the finals arrives, so that the track will be uncluttered by slower squads and the teams which are selected to participate will be fairly evenly matched and a day for a good race.

The relays have been made over to a large extent this year, and Coach Alexander plans to feature four big relay races for the championship of the southern conference. These are the one-half mile, the mile, the two-mile and the four-mile relays, which can only be entered by conference colleges. Virginia holds the record in the half-mile event and is expected to have a good chance to repeat, though teams from L. S. U., Florida and Tech are counted on to push the Virginians.

Outstanding contenders for the mile title are Florida, Vanderbilt, Kentucky, L. S. U. and Georgia, while the winner of the two-mile event will probably come from Tennessee, North Carolina or L. S. U. North Carolina, Tennessee and Georgia will probably send the strongest entries in the four-mile race to the flats.

Stiff Competition. The sprint medley and the distance medley relays, which are open events, will probably see some stiff competition. Indiana, Kentucky and Florida are all counted on to enter strong contenders in these four, and the finals in each should be close enough to satisfy the most exacting.

Alexander is making the requirements for entering of schools from outside the conference boundaries stiff this year, counting on the Penn and Drake relays to take care of the national end of the meet. These two relays have held the national spotlight for many years and Alex feels that it would be unwise to try to buck them at this stage of the season.

The entries for the relays will be begun to flood the office of Coach Alexander during the coming week. All entries must be on file for the latter part of the week. Real work for Alex and his staff of clerks will then start, as accommodations for the teams will have to be arranged, and the schedule for the relays themselves will have to be made to the last fraction of time. The job of arranging the heats for the various events is always a stiff one, but this year, with the number of entrants which is expected under the new program, the task will be doubly difficult.

Entries Expected During Week. Entries are expected from all schools in the southern conference, and from the group of institutions which will probably be drawn enough candidates to make the relays one of the outstanding events in the history of the meet.

Additional strength will be drawn, however, from the camps of the most powerful schools in the north, east, and central west. Last year, this group furnished the ultimate winner of the meet in the team which came down from Iowa university. A number of individual winners also made the trek to Atlanta from above the Mason and Dixon line. Among this crew was Spence, of the College of Detroit, who later went on to enter the Olympic trials and make a fine showing. Spence won the low hurdles event at the Flats last year, and will probably be on hand again this season. The famous relay team from Iowa has been broken to some extent by the intervening graduation, but the 100 from the Hawkeye state are expected to be on Grant Field on April 13 to defend their crown.

Yes, He's Vaulting

Sports fans are familiar with photographs of pole vaulters topping the bar, but rarely is a camera snapped on the start of a vault. This odd-looking snap was made by Kenneth Rogers for The Constitution sports section at Grant Field last week. It shows Stacy Stewart just as he pushed his pole into the ground and took off. Looks as if he is climbing the pole, what?

10,000 Pigeons Race Over South In June

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 30.—The United States government is taking an active interest in the national pigeon race that will take place in Chattanooga and has named a representative at both Washington and Wilmington, Del., to arrange for the event and to give publicity to the contest.

On June 22, exactly at noon at Point Rock on Lookout mountain, thousands of birds will be released from 10,000 pairs of wings will flutter and frantically beat the air when the plumed and spirited participants in this gigantic contest are let loose to the clouds.

Earlier in the day 400 large wire crates, each containing 25 specially trained birds, will be carried to the mountain top and arranged in a huge semi-circle ready for the start of this semi-circular race. At this stage of the contest, the birds will be released from the crates and will fly in a loose formation, each bird soon appearing in the direction of home.

More than 100 cities have so far signed their intention of entering birds in this gigantic contest and it is expected that Baltimore will send one of the biggest consignments. New York, Philadelphia, Washington and Kansas City, Fort Worth, Dallas and San Antonio, Texas, will be heavily represented. The honor of winning the 1928 race went to Baltimore.

One can better appreciate the speed of these birds' flight by a comparison with what man-made machinery is capable of. The fastest train in the Southern railway system between Baltimore and Chattanooga takes 19 hours to cover the territory over which the "Pride of Baltimore" last year winged her way in less than 12 hours.

Many Prizes. In America's national pigeon race (called the Chattanooga National) prizes are prizes for all cities sending entries as well as many special classes. One of the most coveted honors is the single nomination for the Southern relay, a Washington bird owned by Roy Matthews. The first national bird in America was flown in 1880 20 years ago from the Southern railway between Baltimore, Ontario, and all cities along the Atlantic seaboard from Maine to

TECH TO OPEN JACKSONVILLE, AGAINST AUBURN CLASS B TEAM, ON WEDNESDAY DOWNS YANKS

Jackets Begin Chase for Conference Title With High Hopes.

Coach Kid Clay, the master mind of the Yellow Jackets, whose drive to his fourth conference title in eight years will get under way Wednesday afternoon with a two-game series at Auburn, will spend the remaining two days of practice ironing out rough places in his team.

Clay, whose last conference win came in 1926, the last year for Doug Wycos and his associates, has been through two lean years, when faculty action, injuries, and losses to the squad through other causes hurt the Jackets to such an extent that they were never able to come out on top. Last season the Jackets returned to the Flats for the final games of the Tech-Georgia series with a title for themselves in sight, should they win both games.

The Bulldogs had the same tempting bait to spur them on, while a split in the series was sure to give the title to Auburn. Tigers, who had already finished their season. With two such teams, rivals since time began, driving toward the same goal, inevitable happened. The Jackets saw their hopes go up in smoke in the first game as the Bulldogs cracked down to win.

The Jackets have been envying on Clay field since the early days of February. The Jackets Napoleon has his changes well hand at the moment and is fast molding them into a smooth ball club. Twenty games with conference schools are on the books, starting the week with a two-game series at Auburn.

Tech goes from there to Gainesville for two more battles, with the 'Gators of the University of Florida furnishing the opposition on Friday and Saturday. From that time on, the Jackets play two games each week with the exception of a two-game series with Alabama on April 24-25. Clay, who faced the start of the season with but one veteran pitcher and with prospects for a complete staff of competent hurlers looking very dark, has brought out a number of candidates for the post, and, working hard with the cream of the group, has finally evolved a staff which should be capable of handling the opposition fairly well with the backing of the hard-hitting Bob Parham and his associates on the Tech batting list.

Jordan, the only old hand at the mound job, has looked well to date, and Clay has brought out Lefty Powell, a substitute tosser from last season, who was kept under cover then; Ray Brozman, Biggy Quinn, and Aranson, "Hawkeye" Little and others who graduated from the freshman ranks of Coach Muddorff's club of last season.

Clay seems to be well satisfied in the other departments. Behind the bat he has Jimmie Stevens, captain of his squad, ready for first-string duty, while Jerry Schumacher, who caught in second position last season, or Ed Herron, a recruit from the rat ranks, will be ready to step into the breach in the event of an injury. Mizell will probably be selected as the starting first baseman, while "Doc" Holt will be the catcher. With Red Lott at second, Shorty Smith at shortstop and Jimmie Frink at the hot corner as the leading candidates, and Dunlap, Drennon and several others capable of filling the bill when needed, is well cared for.

Dunlap will probably be used in the outfield, while Lott, along with Bob Parham and Tom Jones, Hutchinson, Fitzgerald and Dyer will form the reserves in the outer pastures, and will form a hard-hitting crew.

Scott League Near Completion

Three of the five commercial baseball leagues of the city have been organized, and on hand for week duty, see all play every Tuesday and Friday. The rest of the league will be completed by the end of the week.

The Kennesaw league has not met yet, but a meeting of the prospective members of this league will be called within the next ten days. Several of the old teams have expressed a desire to play this year, and more are expected to join the league. The league is expected to be completed by the end of the week.

The Insurance league has five strong teams lined up, and is trying to get a sixth to fill out the league. Turner's Office, Royal, Georgia, Cashier, Fireman's Fund, and Cotton Insurance Company, are ready to go.

The Insurance league opens its schedule on Tuesday, May 14, at 3:30 p.m. at the Milwaukee. The league is expected to be completed by the end of the week.

Mississippi Dog Wins All-Age Trial Feature. Camp Knox, Ky., March 28.—(AP) Brightest Lady Ghost, owned by R. W. Wallace, of Jackson, Miss., successfully fought off competition from 33 other dogs in a three-day trial feature of the third annual spring field trials of the Kentucky Pointer and Setter club today.

War Speed Ghost, belonging to Dr. O. M. Stiles, of Vine Grove, Ky., was second, and Hawk's Spectre, owned by Robert W. Bingham, of Louisville, was third. Brightest Lady Ghost was the star of yesterday's runs and led throughout the day. Wallace won a leg on the three-year Kentucky Pointer and Setter club trophy and a cash prize of $204.

American League Entry Sees Huge Lead Crumble in Final Innings.

Jacksonville, Fla., March 30. (AP)—The Jacksonville Tars of the Southeastern league, a Class B circuit, assaulted four Yankee pitchers for 18 hits here today, giving the home team a 13-to-12 victory over the world champions.

Myles Thomas was removed with two on and one out in the ninth, but Erwin greeted Wiley Moore with a single, driving the winning run home. Koenig's error on Ruth's relay allowed Stone to dash home with the deciding marker.

Score by innings: R. H. E. New York (A) 130 620 000—12 13 2 Jacksonville (S) 000 030 312—14 18 3 Batteries: F. Thomas, Sherid, M. Thomas, Moore and Grabowski, Dick, Butler, Dibuty and Gibson, Randal.

Athletics Defeated By Boston Braves.

Miami, Fla., March 30.—(AP)—The Boston Braves today defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 5 to 3, and took the lead in their annual exhibition series, three games to two. Harper, Sisler and Dugan, of the Braves, each hit a home run. Dugan making his with two on in the sixth inning.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Phila. (A) 100 200 000—3 8 0 Boston (N) 000 100 000—5 12 2 Batteries: Quinn and Perkins; Seibold and Spohrer.

Blake and Bush Shut Out Blues.

Beaumont, Texas, March 30.—(AP)—Sheriff Blake and Guy Bush finally found their pitching arms today and shut out the Kansas City Blues, 3 to 0, in their opening exhibition game.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Chicago (A) 000 100 002—5 8 0 Kansas City (N) 000 000 000—0 4 1 Batteries: Blake, Bush and Grace; Sheehan and Peters.

Senators Defeat Cardinals, 8 to 5.

Tampa, Fla., March 30.—(AP)—The Washington Senators gained an easy victory today over the St. Louis Cardinals in a ninth-inning home run by the Cardinals' relief catcher, Jonnard, which tallied two runs. The American league team piled up an early lead and consistently outplayed the Cardinals, winning, 8 to 5.

Score by innings: R. H. E. St. Louis (A) 000 120 002—5 7 0 Washington (N) 000 000 000—8 12 1 Batteries: Hallahan, Elliott and Wilson, Jonnard; Hadley and Ruel.

Pirates Win First From San Antonio.

San Antonio, Texas, March 30.—(United News).—The Pittsburgh Pirates today won their first exhibition game series with the San Antonio Bears today, 5 to 4.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Pittsburgh (N) 000 000 000—5 7 0 San Antonio (A) 010 000 201—4 8 2 Batteries: Kremer, Swetone and Hargreaves; Messenger, Glazer and Myers.

Rochester Scores Over Phillies, 5-4.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 30.—(AP)—Rochester, International league, today defeated the Philadelphia Nationals, 5 to 4. Worthington, who got to first on a wild pitch, scored the winning run on a throwout.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Philadelphia (N) 000 200 110—4 9 1 Rochester (Int.) 200 002 105—5 9 2 Batteries: Ferguson, Sweeney and Lerian; Bert, McCracken and Morrow, Florence.

Indianapolis Loses Game by Forfeit.

Palmetto, Fla., March 30.—(AP)—Following the refusal of Pierce, Indianapolis trainer, to leave the bench to produce the umpire, the exhibition game between the Indianapolis club of the American association and Buffalo of the International league was forfeited to the latter team here today, 9 to 0.

The game was halted in the last half of the ninth with the score tied 9 to 9. All of the Buffalo bats, alleged use of abusive language was given as the cause of the umpire's order to Pierce.

Reds Score Five Runs in Tenth.

St. Augustine, Fla., March 30.—(AP) Five hits that netted five runs in the tenth inning permitted the Cincinnati Reds to take a 7 to 3 victory from the Newark Internationals here today. Fisher held the National leaguers to one run in the ninth, but the Reds scored five runs in the tenth, blew up under a barrage of hits that included two triples. Newark collected 10 hits from Donahue and Ash, but failed to make them count.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Cincinnati (N) 000 101 000 5—7 10 0 Newark (Int.) 000 010 010 1—4 10 0 Batteries: Donahue, Ash, and McMullen, Sukeroff; Newark: Fisher, Bagby and Skiss, Usemann.

Memphis Rallies To Trim Brewers.

Memphis, Tenn., March 30.—(AP)—Bouncing hits in the seventh and eighth to produce winning runs, Memphis took an exhibition game from the Milwaukee Brewers, 4 to 3. The Brewers got to Shepherd and Griffin for 14 hits, but the Chicagoans were tight in the pinches.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Milwaukee (N) 010 010 100—3 14 3 Memphis (N) 010 010 210—4 8 0 Batteries: Ryan, Willis, Temple and McMenemy, Dunham; Shepherd, Griffin and Berger, Palm.

Charlie Borah Stars In Coast Track Meet.

Coliseum, Los Angeles, Calif., March 30.—Charlie Borah, sprint star, led Southern California's track team to a 36-to-35 win over California before 5,000 fans here today.

Borah won the 100 and the 220-yard dashes and brought Southern California a victory in the relay, 1:10.4.

A CRACKER A DAY

To day Arch Yelle, Catcher By Ben Rothman

THIS young looking veteran quite likely will be one of Atlanta's two catchers this summer, so take a good look at him. Yelle is the name, Archie Yelle, a nice, pleasant fellow who seems to know what he's doing and also how to run the bases.

Although Yelle has reached the age of 35, he's still a good ball player, proving the old saying that you're a good player as long as you keep in shape. He still has speed enough left to get home from first on an ordinary sort of double and it appears that his hitting is going to be satisfactory.

Yelle began playing baseball in 1913 with Georgia and in the latter part of 1914 he was sent up to Detroit. The Tigers, deciding that he needed a bit more seasoning, sent him over to Jersey City in 1915, where he stayed all of one season and then went over to Providence, in the Eastern organization.

His playing there attracted the attention of Detroit again, so they brought him back and he was in that city for three years from 1917 on until 1919. In the spring of 1920 he went to San Francisco and made that his port of call for eight years, until the end of the 1927 season.

Last summer found him in the Western league, catching for Des Moines.

He was bought by Atlanta after spring training began, when Spiller found himself in need of an experienced catcher. Yelle was born on June 1, 1895, at Saginaw, Mich.

Photo by Kenneth Rogers. ARCH YELLE. He is 5 feet 10 1/2 inches and weighs 185 pounds.

Too Many Generals Is Connie's Trouble

Mack Has Assembled Great Corps of "Officers," But Few "Privates" on Team Roster.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 30.—Any calculations as to what the Athletics may or may not do in the budding American league race would not be correct, or even close to correct, unless allowance is made for the fashion in which the team is handled.

Probably without realizing it, Connie Mack has created a sort of Mexican army situation—lots of generals and few privates—and the results are reported to be slightly unfavorable.

The reports from the usual underground routes, that usually are infallible, go so far as to state actual dissent exists, and if such is the case it means either that the Athletics are again going to flunk out in the pennant campaign or that Mack will relinquish control in behalf of one of his present lieutenants—probably Eddie Collins.

Crops Up During Exhibition. One positive indication of a rather unpleasant atmosphere cropped up during an exhibition in which the A's were engaged. A sports writer was on the bench and tuned in on the incident.

Eddie Rommel, a man who should be one of Mack's star hurlers, was working, and during an inning in which he had a semblance of trouble he received advice from various sources. Rommel, who is a veteran, explained: "There are too damn many bosses on this club."

What Rommel objected to was advice at one and the same time from Mack, Collins, Kid Gleason and a couple of others. The first three undoubtedly are qualified to give body pointers about pitching in certain situations, and Rommel undoubtedly respected their knowledge, but he did not like having every body yell at once.

Two Things Bring Situation. The situation is the outcome of two things. One is that Mack is a fan of the genuine noblemen baseball has produced, is getting along in years. The other is his desire to win, and he doesn't have the patience to wait for things to come.

When Mack was in his prime he was a manager who could draw the utmost from his men. He favored the use of his own judgment in the use of his ability. Even after he finished employing them they never ceased to speak well of the old manager. Mack is a man who has been in the veterans at fabulous salaries. This same desire led Mack to surround himself with an elaborate advisory board.

When Mack was in his prime he was a manager who could draw the utmost from his men. He favored the use of his own judgment in the use of his ability. Even after he finished employing them they never ceased to speak well of the old manager. Mack is a man who has been in the veterans at fabulous salaries. This same desire led Mack to surround himself with an elaborate advisory board.

Losses Some Assets. Now Mack has lost some of these assets. He doesn't have the patience to wait for things to come. He once had, and the game has moved away from him, just as it moves from all the old-timers. The players have these things and do not take him seriously as he once was taken.

And the attitude is about the same toward the lieutenants. Divided authority never succeeded in the conduct of a ball team.

If Mack should retire from the bench and confine himself to the business office of the club, he would be a much more successful manager. He would be the logical successor, with Gleason acting as first aid to the former. This pair worked together for 12 years, while wearing the White Sox livery, and there is a perfect understanding between them.

This pair would be sufficient, but nothing would be gained if they were hampered by two or three other so-called "advisers." When, and if, Mack steps out he should take them with him.

Brouns Even Scores With Brooklyn.

New York, N. Y., March 30.—(AP) The Brooklyn Dodgers evened their spring series against Brooklyn by defeating the Robins here today by 6 to 1. The major portion of the St. Louis attack was concentrated against Darryl Vance, who pitched the first three innings. Stewart turned in four scoreless rounds for St. Louis.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Brooklyn (N) 000 100 100—1 6 2 St. Louis (A) 014 001 005—6 16 2 Batteries: Vance, Ballou, Koussal and Deberry; Lopez; Stewart, Cobb and Feffer.

White Sox Beat New York Giants.

Fort Worth, Texas, March 30.—(AP) The Giants dropped their first game of the training season here today when the White Sox sailed into Larry Benton with sufficient vigor to pile on a 7 to 1 in the first five innings. The final score was 8 to 3. Karl Hubbell thereafter held the Chicago team fairly well in hand, but the

CITY PREP NINES TO OPEN SEASON EARLY IN WEEK

Smithies Favored To Take Title This Year From Boys' High.

Prep Schedule

TUESDAY. East Point at Boys' High. Tech High at Fulton. U. S. B. at Decatur. G. M. A. at Marietta. THURSDAY. Boys' High at U. S. B. Decatur at East Point. G. M. A. at Tech High. Marietta at Fulton. Boys' High at Locust Grove.

Atlanta prep nines are resting today in preparation for the final practices tomorrow that will precede the opening of the prep baseball season Tuesday, April 2. The teams enter the field with only a couple of weeks of intensive practice, but all are confident of winning the championship.

Boys' High, Tech High, U. S. B., G. M. A., Decatur, Commercial, Fulton, Decatur, and Russell High, of East Point, are putting teams into the competition. The defending champion is Boys' High, who won the prep league last year. These two nines look good, but as Tech High holds a 9-2 decision over McCallie school, of Chattanooga, the dope slightly favors the Smithies.

At Tech High, Everett and Mable are the stellar moundsmen. Everett, a southpaw hurler, is probably the best pitcher in the prep league, although Mable can toss a mean pill himself and is an extraordinary hitter. Craven and Hammond are the best catchers; Captain Blackie Wiley is holding down first; Chandler and Capes second; Davenport and Morris third; Linewebber third, and Nott, Hutt, and Brown in the outfield.

U. S. B. and G. M. A. boast excellent teams and in all probability they will give the other prospective champs a fight for the prep diadem, that will test the strength of their opponents. The remainder of the local high school aggregations all seem to be full of pep and ready to go on the opening of the battles next Tuesday.

Baseball Loop Opens at Emory

Four of the five baseball teams entered in this year's league at Emory university will see action Monday in the first games of the year. The season will be opened in the morning when the Emory Ad team clashes with the Liberal Arts team. In the afternoon the Lawyers will match their skill against the Theologians.

Instantly as very little formal or practice games have been played, the actual strength of the teams is still very doubtful. The law team, which is defending its championship, has lost several of its last year's team. However, with Bill Jones, the league's leading pitcher last year, and Andy Clower, Nutty Campbell, Sub Crowe and Fielding Ficklen back, this team still seems one of the strongest.

The Bus Ad team has a large representative of letter men back, which makes it a strong contender. Evans, Thrasher and McKinn will be aided by Johnston and Archibald in serving as a nucleus for this team. The Liberal Arts crew, a combination of the Soph and Junior-Senior teams, looks good. Bob Jones can pitch. Williams are two excellent pitchers, Jones being a southpaw. Jack Lee, a pitcher, and Murphy, Dutch Lange, Frank Wilder, Bill Edwards and Moore are all veteran players who will play on this team.

The Theolog and Freshman teams will be composed of men nearly all of whom are new to the Emory diamond and so are of unknown ability. Both of these teams have been practicing hard and a large number of candidates out.

S. S. A. A. Meets Monday Night

Appointment of a committee to draw up by-laws governing baseball during the approaching season, and discussion of other plans toward a successful campaign on the diamond will be made at the meeting of the S. S. A. A. Monday night at 7:30 at the A. C. C.

Opening date for the 1929 season has been set for Saturday, April 20, with a schedule of 15 games for each team to be played.

Sportsmanship was stressed at the last meeting of the organization by President "Pup" Phillips, his main point being that the association would not tolerate any unsportsmanlike conduct by any player on the field this season.

Full representation is urged for the conference. Following are the teams entered in the leagues this season: West End Baptist, Grace Methodist, Westminster Presbyterian, Druid Hills Presbyterian, Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Gordon Street Baptist, Edgewood Baptist, Morrisville Presbyterian, Central Presbyterian, G. F. G. Class, Capitol Avenue Baptist, East Point Baptist and Cascade Baptist.

The 1928 championship team from Druid Hills Baptist is not in the association this season.

Chicagoan Gains Tie In Bowling Tourney

Chicago, March 30.—(AP)—Eddie Krebs, staid Chicagoan, dominated a brilliant field at the American bowling congress tournament today by tumbling over the top to grab a tie for first place in the singles and third place in the all-events.

He upset 723 maples to tie with Jeff Davis, another Chicagoan, for the lead in the singles, and added this big total to 620 in the five-man and 592 in the doubles for 1,935 pins and third place in the all-events.

Davis scored his count two weeks ago and it was agreed that the score was easily high enough to take first place money until Krebs upset calculations with his sharpshooting today.

Naval Stores.
Jacksonville, Fla., March 30.—Turpentine firm: 50; sales 358; receipts 530; shipments 447; stock 18,145.
Rosin firm: sales 1,503; receipts 2,309; shipments 1,648; stock 35,948.

Oranges, boxes, best, 128s, 150s, 176s,
$2.50@3.00.
Grapefruit, boxes, best 36s, 46s, 54s,
$2.50@3.00.
Eggs, fresh infertile whites, standards,
case lots, per dozen, 29c.
Eggs, fresh infertile browns, standards,
case lots, per dozen, 26c.
Hens, liveweight, per pound, 2 and 3 pounds, heavy breeds, 45c.
Roosters, liveweight, per pound, 15c.

New Service Is Offered Motorists by Belle Isle Automobile Owners Group

A. L. Belle Isle, Ernest Horwitz and C. A. Belle Isle are heads of Association.

The Belle Isle Automobile Owners' Association, designed to afford a new and important service to the motoring public, Saturday was announced formally by A. L. Belle Isle, Atlanta business leader and automobile service veteran.

As in other business interests which he heads here, Mr. Belle Isle will have as his associates in the Belle Isle Automobile Owners' Association Ernest Horwitz and C. A. Belle Isle. These three men have been active leaders in the development of such well-known interests here as the Black & White Taxicab Company, the Black & White Service Company, the Belle Isle National Code System, the Atlanta Baggage and Cab Company and others.

In announcing the new association Saturday, A. L. Belle Isle pointed out that automobile dealers all over Atlanta, Fulton and DeKalb counties had been consulted concerning this plan and had given 100 per cent, unqualified approval of the project.

Purposes of Association.

The purposes of the new Belle Isle Automobile Owners' Association, as announced Saturday by A. L. Belle Isle—who conceived the plan and, with the aid of Mr. Horwitz and C. A. Belle Isle put it into operation—are as follows:

At all times to render service directly from the headquarters of the association, 200 Ivy street, and at no time will an outside or disinterested station be employed or directed to the car owner's emergency.

To make adjustments whenever possible and to tow in members car only when repairs are imperative.

To furnish all service provided the car bears identification plate provided by the association, no membership card being required excepting the case of needed taxicab transportation.

To remove members' cars upon instruction from anyone to whom the members' cars may have been entrusted, without the presence of owners.

To render emergency road adjustment, within a radius of ten miles of association headquarters or dealers' place of business, day or night.

To render tow-in service to dealer or other point ordered within a radius of 10 miles of association headquarters or automobile dealers' place of business, at the prevailing filling station price.

To register members' cars under the Belle Isle national code system and to attach to members' cars identification plates, directing transfer of cars, if stolen or abandoned, to headquarters of the association without cost to the owner.

To make photographs at the scene of wrecks, if request is made at the time service call is reached. Photographs will be furnished the member upon request.

If a members' car is wrecked or in need of repairs and towed in at night or on Sundays, it will be stored at the headquarters of the association until the dealers' repair department is opened, when it will be relayed to that point.

In event of disability of the members' car, taxicab transportation will be provided occupants of the members' car from the point of disability to their destination (not to exceed 10 miles from point of disability).

A. L. Belle Isle, who for a number of years past has been identified with many of the most successful public service developments in the automotive line, Saturday expressed confidence that his new association will fill a long-felt need here and will meet with immediate favor.

Experts Popular Response. "It will be backed by every resource at my command," he declared, "and I feel that when they realize what a vital service we will render, Atlanta motorists generally will avail themselves of this remarkable opportunity to relieve themselves of the many worrisome details encountered in driving."

Mr. Horwitz and C. A. Belle Isle Saturday pledged to members of the new Belle Isle service the same prompt attention as is given to the many satisfied users of Black and White cabs. "We believe that the Belle Isle Automobile Owners' Association, on the plan worked out, will be of inestimable value to automobile owners of Atlanta, in that it will provide them with a complete transportation to any one destination in case of emergency," they said.

Cop Fixes Cop; Parking Plot Is Kept Filled

Chicago, March 30.—(AP)—Policeman Harry Anderson, of Evanston, a suburb, found an automobile parked for an hour and 50 minutes in front of the Evanston police station in the 90-minute parking zone. He wrote out an arrest slip. It made no difference to him when Detective Edward Wharton claimed ownership of the car.

"A policeman," remarked Anderson, "ought to observe the law. Here's your ticket. And don't try to fix it either."

That was Thursday. Today Anderson appeared at police headquarters to prosecute his brother officer. No one could find the ticket. Anderson himself hunted through books, files and spindles for hours.

"The hum, he fixed it," remarked Anderson as he went out to climb into his car. On the steering wheel was an arrest slip. Pinned to it was a note.

"You are arrested," it read, "you've been parked here for more than two hours. The limit is 90 minutes. For shame. Love and kisses. Detective Wharton."

"What this town needs," remarked Anderson, "is less law violators and more cops with a strict sense of duty. Now I got to get this fixed."

MURDERS STEPSON WHEN HE PERSISTS IN RUNNING RADIO

Watertown, N. D., March 30.—(AP)—Angered because one of his two stepsons persisted in tuning in the radio, R. W. Wiseman slew the offender, G. E. Ellis, and wounded Tim Ellis, the other stepson, with a shotgun early today.

7-Year-Old Seiberling Tire and Latest

After seven years of service, which took it over 37,000 miles, the Seiberling tire shown above was taken off the car of H. H. McConnell the past week. The above photo shows, left, H. H. Yates, manager, and F. S. Felder, service manager, of H. H. McConnell 3-500 Tire company, local Seiberling dealers. It also shows, for comparison, the Seiberling of nine years ago and that of the one manufactured today.

Get First Reo 'Flying Cloud' Car of the Month

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Lee Reynolds, of Atlanta, are shown with their new Reo Flying Cloud "car of the month"—the first one shown in Atlanta. The Reynolds have been Reo boosters for over nine years and frankly said they bought this car on the wonderful performance of the ones they possessed in the past. This car was delivered to them by the Reo Sales and Service, local distributors.

Home of Southland Tire Company, Inc.

Announcement is made in today's paper of the opening Monday of the Southland Tire Company, Inc., which will be local distributor for the well-known Fisk line of automobile tires and tubes. Its home, at the corner of Pine and Peachtree streets, has been remodeled into one of the finest arrangements for various services. Its station, in addition to a complete tire sales and service layout, will include Pan-Am gasoline and oil, Willard batteries, complete alemiting racks and washing pits. The company will also operate a fleet of service trucks for their customers' convenience. Photo above shows the beautiful station; inset is Sam Martin, general manager, who will direct this master service station. He has been identified with the Fisk company for the past nine years as wholesale representative for the Atlanta territory, which experience has equipped him with knowledge of every angle of the tire service business, thus insuring customers efficient service at all times.

Savannah Presbyterial Auxiliary Annual Conference April 3 to 5

Waycross, Ga., March 30.—(Special)—The program for the twenty-second annual meeting of the Savannah Presbyterial Auxiliary in Savannah April 3-5, was announced today by Mrs. E. D. Dimmock, of Waycross, who is president.

The program is as follows: WEDNESDAY EVENING, 8 O'CLOCK.

Preride—Sonata Pathétique—Mrs. E. E. Hackney.

Call to order—Mrs. E. D. Dimmock.

Hymn No. 4.

Devotional—Rev. A. L. Patterson, D. D., Savannah.

Creetings—Mrs. A. H. Walte, Jr., Savannah.

Response—Miss Laura Fraser, Flemington, New Jersey.

Address—"Religious Education," Rev. George Bellinger.

THURSDAY MORNING, 9:30 A. M.

Devotional—Mrs. A. L. Patterson, Savannah.

Report on credentials—Mrs. R. E. Banks, Savannah.

Report program committee.

Announcement of committees.

Reports of officers—Mrs. Howard Harris, Valdosta, historian; Miss Laura Fraser, Flemington, treasurer; Mrs. Henry E. Newton, Waycross, secretary; Mrs. C. B. Gowan, Brunswick, vice president; Mrs. E. D. Dimmock, of Waycross, president.

Vocal solo, Mrs. Clyde Reimond, of Savannah.

Reports of secretaries of causes—Rev. George Bellinger, religious education; Mrs. J. M. Fesperman, of Waycross, foreign mission; Mrs. A. L. Patterson, Savannah, spiritual life; Mrs. P. L. Pomeroy, of Blackhear, assembly home missions; Mrs. E. S. Winn, Fitzgerald, C. E. and M. E.; Mrs. H. R. Rockwell, Savannah, Christian Social Service; Mrs. J. R. Wiltman, of Waycross, S. and P. home missions; Mrs. J. G. Crawford, Valdosta, literature.

Bible hour—Rev. A. M. Martin.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON, 3 O'CLOCK.

Hymn 120.

Reports of district chairmen—Mrs. Robert Cope, Savannah; Mrs. J. A. McDougall, Statesboro; Mrs. J. A. Davis, McRae; Mrs. R. Scott, Valdosta; Mrs. C. M. Probst, Waycross; Mrs. Claud Dier, Brunswick; Miss Flora Martin, Flemington.

Reports local auxiliaries.

Methods—Mrs. W. Osmond White, Savannah.

Announcements of summer conferences.

THURSDAY EVENING.

Preride—Mrs. E. M. Campbell, Savannah.

Hymn.

1929 Birthday gift to Mexico.

Address—Miss Elizabeth Edwards, mission, Africa.

Offering.

Vocal solo—Mrs. H. B. Harden, Savannah.

Devotional—Mrs. P. N. Gresham.

Minutes.

Reports of standing committees—Mrs. G. Stradman, finance; Mrs. A. L. Patterson, efficiency.

S. and P. home missions—Mrs. M. M. MacFerin, spiritual secretary.

Music—Mrs. H. B. Harden.

Report nominating committee—Mrs. C. B. Gowan, Brunswick.

Hymn 143.

Bible hour—Rev. A. M. Martin.

Devotional—Mrs. W. Osmond White, Savannah.

Minutes.

Reports special committees—Credentials, press, strong and weak points, resolutions, place of meeting.

Unfinished business.

New business.

Minutes.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

Adjournment.

BUTTER SUBSTITUTE HEARINGS SLATED FOR CURRENT WEEK

Four hearings before Eugene Talmadge, commissioner of agriculture, and George M. Napier, attorney general, are scheduled for this week in matters of parties cited to show cause why they should not be restrained from distribution of vegetable shortening, claimed by the commissioner of agriculture to be "adulterated and misbranded" and imitations of butter. Those ordered to appear are: Danish Packing Company, Providence, R. I.; Dixie Margarine Company, Memphis, Tenn.; Standard Nut Margarine Company, Jacksonville, Fla.; and Green & Milam, Atlanta.

In the case of Green & Milam, the commissioner has explained, the assumption of the position of defendant was entirely voluntary, this Atlanta produce firm having offered to become a defendant as a test of Mr. Talmadge's position, with the expressed reason of "clearing up" the matter.

Cases of Green & Milam and of the Providence and Jacksonville concerns will be heard Monday morning, while that of the Memphis firm will come up Friday.

In 1884 he became rabbi at Union college, Cincinnati, and then served Zion congregation, Chicago, and Bethel congregation, Houston, before coming to New Orleans in 1887. Two years ago he became rabbi emeritus of Temple Sinai.

Since 1912 he had been professor of Hebrew and Hebrew literature at Tulane university, and was a leading writer of the American Israelite, Cincinnati, from 1902 to 1914. At one time he was editor of the B'nai B'rith Magazine. From 1909 to 1911 he was president of the central conference of American rabbis.

Surviving are his widow and a son, Isaac Heller, of New Orleans attorney.

RABBI HELLER DIES AT NEW ORLEANS; ILL SHORT TIME

New Orleans, March 30.—(AP)—Rabbi Max Heller, for 40 years at the head of Temple Sinai of New Orleans, and one of the most noted rabbis in the United States, died at a local hospital today after a brief illness.

Born in Prague, Bohemia, 69 years ago, he received his early education there and then took a bachelor of laws degree at the University of Cin-

Go To Church This Easter Morn

YOU should have the feeling of comfort, peace and security that regular church attendance will bring you. Most of all you should attend church on Easter morn. Special services will commemorate the day of the ascension of Our Savior in all the Atlanta and Suburban churches.

Duffee-Freeman Furniture Co.
Cleveland-Browning Electric & Elevator Co.
J. J. Williamson & Sons, Inc.
Harbin Tire & Battery Co.
Charles W. Walker
J. W. Awtry
Cathcart Van & Storage Co.
Trinity Quality Shop, Inc.
Ed Matthews Co.

Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co.
Walter A. Guest
Zachry
Parks-Chambers, Inc.
F. O. Stone
Edgar E. Pomeroy
Louie D. Newton
Edwin K. Large
Sam H. Venable

Bond & Green, Inc.
(FUNERAL DIRECTORS)
Earnest G. Beaudry,
(FORD PRODUCTS)
Henry C. Heinz
H. G. Hastings
Washington Seminary
John A. White
Clarence Titus
John K. Ottley

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE

PROFIT
buy. Your chicks—lively, husky active flocks assures tief our prices be-dollar. Write to Cherry, 221 Forsyth

books at second eastern Reporter.
See them at room 326.

is Rev. Uncle Re-About Eve, Buck
a. First editions.

HIGHEST CASH PR
HOUSEHOLD GOODS.
WA. 0448.

HOUSEHOLD GOODS b
Auction Co., 10-12 Est
9729.

WANTED--To buy nice
9007; leave message.

ES PAID FOR A. ACERBACH

NEAR Georgian Terrace
heat: every convenience;
mont 6474.

PONCE DE LEON, 580
room, connecting bath,
GE. 848-E.

PEACHTREE HILLS—N room: all conveniences;
new couple. 21 Fairhaven

by carriage. Ivy

tel. room, steam gentleman. Wai-

Well furnished gentleman, phone.

ely furnished
ntlemen or busi-
r. HE. 5796-J.

REDECORATED 3-room apt
water, telephone; reasona-
N. E.

SUBLEASE attractively fur-room with Murphy bed bath, kitchenette and break-1206 P'tree, Apt. 103, or

THREE, four and five room
By week, month or year.
land, N. E. HE. 4040, or

THREE rooms, bath, down
Highland View. HE. 774

553 LEE ST. S. W.—A
apt. Splendid condition.
AYCOCK REALTY
WALNUT 2867

552 JACKSON ST. N. E.
strable. DE. 6392.

240-6 PONCE DE LEON—T conveniences; unfurnished.
alished $55-$57.50. Call Cozy airs, $40. 1006	252 Arcade Bldg.

tractive 4-room Conv. & reas. CO.	BROOKWOOD HILLS - 2-story 2 bath, steam heat, $11,500. HE. 0254.
Clean and de-	BUNGALOW, 6 rooms, bath, paved street, nice section. price $2,350; easy terms. W Thorow Bldg.
ree rooms; all $47.50; fur- rns, WA. 1734.	BEAUTIFUL $22,500 brick Dread Hills to go for $13,500. E. L. Harling, Walnut 5632

Large building, practically to the limit. Valuable location, thoroughfare.

INCOME $12,600 yearly. App. 15 units, handsome new building and restricted north side commanding capacity income the INCOME $5,000 yearly. Permanent. Splendid building, rented, location growing more every day. Splendid trade opportunity. INCOME $4,000 yearly.

WALTON REALTY CO.
175 1885 2nd Fl. Au.

new, modern tion on main
ment house,
ding. Exclusion. Conn-ear around.
ng Point vi-units, fully valuable ex-
tunities here,
INC.
r. Co. Bldg.

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE

To Exchange Real Estate 88

GOOD 5-room home in Decatur, clear, to trade nice little home farm near Atlanta.

GOOD DUPLEX, close in, clear to trade for farm near Atlanta.

100 ACRES, clear, near Atlanta, to trade for home in city.

5,000 TO 10,000 ACRES, near good Georgia town, on railroad, for sale at $3 per acre up.

ASK FOR Mr. Allen.

W. J. FOLSOM WAJ. 3255

OWNER will exchange desirable income property in Washington or Asheville for Atlanta. Brokers solicited. Address with particulars, P. O. Box 2105, Asheville, N. C.

TRADE for farm. Will trade well located high class apartment for good clear farm anywhere on highway. E. L. Harling, 815 Atlanta National Bank, WA. 5620.

WILL exchange income property on Fair St. for vacant lot North Side suitable for duplex; must be at least 60 feet wide. Box 1443, Atlanta, Ga.

WANT to hear from owner having improved farm in Georgia for sale, suitable for general farming and stock raising. Write full description and lowest price. John D. Baker, DeQueen, Ark.

Wanted, Real Estate 89

LIST YOUR PROPERTY with us. Sale or rent. C. G. Arentz Realty Co.

LIST PROPERTY for sale or rent with J. J. WILLIAMSON & SONS, WA. 4315.

WANTED PEACHTREE HEIGHTS PARK LOT—West of Peachtree road, 100 feet frontage. Will pay $5,000 to $10,000 cash.

FOURTH WARD negro realty property. Our client will pay cash closing if you have this. KALMON REALTY CO., INC. 175 1885 2nd Fl. ATL. Tr. Co. Bldg.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Merchandise

MALT

HOPS &amp; SUPPLIES

Free Delivery

THE MALT SHOP

32 Ivy St. WAJ. 9806

Loans on Automobiles

NEED MONEY?

Borrow on Your Automobile

If you already own a balance on your car, let us refinance it on easier terms.

24 HOUR SERVICE

FULTON INDUSTRIAL CORP.

Suite 608, Atlanta Nat. Bank Bldg.

Loans up to $300 at 2 1/2 Per Cent

2 1/2% Loans

YOU save one cent a month by borrowing from HOUSEHOLD.

HERE IS THE COST:

ON LOANS PAYABLE IN 20

EQUAL PAYMENTS

Amount of Loan Monthly Cost

$500 ..... $ 1.32

$1,000 ..... $ 2.64

$2,000 ..... $ 5.28

$3,000 ..... $ 7.92

Other amounts up to $300 at same rate.

LOANS may be paid in full at any time, and you will only be charged for the actual time you keep the money. You get the full amount in cash; no deductions of any kind.

NO INDORSERS.

NO EMBARRASSING INQUIRIES.

Household Finance Corporation

Room 208, Second Floor

Georgia Savings Bank Bldg.

44 Peachtree Street

Telephone WAJ. 526-67.

SUCCESSIONS TO

POPULAR FINANCE CORP.

Loans on Diamonds

LOANS ON DIAMONDS

Unredeemed Pledges for Sale

MAY BROS., Inc.

191 PEACHTREE—Upstairs

Loans up to $300 at 3 1/2 Per Cent

WE PAY ALL YOUR BILLS

YOU can pay us on terms adjusted to suit your convenience.

Inquiries given prompt and courteous attention. If you need $10 to $300 come in and let us help you.

SECURITY INDUSTRIAL CORP.

201 Peters Bldg. WAJ. 2077

L O A N S

$25 to $300

On Automobiles.

Notes, Furniture, Etc.

Southern Security Company

804 Arcade Bldg. WA. 0634

Loans for Household Expenses

QUICK loans in strict privacy. $10 to $500 on your own signature. Cost fixed by law. Easy monthly payments. Call, write or come.

Beneficial Loan Society

Room 228 Candler Bldg.

Phone WAJ. 5-5-5-0

Licensed by the State

Money to Loan Up to $300.00

on Household Goods

The Old Reliable

Seaboard Security Co., Inc.

330 Arcade Bldg. Phone WAJ. 8771-4

Liberal

LOANS at Reasonable

Rates

USE YOUR CREDIT!

No need to be without the money you need for any worthwhile purpose. Our loan service is designed especially to provide financial help for deserving men and women in every walk of life. If you have a money problem, it will pay you to call soon and discuss it with a member of our staff.

The Old Reliable

SEABOARD SECURITY

CO., Inc.

250 Arcade Bldg. WA. 5771-2

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Salaries Bought

Ready Cash

For Salaried People without Endorsement

or Collateral

- No Delay -

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

216 McKenzie Bldg.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Rentals

The Beautiful Club

Apartments

2528 Alston Drive

OPPOSITE East Lake Country Club;

grand view, overlooking golf course and lake.

NEW and thoroughly modern, electric refrigeration, gas, steel kitchen cabinets, breakfast room sets, Murphy beds, tile baths with shower over each, and radio plugs. These are 4-room units with large front and back porches. Garage for each apartment.

J. H. Ewing &amp; Sons, Inc., Agents

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

79 Forsyth St., N. W. WAJ. 1511

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Real Estate

THIS MUST BE SOLD
893 BOULEVARD, N. E.
APPRaised AT $8,000
CORNER AT BOULEVARD CIRCLE. EVERY CONVENIENCE. SEVEN ROOMS. INDOOR PLAY-GROUND. BATHROOM. SHRUB-BERT. MAZE 400x400. W. A. 7586

MORNINGSIDE

SIX-ROOM brick home, about two years old, but in good condition. All tile bath; convenient to school and stores. Price $7,950; terms. Call Mr. White.

Adair Realty & Loan Co.
Haley Bldg. Realtors W. A. 0100

IT'S A BEAUTY

RIGHT in Morningside: six room brick bungalow; all tile bath and shower; extra lavatory; best grade of hardwood floors and electric fixtures; full concrete basement; built for a home under supervision of owner who was transferred before he moved in. See this before buying as it represents genuine value. Call Mr. Miller.

Adair Realty & Loan Co.
Haley Bldg. Realtors W. A. 0100

DRUID HILLS

EIGHT-ROOM, two-story brick home on one of the most beautiful drives in the city; house attractively arranged throughout, having 4 bedrooms, 2 baths, steam heat, all-burner; beautiful front yard, well planted in shrubs; backyard highly developed. Can be bought at a figure in line with its value. Call Mr. Chapman.

Adair Realty & Loan Co.
Haley Bldg. Realtors W. A. 0100

NUMBER 314 PEACHTREE BATTLE AVE. HAYNES MANOR

"Out Among the Hills"

Open for Inspection 2:30 to 5:30 P. M.

Ten rooms, two tile baths, tile roof, steam heat, full size daylight basement with laundry, servants' room and bath, double garage with extra servants' quarters overhead. Corner lot 100x200 feet. For further particulars inquire at Haynes Manor sales office.

BURDETT REALTY COMPANY
Walnut 1011 HEmlock 4731

BUY
REAL ESTATE

Now

In any community the most respected and independent people are those who own real estate. Home owners are considered more substantial citizens. Ownership of real estate is considered a good foundation for the extension of credit. Home ownership encourages thrift and ambition and goes a long way in bringing happiness to the family.

THERE IS NO BETTER INVESTMENT THAN REAL ESTATE.

Read the Classified Columns Daily
ATLANTA CONSTITUTION
Classified Advertising Department

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Real Estate

HAYNES MANOR
Look at This Today
2482 DELLWOOD DRIVE, just north of Peachtree. Battle avenue, attractive two-story, tile roof, English red brick, six rooms and breakfast, concrete basement, drive and garage. Situated on a beautiful lot, perfectly surrounded by shrubbery and flowers. $8,750.
F. P. & GEO. J. MORRIS
Ruckelshaus Branch,
2907 Peachtree Road
HEm. 8710-HEm. 8711

DRUID HILLS

ON Clifton road and in a most desirable section, conveniently located, is this lovely home which was planned and built for a home. Will stand the closest inspection of the most scrupulous buyer. The general outside appearance of this brick home with its tiled roof, its setting and with the lot planted with beautiful shrubbery and flowers, will appeal to you. Inside is a spacious living room, large dining and breakfast room, roomy bedrooms, plenty of windows and closets, two tiled baths, sun porch, the decorated walls and the general arrangement, including sun parlor, steam heat, etc., and with the price and terms reasonable, call us for information and appointment.

F. P. & GEO. J. MORRIS
2678 Pryor St., N. E. WAl. 6438

WILL FURNISH PLANS, BUILD AND FINANCE
YOUR HOME IF YOU OWN A LOT

NO CASH REQUIRED PAY FOR IT LIKE RENT

IT WILL NOT OBLIGATE YOU FOR US TO EXPLAIN OUR PROPOSITION OR PREPARE PLANS FOR YOU.

The Minter-Melton Corp.
IVy 3222

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Real Estate

Peachtree Hills Section
If you are looking for a real home in walking distance to car line, near E. Rivers school, here it is, for a price much below value. Large red brick, six rooms and breakfast, concrete basement, drive and garage. Situated on a beautiful lot, perfectly surrounded by shrubbery and flowers. $8,750.
F. P. & GEO. J. MORRIS
Ruckelshaus Branch,
2907 Peachtree Road
HEm. 8710-HEm. 8711

ARGONNE DRIVE
- Off Habersham

A BEAUTIFUL home of shingle and brick, two-story, 100x100 foot. Steam heat, double garage. Ideal neighborhood and growing section. Call Walnut 5177.

ADAMS-CATES CO.
Realtors

Open for Your Inspection
No. 20 Martine Drive

One of the most attractive best built brick homes you can find, with six extra large rooms and breakfast room, large concrete basement, garage and side drive. Everything that goes to make a complete home. Only one-half block off Piedmont road and two blocks from Peachtree road. Don't fail to see this today. Mr. Rogers will be on the premises.

F. P. & GEO. J. MORRIS
Ruckelshaus Branch,
2907 Peachtree Road
HEm. 8710-HEm. 8711

Off Peachtree Road

ON Atlanta's best residential drive, this large roomy 4 bedroom and 2 bath, steam heat, living room, dining hall, kitchen, library, sun parlor. Large lot 100x200 feet covered with trees and shrubbery. Services' house and double garage. This place is within a block of Peachtree car line. Call Walnut 5177.

ADAMS-CATES CO.
Realtors

KIRKWOOD

$3,500—HERE is a genuine buy in this fine roomy home with every convenience. Built for a home, steam heat, tile bath, with lovely fixtures, hardwood floors and beautiful decorated walls, furnace heat, full-sized daylight basement. A desirable home adjacent to car line, stores, churches and schools. One of the best sections of Kirkwood. For information and appointment, call Mr. Hudson, WAl. 6438, or

F. P. & GEO. J. MORRIS
2678 Pryor St., N. E. WAl. 6438

NEAR EMORY

SIX-ROOM and breakfast room brick bungalow with every convenience. Built for a home, steam heat, tile bath, with lovely fixtures, hardwood floors and beautiful decorated walls, furnace heat, full-sized daylight basement. A desirable home adjacent to car line, stores, churches and schools. One of the best sections of Kirkwood. For information and appointment, call Mr. Hudson, WAl. 6438, or

F. P. & GEO. J. MORRIS
2678 Pryor St., N. E. WAl. 6438

CAN SIGHT YOU

TO properties we sold for small sums a few years back that have made the purchasers independent today. Look at 176 E. Twelfth street, no 4 valuable lot 72x150. Just 300 feet off Peachtree, well suited for apartments and growing more valuable every day. Lot alone worth price asked and there is a splendid 2 story, 9-room house, 4 bedrooms, 2 baths, furnace heat, double garage, servants' quarters, etc. Circumstances force sale. Call Mr. Salmon, IVy 1885.

Salmon Realty Co., Inc.

IDEAL HOME SITES

$5,000—Well shaded and slightly elevated home location with frontage of 100 feet on Lindwell Road, convenient to car-line, community center and schools, located in the heart of an ideal residential section. A real value.

$2,500—Nicely elevated shaded building lot with frontage of 85 feet on Clifton Road, block and a half from car line, surrounded by most attractive homes and a splendid lot. CASH OR TERMS. For further information, call Mr. Tomlinson, Walnut 1634, after office hours. Dr. H. H. Sales Office, 1702-07 Candler Bldg., Walnut 3970.

Isn't There a Thrill

IN seeing a new home like an English type, wonderfully arranged with many built-in features, beautiful large basement with laundry, when the walls are set off by 300. This is surrounded by beautiful homes and in one of the best sections of Peachtree road, just two blocks from car line and three blocks from one of the best schools. The home you have been looking for. It is only $10,000 on easy terms. Call Mr. Kretsch, IVy 1075.

F. P. & GEO. J. MORRIS
Ruckelshaus Branch, 2907 Peachtree Road, HEm. 8710-HEm. 8711

DRUID HILLS SECTION

$7,500—A brand-new cream brick bungalow, elevated east front, 300 feet deep; prettiest on Piedmont Road; all city conveniences but out in a beautiful surrounding country; 10 minutes from downtown; concrete basement; furnace heat; concrete drive; tile bath; beautiful fixtures; hardwood floors throughout; tile terrace and front porch, well constructed and conveniently arranged; just being finished; will please buyer to suit purchaser; located 2494 Piedmont Road, N. E.; priced $8,250.00. Terms to suit. Call MR. CONYERS, Walnut 1714.

HAAS & HOWELL
REAL ESTATE DEPT.
Walnut 3311

CITY-COUNTRY

MODERN 6-room brick bungalow; elevated east front, 300 feet deep; prettiest on Piedmont Road; all city conveniences but out in a beautiful surrounding country; 10 minutes from downtown; concrete basement; furnace heat; concrete drive; tile bath; beautiful fixtures; hardwood floors throughout; tile terrace and front porch, well constructed and conveniently arranged; just being finished; will please buyer to suit purchaser; located 2494 Piedmont Road, N. E.; priced $8,250.00. Terms to suit. Call MR. CONYERS, Walnut 1714.

HAAS & HOWELL
REAL ESTATE DEPT.
Walnut 3311

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Real Estate

126 WINONA DRIVE, DECATUR
Open for Inspection
Today
WITH a price and terms conveniently arranged, an inspection today of 126 Winona drive, just off Avery street, will convince you of the attractiveness of this offering. Six beautifully and conveniently arranged rooms, vitrolite bath, ideal floor plan, hardwood floors, large basement, furnace heat, side drive and garage. Drive by and inspect. Consult Mr. Russell, who will be on the premises from 2 to 6 p. m.
F. P. & GEO. J. MORRIS
2678 Pryor St., N. E. WAl. 6438

Automotive

Ford

'28 Model A Std. coupe, fully equipped ..... $435
'27 Fordor; best of condition ..... 300
'26 Tudor; A-1 mechanically ..... 185
'26 coupe; jam-up ..... 165
'26 roadster; A-1 mechanically ..... 165
'27 roadster pick-up ..... 185
'26 stake body truck ..... 175

ERNEST G. BEAUDRY
169-171 Marietta St.—IVy 0446
Exclusive 24-Hour Service

SPECIAL MONDAY

LeRoux Motor Co.
Used Car Dept.

1929 Whippet 4, four-door sedan, driven 1,500 miles ..... $625
1928 Whippet 4, two-door ..... $395
1928 Nash Sedan 6, four-door sedan, new tires, extra clean car ..... $395
1929 Buick sedan, four-door, new tires, extra clean car ..... $395
1927 Buick sedan, four-door, good condition ..... $195
1927 Buick sedan, four-door, good condition ..... $285
1926 Chevrolet sedan, thoroughly overhauled motor ..... $285
1929 Buick sedan, four-door, new tires, extra clean car ..... $375
1929 Buick sedan, four-door, new tires, extra clean car ..... $895

WEST PEACHTREE AT NORTH AVE.

LeRouxMotorCo.
HEmlock 7483

GOLDSMITH-
BECKER

Graham-Paige Distributors

20 Years a Reliable Dealer

'27 Chrysler coupe ..... $295
'27 Chrysler coupe ..... 475
'27 Essex coupe ..... 195
'27 Essex coupe ..... 275
'27 Essex coaches. Your choice 275
'27 Paige coupe ..... 250
'27 Paige coupe ..... 550
'27 Whippet coach ..... 350
'27 Studebaker sedan ..... 750

Easier Terms—Better Trades

GOLDSMITH-
BECKER

220 Spring St.

Walnut 8718

"The Old Reliable"

Established 60 Years

Used Car

Head- quarters

Largest

Stock

1928 Chevrolet Coupe $375
1928 Chevrolet Coach $395
1928 Chevrolet .....
1928 Pontiac Coupe ..... $525
1928 Whippet Coupe ..... $525
1928 Chevrolet Sedan $350
1928 Chevrolet Coach $425
1927 Chevrolet .....
1927 Chevrolet Cabriolet ..... $345
1927 Chevrolet Coupe $295
1927 Chevrolet Sedan $350
1927 Chevrolet .....
1927 Chevrolet Landau ..... $375
1927 Chevrolet Coach $275

Our "Better Than a Guarantee" Plan Fully Protects You.

We Pay Cash For Used Cars

John Smith Co.

Chevrolet Dealers

530-540 W. Peachtree

541-543 Spring St.

Chevrolet

530-540 W. Peachtree

541-543 Spring St.

Chevrolet

530-540 W. Peachtree

541-543 Spring St.

Chevrolet

530-540 W. Peachtree

541-543 Spring St.

Chevrolet

530-540 W. Peachtree

541-543 Spring St.

Chevrolet

530-540 W. Peachtree

541-543 Spring St.

Chevrolet

530-540 W. Peachtree

541-543 Spring St.

Chevrolet

530-540 W. Peachtree

541-543 Spring St.

Chevrolet

530-540 W. Peachtree

541-543 Spring St.

Chevrolet

530-540 W. Peachtree

541-543 Spring St.

Chevrolet

530-540 W. Peachtree

541-543 Spring St.

Chevrolet

530-540 W. Peachtree

541-543 Spring St.

Chevrolet

530-540 W. Peachtree

541-543 Spring St.

Chevrolet

530-540 W. Peachtree

541-543 Spring St.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Automotive

565
SPRING ST.
Don't Envy Your Friend's Fine Car. You, too, can enjoy a better
Car this Summer

For the cost of a new low-priced car you can buy a quality car in which only a fraction of its mileage is used, now priced at only a fraction of its first cost. See these pledge-backed values here today.

'28 BUICK CONVERTIBLE COUPE
Excellent condition. Usual equipment. Also license plates. $875

FRANKLIN 4-DOOR SEDAN
Latest style. Fully equipped. Bumpers. Big road lamp, etc. $1,045

NASH SEDAN, 1927 SERIES
Original finish like new. All new tires. Upholstery clean as new. Fully equipped. $875

CADILLAC 4-PASS. SEDAN
Best of condition, new tires, trunk, etc. Only $445

MARMON 5-PASS. SEDAN
Recent model. Six new heavy duty tires. Full equipment; refinished in two colors of maroon with gold trimmings. $875

ERKINE 4-DOOR SEDAN
1929 model. Good as new. $845

STUDEBAKER COMMANDER SEDAN
"World's champion series." Five new tires. A pledge-backed automobile. $875

HUMPHREY STRAIGHT "4"
Humphrey Straight "4" sedan, '28 series; six good tires, new finish; only $845

BUICK 4-DOOR STD. 6 SEDAN
All new tires. New finish, without a scratch. Clean motor. $645

ESSEX '28 COUPE
New tires. Motor reconditioned. New colors. $375

PONTIAC '28 COUPE
New colors, motor rebuilt, new tires. $375

LAFAYETTE PHAETON
An excellent car for a long tour this summer. All new tires, without a scratch. Tourist trunk. $495

OTHERS TO SELECT FROM

YARBROUGH MOTOR CO.
565 SPRING STREET
HEmlock 5142-5143

Use Constitution

Want Ads

D. C. BLACK

Atlanta Buick Dealer

A General Motors Dealer

New Car Written 30-Day

Guarantee Goes With Your Car

Everybody Drives a Used Car.

BUICK Sport Roadster, 1928 Model, driven only 7,200 miles. Can't tell from brand-new car, fully equipped, $275 cash, balance easy.

28-50 BUICK Sedan, used by factory official, this car carries an absolute new car guarantee; fully equipped and license, priced at a big discount.

28-26 S. BUICK. Sport Coupe, rumble seat, beautiful Duco brown color, has all of Buick's latest features, fully equipped, $320 cash, balance in 12 notes.

26-20 BUICK Standard 2-door sedan, color dark maroon, new tires, clean-cut throughout, $185 cash, balance 12 months.

28-27 BUICK Standard, 4-door Sedan, driven only 8,200 miles by careful owner; fully equipped; $315 cash, balance in 12 months.

28-47 S. BUICK Master Sedan, driven only 11,000 miles by retired business man; not a blemish on it; priced right.

26-40 BUICK Master Coach, fully equipped, has new tires, color dark blue, price delivered, $475.

WE have ready for delivery several late model PACKARDS, OAKLANDS, HUPPES, WILLYS-KNIGHTS, CADILLACS, HUNDSONS, STUDEBAKERS, ESSEXES, DODGES, PONTIACS, CHRYSLERS, OLDSMOBILES, FORDS and CHEVROLETS at unusual low prices.

EASY TERMS TRADES

D. C. BLACK

330 Peachtree St.

IVy 1860

We Pay Cash for Used Cars

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Automotive

Whitehall Chevrolet Company

1926 Ford Coupe ..... $125
1927 Chevrolet Coach ..... 275
1927 Chevrolet Coach ..... 300
1928 Chevrolet Coach ..... 450
1927 Chevrolet Coupe ..... 300
1928 Essex Coach ..... 125
1928 Essex Coach ..... 125
1926 Ford Coupe ..... 150
1927 Ford Coupe ..... 225
1926 Chevrolet Coupe ..... 225
1926 Chevrolet Coach ..... 165
1925 Buick Coupe ..... 325
1926 Dodge Sedan ..... 325
1926 Ford Touring ..... 100
1925 Ford Coupe ..... 125
1926 Nash Coupe ..... 350
1926 Chevrolet Touring ..... 150
1925 Chevrolet Touring ..... 125
1927 Chevrolet Cab ..... 150
1924 Dodge Touring ..... 350
1925 Hudson Coach ..... 225
1924 1-Ton Ford Truck ..... 75
1926 Chevrolet Landau ..... 375

Whitehall Chevrolet Company

331 WHITEHALL ST.

Ask the Man Who Bought

One Here

TERMS Walnut 1412 TERMS

Ford

SALES—SERVICE

New and Used Cars

EXCEPTIONAL VALUES

1926 Ford Pickup ..... 95

MORRIS FIRM OPENS BRANCH IN BUCKHEAD

Realty Concern Launches
Third Office in City—To Push Buckhead Sales.

Opening of a branch office in the Buckhead territory by F. P. & George J. Morris was an important event of the week in real estate circles.

The new office is located at 2967 Peachtree road. It will have available at all times valuable information and unusual facilities for handling all property north of Peachtree creek. The new branch will be in charge of H. J. Dickson as general manager, with a staff personnel including Ira Everett, Jr., Van Rogers, J. H. Ingram and G. D. Byrd. Other salesmen will be placed at this office later, it was announced.

The Morris company, organized five years ago, maintains its main offices at 7678 Pryor street, N. E., and also has a branch office in West End, with Morris Brown as manager, at 1386 Gordon street, S. W. George J. Morris also announced last week that additional space has been acquired for the main office, Rooms 250-51-52 and 53 in the Candler Annex having been secured to house the auditing department and provide sales conference rooms. The front office will thus be less crowded and additional space provided for the rental department, which is growing rapidly under the management of G. M. Taylor.

The Buckhead territory is now considered one of the greatest development sections in or near Atlanta and the opening of the Morris branch there will give added impetus to its growth.

Under the present allotment of territory between the three offices the main office handles all property south of Peachtree creek to Stewart avenue. Land south of Stewart avenue comes under the jurisdiction of the West End office, while that north of Peachtree creek will be handled by the Buckhead office.

There are now 145 persons included in the personnel of the Morris company, which was founded five years ago with an entire force of four, which included the two brothers, founders of the organization.

The firm handles all phases of real selling of homes, renting, leases, real estate activity, including building and financing of property and insurance.

RALPH TREADWELL JOINS SALES STAFF OF THOMPSON CO.

Ralph Treadwell, native Atlantan and widely-known in local real estate circles, who has been engaged in real estate sales in Birmingham for the past three and a half years, has joined the sales staff of the John

RALPH TREADWELL.

J. Thompson Company, it was announced Saturday.

Mr. Treadwell has been engaged in sales of high-class residence properties in Birmingham and expects to specialize in the same type of property here. He returned to his native city because he was impressed by the opportunities in the local field due to consistent and rapid expansion of Atlanta, he said.

"Atlantans fail to realize just how rapidly the city is growing," Mr. Treadwell said. "I believe that values on desirable properties in Atlanta are lower than in other cities of corresponding size."

Clark Appointed.

Savannah, Ga., March 30. (P)—Nephew K. Clark, a member of the local bar, was today appointed United States commissioner by Federal Judge W. H. Barrett. He succeeds Newton J. Norman, deceased.

PARKVIEW HOME-SITES MEET POPULAR SALES

Two-thirds of the entire lot of the Erskine property on Avon avenue, which was purchased and subdivided recently by the Dann Realty Company, has been purchased by former customers, it was announced Saturday by T. C. Dann, head of the company.

The land was subdivided into 240 lots and was offered for investment purposes based on expected enhancement in land values due to expansion of residential sections.

Beginning of work on the White street sewer, which will pass through Parkview home-sites, has added many thousands of dollars to the value of the land since it was put on the market, it is said, but no change in the sales price of the remaining lots has been made.

City council recently passed up Ramsey street for paving with recommendation for widening and this improvement will enhance the value of the property also, Mr. Dann said.

"This puts Parkview home-sites in a strategic location," Mr. Dann said, "making it an equal distance from two car lines, on one bus line and three blocks from another. Another feature of Parkview home-sites is that it is between two municipal parks."

Increase of capital stock of the Dann company will be effected shortly, following recent report to the board of directors and stockholders of the company's substantial gain in business during the past several years. The meeting also saw the addition of Colonel Oley B. Mitchell as a member of the board of directors, Colonel Mitchell, member of the law firm of Mitchell & Reinger, has served as attorney in the legal department of the Southern Bell Telephone Company.

RANKIN-WHITTEN OFFER TWO NEW DUPLEX HOUSES

Two fine new duplex apartments one at 1896 Wyckoff road, and the other at 1875 Anjaco road, are now completed and ready for inspection, according to Mrs. Matilda Dick Corbett, of the Rankin-Whitten Realty Company. They are located two blocks from Peachtree street, off Collier road.

These apartments are of especially fine construction with every consideration given in their planning to make them all one would desire in an individual home. A fireplace adorns the spacious living room, three bedrooms, two baths, dining room and

RESIDENCE ACTIVITY SEEN IN DRUID HILLS

Residence activity, including a sale and several new building enterprises was announced Saturday by the sales management of Druid Hills.

H. W. Rohrer, an official of the Young Men's Christian Association, bought a residence at 885 Clifton road, where he will make his home. Mr. Rohrer is a newcomer to Atlanta.

Two residences are now under construction in the Clifton section of Druid Hills. Professor J. F. Messick, of Emory university, is building one of these residences on Clifton road, and V. A. Furr is building on East Clifton road.

Mrs. Ruth C. Drewry is building a home on Briarcliff road. Announcement was recently made that Albert H. Bailey, a contractor who has built several fine homes in Druid Hills, was building five houses on Oakdale road.

These houses are being built on wide, deep lots. Landscape development is a feature of residence activity in Druid Hills, which is especially in spring.

Husband's Story Wins Acquittal For Chicago Woman

Chicago, March 30. (P)—Mrs. Helen Tennes was acquitted of charges of assault and battery today when she was arraigned in municipal court after her husband, Mont Tennes, Jr., nephew of the race betting broker of the same name, testified she had accidentally stabbed him several weeks ago. Mrs. Tennes was taken into custody after her husband had been seriously stabbed, with a butcher knife. At the time of the stabbing, police declared Mrs. Tennes admitted attacking her husband during a quarrel, but Tennes today denied this.

M. B. OWEN JOINS BIG MINTER-MELTON STAFF

Well Known Here in Home Building Circles.

M. B. Owen, for a number of years identified with home building and home financing in Atlanta, has joined the sales force of the Minter-Melton Corporation, 303 Southeastern Trust Company building, corner of Edgewood avenue and Ivy street, it was announced Saturday.

M. B. OWEN.

Mr. Owen, a native of Virginia, has lived in Atlanta since 1907, occupying various positions of trust and responsibility. During the world war he was appointed special representative of the United States treasury department, serving two years in that capacity, and resigning to enter the real estate and building business for himself. Later he was connected with the Minter Homes organization, which he served for several years.

Mr. Owen will specialize in selling and financing homes ranging in price from $3,000 to $10,000.

Undersea Arctic Voyage Now Planned by Wilkins

WOULD CROSS POLE BY SUBMARINE

New York, March 30. (P)—Captain Sir Hubert Wilkins, Polar explorer, announced today he was considering a voyage across the North Pole by submarine, possibly this summer or next.

Commander Sloan Danenhower, technical expert of the Simon Lake Submarine Company, who plans to navigate the craft, said the submarine which is to be used was being fitted out at the company's works at Bridgeport, Conn.

Sir Hubert said the idea of a submarine trip across the Arctic sea had been in the minds of sub designers and explorers since 1899 when Simon Lake advanced it. Stefananson and Peary both had considered it, he said.

"On the face of it," he said, "it seems risky. Still as a mathematical hazard I consider it no more risky—even less so—than an airplane flight over the Polar seas."

The submarine would be equipped with a special diving lock through which a diver might be sent out to blast the ship free of retarding ice, Danenhower said. It also would have a bar sloping up from the bow to the stern to ease it under an unseen iceberg and carry a large quantity of chemicals to melt ice.

Commander Danenhower said the trip would be undertaken during July, as at that time there are spaces of open water between ice fields through which the submarine could be navigated, submerging only when it encountered a barrier of ice.

"There is need for a submarine trip across the Arctic," he said.

DOCTORS TO LOSE SECURITY IN CASES OF MALPRACTICE

Rome, March 30. (P)—Doctors' professional secrecy as far as cases of malpractice are concerned will virtually be abolished in Italy under a circular issued by Premier Mussolini today in his capacity as minister of the interior. The premier has decreed that all physicians must report cases of birth prevention coming to their knowledge, "in the direct exercise of their profession" to the provincial medical authorities.

Moreover the provincial prefects to whom the circular was addressed are obliged to inform the medical association of sentences imposed for neglect to report cases, in order that the association may take disciplinary action.

ORIGINS PROVISION MEETS OPPOSITION

Advantages Outweighed by Disadvantages U. S. of C. Group Says.

Washington, March 30. (P)—The immigration committee of the United States Chamber of Commerce, in a report today to 18,000 business firms, went on record in opposition to the national origins provision of the immigration law.

The report asserted that the advantages of the provision are "greatly outweighed" by its disadvantages. It listed among the disadvantages the contention that citizens and foreign born residents of the United States, as well as foreigners contemplating permanent residence here, have largely adjusted themselves to the present 1890 census quota limit system; and that a change in any restrictive immigration policy is "bound to stir up racial antagonisms and misunderstandings."

"There is plenty of evidence," the report continued, "that changing over to the national origins plan would revive these antagonisms without any large commensurate gain to our final purpose, which is the building of a homogeneous and united nation."

It is the committee's belief, it added, that the proposed has no merit other than that it might prove to be a practical method for carrying out a policy of restrictive immigration.

Karl Delattre, of Minneapolis, is chairman of the committee. Other members are: Wallace M. Alexander, of San Francisco; R. B. Beach, of Chicago; Arthur S. Bent, of Los Angeles; Stanley H. Bullard, of Bridgeport, Conn.; Thomas Evans, of Philadelphia; Charles R. Hodell, of Middleton, Ohio; C. W. Lonsdale, of Kansas City, Mo.; Charles Nagel, of St. Louis; Henry D. Sharpe, of Providence; Edward L. Stone, of Roanoke, Va.; W. M. Wiley, of Sharps, W. Va.; William H. Woodin, of New York; and F. Stuart Fitzpatrick, of the Chamber of Commerce.

The report will be considered at the annual meeting of the business firms here on April 24.

ed spine and their mother, Mrs. Minnie Loth, 64, suffered a fractured wrist and bruises. Their automobile was wrecked, while Clarence Loth was driving, by some trouble with the steering gear that sent the car crashing into a bridge abutment. Coroner Howard W. Green will hold an inquest next week.

Elkton, Md., March 30. (P)—Clarence Loth, 42, of 2803 Terrace street, Richmond, Va., was fatally injured and two other members of the family were hurt in an automobile crash south of here on the Baltimore highway today. William Loth, brother of Clarence, was in critical condition at Union hospital here with a fractured

DO YOU SHOP BY TELEPHONE?

For That Better PERMANENT WAVE,
Call IVy 2747

$5.00

Pope's Permanent Waving Shop

412 Wynne-Claughton Bldg.

JUST PHONE
WAl. 1333

For Appointment for Any Phase of

Beauty Culture Work

HICKMAN'S BEAUTY SHOP

302 Grand Theatre Bldg.

PHILLIPS & CREW
Offer the Following Specials From
"The House of Satisfaction and Service"

KEEP YOUR MONEY IN YOUR POCKETBOOK
"A dollar saved is a dollar earned."
You are given the opportunity to save many dollars on the fine talking machines you can buy here from $5 to $35. Also a few very dependable radios, including R. C. A., Atwater Kent and Freshman makes from $15 to $35, all on easy terms.

No Cause for Regret
If you get it before it is gone.
Imagine a fine Atwater Kent in good condition, with tubes, selling for $30 on easy terms. Come in and see it.

Getting Out of Life
What you put in it is sometimes a problem. Let us put a good R. C. A.
5-tube radio in your life for $25 and you will double many times that amount in satisfaction.

You'll Be in Clover
If you can't be in the grandstand for some lively ball games this summer if you take advantage of the low price of this beautiful Freshman masterpiece in convenient little cabinet with built-in speaker for only $25 in easy payments.

If You Can't Get Here Today
Just telephone WAl. 8061 and we will be glad to describe our radio and price. In the meantime watch all of tomorrow's papers for more specials.

PHILLIPS & CREW
255 Peachtree St. Tel. WAl. 8061

The Classified Advertising Department

takes pleasure in announcing the following winners in the contest on "The Advantages of Shopping by Telephone:"

1st Prize, $15.00, awarded to
Mr. J. R. Gentry, 310 North Ave., N. W.

2nd Prize, $10.00, awarded to
Mr. R. B. Ashton, 118 Atlanta Ave., S. E.

3rd Prize, $5.00, awarded to Mrs. G. Gladys Poole, 1115 Ponce de Leon Ave., Apt. 6.

We take this opportunity of thanking those who participated in this contest.

Winners may receive their awards by calling at the Classified Advertising Department of The Constitution Monday.

YOU WILL BE PLEASED WITH OUR WORK

Permanent Waves
$4.50

Why pay more? We are experts in Permanent and Finger Waving.

A Trial—A Satisfied Customer

CANDLER WAVE SHOP

Room B-9 Candler Bldg.
IVy 6815

Red Ash Lump
$7.50

Red Ash Egg
$7.50

Special Furnace $6.75

"Every Ton Guaranteed"

KAYE COAL CO.

IVy 1193
540 Marietta Street

J. N. BURNETT
"The Window Shade Man"

Carpets
Linoleums Draperies

SHADE MAKER SHADE CLEANER

Walnut 8229

545 Piedmont Ave., N. E.

Our Special Rates

Men's Suits ..... $1.00
Ladies' Plain Dresses $1.00
Ladies' Spring Coat $1.00

SPECIAL

Any 4 of the Above Dry
Cleaned for $3.00

We Specialize in Dyeing Mourning Orders

Not Responsible for Loss of Accessories

WE CALL FOR AND DELIVER

Atlanta Steam Dye & Cleaning Works
J. S. SPRATLIN, Prop.

53 Auburn Ave. WAl. 2556

For
"More Heat Per Shovel Full"

CALL

IVy 5496

SATTERWHITE COAL CO.

Fraser St. at Hunter

AUTOMOBILE OWNERS—DON'T BE MISLED!

There is but one W. J. Milam
& Co. We are located at 81 Currier St., N. E., and are in no way connected with the Milam Co. on Piedmont avenue. We solicit your body and fender repairs. Upholstering and painting. Rebuilding wrecked cars our specialty.

W. J. Milam & Co.
81 Currier St., N. E. WAl. 6318

The Original Body and Fender Rebuilder.

SPECIALS FOR MONDAY

'27 Chevrolet coach ..... $300

'27 Chevrolet 4-dr.
sedan. New tires;
original paint; like new ..... $375

'26 Chevrolet ton truck, stake body ..... 275

'26 Ford coupes ..... 200

'27 Ford Fordor sedan ..... 275

3 Ford light delivery ..... 100

15 OTHERS $15 TO $100.

Others to Select From, All Types

Clyde Langford

Used Car Dept.
Cor. Piedmont and Edgewood
Walnut 5147

WE TRADE EASY TERMS

Special Sale For MONDAY ONLY

CERTAIN-TEED'S WEATHER-SHIELD
PAINTS

$1.59 Per Gal.

This includes any color of our inside and outside paints, including varnish, varnish stains and floor
paints.

LINSEED OIL
$1.00 Per Gallon

Certain-teed's Major ROOFING
$1.59 Per Roll

This is the standard weight, three-ply, slate-surfaced and guaranteed
roofing.

Mail Orders Given Our Prompt Attention

JACOBS SALES CO.
45-47 Decatur St. WAl. 2876
"We Buy and Sell Anything"

Our Offers Are Challenge

Refrigerators
$19.50 to $65.00

and

Sandura Rugs with the Sanduralac finish.

"The easiest rug in the world to clean"

$6.95 to $16.20

FAVORITE FURN. STORE

10 Pryor, S. W.
WAl. 1339

CALL
WAl. 0812

Ludden & Bates

Southern Music House

HIGH-GRADE Pianos
Phonographs
and Radios

Sheet Music and Teachers'
Supplies Sold on Convenient Terms.

Ludden & Bates

46 Pryor St. WAl. 0812

A Trial—A Satisfied Customer

We specialize in Permanent and Finger Waves,
Marceling and Facials.

'Let Us Give You Your Next Permanent

ROSE BEAUTY PARLOR

751 Forsyth St., N. W.
IVy 6876

FENWICK HOTEL

A Modern, Popular and Attractive Hotel

NEWLY remodeled and furnished, absolutely clean, with hot and cold water in every room, adjoining baths; a comfortable and convenient home
for permanent people.
Come and enjoy these wonderful porches during the summer. Only two and one-half blocks from the shopping and theatrical districts. Reasonable transient and weekly rates.

126 Ellis St., N. E.
Phone IVy 8876

Beauty Culture
Work Half Price!

Senior students, almost ready for graduation under the direct personal supervision of capable instructors offer you their services at exactly half price.

All branches of the work are taken, including permanent waving, shampooing, massaging, marceling, finger-waving, etc.

Visit us.

American School of Beauty Culture

881 Whitehall St. IVy 1296

IT'S PLANTING TIME!

And we are adequately supplied with complete stocks of our "Seeds of Success."

We also carry complete stocks of lawn, garden and farm fertilizers.

EVERETT SEED COMPANY

149 Alabama St., S. W.
WAl. 4864

Southern Employment Corporation

Established 19 years.

WE specialize in furnishing competent, carefully selected employees to homes, hotels, and restaurants.

WE appreciate your business.

Southern Employment Corporation

215 Kiser Bldg.
WAl. 7230

SEABOARD SECURITY CO.

The Old Reliable

Money to Loan
Up to $300

On Household Goods
at 3 1/2%.

250 Peachtree Arcade
WAl. 5771

We Are Offering at a Bargain

1927 INDIAN SCOUT MOTORCYCLE

In Good Condition

Only $85.00

No More
YES! LIBERAL TERMS!

INDIAN SALES CO.

IVy 9047
389 Peachtree St., N. E.

Our Special Monthly Storage Service

$3.00

Night and Sunday Service

GENERAL BATTERY SERVICE CO.

34-36-38 Ivy St.
WAl. 9784

"At the Hurt Bldg."

Peerless Bicycle

Good Condition

$22.50

We Also Are Exclusive
Agents for

Emblem Bicycles

Call Us for Service

GATE CITY BICYCLE CO.

201 Edgewood Ave., N. E.
IVy 2422

THE CONSTITUTION
CLARK HOWELL
Editor and General Manager.
Clark Howell, Jr., Business Manager.
Entered at the Postoffice at Atlanta as second-class mail matter.

Telephone WA 4553.
Subscription Rates:
Daily and 1 wk. 1 Mo. 3 Mos. 6 Mos. 1 Yr.
Daily... $2.00 $5.00 $10.00 $18.00 $35.00
Single Copies... 10c
By Mail (Postpaid):
Daily... $2.00 $5.00 $10.00 $18.00 $35.00
By Mail (Postpaid):
Daily... $2.00 $5.00 $10.00 $18.00 $35.00
By Mail (Postpaid):
Daily... $2.00 $5.00 $10.00 $18.00 $35.00

ATLANTA, GA., MARCH 31, 1929.

J. R. HOLIDAY, Constitution Building, and advertising manager for all territory outside of Atlanta.

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York City by 2 p. m. the day after issue. It can be had: Hoteling News Stand, Broadway and Forty-third street (Times building corner); Shultz News Agency, at Bryant Park and Grand Central Depot.

The Constitution is not responsible for advertisements in out-of-town local papers. The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to use for publication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited to this paper and also the local news published herein.

HOOPER VS. THE MACHINE.

It is not surprising that political cloak-rooms at the capital are excited by the Hoover plan for republican party revampments in the south. It thunders promisingly in the index and there are hopeful souls who will predict clearing weather in political affairs in Dixie-land, with a growing season for two-party competitions in state and national politics.

But such optimism must wait patiently upon observation and occasions. Similar rainbows have spanned our part of the political heavens in the past and vanished like the baseless fabric of a dream. We are yet near enough to the Harding promises of a like bipartisan modus vivendi to remember how utterly they were flattened into tissue by Deacon Will Hays and his macerating machine at the Chicago republican convention in 1920. Delegations of reputable southern republicans were constituted and presented, but they were contemptuously labeled "fily whites" and just as contemptuously kicked out of the doors of the national committee rooms.

President Hoover's outgivings in favor of more desirable and influential republican organizations in the south are highly commendable. They express believably his reasoned and honest convictions of what ought to be his party's status in the southern states.

But, as we have before queried, can he put those convictions into the ideas and actions of the party's national machine?

The president, to put his plan over, will have to fight the sinister purposes of the machine politicians. Unless it shall turn out that he has a controlling majority in the national committee, his efforts will come down to mere gestures which saw the air. The refusal of the committee to name a national committeeman and committeewoman for Georgia indicates that the machine is not playing to his lead.

The alternative is that President Hoover is wily and is passing the buck to those local men and women in each southern state who have been urging such reorganizations as will give the party reputable and attractive status in the south. Reduced to plain speech the president is saying to them "go ahead, do your best, and bring in the bacon!"

There will be widespread curiosity by all public-spirited citizens in the south to see how the fabric works out in the loom of events. The hope will be general, also, that the president will prove stronger than the political traders who operate his party machine and will be the one republican power able to make his party respectable in the south and really national in its spirit and appeals.

AN EDEN IN OKEFENOKEE.

Readers of The Constitution should not pass over an article by Jack Williams, editor of the Waycross Journal-Herald, published in this issue. He graphically enumerates the natural wonders of the Okefenokee swamp, as it is geographically known, in southeastern Georgia.

The proposition to have the federal government acquire that natural wonderland and convert it into an Eden for man, beast, bird and semi-tropical flora is one that has abundant and highly persuasive reasons to recommend it.

The Constitution conducted the first effort, more than fifty years ago, to make a revealing exploration of the swamp. What The Constitution then learned of the content of the region has been the basis since of scientific and naturalistic interest in its conservative and cultural possibilities. The Constitution stands zealous still for the taking over of "the swamp" by the national government and its full development into one of the natural monuments of the country's riches.

It can be made a famous refuge for human and wild life, a study field for naturalists, and a world popular resort for those who delight in the novelties and miracles of Mother Nature. The movement to nationalize it deserves every encouragement and early success.

GIVE DR. WILSON THE JOB.

In a letter to The Constitution, which we print in this issue, Editor Jack Patterson asks, concerning prohibition mismanagement and murders, "cannot something be accomplished for the relief of the situation?"

Certainly, something can be done and ought to be done at once.

The palpable remedy we pointed out, without sarcasm or cynicism, a few days ago.

It consists in putting the enforcement unit in the hands of the most extreme friends of the policy and supplying them with all the powers, money and men that they declare essential to the accomplishment of their work of banishing liquor from the use and commerce of the American people.

The slaying of the Illinois woman by prohibition raiders has brought the enforcement problem acutely home to the people of the whole country.

Dr. Doran, federal commissioner of prohibition, says that any officer of his bureau who should use the Illinois method would be promptly called to account and made to suffer for his act.

On the other hand, Dr. Clarence True Wilson, a chief spokesman of the national prohibition organization, approves heatedly the Illinois method and holds that the woman was slain in due support of the prohibition law.

That clash of opinions reveals the sought-for remedy for present prohibition conditions which are becoming the prime terror of the nation.

Dr. Doran should be discharged from the office of prohibition commissioner as unsympathetic and incompetent. Dr. Wilson should be appointed to succeed him, because he knows how prohibition can and should be enforced. Let him be called to the work by the president and then let congress answer all his demands for money and men, without dodging or delay.

The people want to know now whether the law can be made effective within human powers and the most obvious way to a decision is to put Dr. Wilson in charge of the national enforcement bureau. Give him all the clubs and guns and money that he asks for. Give him full authority to "shoot to kill."

This may be subversive of our constitutional guarantees—but we shall at least know where we are going in the present method of enforcement.

COSTS OF SMALL COUNTIES.

It is remarkable how many thinking Georgians are commending editorials in The Constitution directing the attention of the people to the smaller counties of the state to the real cause of the excessive government burdens they are bearing.

That real cause is the necessity they have taken upon themselves to support a full county government, with a full staff of county officials, with all essentials of court houses, jails, county charities and chain-gangs, with such low assets as small populations, low-valued properties and high rates of taxation locally levied and collected.

Why that real cause exists is that we have in Georgia 161 counties when, in modern conditions, half as many would be even more than plenty.

No good can come of going back to argue the seemingly sufficient reasons why this or that county was created when it was created. Take all those arguments for granted, but they do not apply and are not compelling now. Steady progress in building passable roads, the substitution of motor for mule travel, and the economies of government mechanism all argue the other way. They call for larger county units, more people and more property to pay the upkeep of one governmental outfit instead of two, or three, or four. The merger of several small and weak counties into one large and competent county is the wisest administrative and economic policy.

It is difficult indeed, however, to get the victims of our variegated map of counties to understand that the counties cut-up curse is no curse to the larger and capable counties. Counties like Fulton, Bibb, Muscogee, Richmond and Chatham could easily keep silent while the state's counties were swollen to 500—provided that no population or territory was taken from any one of them.

Here is an axiom which every small county man and woman should get a firm grip upon—that the more the tax burdens in the small counties increase to pay county officials and run county government, the more people will move from the small counties to the large ones where such burdens are more popularly distributed and individually reduced.

Florida, with territory almost equal to Georgia, and with only 67 counties to our 161, is learning the brass-knuck facts above recited, and a demand is going up in that state for the abolition of at least 20 of the 67 counties.

If good government considerations are making that appeal in Florida and finding favor, it should interest the overburdened tax payers of Georgia's large flock of small counties and cause them to reason well upon a like movement upon their part to reduce counties and their costs in this state.

A NEW POOL OF SILOAM.

A marvelous institution of healing, which is rapidly acquiring national fame, is that of the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation, of which Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, is founder and president, having in association with him some of the most notable men of the country.

Having found great benefit from his own affliction by infantile paralysis, Governor Roosevelt conceived a humane plan to have other victims of that subtle and disabling disease profit from the healing waters of the Warm Springs in Meriwether county. Already through his promotion, there has been built up an institution which has drawn hundreds of sufferers from all parts of the union and Canada, and now has a large waiting list from lack of dormitory accommodations.

Many hundreds of thousands of dollars are to be expended there rapidly to make this Georgia place a veritable Pool of SiLOAM—a more helpful place, indeed, because needing no occasional stirring-up angel to give its waters their efficacy.

Georgia and the world of suffering humanity will always be indebted to the great heart of Franklin Roosevelt for making this fountain of healing available to those who are victims of one of the most paralyzing and puzzling ills that assails human flesh. His statesmanship may fade from men's memories, but this philanthropy welded with his name will not grow dim in the gratitude of future generations.

FOR GOLD-BEARING COTTON.

In another place is printed in this issue a resume by E. C. Westbrook, cotton and tobacco specialist of the State College of Agriculture, in which he relates what has resulted from the "Five-Acre More and Better Cotton Per Acre Contest" carried on throughout the state. Particulars are given of how the 231 reporting farmers planted, cultivated, and reaped results, from their five-acre plots.

The story is a most interesting one and should be illuminating to farmers who read the literature of their vocation and are ambitious to profit in it. Cotton farming can be made remunerative by any sensible man with the will to apply science and experience in his business.

The main revelation made by the comparative figures quoted by Mr. Westbrook proves, however, the inescapable truth of the old saying that "there is more in the man than there is in the land." Some farmers go bankrupt upon the most fertile land in the state while others make money raising cotton on lands seemingly so sterile that three red-headed women could hardly raise a fuss on it.

Why the contrast? Solely because the latter fellow mixes brains with his seed, fertilizer and elbow grease, while the former does "like pap" dirt forty years ago and trusts the Lord to hand him a gold-bearing crop.

Mr. Westbrook's report ought to be read and pondered inside every cotton-farm gate in Georgia.

A DOUBLE-ENDER COMMENT.

A quite distinguished New York newspaper attributes the impeachment of governors in Texas and Oklahoma, and now threatened in Louisiana to "the low intelligence of the electorate." In the newspaper's view the one-horse farmers and small town business men are too prone to follow any specious demagogue who promises them tax relief and bonuses from a treasury filled by levies upon the better-off people of the cities of the state.

The first charge of "low intelligence" of southern electorates is far-fetched and unwarranted by the facts of literacy qualifications of voters in practically all of the southern states.

The second charge is much too well founded, we must agree, and yet is a state of mind not peculiar to the people of the south. It may be easily found operating in other sections of the union, both east and west. New York and Illinois, as instances, are affected by the power of the smaller units of the states to control the legislatures and determine the state's policies of taxation and expenditures.

The crux of the taxation everywhere is the inability to get the people to understand generally that taxes justly levied and economically expended are investments for benefits and not for burdens upon thrift and enterprise. The demagogues call them "robberies," but the wise citizen calls them "progressive prosperities." The evil is that too often the demagogue gets by with his reactionary dope.

OUR LACK OF LEADERSHIPS.

A number of southern newspapers of prescience and political philosophy, considering the higher interests of the south in government, are urging the development of genuine leadership among our public men.

There will be common agreement that leadership of genius and statesmanship is a great desideratum. But there must be equal agreement that our present system of selecting public representatives will not produce such leaders, except as unusual incidents.

The American system of government, as founded by its creators, was never intended to function on the principles of unlimited democracy. It was framed for representative intelligence and responsibility.

But the craze developed in the last quarter century for primaries, initiative legislation and referendum plebiscites has transformed the system into one of mob psychology and the rule of mediocrities.

It is a sad tale of political degeneracies, to be sure, but what can be done about it now? The people have violently scrambled their political eggs and there is no Socrates or Jefferson among us who can segregate them again into their original and safe shells. Just as hard as it is to take a cake away from a child who has captured it is it to take power away from those who have seized upon it without capacity to use it with wisdom and discretion.

Almost every effort that has been made in recent years to substitute a saner system than the plurality primary for selecting candidates for public offices has failed. The demagogues have roiled the spirits of the electors and made them believe that they were about to be robbed of their precious jewels of sovereignty and suffrage.

The natural consequences are with us and complaints will not cure the evils of them. Leadership of eminent ability and statescraft have become largely non-existent because the men capable of such leadership refuse to throw themselves into the lions' den of a free-for-all primary gamble. No great publicist feels an urge to labor upon a large problem of government reform when, having agreed it into enactment, it must then run the gantlet of a referendum dominated by demagogues of every stripe and kidney.

There seems to be no early remedy for the situation in sight. Leadership is developed by opportunity and public confidence and the fewest of men are able to command them under prevailing conditions. It may require the education of a new generation in the fundamentals of a real representative form of popular government.

CIVIL SERVICE OPTIONS.

If President Hoover is really set upon reforming federal patronage abuses—and we believe he is—he will reach back and take a leaf from the executive code of President Roosevelt.

One of the prolific causes of patronage abuses is the perversion of the intent of the civil service law. When examinations of applicants are held an "eligible list" of the three having the highest percentage marks is filed with the appointing power and he may appoint at will any one of the three. It seems always easy to slip into the trio a partisan and have him preferred through the influence of party leaders.

Roosevelt saw both the injustice and trickery of the plan, and, like the square-dealer that he was, abolished the option and ordered that the high man should always be preferred, granting that his other qualifications for the position were unimpaired.

After Roosevelt's regime the old unjust option was restored to appointing officers and patronage scandals became common again.

One of the best reforms that President Hoover can bring to the public service throughout the whole country would be the renewing of the Roosevelt order in the firmest mandatory way.

The idea of equipping locomotives with motor horns may tend to create more fatalities at grade crossings, for there are truck drivers who will try to force the train off its right of way when they hear the klaxon sound.

A pastor of an Asheville church has resigned the ministry to take up his previous calling of engineer of a passenger locomotive. If he cannot make people follow him one way he can the other.

Our favorite mail order house is placing a copy of its catalogue in all the libraries of this country. Next they will be placing a catalogue in the bedrooms of the hotels.

Locomotives in the east are being equipped with motor horns. The railroads will leave nothing undone to meet the competition of bus lines.

TEXT AND PRETEXT

By M. Ashby Jones

From the Natural to the Spiritual

Death, the most common experience of life, seems ever strange and unfamiliar. We walk with muffled tread and speak in subdued voices. The significance is something more than that the loved one has gone. There is the uneasy suggestion that something else, or even someone else, has come. We speak of "The Presence of Death." Speak of it often with hatred subdued by fear. When the Apostle Paul went forth to conquer the world with a new religion, he clearly understood that a religion which was to have a universal triumph must conquer death. So he reveals his Christ as a spiritual being who puts to flight this "Last Enemy."

So often we put to flight childish ghosts by turning on the light. Is it possible that we have been banishing this experience of death to the shadowy fringes of our thought, when by summoning him to the light of our judgment we might find, not an enemy, but a friend? What is it that we know about death, as revealed in the story of the world? So in truth, it being the story of defeat or destruction, it is the clear revelation of a living process. Form change like a passing panorama, as actors might change their costumes from scene to scene. No elements in nature are lost, but they appear in different combinations, different environments, playing a vital part in a great drama.

Seed Sowing. Is it not more than a fanciful figure of speech, when Paul says that we sow a natural body like a seed, and then reap a spiritual body? It is true we have known human life only as dependent upon human bodies. Yet over and above anything we can do with our hands, say with our tongues, or express in our eyes, there is something which we call personality. Though separated by thousands of miles, without any physical communication, we live in each other's thoughts, sentiments, aspirations, and affections. Why should the experience of death make us think that because we can no longer touch, see, and hear, the loved one, he is destroyed. If the chemistry of the insect is a fairland where wings are formed, if the shell of an egg cradles the liquid music of the mocking bird, and if the womb of the mother shelters the exquisite beauty of babyhood, why should we, in our dull and unimaginative sorrow, make the body the casket of the soul?

I am fond of the gospel that life is growth. It is continuous expansion of power, requiring new and varied forms with which to function. "There is a natural body. It is the form which the spirit takes when it comes into life an impotent babe. It grows and matures and becomes a man. It is a virgin page, on which not one line of meaning has been traced. Then that master body into a giant athlete. The tiny mind expands into the intellectual compass of a Newton. What we have called the growth of the body and brain has been the development of the spirit within, registering in physical form. Then with the weakening and wearing of the body, it becomes a limitation. The strings of Kreidler's violin have been snapped, but Kreidler still lives, and shall have another violin through which he may translate the matchless beauty of his soul.

The Harvest. Yes, here is a revelation in spiritual, as well as physical, biology. We shall live, but not in these bodies, which have played their splendid part in the evolution of our personalities. The body has reached its limit of usefulness. We have sown a natural body. There shall be a resurrection, but not of the body. It is not the seed-shell that needs a body. It is the seed life, but in a form so new and strange and beautiful, that we would not recognize it. The seed-shell could have contained it. It is not resurrection of the old body for which we look, but the resurrection of the spirit, which is immortal. It is about the consciousness of the worm-life which one moment is in its shell, and then suddenly is winging its way into the limitless realms of trees and flowers. First a natural body, and then a spiritual body. Wings may well become symbols of that marvellous change. The story of immortality is, from worm to wings.

There is not one of us who does not ask the anxious question, shall the change be so great that I shall not recognize one another? I love that sentence of the Apostle, "God giveth us a body, but to each seed a body of its own." Here is the touch of individuality, for which we are longing. We are not lost in the crowd. Each shall have his own body. It is not the seed-shell that needs a body. It is the seed life, but in a form so new and strange and beautiful, that we would not recognize it. The seed-shell could have contained it. It is not resurrection of the old body for which we look, but the resurrection of the spirit, which is immortal. It is about the consciousness of the worm-life which one moment is in its shell, and then suddenly is winging its way into the limitless realms of trees and flowers. First a natural body, and then a spiritual body. Wings may well become symbols of that marvellous change. The story of immortality is, from worm to wings.

There is not one of us who does not ask the anxious question, shall the change be so great that I shall not recognize one another? I love that sentence of the Apostle, "God giveth us a body, but to each seed a body of its own." Here is the touch of individuality, for which we are longing. We are not lost in the crowd. Each shall have his own body. It is not the seed-shell that needs a body. It is the seed life, but in a form so new and strange and beautiful, that we would not recognize it. The seed-shell could have contained it. It is not resurrection of the old body for which we look, but the resurrection of the spirit, which is immortal. It is about the consciousness of the worm-life which one moment is in its shell, and then suddenly is winging its way into the limitless realms of trees and flowers. First a natural body, and then a spiritual body. Wings may well become symbols of that marvellous change. The story of immortality is, from worm to wings.

There is not one of us who does not ask the anxious question, shall the change be so great that I shall not recognize one another? I love that sentence of the Apostle, "God giveth us a body, but to each seed a body of its own." Here is the touch of individuality, for which we are longing. We are not lost in the crowd. Each shall have his own body. It is not the seed-shell that needs a body. It is the seed life, but in a form so new and strange and beautiful, that we would not recognize it. The seed-shell could have contained it. It is not resurrection of the old body for which we look, but the resurrection of the spirit, which is immortal. It is about the consciousness of the worm-life which one moment is in its shell, and then suddenly is winging its way into the limitless realms of trees and flowers. First a natural body, and then a spiritual body. Wings may well become symbols of that marvellous change. The story of immortality is, from worm to wings.

There is not one of us who does not ask the anxious question, shall the change be so great that I shall not recognize one another? I love that sentence of the Apostle, "God giveth us a body, but to each seed a body of its own." Here is the touch of individuality, for which we are longing. We are not lost in the crowd. Each shall have his own body. It is not the seed-shell that needs a body. It is the seed life, but in a form so new and strange and beautiful, that we would not recognize it. The seed-shell could have contained it. It is not resurrection of the old body for which we look, but the resurrection of the spirit, which is immortal. It is about the consciousness of the worm-life which one moment is in its shell, and then suddenly is winging its way into the limitless realms of trees and flowers. First a natural body, and then a spiritual body. Wings may well become symbols of that marvellous change. The story of immortality is, from worm to wings.

There is not one of us who does not ask the anxious question, shall the change be so great that I shall not recognize one another? I love that sentence of the Apostle, "God giveth us a body, but to each seed a body of its own." Here is the touch of individuality, for which we are longing. We are not lost in the crowd. Each shall have his own body. It is not the seed-shell that needs a body. It is the seed life, but in a form so new and strange and beautiful, that we would not recognize it. The seed-shell could have contained it. It is not resurrection of the old body for which we look, but the resurrection of the spirit, which is immortal. It is about the consciousness of the worm-life which one moment is in its shell, and then suddenly is winging its way into the limitless realms of trees and flowers. First a natural body, and then a spiritual body. Wings may well become symbols of that marvellous change. The story of immortality is, from worm to wings.

There is not one of us who does not ask the anxious question, shall the change be so great that I shall not recognize one another? I love that sentence of the Apostle, "God giveth us a body, but to each seed a body of its own." Here is the touch of individuality, for which we are longing. We are not lost in the crowd. Each shall have his own body. It is not the seed-shell that needs a body. It is the seed life, but in a form so new and strange and beautiful, that we would not recognize it. The seed-shell could have contained it. It is not resurrection of the old body for which we look, but the resurrection of the spirit, which is immortal. It is about the consciousness of the worm-life which one moment is in its shell, and then suddenly is winging its way into the limitless realms of trees and flowers. First a natural body, and then a spiritual body. Wings may well become symbols of that marvellous change. The story of immortality is, from worm to wings.

There is not one of us who does not ask the anxious question, shall the change be so great that I shall not recognize one another? I love that sentence of the Apostle, "God giveth us a body, but to each seed a body of its own." Here is the touch of individuality, for which we are longing. We are not lost in the crowd. Each shall have his own body. It is not the seed-shell that needs a body. It is the seed life, but in a form so new and strange and beautiful, that we would not recognize it. The seed-shell could have contained it. It is not resurrection of the old body for which we look, but the resurrection of the spirit, which is immortal. It is about the consciousness of the worm-life which one moment is in its shell, and then suddenly is winging its way into the limitless realms of trees and flowers. First a natural body, and then a spiritual body. Wings may well become symbols of that marvellous change. The story of immortality is, from worm to wings.

There is not one of us who does not ask the anxious question, shall the change be so great that I shall not recognize one another? I love that sentence of the Apostle, "God giveth us a body, but to each seed a body of its own." Here is the touch of individuality, for which we are longing. We are not lost in the crowd. Each shall have his own body. It is not the seed-shell that needs a body. It is the seed life, but in a form so new and strange and beautiful, that we would not recognize it. The seed-shell could have contained it. It is not resurrection of the old body for which we look, but the resurrection of the spirit, which is immortal. It is about the consciousness of the worm-life which one moment is in its shell, and then suddenly is winging its way into the limitless realms of trees and flowers. First a natural body, and then a spiritual body. Wings may well become symbols of that marvellous change. The story of immortality is, from worm to wings.

There is not one of us who does not ask the anxious question, shall the change be so great that I shall not recognize one another? I love that sentence of the Apostle, "God giveth us a body, but to each seed a body of its own." Here is the touch of individuality, for which we are longing. We are not lost in the crowd. Each shall have his own body. It is not the seed-shell that needs a body. It is the seed life, but in a form so new and strange and beautiful, that we would not recognize it. The seed-shell could have contained it. It is not resurrection of the old body for which we look, but the resurrection of the spirit, which is immortal. It is about the consciousness of the worm-life which one moment is in its shell, and then suddenly is winging its way into the limitless realms of trees and flowers. First a natural body, and then a spiritual body. Wings may well become symbols of that marvellous change. The story of immortality is, from worm to wings.

There is not one of us who does not ask the anxious question, shall the change be so great that I shall not recognize one another? I love that sentence of the Apostle, "God giveth us a body, but to each seed a body of its own." Here is the touch of individuality, for which we are longing. We are not lost in the crowd. Each shall have his own body. It is not the seed-shell that needs a body. It is the seed life, but in a form so new and strange and beautiful, that we would not recognize it. The seed-shell could have contained it. It is not resurrection of the old body for which we look, but the resurrection of the spirit, which is immortal. It is about the consciousness of the worm-life which one moment is in its shell, and then suddenly is winging its way into the limitless realms of trees and flowers. First a natural body, and then a spiritual body. Wings may well become symbols of that marvellous change. The story of immortality is, from worm to wings.

There is not one of us who does not ask the anxious question, shall the change be so great that I shall not recognize one another? I love that sentence of the Apostle, "God giveth us a body, but to each seed a body of its own." Here is the touch of individuality, for which we are longing. We are not lost in the crowd. Each shall have his own body. It is not the seed-shell that needs a body. It is the seed life, but in a form so new and strange and beautiful, that we would not recognize it. The seed-shell could have contained it. It is not resurrection of the old body for which we look, but the resurrection of the spirit, which is immortal. It is about the consciousness of the worm-life which one moment is in its shell, and then suddenly is winging its way into the limitless realms of trees and flowers. First a natural body, and then a spiritual body. Wings may well become symbols of that marvellous change. The story of immortality is, from worm to wings.

There is not one of us who does not ask the anxious question, shall the change be so great that I shall not recognize one another? I love that sentence of the Apostle, "God giveth us a body, but to each seed a body of its own." Here is the touch of individuality, for which we are longing. We are not lost in the crowd. Each shall have his own body. It is not the seed-shell that needs a body. It is the seed life, but in a form so new and strange and beautiful, that we would not recognize it. The seed-shell could have contained it. It is not resurrection of the old body for which we look, but the resurrection of the spirit, which is immortal. It is about the consciousness of the worm-life which one moment is in its shell, and then suddenly is winging its way into the limitless realms of trees and flowers. First a natural body, and then a spiritual body. Wings may well become symbols of that marvellous change. The story of immortality is, from worm to wings.

LOOKING AND LISTENING

BY SAM W. SMALL

Meet Our New President and Get a Slant On His Idiosyncrasies.

It pleases me to learn from my correspondents in Washington city that the hard horse sense of President Hoover had led him to snuff out one of the White House nuisances.

He refuses to grab his hat, get up from his desk and trot out of doors to be photographed with every visiting delegation that wishes to take back home to Barraboo or Bullwinkle a big picture of themselves posing on the right and left flanks of the president.

Somewhat the icicle Coolidge was persuaded to do it, sometimes more than once a day, but whenever he did it he showed up in the picture looking like a boy trying to hide pumkin apples in his hat, or like a fellow captured to undergo an operation for appendicitis.

The White House offices became the haunt of the camera-men of commercial photographers, who boned the participants to order copies of the pictures at $2 per, and the gang generally fell for the graft.

Also the moving picture people had their camera revolvers on the spot to make reels for the picture shows all over the country. President Hoover has performed a public service by ending the practice.

Cuts Out the Yachting. The president has also relegated the presidential yacht—the gaudy Mayflower—to more useful service than week-ending the executive and a bunch of guests up and down the Potomac in the good old summer times. The officers and crew are put back into active service and their services of mid-week loafing around of Washington navy yard are at an end. Hine ille lachrymae—or other words to indicate the tears of the ensued situation.

President Hoover is an orthodox Quaker and will go to church on Sunday instead of to Mobjack bay and Old Point Comfort. The national capital badly needs some such conspicuous example of Sunday observance and reverence.

The president has also decried the White House stables, because the governor without earning it. White House carriages and landaus are no more of a vogue and the new president is not a fence-jumping horseman as "Rough Rider" Roosevelt was. Being an engineer and ultra-modern as to an engine and ultra-modern as to a horse.

asked to give the baby his bottle once in a while.

Dr. Watson, who believes the character of any child grows according to the circumstances of bringing-up, made this suggestion when asked how to remove fears of strange men from an infant girl. Just invite the woman in, he said, and ask him to present the bottle. Soon the baby will be getting friend with the iceman, and will no longer fear strangers.

All the time Dr. Watson has a staff conducting experiments with children, to learn how they react to stimuli. In a general way Dr. Watson is opposed to parents, because he feels that they have a baneful influence upon the children. He sends his two boys to different summer camps, so the younger will not be influenced by the older.

The founder of behaviorism is a vice president in a national advertising agency, where his ideas about influences and inhibitions function commercially. He is said to have a rare talent for estimating the feelings, as well as thoughts, of a client, and this talent is directed to practical ends.

The Background Of Foreign Affairs

Okefenokee Is Misnamed

"Swamp"; Is "Water Shed"

BY JACK WILLIAMS,
Editor and Publisher, Waycross
Journal-Herald.

Since the game refuge bill was signed by President Coolidge and it has become a law the movement to set aside the Okefenokee as a national reservation has taken on new life, and has also gained many additional supporters. Editors, senators, congressmen, naturalists and many other public-spirited citizens both in and out of the state are actively supporting the project with zeal and enthusiasm. Instead of calling this great primeval wilderness a swamp, I think it should be designated as a "water shed," since it is from 90 to 125 feet above the sea level, and it is two rivers take their rise within a few miles of each other. One flows north and empties into the Atlantic ocean; the other flows south and empties into the Gulf of Mexico. The rivers referred to are the Suwannee, famous in song and story, and the beautiful winding St. Marys, which empties into a dividing line between Georgia and Florida.

The Okefenokee lies in southeast Georgia and northern Florida and has never been fully explored. It covers about 660 square miles and is from 35 to 70 miles from the coast. Within this vast domain there are two principal islands. The larger is for the most part covered with a thick growth of trees common to this climate, principally pine, cypress, gum, oak, bay and magnolia.

Picturesque Names.
Among the larger islands are Billy's, Floyd's, Honey Bee, Scrub, Jack's, Cow House, Wax, Rowell's, Cuba, Pine, Craven's, Bugaboo, Black, Brown, Soldier, Camp, Strange, Fiddler's, Carry's Sock and Hog. Billy's island, one of the most important, received its name from Billy Bowlegs, the last of the Seminole chiefs to remain in the swamp. According to tradition Billy Bowlegs was low of stature and extremely bow-legged. Following the Indian custom of naming their chiefs and others by their physical characteristics, whether complimentary or otherwise, Billy Bowlegs acquired the name as given above.

On the lower lands there are dense forests of cypress, black gum, tupelo gum, and other swampy growth. Growing in muck, and where the muck is several feet deep trees are absent or nearly so, making open marshes known locally as prairies. These prairies are mostly on the eastern side of the swamp, and some of them have an area of several square miles. There are also some small bodies of water, known as lakes, most of which are channel tributaries to the Suwannee river. Over much of the swamp the water is so shallow that dry seasons for boating and the muck is too soft to walk on.

The Okefenokee is in a class by itself. It is not a swamp, but a water shed. While the outsiders of this great wilderness and the western portion of the state are generally ignorant of a swamp, the greater portion of the interior is so entirely different that no one word can adequately describe it. With the exception of the aquatic plants growing so thickly as to present the appearance of a tidal marsh, water courses, from a few feet to a hundred feet deep, wind their way almost carelessly across the water plain. Here and there a tussock crowned with shrubs and small trees rises above the general level of the terrain, while the horizon is fringed with ancient cypress trees, every limb draped with long beads of gray moss. These are the sections known as prairies.

Flowers in Profusion.
Flowers grow in rich profusion throughout the swamp. Vast scores of ferns may be seen, and the water lilies creep up through the scum and mud, of such coloring as one seldom sees. The fragrant colors from the bay, magnolia, tupelo, wild yellow yucca and other flowers are only rivaled by the orange glows of sunny Florida.

The boat trials through which the Okefenokee is made so interesting are choked with a most luxuriant growth of aquatic vegetation. Pickerel weed, water lilies, fire lilies are among the plants and flowers that float on the sluggish surface or emerge above it. The channels of the water courses, while well defined, show no banks when the water level is normal, but are lined with masses of sphagnum moss mixed with other vegetation which present the appearance of solid ground, but which, when the weight of any one who trusts himself upon them, rising again when the weight is removed. A pole thrust into these floating masses and the boatmen quiver for a considerable distance from where the pole is inserted, thus illustrating the derivation of the name of the region from the Indian words "ouga fenoka," or trembling earth.

Many Bird Species.
Scientists who have visited the swamp have counted 85 species of birds there in the summer months and that the number increases during the winter. They range from the tiny song sparrow to the great, interesting collection are the great sandhill crane, heron, American plum, egret, nine species of wild duck, the common rail, the blue-winged teal, bald-headed gannet and many of the smaller birds common to this section, such as quail, snipe, plover, etc. On many of the islands the wild turkey is found with all of its beautiful coloring.

During the winter months wild ducks visit this section in large numbers, and afford a most interesting view from the green head malar to the wood duck, the latter being native to this section and bred in the swamp. The health in and around the swamp is exceptionally good. I know of one family of 12 living in the swamp in whose home no physician has ever entered, and the father of this family at the age of 63 had never been sick a day in his life. Although careful investigation has been made by government experts no trace of the malarial mosquito has ever been found in the swamp, and there are very few if any mosquitoes in that section.

Fish Unlimited.
A well-known traveler and writer who is familiar with the fishing in the swamp ventures the assertion that there are more fish and better sport in the Okefenokee than any water space covering the same area in the world. The fishing is done in the numerous lakes and in the canal 24 miles long which winds its way to the Suwannee Canal Company. Despite the number of fish caught in recent years the supply seems unlimited. This is no doubt due to the wonderful facilities afforded for the hatching and feeding of fish in the secluded creeks and lakes, which restock the more open spaces during high water.

The principal wild animals of the Okefenokee are those which were common to this section when it was in the Okefenokee than any water space covering the same area in the world. The fishing is done in the numerous lakes and in the canal 24 miles long which winds its way to the Suwannee Canal Company. Despite the number of fish caught in recent years the supply seems unlimited. This is no doubt due to the wonderful facilities afforded for the hatching and feeding of fish in the secluded creeks and lakes, which restock the more open spaces during high water.

The principal wild animals of the Okefenokee are those which were common to this section when it was in the Okefenokee than any water space covering the same area in the world. The fishing is done in the numerous lakes and in the canal 24 miles long which winds its way to the Suwannee Canal Company. Despite the number of fish caught in recent years the supply seems unlimited. This is no doubt due to the wonderful facilities afforded for the hatching and feeding of fish in the secluded creeks and lakes, which restock the more open spaces during high water.

BACKGROUND OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS

Continued From Preceding Page.

awkward questions of naval rivalry and the freedom of the seas. . . . Doubtless there are some die-hard conservatives who look with envy on the election in Italy. The Italian government has discovered a way to hold a national election without any of the anxiety which usually accompanies such an event. If Mr. Mussolini did not sleep as well the night before election as any other night in his life his insomnia must have had some other cause.

The beauty of the new Italian system is that it gives the voters a chance exactly what the result will be—an overwhelming victory for the government. Of course, the fascists do not like the matter in just this way. They are at great pains to explain that this is a wholly new kind of election, the old, and to the voters, the new system is a new representative on a territorial basis has been abandoned. Instead of representing a particular district, with all its conflicting economic interests, the newly elected deputies represent specific economic interests for the whole country.

The most interested student of politics is apt to exclaim at once that this is merely a new version of the Russian soviet system—that is, he would say, the new system is a new representative on a territorial basis has been abandoned. Instead of representing a particular district, with all its conflicting economic interests, the newly elected deputies represent specific economic interests for the whole country.

Of course, the government does not name the candidates in either case. That would be absurd. The Italian candidates were all named by the economic syndicates or the corporations which are the basis of the new fascist "corporative state." The government merely controls the corporations.

Then the voters have the right to vote. We are assured by Italian correspondents that this right was not hampered in any way and that no attempt was made to intimidate the voters. They were perfectly free to vote for the candidates so nominated, or to vote against them.

They could vote for other candidates. That would not do at all. For that savors of democracy and as is well known, Mr. Mussolini has found democracy unsatisfactory. The voters were asked to vote "yes" on the list of referred them, or vote "no" and take the consequences, immediate or more remote.

Small wonder the prime and other ministers had no fear of the outcome. If by chance a majority of the votes had been "no," but there was no such chance. So that need not detain us here.

Psychology Lecture.

A special Easter lecture "The Interpretation of Easter Symbols" will be given by Rev. Mac Mearns at 3:30 o'clock in the mahogany room of the Ansley hotel.

APRIL . . . the Month of Diamonds

Diamond is the birthstone for April. A world of romance is represented in these beautiful stones . . . the romantic history of diamond mining in India, Brazil and South Africa . . . thrilling stories of adventure and intrigue concerning the famous diamonds of the world . . . the romance of diamond-cutting and its present-day development . . . and the very permanence of diamonds is an interesting story in itself.

There are many gifts which you may purchase which are of passing fancy, but none will live on as a beautiful diamond. Especially appropriate for one who celebrates her birthday in April are gifts of diamond-platinum jewelry. Our collection affords a choice from a large variety of distinctive designs, including many magnificent fancy-shaped diamonds. Very wide price range.

MAIER & BERKELE, Inc.
For forty-two years the leading jewelers of the South.
111 Peachtree St. Established 1887

Wants To Know The Remedy For Enforcement Evils

Editor Constitution: Please permit me to congratulate you upon your timely and logical editorial appearing in The Constitution of March 28 under the title of "A Vicious System," in which you deplored the ruthless murder of an innocent woman in Aurora, Ill., by a deputy sheriff engaged in conducting a semi-legal search for whisky. It means nothing to wild-eyed fanatics that only a gallon of medicinal wine was discovered in the home of the man who was clubbed to death because he had the opinion that he had a right to repeat the invasion of his domicile.

The approval of this horrible murder by Dr. Clarence True Wilson, secretary of the National Board of Prohibition, was not unexpected, but his opinion should be regarded merely as that of a man who in the pursuit of his hobby had allowed his mind to become immune to reason. This man does not represent the best thought of the intelligent citizenry.

How long shall fanaticism be allowed to reign unrestrained throughout the United States?

As a matter of fact and law, no person except in self-defense, unless a legal reward has been offered for that person dead or alive. It is not a violation of any written law for the sheriff to attempt to escape from an officer, or refuse to "halt" in compliance with a command, and when a sheriff, deputy sheriff or prohibition hound has allowed himself to be shot without legal ground and kills him, he is guilty of murder—a murderer in the estimation of the law and of God.

In Georgia state and federal officers frequently violate the law in an attempt to discover whether or not a person is a householder. The law is clear: a householder has the right to refuse to allow a search of his premises, and if he is shot while refusing, he is guilty of murder.

Has a state or federal officer the right to violate one law in the imaginary enforcement of another? About two years ago the sheriff of Georgia county shot at a fleeing automobile because the driver refused to stop upon demand. The shot killed a young woman occupant of the car. The sheriff had no legal ground, and he was aware of this. The commission of any crime. The death of the young woman was "declared an accident."

By whom and under what process of law can the willful murder of a woman be declared an accident?

Cannot something be accomplished for the relief of the situation as now developing throughout the country?

JACK L. PATTERSON,
Sunny Side, Ga., March 28, 1929.

Florida Calling For Reduction Of Her Counties

Editor Constitution: Your editorial entitled "Florida Calling" in last Sunday's Constitution warrants me in sending you an editorial from the Tampa Tribune of March 16 of this year.

It would seem that if the state of Florida realizes that it is burdened with too many counties, surely we in Georgia must realize the same serious consideration. It is of interest to point out certain facts; the area of Georgia is 59,475 square miles; the area of Florida is 58,880 square miles. Georgia has 101 counties with an average area of 370 square miles per county; Florida 67 counties with an average area of 878 square miles per county. Accurate census figures as of present date are not available, but it is probable that the population of Georgia is 2,200,000, is double that of Florida.

In the days of horse-drawn vehicles when a visit to the county seat from a remote section required many hours on the road there may have been a real need for smaller counties, but now when practically every family in the state has an automobile and the ride of 30 miles can be made in about an hour there is no practical, economic reason for so many small counties.

May I make the liberty of expressing the earnest wish that the movement you have so long urged may bring positive results to the overburdened taxpayers?

J. HOUTSTON JOINTON,
Tampa, Fla.

Too Many Counties.

(From the Tampa Morning Tribune.)
A timely suggestion in the line of economy is made by the Star Telegraph to the effect that smaller counties be consolidated. The voters of surplus officeholders. Florida has 67 counties—about 20 more than it really needs. In recent years there has been a craze for the creation of new counties. Each of these means a new crop of officeholders. Each means added expense to the taxpayers, and the larger the number of counties the more the expense. The multiplicity of counties that the total millage paid by Florida property owners has increased unreasonably.

One of the present-day Florida counties could be put out of existence—several merged into one or smaller ones rejoined to those from which they were severed—with excellent results in saving to taxpayers.

Spring Song

Oh, don't you hear that mocking bird?
My! My! How it can sing!
It's got my blood to boiling with.
The happiness of spring.

'Twas just last month the aches and pains
Had me quite down and out;
But that sweet bird has got me up
And frisking all about.

Suppose it is the daffodils
That makes him feel so good;
For he's taking on as if
He owned the whole wood.

Oh, don't you hear that mocking bird?
The music in its song:
So take this crutch; give me that
—JENNIE M. DELOACH.

It's Good To Be Alive
BY MAYBELLE MAYNE PORTER

When the sun is all a-shining,
And the birds are singing sweet,
There's no time for sad repining,
Catch the happiness so fleet!

Take all the joy that is coming,
Now, grasp it and hold it tight!
You will find some with each morning
In God's brightly gleaming light.

If dark sorrows come a-stealing,
Just you make the best of them;
Try to find a silver lining
Try to find it, with a vim!

For it's good to be a-living,
When the sun is shining, when the gloom
When our Lord, His love is giving,
And the flowers are in bloom.

Bishop, Ga., March 28, 1929.

New Light on Lord Nelson's Romance With Lady Hamilton Given by Letters

Cambridge, Mass.—(Special.)—New and interesting angles on one of the most famous romances in history, that of Lord Nelson, England's greatest naval hero, and Lady Emma Hamilton, have just come to light as a result of a recent gift to the Harvard college library of a collection of original letters written by these two personages and Sir William Hamilton, Lady Emma's husband.

This collection of letters, together with the log book of Nelson's flagship Victory, during the years when he was blockading Toulon, with letters to his flag captain and official biographer, Sir John Barrow, is known as the Joseph Hamilton collection. Through the generosity of Mr. Husband and of a few other Harvard alumni, this valuable collection is now the property of the university, where historical experts of this period of English history are now studying them.

The total collection of letters numbers almost 600, and it are in the original handwriting. Many of them have never been published and were unknown to historians. Until the collection was made available to study the new acquisitions, many interesting points in the lives of these three romantic figures cannot be fully revealed. But the samples in the collection, to illustrate their importance and general character, the Harvard library authorities selected a number of letters and made them available to the public yesterday together with a will of Lady Hamilton's written in October, 1808.

Letter to Sir William.
The first of these letters was written on August 31, 1805, and it is addressed to Sir William Hamilton, who was then in command of the ship Agamemnon of the English Mediterranean fleet. In September of the previous year he had made the acquaintance of the Hamiltons at Naples. Sir William was then the English plenipotentiary extraordinary at the court of Ferdinand IV, and two years before had married his mistress, the notorious Emma Lyon, who had been the intimate friend and adviser of Queen Maria Carolina.

The letter is considered important as offering apparent corroboration to the belief of many historians that the love affair between Nelson and Lady Emma had no effect on his first visit to Naples. It is formal in style and seems to give evidence that he was not intimate with the Hamiltons at the time of the closing of the letter reads as follows:

"I should have been glad to have paid my personal respects to yourself and Lady Hamilton, had the state of the weather allowed it. But the ship's crew are so totally worn out that we were glad to get into the first port to endeavor to restore them to health. I am, however, deprived of that pleasure. With respectful compliments to Lady Hamilton, believe me Dear Sir, Your Most Obedient and Faithful Servant, Horatio Nelson."

This letter is also important in the fact that it was written in Nelson's right-hand script. Following the attack of the Thesus on Santa Cruz de Tenerife in July, 1797, and the loss of his right arm by amputation, he wrote with his left hand. His left-hand script, however, was always unformed and nearly illegible, as he never attained any proficiency in it.

Nelson returned to Naples in September, 1798, after his great victory in the Battle of the Nile, and for the next two years was a virtual tool in the hands of the queen and her son, the king. The queen, Maria Carolina, and her son, the king, were both devoted to Nelson, and he himself had agreed we should all be buried near each other if the king had granted him a public funeral in the city of Naples. Nelson, however, was so much attached to each other from virtue and friendship should have been laid in one grave when the king died. His left hand, however, was so much attached to each other from virtue and friendship should have been laid in one grave when the king died.

"If I can be buried in St. Paul's I should be very happy to be near the glorious Nelson whom I loved and who was so much attached to me. I have been so much attached to each other from virtue and friendship should have been laid in one grave when the king died. His left hand, however, was so much attached to each other from virtue and friendship should have been laid in one grave when the king died.

"I hope she will live and be a mother to Nelson's child Horatia. I beg that Merton may be sold and all debts paid and whatever money he has left over I desire to be paid to my dear mother, and after her death, to my dear Horatia Nelson."

The will then goes on to dispose of her possessions, which were few, to her mother and Horatia, and pleads for protection for her daughter. It also deals with her debts, and she gives to her mother and Horatia, and pleads for protection for her daughter. It also deals with her debts, and she gives to her mother and Horatia, and pleads for protection for her daughter.

"I think before March is over you will either see us back, or so vicariously that we shall insure a glorious future for our children."

'Five Acre Better Cotton Contest' Results Are Praised by Westbrook

E. C. Westbrook, cotton specialist for the Georgia State College of Agriculture, was in Atlanta this week and was enthusiastic about results being obtained through the "Five-Acre More and Better Cotton Per Acre" contest.

Mr. Westbrook said the cotton contest is doing more to get cotton production on a paying basis than anything else the college has ever done. He said that 947 farmers enrolled in the contest, and that 291 of those made complete reports. A detailed account of how each one of these 291 farmers made their cotton, the kind and amount of fertilizer used and other interesting information has been published in bulletin form. This bulletin will be mailed free to those requesting it as long as the supply lasts.

Mr. Westbrook said that 231 farmers produced 1,257 bales on 1,155 acres at an average of 544 pounds of cotton per acre. Their profit was $63.42 per acre and the average production cost was 10.12 cents per pound of lint. J. M. Smith, of Smith's, produced 6,150 pounds of lint cotton on his five acres, the largest yield made in the contest, but W. H. Camp, of Villa Rica, had much the largest yield of 6,150 pounds of lint and the highest cost was 45 cents.

Profit and Yield.
Mr. Westbrook said that the profit and yield per acre was a good relation to yield per acre. The 15 farmers who made an average yield of two bales per acre had a profit of $135 per acre. Their production cost was 10.12 cents per pound of lint. The average yield of 544 pounds of lint per acre had a profit of $63.42 per acre. Their production cost was 10.12 cents per pound of lint.

The average yield of 544 pounds of lint per acre had a profit of $63.42 per acre. Their production cost was 10.12 cents per pound of lint. The average yield of 544 pounds of lint per acre had a profit of $63.42 per acre. Their production cost was 10.12 cents per pound of lint.

The average yield of 544 pounds of lint per acre had a profit of $63.42 per acre. Their production cost was 10.12 cents per pound of lint. The average yield of 544 pounds of lint per acre had a profit of $63.42 per acre. Their production cost was 10.12 cents per pound of lint.

The average yield of 544 pounds of lint per acre had a profit of $63.42 per acre. Their production cost was 10.12 cents per pound of lint. The average yield of 544 pounds of lint per acre had a profit of $63.42 per acre. Their production cost was 10.12 cents per pound of lint.

The average yield of 544 pounds of lint per acre had a profit of $63.42 per acre. Their production cost was 10.12 cents per pound of lint. The average yield of 544 pounds of lint per acre had a profit of $63.42 per acre. Their production cost was 10.12 cents per pound of lint.

The average yield of 544 pounds of lint per acre had a profit of $63.42 per acre. Their production cost was 10.12 cents per pound of lint. The average yield of 544 pounds of lint per acre had a profit of $63.42 per acre. Their production cost was 10.12 cents per pound of lint.

ous issue to our tolls. Think what my Emma will feel at seeing return, perhaps with a little more fame, her own dear loving Nelson."

On the next day he added a postscript: "Kiss and bless our dear Horatia, think of that."

At puzzling point in this letter is Nelson's expressed belief that Horatia was Lady Emma's first child, whereas all historians are agreed that she was the second. Nelson's children even before she met Sir William Hamilton.

His Prophecy Fulfilled.
The reference to having a victorious return is concerned with his impending departure for Denmark to engage the Danish fleet in battle. A short while previously Nelson had been made vice admiral. His prophecy of victory was fulfilled when on April 2 he won the Battle of Copenhagen.

Another letter, which was also written just before he sailed for Denmark, on March 2, 1801. He tells Lady Emma how sorry he is to leave her, and says: "Damn those that would make you false, but I know you will be true and faithful." Later in the letter he says: "My mind is fixed that if ever the damned fellow is admitted into your company then your Nelson is rejected, and I would sooner believe the world to be at an end than to see you with him."

It was well known at the time that Nelson was jealous of the Prince of Wales (later George IV), and it is not surprising that his jealousy is reflected in the letter. The Prince of Wales had been the lover of Lady Emma, and it is not surprising that his jealousy is reflected in the letter.

In the summer of 1801 Nelson returned to England, and in the next year he was made commander-in-chief of the Mediterranean fleet and sailed on his last voyage. He was killed in the Battle of Trafalgar, and his body was brought back to England and buried in St. Paul's.

A "Most Secret Memo."
The seventh of the documents published is a "most secret memo" written on March 11, 1805, from the victory by Nelson to Captain Baynton, in command of the ship Leviathan. It contains orders as to the disposition of the ship's crew, and it is of great historical importance, because it was in the ensuing shift of the vessel to the French fleet at Toulon, Napoleon was preparing for a great attack on England, but he needed command of the seas.

The seventh of the documents published is a "most secret memo" written on March 11, 1805, from the victory by Nelson to Captain Baynton, in command of the ship Leviathan. It contains orders as to the disposition of the ship's crew, and it is of great historical importance, because it was in the ensuing shift of the vessel to the French fleet at Toulon, Napoleon was preparing for a great attack on England, but he needed command of the seas.

The seventh of the documents published is a "most secret memo" written on March 11, 1805, from the victory by Nelson to Captain Baynton, in command of the ship Leviathan. It contains orders as to the disposition of the ship's crew, and it is of great historical importance, because it was in the ensuing shift of the vessel to the French fleet at Toulon, Napoleon was preparing for a great attack on England, but he needed command of the seas.

The seventh of the documents published is a "most secret memo" written on March 11, 1805, from the victory by Nelson to Captain Baynton, in command of the ship Leviathan. It contains orders as to the disposition of the ship's crew, and it is of great historical importance, because it was in the ensuing shift of the vessel to the French fleet at Toulon, Napoleon was preparing for a great attack on England, but he needed command of the seas.

The seventh of the documents published is a "most secret memo" written on March 11, 1805, from the victory by Nelson to Captain Baynton, in command of the ship Leviathan. It contains orders as to the disposition of the ship's crew, and it is of great historical importance, because it was in the ensuing shift of the vessel to the French fleet at Toulon, Napoleon was preparing for a great attack on England, but he needed command of the seas.

The seventh of the documents published is a "most secret memo" written on March 11, 1805, from the victory by Nelson to Captain Baynton, in command of the ship Leviathan. It contains orders as to the disposition of the ship's crew, and it is of great historical importance, because it was in the ensuing shift of the vessel to the French fleet at Toulon, Napoleon was preparing for a great attack on England, but he needed command of the seas.

The seventh of the documents published is a "most secret memo" written on March 11, 1805, from the victory by Nelson to Captain Baynton, in command of the ship Leviathan. It contains orders as to the disposition of the ship's crew, and it is of great historical importance, because it was in the ensuing shift of the vessel to the French fleet at Toulon, Napoleon was preparing for a great attack on England, but he needed command of the seas.

The seventh of the documents published is a "most secret memo" written on March 11, 1805, from the victory by Nelson to Captain Baynton, in command of the ship Leviathan. It contains orders as to the disposition of the ship's crew, and it is of great historical importance, because it was in the ensuing shift of the vessel to the French fleet at Toulon, Napoleon was preparing for a great attack on England, but he needed command of the seas.

The seventh of the documents published is a "most secret memo" written on March 11, 1805, from the victory by Nelson to Captain Baynton, in command of the ship Leviathan. It contains orders as to the disposition of the ship's crew, and it is of great historical importance, because it was in the ensuing shift of the vessel to the French fleet at Toulon, Napoleon was preparing for a great attack on England, but he needed command of the seas.

The seventh of the documents published is a "most secret memo" written on March 11, 1805, from the victory by Nelson to Captain Baynton, in command of the ship Leviathan. It contains orders as to the disposition of the ship's crew, and it is of great historical importance, because it was in the ensuing shift of the vessel to the French fleet at Toulon, Napoleon was preparing for a great attack on England, but he needed command of the seas.

The seventh of the documents published is a "most secret memo" written on March 11, 1805, from the victory by Nelson to Captain Baynton, in command of the ship Leviathan. It contains orders as to the disposition of the ship's crew, and it is of great historical importance, because it was in the ensuing shift of the vessel to the French fleet at Toulon, Napoleon was preparing for a great attack on England, but he needed command of the seas.

The seventh of the documents published is a "most secret memo" written on March 11, 1805, from the victory by Nelson to Captain Baynton, in command of the ship Leviathan. It contains orders as to the disposition of the ship's crew, and it is of great historical importance, because it was in the ensuing shift of the vessel to the French fleet at Toulon, Napoleon was preparing for a great attack on England, but he needed command of the seas.

The seventh of the documents published is a "most secret memo" written on March 11, 1805, from the victory by Nelson to Captain Baynton, in command of the ship Leviathan. It contains orders as to the disposition of the ship's crew, and it is of great historical importance, because it was in the ensuing shift of the vessel to the French fleet at Toulon, Napoleon was preparing for a great attack on England, but he needed command of the seas.

Plea of Visitor For Better Highways Here in Georgia

Editor Constitution: Returning from a business trip to Georgia where, each morning we enjoyed The Constitution for 100 years, certain points of interest I put out in memory.

Rolling over the old National trail and Dixie highways, through Cincinnati, Lexington, Knoxville and Chattanooga, the cheerful little car sang down the valleys and over the mountains with the sunshine growing more golden, the air more balmy, with beauty everywhere—a pleasant memory. Reaching Georgia we plunged head-on into three miles of mud with resulting depression, and depression, and depression. After the fray the writer felt one of our boys hunting Washington after the first battle of Bull Run and the resemblance must have been striking.

Wanting to congratulate The Constitution on its fight to get Georgia out of the mud. This standing for progress and development is in line with its tradition and history. Georgia, rather than that reason, we can think of no better investment than in fine highways to take care of the exodus of tourists to and from the nation's playground and for home use and pride—the thing needing most.

We had the pleasure of meeting the editor of the Carroll County Times, who is putting up a good fight for progress. Having some leisure we made closer acquaintance with the life and work of Sidney Lanier, "Uncle Remus," and Stanton and John Barrow, and the handwriting of both Sir William and Lady Hamilton on the same sheet of paper. The signature, "Nelson & Emma," is a beautiful example of the handwriting of both Sir William and Lady Hamilton on the same sheet of paper.

The most pleasing memory of our neighbors in Georgia is of their kindness and hospitality, giving leisure to the amenities of life. At the end of the visit, unwilling to risk another Manassas for fear of repeating the mud, we took the train to the highways of North Carolina, up through the Shenandoah valley of "Old Virginia," over the Great Smoky Mountains, and on to the home of the folks and climate of Dixie.

J. H. LOWRY.

SIX BABY HEALTH CENTERS LISTED FOR COMING WEEK

Dr. J. P. Kennedy, city health officer, announces baby health centers for the week as follows:

Tuesday, East Lake school and Adair school; Wednesday, Grant Park school; Thursday, Grant Park school; Friday, Pryor Street school. Mothers are invited to bring their babies to the centers for examination. All centers begin promptly at 1:30 p. m.

Professor Morris, of the University German Chair, Favors Extension Plan

Editor Constitution: I wish to thank you for your editorial remarks concerning the German language. I am a German and I am proud of it. I have been associated with him for more than 25 years and rank as a professor in this department.

I should like to see the German language in our schools and would be taking a more active part to bring it into our schools. I am in full accord with my effort to restore German to our schools and would be taking a more active part to bring it into our schools.

Again thanking you for your interest

THE AUTOMOBILE INDUSTRY CONTINUES TO LEAD AMERICAN BUSINESS IN GIGANTIC UPSWING; EMPLOYMENT AT PEAK

NASH STEERING GEARS SAME AS SEGRAVE'S

Kenosha, Wis., March 30.—Perfect steering control was a major factor in enabling Major H. O. D. Segrave to send his 900-horsepower Golden Arrow race car over the measured mile of the famous Daytona Beach race course at the terrific speed of 231.362 miles an hour for a new world's speed record. On completion of his great run, the Daytona champion declared that the Marles steering gear, employed on the powerful British car, which is the same type as that used on Nash advanced Six "400" models, gave him "the complete satisfaction."

Nash Motors Company engineers followed the performance of this steering system and the major's masterly use of it with intense interest. They see in his flashing success another powerful illustration of the importance of that sturdy, dependable and highly sensitive steering system plus in modern motoring and safeguarding the lives of all drivers. For the slightest deflection from the course at that terrific speed entailed certain death for the gallant pilot.

The average motorist, they point out, will never live to subject his steering system to the awful strain it had to undergo in the beach speed trials, but the drivers of Nash advanced Six "400" models are doubly secure in the knowledge that the same type of Marles gear that brought Segrave through is used in these famous stock cars. This system, which supplies the new Nash cars with the easiest steering control so far achieved, was developed to its present perfection through the co-operation of Nash and General Motors Company engineers. Chief engineers of the Nash Motors Company worked personally with General Segrave in improving and perfecting the Marles gear, and share in the credit for its remarkable efficiency.

Steering the powerful special racer over the Daytona course at nearly four miles a minute requires absolute accuracy on the part of the steering gear. Major Segrave employed the Marles gear on his Golden Arrow, which he had red bull-eye lights suspended over the middle of the course and guided through them by two special sights. One was a device of crossed wires set in a circle on the nose of the car which centered with a marked light sight on the middle of the course and the other was a device of crossed wires set in a circle on the nose of the car which centered with a marked light sight on the middle of the course and the other was a device of crossed wires set in a circle on the nose of the car which centered with a marked light sight on the middle of the course.

WILLYS-KNIGHTS SHOW ARTISTRY

Willys-Overland, in presenting an entirely new line of Willys-Knight sixes, strikingly different from all previous models, has met the new style demand and an engine performance that sets a new high standard of performance, indicates that these new cars will register throughout 1929 the greatest sales mark ever reached in the Willys-Knight history.

The work of designing the new Willys-Knight six is stated by more than a year ago the designers and body designers being given full sway to produce a line of Knight-engineered vehicles that would strike a new note of style, quality and performance in the Willys-Knight six price classification.

In this work all of the vast manufacturing facilities of the Willys-Overland organization were placed at the disposal of these men, resulting in the new line of Knight-engineered cars which executives of the company declare will reach a sales volume during the current year in excess of any previous sales record in Willys-Knight history.

The bodies are characterized by entirely new lines beginning at the newly designed radiator and continuing on back to the carefully rounded rear quarters. These new lines are enhanced through the employment of sweeping one-piece full crown fenders and the five wire wheels, which are standard equipment on all models. The wheel is mounted in a fender well on the right forward fender, this being in keeping with the latest practice in design among the higher priced cars.

"I have never seen the morale of our dealers so high as at present," said Mr. Tracy. "In the entire country I found no complaints about business and discovered nothing but optimism. Prosperity of the nation is apparently general, both industrial and agricultural districts being in good condition. In the south a good cotton year has left its mark and the industrial development of that section is coming along at a surprisingly rapid rate."

With February setting a new high output figure for the month, despite weather that affected sales adversely in many sections, we may look for records to topple consistently when warm weather opens up the rush of spring buying. Our own organization bettered last February by 3,000 units and more than trebled our output in the same month of 1927, while in March we have launched upon schedules that I believe will establish a new high record for any one month in our history.

Clyde Langford's Assistant Manager

J. C. MEACHAM.

On March 1 J. C. Meacham was appointed assistant to Mr. Langford in the management of the Plymouth Motor Corporation, prominent Ford dealer of Atlanta.

Before this connection, Mr. Meacham was for a number of years a member of the southern executive staff of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co.

BUYERS DEMAND PERFORMANCE, STYLE

"What must the automobile of today offer the modern, discriminating buyer?"

The answer is "performance and style," according to L. G. Peed, general sales manager for the De Soto Motor Corporation, a division of Chrysler Motors. This was the consensus of opinion in a recent, nationwide survey by De Soto sales engineers and it tells the story of the remarkable success of this car since its introduction to the public last August, Mr. Peed said.

"This survey was important because it gave us a definite picture of the popular car of today compared with the car of a few years ago," he continued. "While the prestige and reputation of the manufacturer are of prime importance now, the buyer, particularly in the field of the popular priced six, places performance and style above all else."

"The buyer wants to know first of all what is new about the car he is interested in, and then he wants to know how it is better than the old model. He wants to learn what innovations introduced by the maker increase its dependability, its safety, its economy, its control without sacrificing other features of equal importance. While the De Soto Six style, its lines and general appearance, stand out prominently compared with other cars of much higher price, it is its behavior on the open road and in congested city traffic that has been mainly responsible for De Soto popularity. It explains why its reputation is that of a wonderfully performing six of the highest quality performance."

"The motorist who knows what cars can be depended upon, the manufacturer who has built up permanent prestige, not only keeping pace with the times but leading the field with new refinements in style, comfort and dependability."

"The answer to this urge for newness is found in the De Soto Six. Everywhere, there is a touch of startling originality that reflects outstanding progress in style and behavior and it is in these things the public is interested. No longer does the car owner have ringing in his ears the words of the old song, the plague of the motorist, 'the car is old, the car is old, the car is old.' Whether as driver or passenger, he can have faith in the motor and is more interested in features which add to the pleasure, please the eye and make for comfort."

Record Auto Prosperity Seen for Oakland This Year

Pontiac, Mich., March 30.—Completion of a 16,000-mile trip to America's leading merchandising centers has definitely settled in the mind of W. R. Tracy, vice president in charge of sales of the Oakland Motor Car Company, that the United States has embarked upon what bids fair to prove its year of greatest prosperity. Particularly is this true of the automobile industry, which, he says, shows every promise of eclipsing any previous year by a sizeable margin. On the road almost continuously for two months, Mr. Tracy visited 150 Oakland-Pontiac dealers in all parts of the country, in addition to nine districts and three regional offices.

"I have never seen the morale of our dealers so high as at present," said Mr. Tracy. "In the entire country I found no complaints about business and discovered nothing but optimism. Prosperity of the nation is apparently general, both industrial and agricultural districts being in good condition. In the south a good cotton year has left its mark and the industrial development of that section is coming along at a surprisingly rapid rate."

With February setting a new high output figure for the month, despite weather that affected sales adversely in many sections, we may look for records to topple consistently when warm weather opens up the rush of spring buying. Our own organization bettered last February by 3,000 units and more than trebled our output in the same month of 1927, while in March we have launched upon schedules that I believe will establish a new high record for any one month in our history.

ENTIRE STAFF DESIGNED THE NEW ROOSEVELT

The entire engineering laboratories and testing facilities of the Marmon Company were employed in proving the new Roosevelt Eight before it was placed into production, according to Colonel Howard Marmon, vice president in charge of engineering of the Marmon Motor Car Company, and one of the most widely known automotive engineers in the country.

The famous Indianapolis Motor Speedway, the scene each year of America's premier 500-mile race classic, was used in strenuous day and night tests for months. Colonel Marmon said, and these tests were supplemented by grueling trials in remote parts of the country where hazardous and difficult driving conditions are to be encountered.

"The basic straight-eight design of the Roosevelt motor already has been proved thoroughly in other Marmon products—proved not only in the engineering laboratory but in the actual hands of owners." Colonel Marmon continued. "But in addition, a long period of months was occupied in proving the Roosevelt on the speedway, in the desert and in the mountains before it was placed into production."

"It has long been the opinion of automotive engineers that the Indianapolis speedway is one of the most effective proving grounds in the world. Marmon, by virtue of its location, is unusually fortunate in having easy access to the well-known two and one-half mile track for day in and day out testing, a practice that was followed with the Roosevelt as well as with every other Marmon product for years."

"Contrary to the casual opinion of those who have witnessed an annual 500-mile race on the Indianapolis track, the surface is not smooth and carefully groomed as would be expected where great speed is required. Built 20 years ago of brick, the Indianapolis track has become noted for its roughness of surface, and race drivers agree that the Memorial Day 500-mile race each year is the most difficult race in the world."

"Engineers have estimated that in making one lap of the track at any speed over a mile a minute, more than 13,000,000 vibrations are set up in the structure of an automobile. The sturdiest parts and best methods of construction have been used in the construction in many cars subjected to speedway tests."

"Birthplace of Straight Eight." "It was on this very Indianapolis speedway that the straight-eight type of motor came into prominence. First appearing in competition ten years ago, the straight-eight motor has now found its way into the annual 500-mile race. Gradually at first, and then rapidly, the straight-eight type of motor has won its way into the hands of the public, and in the last five years, every position in the money has been won by cars with eight-in-line motors."

"The Marmon straight-eight motor was fourth and tenth places in the annual 500-mile race. Gradually at first, and then rapidly, the straight-eight type of motor has won its way into the hands of the public, and in the last five years, every position in the money has been won by cars with eight-in-line motors."

"The Marmon straight-eight motor was fourth and tenth places in the annual 500-mile race. Gradually at first, and then rapidly, the straight-eight type of motor has won its way into the hands of the public, and in the last five years, every position in the money has been won by cars with eight-in-line motors."

"The Marmon straight-eight motor was fourth and tenth places in the annual 500-mile race. Gradually at first, and then rapidly, the straight-eight type of motor has won its way into the hands of the public, and in the last five years, every position in the money has been won by cars with eight-in-line motors."

Inaugural March Is Termed Auto's Progress Story

The scene is Pennsylvania avenue, stage of America's greatest pageants, thoroughfare down which 30 of the 31 presidents of the United States have traveled to take the oath of office, and up which they have returned an hour or so later the uncrowned kings of a coronation ceremony of progress. A band plays martial airs. In full dress the military comes. The thousands lining the avenue are all eyes to catch a glimpse of him who has reached that place to which every American boy has the right to aspire, the throne of all the millions who have lived and died since the United States earned the right to choose her own leaders. It is another inauguration.

According to Lynn McNaughton, vice president of the Cadillac Motor Car Company every element in the parade reflected progress.

"By no means the least emphatic evidence of it were the motor cars in the procession," he said. "They were graceful, vividly colored, yet dignified, silent and efficient. They moved smoothly, quietly and phantom-like through the honoring thousands. They were the product of the greatest industry America has yet known, serving proudly on that day when the United States happily inaugurated the factors of her progress. Some $600,000 worth of Cadillac cars, gathered from Washington, Baltimore and Philadelphia, were used."

"What a contrast between this 1929 inauguration and that of Andrew Jackson just 100 years ago. This parade was made up of vehicles that have seemed as strange as a magic carpet to those who looked upon the inauguration of the seventh president. For when Jackson, astride a horse, rode the same route, it was through a veritable gauntlet."

"The people in the parade and watching it were the same as the people in the parade of the nation. Yet, how well the automobile symbolized the vast gulf that man has bridged since 1789. The unbelievable obstacles he has overcome on the road that leads away from limitation. Economic progress? There it stood in bold relief in the tens of thousands of cars owned by the tens of thousands who looked upon the pageant."

One Hour's Supply at Chevrolet's Loading Docks

Things have certainly been rushing in Atlanta's Chevrolet plant the past few weeks. Above photo made in their parking yard adjacent to the loading docks and drive-away station gives a good idea of the number of cars they are assembling here. This group is slightly over an hour's supply, for their loading docks and drive-away. Recently over 600 were handled in these departments in a single day.

PLYMOUTH MANAGERS INSPECT NEW PLANT

Following their first inspection of the new Plymouth Motor Corporation plant in Detroit, regional sales managers of the company returned to their territories recently enthusiastic concerning the quality of the Plymouth car and the sales outlook for spring. In addition to witnessing modern, volume manufacturing methods at the plant, the managers learned from A. van DerZee, Plymouth general sales manager, of the support dealers will be given by the factory sales organization.

Mr. vanDerZee, discussing the meeting, said: "Years of association with automobile engineers and the Indianapolis regional managers with modern methods of car manufacture, yet they were visibly impressed with the new Plymouth plant and the exacting methods employed in building quality into this low priced car."

"Watching the various steps of the safety and easy riding qualities of the car, the managers, more than 'sales talk' could, that the Plymouth is built to live up to its illustrious name—that in it are those qualities making for endurance, strength and rugged honesty which distinguished that band of pilgrims with whom the name of Plymouth is so closely associated in history."

Auto Bodies Used Lumber Enough for Large City

Some idea of the enormous scale on which automobile body production is carried on may be gained when it is considered that the lumber used in the plants of the Fisher Body Corporation during 1928 would have built a city of eight-room frame houses large enough to accommodate more than a quarter million people.

Lumber is one of the most important raw materials used in automobile bodies. This is especially true of the Fisher Body Corporation, which is the largest manufacturer of automobile bodies in the world. The company uses a large amount of lumber in the construction of its bodies, and the amount used is equivalent to the amount used in building a large city.

The scene is Pennsylvania avenue, stage of America's greatest pageants, thoroughfare down which 30 of the 31 presidents of the United States have traveled to take the oath of office, and up which they have returned an hour or so later the uncrowned kings of a coronation ceremony of progress. A band plays martial airs. In full dress the military comes. The thousands lining the avenue are all eyes to catch a glimpse of him who has reached that place to which every American boy has the right to aspire, the throne of all the millions who have lived and died since the United States earned the right to choose her own leaders. It is another inauguration.

'Sentiment in Business' Influence Lauded As Hudson-Essex Celebrate Anniversary

Is there sentiment in big business? Executives of the Hudson Motor Car Company will tell you there is. This is the "coming of age" year of the company, during which it will celebrate its twenty-first birthday.

Last year the executives planned to make 1928 the biggest year in the company's history, thus making the majority of steel. From the heads of departments down to the men on the production line, the company was determined to make 1928 the greatest year in its history.

The first indication that the pledge has been kept was officially made known when thousands of men from all over the country, and from the overseas countries which Hudson-Essex serves, went to Detroit to see what the company had done at the factory had done as their part in that program.

The Greater Hudson. What they saw pleased them. Hudson was introduced to them as "the greater Hudson." It was more beautiful, had higher standards of performance, was more economical, faster, roomier, more comfortable and had 64 improvements. Essex was christened "the Challenger." Because said the men who created it, it could suc-

Spark Plug Orders Indicate Record Year for Industry

Another index that automobile production in the United States will exceed even the record output of 1928 is cited by officials of the Champion Spark Plug Company, who forecast new high figures for the industry.

In the past, demand for Champion plugs, which are standard equipment on cars in every price range built in this country, has been found an accurate gauge of the activities of the automobile industry. In response to the flood of orders pouring in since the first of the year, the company's 1929 manufacturing schedules have been set at a point which will result in a total output for the 12 months of over 50,000,000 spark plugs, compared with the 1928 production of about 43,000,000, the largest year in Champion history, and the greatest number of spark plugs ever produced in one year by any one manufacturer.

of assembly the modernly constructed rear axle and the manner in which the specially strong springs are mounted in a self adjusting shackles. "This inspection trip through the plant convinced the managers, more than 'sales talk' could, that the Plymouth is built to live up to its illustrious name—that in it are those qualities making for endurance, strength and rugged honesty which distinguished that band of pilgrims with whom the name of Plymouth is so closely associated in history."

DON'T GUESS AT YOUR TIRE SIZES

When you have trouble with your eyes you go to a specialist. He makes a careful examination and then recommends the kind of lens you need in order to get best results.

Why not exercise the same care when you are buying tires for your car, says J. E. James, of the J. L. Carroll Co., local Firestone service dealer.

"Properly equipping a truck is a matter for a tire specialist. Each truck has its own special problems of cushioning, traction and mileage, which are affected by the load, road, distance of haul, speed and other factors. The tire that is the best for one truck may be inefficient on another."

"It is our policy to make a complete and thorough analysis of tire equipment and weigh the load on each tire, using portable scales, which recommend the proper Firestone tire for that particular truck and kind of work. When this is done we are certain that the buyer is getting the tire best fitted to meet his individual requirements. He saves money and gets far better results all the way 'round.'"

Essex challenge week, too, provided a new high record for the company. Courtney Johnson, sales manager, says that he never saw such a huge organization work so harmoniously and efficiently. "Of course we have the cars, they are priced right, and we have the organization, but without the wonderful work that has been done in the field to let the motoring public know the values we offer we could not have created the remarkable records we have," he said. "And that is why we say there is sentiment in big business—for it is the desire to establish highest records for all time in this twenty-first year of our existence that has inspired everybody to work at the speed that has carried us to the heights."

Europe was asking for cars at such a rate that an urgent telephone call came through demanding more cars, although Europe, too, had been selling Hudsons and Essexes in record-breaking numbers.

Essex challenge week, too, provided a new high record for the company. Courtney Johnson, sales manager, says that he never saw such a huge organization work so harmoniously and efficiently. "Of course we have the cars, they are priced right, and we have the organization, but without the wonderful work that has been done in the field to let the motoring public know the values we offer we could not have created the remarkable records we have," he said. "And that is why we say there is sentiment in big business—for it is the desire to establish highest records for all time in this twenty-first year of our existence that has inspired everybody to work at the speed that has carried us to the heights."

BRISK INCREASE NOTED BY GENERAL TIRE CO.

Sales of the General Tire and Rubber Company for the first quarter of the fiscal year ending February 28 showed a substantial increase over the same period of last year in spite of lower selling prices. This increase was gained through much heavier early shipments to their exclusive distributors for replacement tire business.

The general company does not seek any original equipment tire business of the automobile manufacturers and its total output is sold through distributors to the retail trade. The capacity of the general tire factory has just been increased about 33 1-3 per cent in larger tires and 50 per cent in smaller tires through additions to the Akron plant.

Greater increase in capacity for smaller tires was made to meet the tremendous growing demand for a quality tire by owners of popular priced cars who are swinging to general to the present low price of tires bringing the general tire within the reach of everyone. On the basis of today's prices the dollars and cents difference between the cost of a general and ordinary makes is comparatively small. The demand for the general tire has been further increased through the new dual-balloon "8" tire which is being heavily ordered for use on a foreign representative covering Mexico and the West Indies. Later he served as domestic district representative in various territories, including Texas, Salt Lake City, Atlanta and Oklahoma City.

Immediately after the sale of Dodge Brothers to Dillon, Reed & Co., Mr. Lyons became a Dodge Brothers dealer in the Detroit area.

"I am happy indeed," Mr. Lyons says, "to be back with Mr. Philip and Mr. Haynes and the others now in expansion of the business. We were my good friends and with whom I worked during my earlier years in the automobile industry."

Chief of Durant Making Western Tour of Branches. F. J. Haynes, recently announced president of Durant Motors, Inc., the parent Durant organization which controls the Durant Motor Companies of New Jersey, Michigan and California, is making a three week tour of the west to meet branch managers in several of the most important western cities and to meet the executives and visit the Durant plant in Oakland, Calif.

Mr. Haynes' schedule calls for stops at Kansas City, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland, Salt Lake City, Denver, Omaha and Chicago where he will outline before meetings of branch managers, distributors and dealers some of the plans which have been made for expansion of Durant business during 1929.

While in California Mr. Haynes will spend a day at the Durant plant in Oakland and visit the Durant plant in San Francisco. He will also visit the Durant plant in San Francisco. He will also visit the Durant plant in San Francisco. He will also visit the Durant plant in San Francisco.

While in California Mr. Haynes will spend a day at the Durant plant in Oakland and visit the Durant plant in San Francisco. He will also visit the Durant plant in San Francisco. He will also visit the Durant plant in San Francisco.

While in California Mr. Haynes will spend a day at the Durant plant in Oakland and visit the Durant plant in San Francisco. He will also visit the Durant plant in San Francisco. He will also visit the Durant plant in San Francisco.

While in California Mr. Haynes will spend a day at the Durant plant in Oakland and visit the Durant plant in San Francisco. He will also visit the Durant plant in San Francisco. He will also visit the Durant plant in San Francisco.

Much Overtime Work Reported In Factories With Steel Mills Active to 95 Per Cent Capacity

Walter Boynton Declares Sales Outlook Was Never Better, With Feeling of Keen Optimism Prevalent Among All Ranks of Industry.

BY WALTER BOYNTON, Nationally Recognized Auto Industry Authority. Detroit, March 30.—Upswing in business, led by the automotive industry, is continuous. Steel mills are operating at close to 95 per cent of rated capacity and car loadings of revenue freight are strikingly higher than in March last year. General employment is at a peak and there is considerable overtime at the automotive factories in the Detroit district, where the demand for skilled workmen, especially in the machine trades, is still large. Unskilled labor is being absorbed in quantity by the opening of agricultural activities and by the general high speed in manufacturing establishments.

Without official figures available, owing to the new policy of the Employers' association here, it is known that Detroit employment is at high level, with Ford having held the peak of labor and most favorable reports from the chief automotive industrial centers of the state. Wholesale and retail alike are showing a reflection not only of the season but the steadily improving employment and wage conditions, more money being available because of overtime and bonus conditions.

March registrations are still running well above those of the same month last year, though it is probable that the volume of business still naturally lags behind the unprecedented activity in manufacturing by the automotive industry. Two of the principal manufacturers here, Ford and Willys-Overland, did more business in new cars in the first half of the month than they did in all of March, 1928. General registrations are consistently running at more than 50 per cent over the February figures. The Willys-Overland increase is better than 135 per cent, Dodge's percentage gain is 98 per cent, Hudson-Essex over 87 and Chrysler-Plymouth nearly 75.

Use of Car Strain Easing. A feature of the local retail condition is the present high percentage of sales not involving trade-in of old cars. The Detroit branch of Willys-Overland reports that close to 35 per cent of new cars are made without consideration of old cars in the deal and that more than 75 per cent of the used car transactions are out of the dealer's hands before the car enters into the consideration. This is important, for in general the stocks of used cars here have been built up early in the history of the organization, and the dealers are now largely because of earlier unwise weather conditions. In some cases, the distributors have deliberately refused to take in old cars, and in others, until bettered conditions, the use of used car stocks possible. There has been very notable expansion in the territory and a consequent tightening of the lines where used car take-ins are concerned. This is the advantage of the industry and to the buyer, the user, who gets a better car for less money under the more sensible plan.

Expansion in the commercial field continues. The Commercial Motor Car Company recently announced a new light delivery car on the Essex chassis, which will be a Graham-Paige truck, and an even larger model. It will be recalled that the present Graham-Paige control, centered in the Graham brothers, had a world-wide reputation as truck makers, under the "Graham Brothers" name plan. Expansion of facilities in the Federal Motor Truck and the fact that General Motors is now turning into big production and sales volume are signs of the times.

Record Hupp Driveaway. Humboldt will stage the company's greatest driveaway April 17 and 18. This is an annual spring event and the coming parade of cars, it is understood, will surpass all previous pageants in number and in novel features.

Oakland Motor Car Company has produced the millionth Oakland car, thus joining the ranks of the comparatively few companies with that many individual cars to their credit. The company, which has been in business since 1908, while it took 19 years to turn out the first half million. Present combined Oakland-Pontiac production is running at the annual rate of close to 250,000 cars. W. C. Durant's renewed energy in the automotive industry is being shown in a variety of ways. The veteran financier has been visiting the new manufacturing headquarters at Lansing with greatly increased frequency lately and there is a consequent stir in the company's affairs. Finance and sales headquarters are being concentrated at Detroit, so that the Durant name is certain to be noted with even increased importance, from now on.

Return of several of the industry's principal executives from extended tours of the country has resulted in their united report that business conditions affecting the sale of motor vehicles were never better and that a protracted period of prosperity is at hand.

Pioneers Pass On. Several of the pioneers have joined the majority, leaving well-developed organizations to carry on the work of their former associates. Roscoe B. Jackson, president of the Hudson Motor Car Company, one of the youngest heads of the industry, died suddenly in France. While no announcement of his successor has been made at this writing, it is safe to guess that promotion will be made from the group of executives who have been collaborating with Mr. Jackson in the development of the business.

Another early factor in the commercial vehicle industry, Charles F. Melish, died at 71. He was one of the founders of the Federal Motor Truck Company and secretary to its president until his death. Willard L. Velle, one of the industry's youngest principal executives, died at 82. He was

Continued on Page 9, Column 1.

Continued on Page 9, Column 1.

Continued on Page 9, Column 1.

NEW TWO-PASSENGER AND FOUR-PASSENGER COMMANDER COUPES ARE ANNOUNCED BY STUDEBAKER CORPORATION

CLAIM INCREASE IN PERFORMANCE AND QUALITY MARK

Coupe for Two Designed for Business Men—Four-Passenger Coupe for Sports.

New Commander coupes for two and four passengers on both the Commander six and Commander eight chassis are announced by the Studebaker Corporation of America, according to officials of the Yarbrough Motor company, local Studebaker-Erskine dealer.

The Commander coupe for two is an ideal car for salesmen and other business and professional men. There is abundant space in the rear deck for luggage. The dust and rain-proof cover of the rear deck can be locked with the same key that controls the coincidental steering and ignition lock, and the door lock.

The interior of the business coupe is finished in genuine leather, and possesses many conveniences. The rear windows can be lowered to permit complete ventilation. The steering column and the rubber padded brake and clutch pedals are adjustable to permit the most comfortable driving position. Safety features include safety steel-core steering wheel, non-shatterable safety glass in the windshield, and twin windshield wipers which permit a full view of the road in stormy weather.

Brilliant Performance.

The brilliant performance characteristic of Studebaker engineering is supplemented by exceptional riding ease in these new Commander models. The double drop frame construction assures a low center of gravity for excellent roadability, while rough roads are smoothed out by hydraulic shock absorbers and long springs fitted with ball bearing shackles—pioneered by Studebaker.

The Commander Six coupe for two is finished in Manchuria blue with black running gear and ivory striping. The Commander Eight is available in Molite brown. Wood wheels are standard equipment.

The low first cost of both cars makes them particularly suitable for fleet operation, officials point out.

Four-Passenger Coupe.

The four-passenger coupe, with a comfortable leather upholstered rumble seat in the rear deck, is an extremely popular car for sport or town use for the small family, and also serves as a desirable second car for the larger family. The wide driver's seat is roomy enough for three passengers and is upholstered in mohair.

Smart body lines are emphasized by attractive colors which carry out the sport motif of the four-passenger body. The Commander Six is finished in Catona green, and the Eight in Alhambra tan.

ALL-DAY MEETING TO BE HELD TODAY BY BROTHERHOOD

An important all-day joint union meeting will be held today at the Red Men's hall, 86 Central avenue, by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. It is announced.

The day's sessions will open with a business meeting at 9:30, at which speakers will include George W. Laughlin, assistant grand chief engineer from Washington, D. C., and the general chairman of several of the larger railroad systems of the southeast.

A joint meeting of members of the brotherhood and the grand international auxiliary will be held at 2:30 in the afternoon, with speeches by Mrs. J. M. Fesperman, assistant grand vice president of the grand international auxiliary and Mr. Laughlin.

A musical program at the afternoon session will be featured by a male quartet, the Lockhart sisters and the Lay brothers quartet. Little Miss Lynch will give a reading. The day's activities will close with a banquet in the evening in honor of visiting grand officers.

Reo Flying Cloud Pays Neighborly Visit To Golden Arrow as Speed Record Is Set

Major Segrave's creation of unusual design, which attained the world's record speed of 231.36 miles per hour at Daytona Beach, Fla., says "How do you do, Mr. Flying Cloud?" "I don't make the speed you do," is the reply, "but still I step right along." Major Segrave, who is shown in the picture with the white cap, remarked to his manager, W. F. Sturm, "My goodness, Bill, this Reo has more pep than any car I have driven since I came to America. It certainly gets up and going—right off! I don't know that I have ever known a car of its size with any more pep. Its seats are thoroughly comfortable, too—something not to be said of every car."

The first car that Major H. O. D. Segrave, world's greatest automobile driver, rode in after hurrying down the Daytona Beach in his Golden Arrow at 231.36 miles an hour was a Reo Flying Cloud.

Stopping first at the grandstand to receive official word from the racing and city officials that he had raised the record from 207.552 miles an hour to 231.36 miles an hour, Segrave then climbed up the sand dunes and entered the Reo Flying Cloud awaiting him. With Mrs. Segrave and Mr. and Mrs. William F. Sturm, he was driven rapidly southward to the Daytona hotel two miles away. The distance was covered in less than two minutes in order that Segrave might not miss a telephone call to London, which he had put in for 3:15 p. m.

It is significant of the careful way in which Major Segrave had planned his entire action that the Reo had been placed behind the stands facing south. In Segrave's own mind there was evidently little doubt that he would break the record. So methodical is the major from across the sea that he had six days before made out a schedule which detailed carefully his actions from noon of the record day to 5 o'clock that evening. It was in pursuance of this plan that the Reo had been placed where it was by Mr. Sturm, Segrave's American representative.

The maroon Reo Flying Cloud has been a familiar sight around the Ridgewood hotel and the streets of Daytona Beach, since Major Segrave and his party arrived from England on February 12.

Sgrave's record of 231.36 miles an hour was made March 11, 1929. It displaced the 207.552 miles an hour of Ray Keech made on April 22, 1928. Segrave was the first man to go 200 miles an hour, when he set the world's record at 205.79 on March 20, 1927, with a two-engine 1,000-horsepower Sunbeam. This was bettered on February 19, 1928 by Malcolm Campbell, also English, when he sent his Bluebird whizzing along at 206.95 miles per hour. The record established by Segrave, however, has remained the title for England. His Golden Arrow is powered with one 900-horsepower Napier Lion motor, is 27 feet, 8 inches long, has a tread of 5 feet, and has a mean height of 37 inches, with the rear 43 inches.

Overseas motorists closely follow these competitive tests, which are quite different from the speedway events that now comprise virtually all the sanctioned motor competitions in this country. A victory in one of these foreign contests brings a great deal of favorable publicity, and Graham-Paige has been fortunate in winning many of them.

There are no countries of the world that do not readily accept the standard American stock car with no other change than in the position of the controls. The fact is, however, that most of the countries of the world follow the "drive to the right" rule. In Europe, for instance, the only important countries in which traffic keeps to the left side of the road are Great Britain, Austria and Hungary.

On the other hand, there are many regions in which the European car is not well adapted to local conditions. In Australia, for instance, where every effort has been made to maintain the popularity of British-made cars, American automobiles find a large market because they are better fitted to operate on the average highway. Improved roads are comparatively few, and the low hung European car, with its slight ground clearance, is at a great disadvantage.

End War, Soldier's Duty.

"The duty of a soldier is not to make war, but to end war," says Field Marshal Viscount Allenby, as quoted in the Living Age.

Traffic Halts at This Car's Command!

The principle of radio microphone has been adapted to traffic control by experiments with a Dodge Brothers New Six sedan near San Francisco. A motorist desiring to cross a busy street stops and sounds the horn. Immediately, a sensitive microphone picks up the vibration and converts it to an electrical impulse which flashes an amber light for cross traffic. After several seconds, the light automatically reverts to green for the main highway.

Woman's Influence To Make Airplane Simple and Snappy

Louise McPhetridge Thaden, who remained aloft in her open plane 22 hours 4 minutes at the Oakland, Cal., airport on March 17, setting a new endurance record for women fliers, predicts that airplanes will be made, in time, to equal the comfort, convenience and ease of handling of the motor car, through the influence of women.

"What women have done for the automobile they are going to do for the airplane," says Mrs. Thaden. "Do you remember the bare, uncomfortable, inconvenient automobiles of a few years ago? Well, compare them with this! With a gesture she indicated a Graham-Paige sedan standing alongside her plane. "Do you see the difference? Women brought that about. Luxurious upholstery, starters, easy gear-shifts, color, beauty, ease of handling, convenience—those are women's work. Automobiles now are nicer than parlors used to be."

SOCIAL WORKERS' CLUB TO HEAR DEAN G. C. WHITE

The regular meetings of the Social Workers' Club will be held at the Wincoff hotel at 12:30 Monday.

Dr. Goodrich C. White, dean of the college of arts and sciences, Emory university, will speak on "Some Causes of Maladjustment."

A program originating in the studios of KGO, Oakland, recently was re-broadcast by WQXI, Schenectady. The Pacific coast station was testing its new short wave transmitter, W6XXN, operating on 22.85 meters and 3 kilowatts. As a result, a regular schedule of re-broadcasts is to be attempted on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons.

Small Wheel Is Credited With Chrysler's Success

Among the reasons why small wheels of 18-inch diameter are used on Chrysler cars, the company's engineers point out that this size wheel, due to the extra strength of the shorter spokes, is more able to resist side-thrust destruction, and that full-size balloon tires are permitted, affording maximum cushioning surface. By scientific designing of the chassis and its underparts, standard "road clearance" is provided as well as a low center of gravity. Chrysler designers advocate small diameter wheels also because they harmonize more perfectly than larger ones with the longer, lower lines of modern body styles.

One of the first master strokes of Chrysler's engineering staff, which met with instant public approval and which today is one of the contributing reasons for Chrysler's consistently increasing popularity, is the small diameter wheel, according to Harry Sommers, local Chrysler dealer.

"Less than five years ago," continued Mr. Sommers, "Walter P. Chrysler placed on the market the first car to bear his name. It was low, it was fast, it was handsome, and it proved to be just what the motor-wise public had been waiting for. It was only a matter of a few weeks before the name of Chrysler was known in every town of any size throughout the United States. As has been said, one of the features of this newly designed automobile, which turned the automobile industry topsy-turvy almost overnight, was its lower center of gravity. Many persons argued that its road clearance could not be sufficient. Many manufacturers went so far as to declare it wasn't practical; that it was merely a passing fad and wouldn't last."

"Chrysler engineers, however, had thoroughly studied the problems which this new trend of design presented. Then, two years ago, they pioneered the 18-inch wheel, which has been the Chrysler standard ever since. They had continued so to build the chassis and other under parts of the Chrysler car that standard road clearance was allowed. For months they had worked on one problem, then another, until they had overcome every difficulty in manufacturing a small diameter wheeled car."

"After the first car had been completed and put through every conceivable test to determine its roadability, the engineers found that they had not only built an automobile which was the equal to any car ever built before in that respect, but actually had many advantages over cars with larger wheels. Also, they had not only enhanced the appearance of their car, but had added to the safety of motoring by carrying its weight nearer to the ground."

GENERAL MOTORS TRUCKS

1929 PONTIAC powered
NEW BUICK powered
BIG BRUTE powered

4 FAMOUS NAMES and WHAT THEY MEAN IN TRUCK OPERATION

When you apply the word "modern" to a truck you're actually discussing something that started with the first use of Pontiac and Buick engines in commercial vehicles.

They did three big things in advancing Better Delivery (better truck transportation):

- 1 Their flexible speed cut down distances and time—increased work-capacity per day
- 2 Their smooth power definitely lengthened the standard of service-life per truck
- 3 Their modern efficiencies lowered both maintenance and operating costs (repairs, gas, tires, oil, etc.)

These results are available, these modern trucks are available in every range of Light-, Medium-, and Heavier-duty haulage.

And where giant power is needed for extreme heavy duty there is the BIG BRUTE—powered series—with equal efficiencies for that field.

Three safeguards work for every General Motors Truck buyer: 1) STRAIGHT RATING; 2) EXTRA VALUE instead of "EXCESS ALLOWANCES"; 3) A REAL WORK TEST.

It will pay any man, now, to see these trucks—to investigate these modern developments in truck buying.

(Time payments financed through Y. M. A. C. plan, at lowest available rates.)

This real Work Test—at our expense

We furnish any available GENERAL MOTORS TRUCK—model, body, or chassis that most nearly meets your exact requirements. We provide gasoline, and a man to accompany your driver. Put them at your regular work—for an adequate test.

A COMPLETE LINE 42 TYPES each of a different STRAIGHT RATING capacity

LIGHT DUTY
1929 PONTIAC-powered
(STRAIGHT RATING capacities: 3800 to 8000 lbs.)
Type 1001.....	$ 625
Type 2001.....	1015
Type 2002.....	975
Type 2003.....	895
Type 2004.....	1085
Type 2005.....	1045
Type 2006.....	965

MEDIUM AND HEAVIER-DUTY
New BUICK-powered
(STRAIGHT RATING capacities: 8,000 to 18,000 lbs.)
Type 3001.....	$1530
Type 3002.....	1505
Type 3003.....	1395
Type 3004.....	1570
Type 3005.....	1545
Type 3006.....	1435
Type 3007.....	1620
Type 3008.....	1595
Type 3009.....	1485
Type 4001.....	1885
Type 4002.....	1790
Type 4003.....	1685
Type 4004.....	1920
Type 4005.....	1825
Type 4006.....	1720
Type 4007.....	1935
Type 4008.....	1840
Type 4009.....	1735
Type 4010.....	1960
Type 4011.....	1865
Type 4012.....	1760
Type 5001.....	3215
Type 5002.....	3160
Type 5003.....	2800
Type 5004.....	3265
Type 5005.....	3210
Type 5006.....	2850
Type 5007.....	3280
Type 5008.....	3225
Type 5009.....	2865
Type 5010.....	3315
Type 5011.....	3260
Type 5012.....	2900

HEAVIEST DUTY
BIG BRUTE-powered
(STRAIGHT RATING capacities: 28,000 lbs.)
Type 6001.....	$4250
Type 6002.....	4350
Above prices, chassis only, F. O. B. Pontiac, Mich.

General Motors Truck Company

231 Ivy Street

Atlanta

Telephone WAL. 7151

ATLANTA, GA., B. and C. Auto Company
AUGUSTA, GA., H. C. Tennent Supply Company
COLUMBUS, GA., Columbus Truck & Supply Mfg. Co.
DELAND, FLA., Voorhis Motor Company

JACKSONVILLE, FLA., General Motors Truck Sales Co.
LAGRANGE, GA., Hudson & Thomas
MACON, GA., Sparks Motor Co.
MIAMI, FLA., W. C. Dorsey

SAVANNAH, GA., Atlantic Motors, Inc.
ST. PETERSBURG, FLA., Automotive Sales & Service Co.
TALLAHASSEE, FLA., Tallahassee Truck Sales Co.
TAMPA, FLA., Tampa Truck Sales Company

ALWAYS INVESTIGATE WHAT GENERAL MOTORS HAS BEFORE YOU BUY

PACKARD REDUCES PRICE ON ALL STANDARD EIGHT MODELS, DEMONSTRATING TREMENDOUS STRIDES MADE BY INDUSTRY

RESULT OF PLAN FOR BIG VOLUME LONG IN PROCESS

Public Response to Small Car of Real Quality Is Termed by Officials as Instantaneous.

Tremendous strides which have been made by the motor car industry in the last eight years, to its own and the public's great profit, were brought sharply to notice with announcement of the Packard Motor Car Company that it had reduced the price on each of its standard eight models $160.

Packard called attention to the fact that its five-passenger sedan now sells for considerably less than half the price of the first Single Six, forerunner for the current models, despite the great increase in the quality of the present car as compared with that of eight years ago.

Packard for many years had been

Dodge Trucks for Lee Baking Company

The two Dodge panel trucks shown above, recently delivered to the Lee Baking Company, of Atlanta, are two of a fleet of four purchased by them from the Lambeth-Eskridge Motor Company, local Dodge Brothers dealers.

building large cars for a limited clientele. The company believed that great market opportunities were offered for a smaller car of equal quality with those it had been building. It was of the opinion that these opportunities would grow larger as public acceptance of such a car made possible its manufacture and distribution in still greater volume.

It began planning for the program which has resulted in its present cars. The war, however, intervened to cause a temporary halt while practically the entire plant was turned over to the manufacture of airplane motors and trucks. Almost immediately after the war the plan was resumed and was launched in 1920 with the introduction of the "116", or Packard single six, the five-passenger sedan model which listed at $4,920.

Instant Response. Public response to the idea of a small car of real quality was instant. It grew greater in the following year when the "116" was made slightly larger and more powerful.

Packard's idea was proved with the first "Single Six". Acceptance by the public was greater than had been anticipated and the increased production necessary to meet demand made possible decreased prices.

In the eight years since the first "116" the Packard company has spent $40,199,000 for facilities for manufacturing and distributing cars. With this big sum the Packard factories have been provided with equipment for the constant betterment of the car and for a constantly growing production. Step by step the quality has been bettered as step by step the price has been decreased.

While the "116" cars, great numbers of which are still in service, are yet distinctly Packards in appearance, the efforts of the Packard company to ward constantly better quality are instantly apparent in a comparison of the two cars; this too despite the fact that the price has been reduced $2,675 since the first "116".

In keeping with other cars of eight years ago, the "116" was not equipped with bumpers and other like items which now are built-in parts of the current model Packards. The standard eight is considerably larger than its predecessor of eight years ago and has an eight-cylinder-in-line engine developing 90 horsepower. It has the luxury of comfort and appointments which now are demanded of quality motor cars by the world.

Many Improvements.

Success of Packard's plan permitted it to pioneer many improvements and added luxuries for its cars at even lower costs, while at the same time the inherent quality of the car has grown better. Four-wheel brakes and the instant chassis oiling system are just two of a long list that might be mentioned. Many others have had an important bearing in adding to the beauty of the car. One of the most recent improvements combines comfort and safety in the results it obtains. It is the Packard shock absorbing system and trunion spring bracket which prevents front wheel shimmy and steering wheel whip.

A list of other improvements Packard has made during the time it has succeeded in reducing the price of its car by more than half would occupy paragraphs. They have added to the power, performance, beauty and long life of the car and to the peace of mind, comfort and safety of the owner.

Perhaps one of the smallest things, now something which every Packard owner takes for granted, is an improvement which would have been of great moment in any motor car of 1920 or 1921. It consists of the

New 6-Cylinder, Light Duty Truck Announced by White

MODEL 61 WHITE SIX LIGHT DUTY TRUCK

Another new six-cylinder light duty truck, having an allowable gross weight rating of 8,000 to 10,500 pounds, is announced today by Walter C. White, president of the White Company. Deliveries will begin about March 25.

The new chassis, known as Model 61, will augment an already wide range of four and six-cylinder models widening of the tie rod from the cowl to the radiator into a trough which catches all water which might run down through the hinge of the hood.

Eight years ago the driver of any car accepted the fact that his car would stop and refuse to run further during a heavy rain as something to which he must resign himself. The rain trough tie rod on present day Packards, coupled with further waterproofing of the ignition, would make the driver of a standard eight laugh at a cloudburst in so far as his certain knowledge of its non-effect on his ignition system would be concerned.

be exhausted. This adds to driver comfort and cleanliness of the power plant. The distributor which operates with battery ignition, is mounted on top of the engine block, driven from the oil pump of the pressure system. Thermostatic water control, air and oil cleaning systems, core radiator, attractive instrument board and headlight control on the steering wheel are additional features.

Large frame section with heavy cross members give the chassis adequate capacity for its rating. Dual rear wheels are driven through a sturdy semi-floating rear axle on roller bearings.

"In the perfection of Model 61," Mr. White said, "we have given particular thought to long life, and low cost to run and keep running for hundreds of thousands of miles. Attention has been given to the accessibility of every operating part, a feature of vital importance to the operator because it simplifies servicing. Economy and permanence are further enhanced by adjustment provisions at every possible point, from steering assembly to spring shackles."

Language Outstrips

Famous Dictionary

The English language moves so fast that the Oxford dictionary, the classic completed scarcely six months ago, is already out of date, and a supplement is being prepared, the Living Age notes. Some of the new words are apache, adenoids, apperception, airworthy and drug addict—they are new to the A volume, which was published in 1924. So quickly does the language change that some of the words in the supplement are out of date, as an anamorphosis, one of the early names for motion pictures.

for Economical Transportation

now- Six Cylinder Trucks with the economy of the four!

THE 1 1/2 TON TRUCK

The New 1 1/2 Ton Utility Truck is 32% more powerful, has 7 in. more wheelbase and accommodates any body up to 9 ft. long. 4-speed transmission with power take-off opening. Chassis only, f. o. b. factory, Flint, Michigan, $545

THE LIGHT DELIVERY

The Chevrolet Light Delivery combines exceptional six-cylinder performance with unusual economy of operation. Chassis only, f. o. b. factory, Flint, Michigan, $400

THE SEDAN DELIVERY

With its Body by Fisher, the Sedan Delivery combines passenger car smartness with sturdy, dependable, economical performance. F. o. b. factory, Flint, Michigan, (Spare tire extra), $595

Crowded traffic conditions today demand six-cylinder performance—with its greater flexibility, greater reserve power, higher speed and swifter acceleration. And now—for the first time in commercial car history—this desirable six-cylinder performance has been made available with the economy of the four. For the new six-cylinder Chevrolet trucks are not only offered in the price range of the four—but they are as economical to operate as their famous four-cylinder predecessors! Both the Light Delivery and the 1 1/2 Ton Utility Chassis are available with an unusually wide selection of body types—and among them is one exactly suited to your requirements. Come in today. We'll gladly arrange a trial load demonstration—load the truck as you would load it, and drive it over the roads your truck must travel in a regular day's work.

John Smith Company
190-196 West Peachtree St.

Decatur Chevrolet Co.
Decatur, Ga.

East Point Chevrolet Co.
East Point, Ga.

Wallace Chevrolet Co.
Atlanta, Ga.

Robinson-Pickett, Inc.
3096 Peachtree Rd., Buckhead, Atlanta, Ga.

Whitehall Chevrolet Co.
Whitehall and Forsyth St.

Anderson Butler Co.
Marietta, Ga.

So new is Buick performance, so advanced and revolutionary, that a single drive will prove a revelation. . . . Take that drive today!

Get behind the wheel and get the facts!

Unless you've driven this dynamic Buick—unless you've actually taken the wheel and put the car through its paces—you have yet to experience the keenest thrill modern motoring has to offer!

Come to our showroom today! Drive Buick in traffic and on the highway. Make every conceivable test of its ability!

So new is Buick performance . . . so advanced and revolutionary are the getaway—swiftness—hill-climbing—smoothness and flexibility imparted by the new Buick Valve-in-Head engine, that an hour's ride—a single drive—will prove a revelation!

Before you buy any car, get the facts, as more than 100,000 new Buick owners have done! Then you'll know why Buick is the two-to-one favorite among all automobiles listing above $1200 . . . then you'll know why Buick is the car for you!

Buick Motor Company, Flint, Michigan
Division of General Motors Corporation

SERIES 116			SERIES 121			SERIES 129
Sedans	-$1220 to $1320		Sedans	-$1450 to $1520		Sedans	-$1875 to $2145
Coupe	-$1195 to $1250		Coupe	-$1395 to $1450		Coupe	-$1865 to $1875
Sport Car	-$1225		Sport Car	-$1325		Sport Car	-$1525 to $1550

These prices f. o. b. Buick Factory, special equipment extra. Convenient terms can be arranged on the liberal G. M. A. C. Time Payment Plan.

BUICK

WITH MASTERPIECE BODIES BY FISHER

Decatur Buick Co.
Retail Dealer
Fulton and DeKalb Counties
Decatur, Ga.

BUICK MOTOR CO.
Factory Branch, 512 Spring St.

CANNON MOTOR CO.
Associate Dealer of D. C. Black
335 Whitehall St.

D. C. Black
Retail Dealer
Fulton and DeKalb Counties
330 Peachtree St.

A SIX IN THE PRICE RANGE OF THE FOUR

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT . . . BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

ALLEN TO FILL CURTIS VACANCY IN SENATE

Hoover Pleased by Appointment of Former Governor of Kansas.

Washington, March 30.—(AP)—Henry J. Allen, former governor of Kansas and prominent figure in national politics and journalism for many years, will succeed Charles Curtis in the senate, filling the seat relinquished by the latter when he was elevated to the vice presidency.

Decision to appoint Allen to fill the vacancy was announced by Governor Clyde M. Reed, of Kansas, after a conference yesterday with President Hoover which also was attended by Secretary Good, of the war department, and James Francis Burke, counsel for the republican national committee. The appointment will be made, he said, as soon as he returns to the state capital at Topeka.

In making the announcement, Governor Reed said the appointment of a senator to succeed Curtis came up during a very pleasant visit with the president, in the course of which we discussed the inland waterways, farm relief and judicial appointments in the Kansas judicial district.

"When I stated that among those being considered was former Governor Henry J. Allen," he continued, "the president expressed himself as being gratified. He stated, of course, that he could not even suggest the appointment of any United States senator."

"He assured me, however, that Governor Allen had long been his friend and he held him in high esteem, and that if the former governor should be appointed he would be a great help to the administration in carrying out its program and in working out the problems vitally affecting Kansas and the middle west."

TWO CAMPAIGNS IN FOUR YEARS.

Topeka, Kan., March 30.—(AP)—Two campaigns within the next four years face former Governor Henry J. Allen in the event he should desire to retain a seat in the United States senate.

Vice President Curtis' term in the senate, had he remained a member, would not have expired until March 4, 1933. Mr. Allen's announced appointment by Governor Clyde M. Reed, according to law, will be for the period until after the next general election in 1930, when the former governor, should he desire to serve out the remainder of the unexpired term, will be required to stand for election. In 1932, the position will be filled for a regular six-year term.

This situation will result in Kansas filling its two seats in the senate at the 1930 general election, as Senator Arthur Capper's second term expires March 4, 1931.

PICTURES NEWSPAPER BY RADIO IN FUTURE

Paris, March 30.—(AP)—The newspaper printed hour by hour in every home is not far distant, according to M. Rene Baschet, managing director of L'Illustration, president of the Paris Press Association.

"The picture machine working something like the familiar ticker but by radio, occupying small space. Such an invention," adds M. Baschet, "will replace the daily newspaper; it will be an adjunct. Morning and evening papers will explain in more detail the interesting events recorded by the home news-printer."

FREQUENCY TESTS SOON ON LOW WAVE LENGTHS

South Dartmouth, Mass., March 30.—(AP)—Standard frequency tests on the short wave lengths will be resumed in May by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology radio experimental field station, W1XV, at Round Hill. The station staff is engaged in research work on short waves and has transmitting and receiving equipment for 10, 20, 40 and 80 metres.

Used Car Staff of Reo Organization Here

Used car salesmen of Reo Sales & Service, Inc. Above, left to right, back row: L. W. Norman, J. B. Brannon and T. M. Smith. Front row: A. B. Wigley, B. A. Crim, office manager, and Frank Hammond. Frank Garmon, widely-known used car executive, heads this staff as used car manager.

Used Car Values Now Supreme And Buyer Assured of Safety, Reo Used Car Chief Declares

Line and Color Changes Throwing Splendid Cars
Prematurely on Market,
Says Garmon.

"The man or woman who buys a used car now will get more actual value for the money spent than ever before, and will buy with as much certainty as in purchasing a new car."

That was the statement Saturday of Frank Garmon, used car manager of Reo Sales and Service, Inc., and head of the efficient department that operates at 238-242 Peachtree street.

"I say that used car values now are absolutely supreme," Mr. Garmon added, "for a number of reasons. The most important of these is the fact that the public's development of a taste for style changes has resulted in placing on the used car market a wide variety of used cars that represent transportation in unequalled quality and economy."

The public demands that manufacturers change this body designs and styles frequently, and when these changes are made the public appears to be seized with a desire to get rid of the car it is using at the moment and buy a new car.

"Now these used cars that are traded in so that their owners may get the benefit of the very latest line or color combination are by no means worn out. In many instances the real durability of the cars has scarcely been tested, and in a great majority the cars are in splendid condition when they come into the hands of dealers."

Mr. Garmon explained that safety in used car buying is now a definitely assured fact when reliable dealers sell the cars.

"Just as soon as they get used cars on trade-ins," Mr. Garmon pointed out, "the dealers turn the used cars over to their service shops, which are now equipped to do every bit of work necessary to recondition them and bring out every point of beauty as well as of service."

"The cars are inspected in minute detail, and every mechanical repair needed is given them. They are repainted, cleaned and brightened up from stem to stern right in the dealers' shops in half the time that formerly was necessary and at half the expense, for each dealer is equipped to take care of all this work."

"When the used car comes to our department it represents the highest possible value, and because the reconditioning process has been inexpensive, the cost of the car is correspondingly small. The profit that formerly went to outside labor, now is saved for the used car buyer."

Mr. Garmon pointed out that his and other used car departments in Atlanta are offering sterling values in used cars under strict guarantees that assure satisfactory service in every detail.

"We have a car for every need," he said, "and I take pleasure in inviting the general public to call and inspect the rare values we are offering."

PUBLIC IS INVITED TO VIEW EXHIBIT OF ART IN SCHOOLS

In the Atlanta public school administration building, on Walker and Haynes streets, an exhibit of the art work of the four junior high schools has been viewed in the last few weeks by hundreds of school people. It is now the desire of the school administration that as many of the general public as can see what is being done in the development of artistic ability in the junior and senior high schools of the city. The exhibit will be open to the public every afternoon.

Later this same exhibit, with additions, will be carried to the High Museum of Art and will be displayed there in connection with the National Education Association convention from June 28 to July 4. The elementary schools will also have an exhibit at that time.

A DISCOVERY!

Thousands have been amazed
to learn that an air-cooled

FRANKLIN
with the thrilling AIRPLANE FEEL can be obtained as low as $2180

PRICE AT FACTORY

FRANKLIN

Franklin Motor Car Company

481 W. Peachtree St.

Distributors N. Georgia and S. Carolina

ASSOCIATE DEALERS

IVy 4200

Yates Motor Company, Macon, Ga.

Franklin-Augusta Motor Co., Augusta, Ga.

Stanton Motor Company, Clifton, S. C.

Franklin Service Co., Greenville, S. C.

Simmons Garage, Greenville, Ga.

W. J. Johnson, Columbia, S. C.

LePrince Garage, Charleston, S. C.

Why the Straight
Eight makes obsolete
every high-priced Six

8-90 Cabriolet

$1495

120 Phaeton Sedan

$2095

Straight-line flight! Eight cylinders in a row producing smooth, even power! The power impulses overlap. That is the secret of the Straight Eight's superiority. When one cylinder is starting its power impulse, another is half thru its pushing and a third is just completing its power stroke. No intermissions, but a steady flow of flexible, vibrationless power. Therefore, a car with a Straight Eight motor is more efficient, easier to drive, performs better, and endures longer. That is why the finest and most expensive European cars have adopted Straight Eight motors. Now, Auburn removes the price barrier to this leading type of car and introduces the greatest Straight Eight values that the world has ever known for the least costs. Proof of this unequivocal claim can be found in the cars themselves; by comparing them, and driving them. They are economical as Sixes too, and of course will bring a higher resale value later. It is inevitable that the world "will go Straight Eight," and Auburn is leading the way.

Airmail postage has been reduced to 5 cents for the first ounce and 10 cents for each additional ounce. Use Airmail daily for quicker communication.

6-80 Sedan $1095; 6-80 Sport Sedan $995; 6-80 Cabriolet $1095; 6-80 Victoria $1095; 8-90 Sedan $1495; 8-90 Sport Sedan $1395; 8-90 Speedster $1495; 8-90 Phaeton Sedan $1695; 8-90 Cabriolet $1495; 8-90 Victoria $1495; 8-90 7-Passenger Sedan $1595; 120 Sedan $1895; 120 Sport Sedan $1795; 120 Speedster $1895; 120 Phaeton Sedan $2095; 120 Cabriolet $1895; 120 Victoria $1895. Prices f. o. b. Auburn or Connersville, Ind. Equipment other than standard extra. Auburn Automobile Co., Auburn, Ind.

AUBURN

Jack Phinazy Motor Co.

58 NORTH AVENUE, N. E.

PHONE HEMLOCK 2885

Packard's Used Car Salesmen

Used car salesmen of the Atlanta Packard Company. Left to right: R. L. McLendon, used car manager; Ed Matthews, and Walter Beunie.

Attractive Used Car Department

One of the most attractive and efficient used car departments in Atlanta is that operated by C. E. Freeman, Ford dealer, at 236 Peachtree street. Standing in front of the establishment above are shown two of the Freeman used car salesmen, A. C. Rollins, left, and Clyde Strickland.

NEW SERVICE IS OFFERED MOTORISTS IN ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE BELLE ISLE AUTOMOBILE OWNERS ASSOCIATION

RETAIL DEALERS TENDER APPROVAL TO ORGANIZATION

A. L. Belle Isle, Ernest Horwitz and C. A. Belle Isle Are Heads of Association.

Introduction of the Model 130 at a price $600 less than any corresponding Franklin type ever sold for in previous years, has enlarged the potential market of the Franklin Automobile Company to approximately 450,000 motorists. Model 130 follows the fundamental design of the two larger models in the 1929 Franklin line and sells for $2,180 f. o. b. factory, base price for the sedan.

"In planning the model 130, we had in mind the class of buyers who ordinarily pay $1,500 or $1,600 for an automobile," said President H. H. Franklin. "We believed that in the past a large number of buyers had been barred from the advantages of Franklin quality and air-cooling solely by price limitations. These expectations have been proved correct by the public acceptance of model 130 since its introduction at the New York motor show. This demand has been an important factor in raising our production schedule to 70 cars daily; practically twice that of a year ago."

Both in design and in production, model 130 maintains the quality standards that have always characterized Franklin products. It duplicates, in all essentials, the two companion series in the line. The high-compression, air-cooled six-cylinder motor is of the same design and construction; including valve-in-head cylinders, automatically lubricated valves, case hardened seven-bearing crankshaft, lightweight reciprocating parts, and aluminum crankcase. Bodies on the model 130 chassis are of the characteristic Franklin construction and bracing, with high quality upholstery and interior finish, and a paint process involving 18 separate operations.

In the model 130 sedan, as an example of typical Franklin coachwork, more than 50 extra body reinforcements are employed in the frames. Graphite-coated pads of felt webbing are interposed between joined surfaces wherever needed to eliminate squeaking. A method of mounting bodies on the chassis, developed by Franklin, does away with another common cause of noises by relieving the body members from the strains of road unevenness.

Included among the features of the model 130, as in the two more expensive models, are full elliptical springs, hydraulic and double acting spring controls, hydraulic four-wheel brakes, flexible frame and three-point engine suspension, 58-inch tread to provide additional interior room and steady riding qualities, tubular front axle, a rear axle with lightweight aluminum gearcase assembled to tubular arms to reduce the force of road shocks, non-shatter windshield, air-wing fenders and deep-sectioned running boards.

All the traditional Franklin advantages of air-cooling, riding comfort, mechanical excellence, easy control, road speed, beauty, and finish are embodied in the model 130, at a price which is daily winning new converts to air-cooling.

Frederickton, New Brunswick.—The entire graduating engineering class of the University of New Brunswick is assured positions in Canada upon graduation in May next. The class consists of 47 students of whom 27 are civil engineers and 20 are mechanical engineers. Last year was the first year that all graduates were able to obtain positions in the dominion.

Latest Mechanical Equipment and Staff of Experts Boasted by Belle Isle Automobile Owners Association

The group of pictures above shows how thoroughly organized is the new Belle Isle Automobile Owners Association from its inception and initial announcement to the motoring public by A. L. Belle Isle and his associates. Upper left, the modern building at 200 Ivy street, N. E., which is headquarters of the Belle Isle Automobile Owners Association and of the Belle Isle National Code System. Upper right, the group of expert mechanical diagnosticians who will render service under the bonded contract supplied members of the new auto owners' association. The men in white uniforms will respond to calls for wrecker service and those in khaki will take care of all calls for road adjustment service. Lower left, the first of the portable filling stations and emergency relief units which will go into service on behalf of members of the new association. This equipment will be dispatched under the same principle governing taxicab service, the operator reporting immediately to the nearest taxi booth after rendering road adjustment service, waiting there for new orders in readiness to depart at an instant's notice. Other units of this type will be added by the association immediately. Lower right, this wrecker is characterized as the finest equipment of its type available on the market. It will respond to call of members of the new association and remove wrecked cars from all positions without extra cost.

Franklin Breaks Auto Road Record in 687-Mile Run

Battling first against terrific headwinds and later against sweeping mountain rainstorms, an air-cooled Franklin sedan, strictly stock model, shattered all road records in a thrilling run this week from Dallas, Texas, to El Paso, covering the 687 miles in 12 hours and 54 minutes for an average of 53.25 miles per hour.

Behind the wheel in this latest Franklin record-breaking run was Clanton Hall Baker, chief test pilot for the Franklin Automobile Company of Syracuse, builders of the Franklin line of air-cooled motor cars. This new record clips 1 hour and 44 minutes from the fastest run ever made between those two Texas cities. Baker's Dallas-El Paso run was checked for time by Western Union, both at the starting point and at the finish. The car that Baker used in this run is the same one that recently established a new automobile road record between New York city and Miami, Fla., when it traveled the 1,541 miles in 31 hours 10 minutes.

Baker swept out of Dallas bucking strong headwinds with this Model 135 sedan. Midway he struck the first mountain ranges and from Big Spring to Sierra Blanca he raced the air-cooled car against time in torrential mountain downpours. The high speed of the Franklin was maintained, however, and its steady development of power conquered the steep grades without trouble.

Not alone did the elements attempt to block the Franklin in its flashing speed, to a new record, but detours and washed-out bridges also contributed their share. For 35 miles Baker sent the Franklin over a detour road full of ruts and at times almost hub deep in sandy stretches. Two bridges, washed out by the recent torrents, also forced the Franklin over detours, miles of which were badly worn and extremely rough from the winter traffic and heavy rains, making top speed impossible.

The remarkable performance of the car under these most adverse conditions is attributed by Baker to the ability of the Franklin's air-cooled engine to maintain a high rate of speed hour after hour, functioning perfectly every inch of the way regardless of the severe demands made of it in the rough going.

STATE UNIVERSITY ARRANGES PROGRAMS

Lexington, Ky., March 30.—(AP)—Duty radio programs are to be broadcast by the University of Kentucky over WHAS, at Louisville.

Negotiations have been completed for the installation of a leased wire between the university and the station, 80 miles away.

Five 15-minute educational programs and a one-hour musical program comprise the weekly radio-cast. Educational subjects, which are to be given in the morning, will include agricultural and scientific talks of a popular nature. The university concert band, philharmonic orchestra, glee clubs and other student organizations will take their turns on the air.

PLAN RECEPTION FOR DR. SOKOLOV AT MEETING TODAY

A special meeting of the Congregation Ahavath Achim has been called by Joseph Goldberg, president, for this afternoon to arrange details for the reception of Dr. Nahum Sokolow, eminent scholar and Jewish leader, styled "the great sage of the Zionist movement," who will be a visitor in Atlanta on Sunday, April 7. A special reception committee, to meet Dr. Sokolow, will be named at this meeting.

J. Saul, chairman of the United Palestine Appeal of Atlanta, has already issued invitations for the reception and banquet to be given in honor of Dr. Sokolow next Sunday evening at the Jewish Women's Club. A special committee, headed by Mr. Saul, is in charge of this event and has established temporary headquarters at the Jewish Educational Alliance, 318 Capitol avenue.

Dr. Sokolow, who recently arrived in New York from Paris, was guest of honor last Sunday evening at a mass meeting held at the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria, under the auspices of the Zionist organization of America.

Prince Oana, Hawaiian baseball star, is playing in the Winter league at San Francisco. He will have a try-out in the Coast league in the spring.

1929 PRODUCTION OF GRAHAM-PAIGE OVER 1927 TOTAL

Detroit, March 30.—This year's production of Graham-Paige motor cars reached a total of 21,880 cars on March 20, equaling the entire year's production of the factory in 1927, before the Graham-Paige was presented by the three Graham brothers.

Last year, when the factory attained, on May 2, the total of the previous year, it was regarded as a remarkable achievement of the new management. This year, the same total has been reached just 40 days earlier.

'Uncle' Eberhart Happy on His 100th Birthday

BY HILLIARD H. WIMPEE.

Rome, Ga., March 30.—(Special).—"Uncle" Steve Eberhart, probably the most widely known negro in north Georgia, and famous for his perfect attendance at all Confederate Veterans' reunions since their inception, last week celebrated his 100th birthday anniversary at his modest home on Black's Bluff road in south Rome. To prove that he has retained a considerable portion of his erstwhile endurance that carried him unscathed through the five years' conflict of the war between the states, and later through the Spanish-American embroilment, "Uncle" Steve, for the edification of his numerous friends, danced an old-time jig and then indulged in a walk of more than five miles from his home into town and back.

Attributing his longevity to several simple exercises and restraint, "Uncle" Steve believes that he will live another decade, or until the aged bugler has blown taps for the last Confederate reunion. Just as long as there are a handful of the old veterans left to hold a reunion, he intends answering present, this event more than anything else, seemingly enabling him to carry on from year to year.

"Uncle" Steve was born on March 25, 1829, in Oglethorpe county, Georgia, on the plantation of Captain Patrick Eberhart, while his mother and father were slaves on the last Confederate reunion. Just as long as he remained the servant of the Eberharts until his old "marster" died several years following the war. When emancipation proclamation was signed by Abraham Lincoln, giving freedom to all the slaves, "Uncle" Steve remained loyal to his master and accompanied him through the ensuing war as his bodyguard.

Nothing gives the old negro more pleasure than to relate his forging experiences during the campaign in Virginia when he was sent on expeditions to obtain food for his master and the starving men of the former's command. Many hen roosts and pig styes were raided to advantage and

Extreme Weather Conditions Test Dodge Brothers Trucks

A 3,500-mile test trip from Detroit, encountering the heavy snows of Tennessee mountain roads and the mid-summer climate of Florida was completed last month by three Dodge Brothers trucks to prove their dependability and economy under extreme operating conditions.

With all trucks carrying full capacity loads, the caravan left the factory in zero temperature to reach the steep inclines of Signal Mountain near Chattanooga, Tenn.

During the two weeks' trials, engineers constantly experimented with the various engine accessories and brake linings to find what types best suited the different driving conditions encountered. Reports show that more than 50 combinations were tried, and data obtained from these tests will enable engineers to furnish the most efficient and satisfactory equipment for truck owners.

The long runs of the trucks in Florida were held under most favorable conditions for checking the cooling systems and speed of the various units. Over a six-mile course, the trucks were operated 18 hours daily, one of the tests consisting of one truck with throttle wide open, pulling another with brakes set to hold the speed down to 15 miles an hour.

On the return trip, mud and clay roads through parts of Georgia thoroughly tried the power and dependability of the various models. On entering the mountains of Tennessee, additional tests were made for successful operation of brakes and engines through snow two feet deep.

The entire run was a part of the Dodge Brothers truck testing program that involves several such trips annually to make sure that performance standards of the representative line of trucks built by the company measure up to the highest point of efficiency.

PIEDMONT SOPHOMORES FETE UPPERCLASSMEN

Demorest, Ga., March 30.—(Special).—Students of Piedmont college were entertained here tonight by the sophomore class at a banquet in the home economics room.

The program was featured by music by Ralph Tabor, Toccoa pianist, and Thomas W. Hardy, Orrill Morris acted as toastmaster, and toasts on the general theme of radio were given by Arline Nelson, Bedford Jennings, Claude Purcell, Hughes Browning and Professor W. B. Smith.

Some 100 guests were present, the largest number ever to attend the annual entertainment of the seniors by the sophomores.

Several occasions he came near disaster when detected in the act of pilfering such provisions.

"Uncle" Steve has appeared in virtually every parade of the United Confederate Veterans, usually in his character of chicken thief. Garbed in a high silk hat, a fading gray uniform festooned with Confederate flags, with a chicken under each arm, he plops along the line of march as a distinct feature of the occasions. His white friends in Rome have always contributed to a fund for sending him on these cherished trips and as one remarked, "it would break 'Uncle' Steve's heart if he did not get to go."

He is making careful preparations for attendance at the reunion to be held in May in Charlotte, N. C. One of the simple rules observed by "Uncle" Steve in maintaining good health is daily extended walks. He believes that sunshine and fresh air are two of the greatest tonics that nature affords. Plenty of pure water and spirituous intoxicants only before retiring in limited portions have enabled him to reach the century mark, he asserted. Like many others of his advanced years, "Uncle" Steve indulges in "chawing" tobacco, and an occasional cigar. He has never smoked a cigarette.

You'll be delighted with your "new" fenders after we have removed those dents and scratches. We can restore any fender regardless how badly crushed and battered. Just leave your car with us any morning. It will be ready that afternoon.

Tear out this ad to remind you to drive by this week.

A-C Miller & Co.
17 COURTLAND STREET N.E.
— WRECKED BODIES REBUILT — DUO REFINISHING-FENDERS STRAIGHTENED
Phone WALNUT 2991-2992
Pleasing Our Customers Since 1889

These Men Are Big Guns of Newly-Announced Belle Isle Automobile Owners Association

A. L. BELLE ISLE.

ERNEST HORWITZ.

C. A. BELLE ISLE.

The trio of veteran automobile leaders, widely and popularly known to Atlantans through years of expert and efficient motoring service to the public of this city and section, stand behind the newly-organized Belle Isle Automobile Owners Association.

A. L. Belle Isle, president and founder of the association, needs no introduction to Atlantans. He is a pioneer in taxicab and all other types of automobile service here, and for many years was connected with a prominent retail auto dealership which bore his name. To his credit goes the rebuilding of many other business institutions here.

C. A. Belle Isle, manager of the Belle Isle Automobile Owners Association, has had long experience in maintenance and repairs to various makes of cars, having acquired his training under supervision of his brother, A. L. Belle Isle. He is an expert mechanical diagnostician and the officials of this new organization feel sure that under his supervision, members will receive unusual value from the standpoint of service through the organization built around him.

He is a civic leader of wide popularity, has done much to promote safety in driving in Atlanta, and has been identified with an imposing list of civic improvements and civic organizations in Atlanta. He numbers his friends by thousands and in every way is known as an aggressive, capable and civic-spirited Atlanta leader.

NEW POWER

You can put the New HUPMOBILE Eight through its gears like an H. V. shell . . . Because its new domed combustion chambers get a faster response from any fuel.

You can roll up momentum like a comet . . . Because rocker-tappet valves, of exclusive HUPMOBILE design, create more power and lose nothing in accuracy of timing at high speeds. Because it has an extra heavy, balanced crankshaft. Because roller and ball bearings in its transmission assembly save energy.

And when you get the New HUPMOBILE to peak speed you can keep it there for as long as the road unrolls before you . . . Because the famous Lanchester dampener takes vibration out of the engine. A special shock absorbing device keeps the steering column solid and steady. Side-sway and shimmy have gone the way of the crank, let the speedometer point where it will.

Agile in traffic? Yes . . . Valiant on the hills? Yes . . . Quick with its steeldraulicbrakes? Yes . . . A smart car? Ask the woman who wants one!

THE CENTURY SIX . . . $1345 to $1645
THE CENTURY EIGHT . . . $1825 to $2625
All prices f. o. b. factory . . . Standard and custom . . . Equipment, other than standard . . . extra

THE NEW HUPMOBILE CENTURY SIX & EIGHT

Thompson-Cauthorn Motor Co.

477 Peachtree St.

D. H. Adams Motor Co., Macon, Ga.
L. H. Strickling, Columbus, Ga.
Service Motor Co., Augusta, Ga.
Jacobs Sales Co., Gainesville, Ga.

W. E. Johnson Motor Co., LaGrange, Ga.
C. W. McElroy, Griffin, Ga.
Harrell & Clark, Eastman, Ga.
Herring Motor Co., Albany, Ga.
Kenne Water, Fitzgerald, Ga.

J. N. Rainey, Winder, Ga.
Oglethorpe & Hall, Elberton, Ga.
James Mercantile Co., Canton, Ga.
Tri-County Motor Co., Royston, Ga.

WAL. 9252

Belle Isle Now Presents A New

A New

Belle Isle Auto
Assoc

A direct service to Indorsed by the A
ATLANTA, FU COUNTIES.

A Service That Takes All Trou

Emergency Adj
Gas, Oil, Cars
Stolen or in Li
Secret Identifi

Belle Isle Nation

The Assoc to M

At all times to render service directly from no time will an outside or disinterested agent be
To make adjustments whenever possible and

To furnish all service provided the car bears the Association; no membership card being requi
To remove member's car upon instruction fr trusted, without the presence of the owner.

To render the following service to a memb
THEFT AND RECOVERY. To register th and to attach to member's car an identification donated to the headquarters of the Association wi DISABLED. Emergency road adjustment, v dealer's place of business.

WRECKED OR REPAIRS NEEDED. To point ordered within a radius of 10 miles of Assoc GAS. Gasoline will be delivered, within a bile dealer's place of business, at the prevailing LITIGATION PHOTOGRAPHS FURNISH including cars and positions, will be photograph
These photographs for owner's use.

STORAGE FURNISHED. If a member's or on Sundays, it will be stored at the headquar opened, when it will be relayed to that point.

EMERGENCY TAXI SERVICE. In event be provided the occupants of the member's car ceed 10 miles from point of disability).

ONLY
To A M

Phone Walnut 4
Association

200 IVY

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP AT

ATLA

D. C. Black BUICK 330 Peachtree St. Beaudry Motor Co. FORD 106 Marietta St., N. W. Cadillac Company of Atlanta CADILLAC-LA SALLE 436 West Peachtree St. Cannon Motor Co. BUICK 333 Whitehall St. Harry Cohen & Co. HUDSON-ESSEX 276 Peachtree St. Jos. H. Cohen, Inc. CHRYSLER 342 Peachtree St. Joel Daves, Inc. HUDSON-ESSEX 299 Spring St. Duffell Motor Co. STUDEBAKER-ERSKINE 618 Peachtree St. Franklin Motor Car Co. FRANKLIN 481 West Peachtree St., N. E.	C. E. Freeman FORD 269 Boulevard, N. E. Fulenwider Motor Co. FORD 279 Whitehall St. Goldsmith-Becker, Inc. GRAHAM-PAIGE 330 Spring St., N. W. Grant-Harris-Rippy LINCOLN-FORD 305 West Peachtree St., N. E. J. M. Harrison & Co. DE SOTO 111 Ivy St., N. E. Knowles-Nash Comp NASH Peachtree at North Av EAST POINT DEAL East Point Chevrolet CHEVROLET Henry Motor Co. CHRYSLER Ragsdale Motor Co. HUDSON-ESSEX
--	--

THE FRANKLIN MOTOR CAR COMPANY
441 WEST PEACHTREE ST., N. E.
ATLANTA, GA.

EAST POINT CHEVROLET CO.
AUTHORIZED DEALERS
3700 CHASE
EAST POINT, GA.
March 27, 1929.

MARTIN-NASH MOTOR CO.
DISTRIBUTORS OF FORD MOTOR COMPANY'S PRODUCTS
PEACHTREE AT NORTH AVENUE
ATLANTA, GA.
1929.

Goldsmith-Becker Co., Inc.
GRANHAM-PAIGE MOTOR CARS
ATLANTA, GA.
Mar. 23, 1929.

WHITEHALL CHEVROLET CO.
"We Like to do Business with you"
220-221 WHITEHALL STREET, S. W.
ATLANTA
March 28, 1929

F. E. MAFFETT, INC.
417 TO 419 SPRING ST., N. W.
ATLANTA, GA.

GRANT-HARRIS-RIPPY CO.
AUTHORIZED DEALERS
WEST PEACHTREE
ATLANTA, GA.
March 21, 1929.

HARRY L. COHEN & COMPANY
HUDSON
370-372 PEACHTREE STREET, N. W.
1012 BAKER STREET, N. W.
ATLANTA, GA.

D. C. BLACK
BUICK MOTOR CARS
330 PEACHTREE STREET
ATLANTA, GEORGIA
March 22nd, 1929.

THOMPSON-CAUTHORN MOTOR CO.
Hupmobile
413 PEACHTREE STREET
ATLANTA
Mch. 27, 1929.

CLYDE LANGFORD MOTOR COMPANY
ATLANTA, GEORGIA
March 27, 1929.

LEROUX MOTOR COMPANY
WILLIS-KNIGHT - WHIPPLET
1715 NORTH AVENUE, S. E.
ATLANTA, GA.
1929.

JACK PHINLEY MOTOR CO.
ATLANTA, GA.

LAMBETH-ESKIDGES MOTOR CO., INC.
DODGE BROTHERS
MOTOR VEHICLES
GRANHAM BROTHERS TRUCKS
ATLANTA, GEORGIA
Buckeye, Georgia
Savannah, Georgia

NEW MARMON-BUILT ROOSEVELT, FIRST STRAIGHT EIGHT TO SELL FOR LESS THAN $1,000 PRESENTED TO PUBLIC

CAR ON DISPLAY FOR FIRST TIME BY LOCAL DEALER

Many Improvements and Refinements Mark Roosevelt in Initial Appearance on Market.

Its introduction sweeping aside automobile precedent, the new Marmon-built Roosevelt, presented to the American motoring public in a gigantic coast-to-coast announcement by G. M. Williams, president of the Marmon Motor Car Company, reveals the first straight-eight ever produced to sell below $1,000 at the factory.

The Roosevelt is the culmination of a development predicted by automobile authorities for years and now achieved for the first time by Marmon as a result of its rapid and advanced progress in the eight cylinder field.

The Roosevelt is on display for the first time at the showroom of Marmon Atlanta Motor Company, local Marmon distributor, at 512-16 West Peachtree street. The initial showing of the new car is augmented by a complete display of the two other Marmon lines of straight eights, the new Series 88 and the new Series 78. First Roosevelt shipments from the Marmon factory were composed chiefly of five-passenger sedan models, although the complete line includes, in addition to the sedan, a collapsible coupe with rumble seat, standard coupe with rumble seat, and four-passenger Victoria coupe.

New Features of Design.
The Roosevelt fairly bristles with new features of design, utility and performance that stamp it as one of the greatest values on the automobile market. Aside from its eight cylinder engine of the most modern design, the car has special provisions for easy riding, a patented Marmon high frequency oscillating modulator which completely eliminates torsional vibration, "single button" steering column control, thermostatic cooling and full force feed lubrication.

The straight-eight L-head engine of the Roosevelt has a bore of 2.34 inches and a stroke of 4.14 inches. Power in excess of 70 horsepower is developed at 3,200 revolutions per minute which, in combination with light reciprocating parts and the use of the Marmon modulator, gives a maximum of smoothness and performance.

Exhaustive tests of the Roosevelt were completed by the Marmon engineering department under the direction of Colonel Howard Marmon, vice president in charge of engineering, and Thomas J. Little, Jr., chief engineer, a past president of the Society of Automotive Engineers and a noted contributor to the development of the internal combustion engine.

Not only was the famous Indianapolis speedway, "the greatest proving ground in the world," employed in strenuous day and night tests for months, but Roosevelt cars were taken to all parts of the country and subjected to all kinds of conditions and temperatures. In top speed, acceleration, hill-climbing ability and other points of performance, the Roosevelt bears familiar Marmon straight-eight characteristics of superiority.

Features of Car.
The Roosevelt engine is lubricated by full pressure to all moving parts by means of a gear type pump controlled by a pressure regulator. Special attention has been paid to the cooling system and not only is water circulated by means of an impeller-type pump, but the system is so designed that thermo-siphon action takes place. Automatic thermostatic control enables the engine to reach its highest operating efficiency promptly and also maintains a constant engine temperature in all climates and under all conditions.

Semi-elliptic springs covering more than 80 per cent of the car's wheelbase are used; the front springs being 37 inches long and the rear springs 34.8 inches long. Spring mounting is unique in that the metal shackles are self-adjusting, with a tapered pin and spring clamps at the side which automatically compensate for wear.

Lowboy hydraulic shock absorbers are engineered into the frame. The steering gear is of the well known and proved cam and lever type which permits extreme ease and steadiness of control at all speeds. The steering wheel, which is 18 inches in diameter, is of the popular small grip type, and the steering column is adjustable to suit the comfort and convenience of the driver. New and improved "single button" control is used, with a button, mounted in the center of the steering wheel, operating the starter, lights and horn.

Two-shoe internal expanding four-wheel brakes are used. They are fully enclosed to prevent water, mud or grit from injuring the drum or brake lining. Braking power is divided equally between front and rear wheels, with a total of 140-14 square inches of braking surface provided.

Distinctive Bodies.
All body styles are distinctive and original and embody the newest and most up-to-date features of design. Likewise, many comfort factors have been incorporated in the interiors of all body styles, and the appointments are equal to those usually found only in much higher priced cars. Bodies are manufactured in Marmon factories under supervision of Marmon inspectors.

The Roosevelt has been given new and unique identification by means of a high, narrow radiator bearing a small insignia with a head of the famous president at the top and a large "R" medallion in the lower center. This identification is augmented on the bumpers and hub caps, and a long, sweeping hood with curved top paneling. A distinct stream line effect is obtained by side moldings which extend from the front of the hood in an uninterrupted straight line to the rear of the body.

All exterior parts are chromium-plated, including the bumpers. Two cowl ventilators, independently operated by levers beneath the instrument panel, are included on all models, and are designed to blend into the panel design on the top of the hood. Interior upholstery is of broadcloth in new and interesting patterns and two-tone hardware is designed to conform with the general luxuriousness of the cars.

Oakland's 1,000,000th Car Writes History In Development of Automobile Industry

Back in 1907 Oakland car number one was burning up the highways at a terrific thirty-mile-an-hour clip to set a pace in style and speed as outstanding in its day as is the one millionth Oakland product—a new All-American 4-door sedan—built on March 18. Officials of the Oakland Motor Car Company inspecting it as it leaves the assembly line are, from the left, B. H. Anibal, vice president in charge of engineering; A. R. Glancy, president and general manager; W. R. Tracy, vice president in charge of sales, and Gordon LeFebvre, vice president in charge of operations.

Pontiac, Mich., March 30.—One more entrant into the "million car class" was recorded here when the Oakland Motor Car Company passed that enviable milestone on March 18. The history-making model—a four-door sedan of the latest Oakland All-American series—passed final inspection and rolled from the end of the assembly line late in the afternoon to be received by a group of factory executives headed by A. R. Glancy, president and general manager.

A few seconds after the millionth car moved from the line the 1,000,001st Oakland product, an All-American two-door sedan, passed the final inspection station to join a practically endless row of predecessors going out to all quarters of the globe to satisfy the demand.

Little ceremony attended the building of the millionth Oakland product, with a consequent minimum of interruption in the most active March car building program in the 22 years the Oakland company has been manufacturing automobiles. The car was immediately dispatched to Milwaukee, where it will be displayed by the local dealer.

History of Oakland.
Organized in 1907, the Oakland Motor Car Company did not build its first 500,000th car until July 20, 1926—a period of more than 19 1/2 years, while only two and a half years were required to turn out its second 500,000th product.

In addition to Mr. Glancy, other officials present when the millionth car rolled off the line were W. R. Tracy, vice president in charge of sales; Gordon LeFebvre, vice president in charge of operations, and B. H. Anibal, vice president in charge of engineering.

W. H. Vann, chief inspector, in placing the final okay on the car, pointed out that to build the millionth unit, as well as all other cars of the present All-American line, there took place approximately 7,000 individual inspections during the construction.

The first inspection is at the raw materials unloading dock even before incoming freight is taken from the car, he said, and continues on through every operation up to the freight car in which the finished automobile is packed for shipment. Several inspection gauges measure the accuracy of precision-machined parts up to one ten-thousandth of an inch, he explained.

Contrasting this with methods in vogue when the first Oakland car came into existence in 1907, Mr. Vann stated that at that early date inspection was mostly by the trained eye of the mechanic. If a part appeared to fit, it did well enough. Today's precision methods require infinitely closer machining and allow for the huge production programs that have made possible so much value giving to the ultimate consumer.

Three-year Records Broken.
Oakland's sudden arrival in the "million car" class comes as a climax to three consecutive years of record-breaking sales and production which have gained for it a secure place among the leading automobile producers of the world.

This year's production and sales program calls for a substantial increase even over the huge volume of 1928. Dealer outlets are being constantly expanded under the direction of W. R. Tracy, vice president in charge of sales, and with extensive manufacturing facilities, Oakland-Pontiac sales are expected to total over 300,000 cars.

With both the new Oakland All-American Six and the Pontiac Big Six enjoying a high measure of public favor, Oakland officials are confident that the third 500,000th milestone will be passed before the lapse of many months.

Now Much Cheaper.
A statement issued by the Georgia organization Saturday called attention to the fact that while in 1900 there were 248,861,388 yards of jute burlap imported from Calcutta, this had increased in 1927 to 1,052,650,612 yards from the same city, indicating replacement of the use of cotton because of the cheapness of the jute fabrics.

"Because of the low cost of production, the low wages paid in India and the low living standards, jute can be manufactured much cheaper than cotton," the statement reads.

"Under the present tariff rates, jute and jute products are imported into America and sold much cheaper than cotton products," the statement continues.

"With an adequate tariff placed on jute and jute products, cotton products would be able to compete on an even basis. If every sound of jute bagging, burlap, and bags were replaced with cotton products, it is estimated that this would increase the consumption of cotton by approximately one million bales."

FIGHT FOR INCREASED JUTE TARIFF TO GO ON

Cotton Manufacturers Will Continue War in Congress.

Efforts of the Cotton Manufacturing Association of Georgia to encourage congress to increase the tariff on jute and jute products will be continued, it was announced Saturday by the executive board of the organization.

Resolutions which approved the proposed tariff and urged the senators and representatives of Georgia to support such legislation at the special session of congress have been called to the attention of the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association requesting that organization to stand behind the Georgia cotton manufacturers in their efforts to halt what is termed "inroads into the markets for cotton and other American fibres."

Much from Calcutta.
A statement issued by the Georgia organization Saturday called attention to the fact that while in 1900 there were 248,861,388 yards of jute burlap imported from Calcutta, this had increased in 1927 to 1,052,650,612 yards from the same city, indicating replacement of the use of cotton because of the cheapness of the jute fabrics.

"Because of the low cost of production, the low wages paid in India and the low living standards, jute can be manufactured much cheaper than cotton," the statement reads.

"Under the present tariff rates, jute and jute products are imported into America and sold much cheaper than cotton products," the statement continues.

"With an adequate tariff placed on jute and jute products, cotton products would be able to compete on an even basis. If every sound of jute bagging, burlap, and bags were replaced with cotton products, it is estimated that this would increase the consumption of cotton by approximately one million bales."

Here's a Car With an All-Star Cast

Lending the support of his name and prestige to the development of the coming Jim Thorpe and Babe Ruths, Douglas Fairbanks, popular movie star and amateur athlete, is here shown in front of his studio, speeding off the official car of the Junior Olympic games—an Oakland All-American Six—on a tour to promote interest in the event. John Ness, a member of the executive committee, is seated at the wheel beside Boyd Comstock, internationally known track coach, who developed Charlie Paddock, Olympic dash star. Standing on the running board of the Oakland is Johnny Falcon, of Azusa, Calif., who last year won the title of senior national Junior Olympic champion. The Junior Olympic games originated in southern California. While try-outs for boys from the ten southern counties of that state are to be held at Los Angeles early in the summer, the finals are scheduled for Atlantic City on July 9, 10 and 11. "Thousands of boys in schools we have visited are enthusiastic over the Oakland All-American Six, which shows that the juvenile mind as well as that of the adult selects a car for its smartness and dash," Mr. Ness told Oakland-Pontiac officials.

EXPLORER WILKINS PLANS AIR VISIT TO SAN FRANCISCO

New York, March 30.—(P)—The National Air Transportation Company announced today that Sir George Hubert Wilkins, the polar explorer, would leave Hadley field, New Jersey, in a mail plane next Monday noon for San Francisco.

ITALIA DISASTER VICTIM PREPARES FOR FALSE LEG

Bologna, Italy, March 30.—(P)—Major Alberto Mariano, companion of Captain Felippo Zappi and the Swedish scientist Finn Malmgren on their historic hike across the ice after the Italy disaster, today underwent an operation in order that an artificial leg might be fitted for him. His leg was amputated shortly after his rescue, after gangrene had set in from frostbite.

His fiancée, Signorina Fricchi Bianconcini, the Duchess of Mignano, was at his bedside in the clinic after the operation.

1,200 CHILDREN ASKED TO THOMAS FIELD DAY

Thomasville, Ga., March 30.—(Special.) Miss Elizabeth Branham, Thomas county Red Cross nurse, says it will be a great event among the school children of this county on children's health day, May 1. She expects to have at least 1,500 children come to Thomasville that day and participate in a grand parade and program.

In addition to the general program for all children a special program will likely be devised and put on by teachers in various schools of the several towns and rural districts of the county.

Furthermore, Miss Branham says she is going to invite President Hoover to attend the Thomas county celebration. She declined to say, however, that she entertains a strong hope that he will be here.

THIEVES FIND ONLY 95 CENTS AFTER LOOTING CITY HALL

New Orleans, March 30.—(P)—And now thieves have ransacked the dome of the New Orleans city fathers.

This morning employees of the board of liquidation entered their office at the city hall and found it in confusion. Nearly every desk drawer had been jimmied. A check-up revealed that only 95 cents in cash and two camera lenses were missing.

SPANISH ATLANTIC FLIERS PLANNING VISIT TO NEW YORK

Rio Janeiro, March 30.—(P)—Captains Jimenez and Iglesias, the Spanish aviators who made a brilliant flight across the south Atlantic from Spain this week, may visit New York unofficially.

The present flight is being made in connection with the forthcoming international exposition at Seville, Spain. The official itinerary, as announced recently, touches Buenos Aires, crosses to the Pacific coast and then runs northward to Havana, Cuba, where it ends officially. However, the fliers hope to go on to New York later.

DETROIT GANGSTER SOUGHT FOR PART IN CHICAGO DEATHS

Chicago, March 30.—(P)—A nationwide search was instituted today for Frank Burke, Detroit gangster. He has been identified, Assistant State's Attorney David Stansbury said, as a member of the St. Valentine's day massacre squad, the "man with a missing front tooth" who wore a policeman's uniform and carried one of the machine guns that killed seven members of the "Bugs" Moran gang.

Police do not believe that Burke was a member of any Chicago gang, but that he was brought here for the slaying.

Joel Daves Used Car Aces

Crack used car salesman for Joel Daves, Inc., Hudson-Essex dealer, are W. E. McBrayer, left, and R. W. Lankford. They are making an enviable record in their line of work and are optimistic over spring used car prospects.

The Thrill of Two High Speeds

[Four Speeds Forward—Standard Gear Shift]

The new Graham-Paige sixes and eights are distinguished by the thrilling performance of two high speeds, standard gear shift. With the time-proved Graham-Paige four speed transmission—fourth, used most of the time, gives a new smoothness and swiftness; third, a quiet internal gear, provides rapid acceleration in traffic and up steep hills. The gear shift is standard—you start in second; first, in reserve, is instantly available but seldom used. You are invited to enjoy a demonstration.

Joseph P. Graham
Robert C. Graham
Ray A. Graham

Goldsmith-Becker Company, Inc.

230-238 Spring St., N. W.

Atlanta, Ga.

Open Evenings

GRAHAM-PAIGE

ENGINE AND WHEEL WILL SHARE HONORS IN RECORD-BREAKING HUMPHMOBILE "SKY-ROAD PARADE" SLATED FOR APRIL 17-18

DEALERS TO FLY TO HUPP FACTORY

Detroit, Mich., March 30.—(Special.)—The Hupp Motor Car Corporation announces today that wings and wheels are both to be put to striking service in an event designed both to signalize success of the new Century Eight and to dramatize the development of aviation as a means of civilian transport.

This event, set for April 17 and 18, is to be called the "Sky-Road parade" and is to mark on the one hand the most ambitious movement of civilians through the air ever attempted on a single day, and on the other, the largest driveway of eight-cylinder cars that has ever taken place in Detroit.

The event was conceived when the Gambrill Motor Company, Inc., Hupp mobile distributor in Chicago, placed an order for $2,700,000 worth of Hupp mobiles, and it was decided to make Chicago's fourth annual drive-away from the factory the biggest event of its kind in Hupp mobile history.

The Hupp Motor Car Corporation, which has already engaged in an active campaign to improve sales in motor traffic and actively promote good roads, decided that this drive-away should be made the means of dramatizing the progress of a sister transport industry. For that reason, it has arranged that the owners of the 150 new Century Eights or their representatives shall make the trip from Chicago to Detroit by airplane in a great parade through the sky on April 17 and shall return next day in a parade over the highways with these glittering Hupp mobiles. Elaborate plans are being made to make both the exodus from Chicago "a-wing" and the return by motor events of stirring interest, accompanied by appropriate ceremonies.

Announcement of this plan definitely sets at rest published rumors that the company would shortly become connected with the aviation industry. The statement explains that the Hupp Motor Car Corporation planned the event as part of a program to assist in the development of commercial aviation. It indicated that the automobile company does not now contemplate any participation in the aircraft industry.

The statement following set forth formally that "the management of the Hupp Motor Car Corporation wishes to definitely settle certain printed statements concerning Hupp mobile's contemplated connection with commercial aviation."

Company officials reveal that invitations to attend the event had been sent to Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, Amelia Earhart, Clarence Chamberlin, and nearly 100 other internationally known pilots, round the world fliers, airplane manufacturers and government officials connected with aviation. Hupp mobile has also asked a prominent government official to attend the Detroit banquet as principal speaker.

On April 18 the 150 new Hupp mobile straight eight owners will drive their new cars back to Chicago, where another reception and banquet will await them. State police from Michigan, Indiana and Illinois will act as escorts during the return trip, according to the plans now being worked out.

The mammoth air event, according to Hupp, had its inception in the recent order for $2,700,000 worth of new eight-cylinder Hupp mobiles from Chicago. This is said to be one of the largest orders ever given to any automobile manufacturer by a single distributor.

FRESHMAN RADIOS TO BE INSTALLED IN BIG THEATERS

That great industries and professions no longer compete with each other once they have passed the experimental stage is indicated in the announcement Saturday by James N. Polk, Inc., representing the Charles Freshman Company, Inc., in the southeast. This announcement contends that the theater and radio must work together to obtain the best results and uses that fact that the firm of J. J. & Lee Shubert, internationally known theater owners and producers of musical reviews, have made arrangements to purchase Freshman radio receivers for dressing rooms in every one of their theaters to point the way. These sets will be installed in the dressing rooms assigned to the comedians because of the realization that comedians must have topical matter at their finger tips if they are to get across the footlights. Radio is recognized now as one of the great news sources of America.

The Shubert theaters in New York will receive their sets first. It is expected that the entire installation will be completed within a month. It will take this time due to the fact that many houses have electrically controlled counter-weight systems and curtains and sets will have to be installed in a special fashion in order to avoid electrical disturbances from power sources.

AUTOMOBILE INDUSTRY CONTINUES TO LEAD

Continued from First Page.

an ardent developer of the aviation industry, with which he had been intimately associated until two days before his death. John R. Orman, veteran of the automobile trade, has gone, too. He was very widely known and is credited with having christened Henry Ford's first famous racer, the old "999."

Detroit men are heading the first combined steamboat and flying boat transportation operation to be formed. A. A. Schantz, for long the president of the Detroit & Cleveland Navigation Company, is president of the new organization. The Stout D. & C. Airlines, Inc., W. H. Stout is a director and will take an active part in the new undertaking.

New Merger Coming.

Very shortly there is likely to be an announcement of a new and unexpected merger among the automotive interests. It will take the form of a $25,000,000 corporation and be far-reaching in its scope. For the present, no details are available, but the plan has already reached an advanced stage of development.

Michigan gravel roads have again demonstrated their unserviceable condition, with the coming of spring. Reports from all over the state indicate that roads of this type do not stand up under commercial use and truck drivers are being warned to observe strictly the laws respecting maximum allowable weight when traveling on the gravel. At the same time, the state has announced an extension of gravel road mileage. This seems like a short-sighted policy, in view of known conditions.

Artistry and Performance Feature New Willys-Knights

1929 Expected To See New High Mark Set in Sales

Willys-Overland, in presenting an entirely new line of Willys-Knight sixes, strikingly different from all previous models to meet the advanced style demand and an engine performance that sets a new high standard of performance, indicates that these new cars will register throughout 1929, the greatest sales mark ever reached in the Willys-Knight division.

The work of designing the new Willys-Knight Six was started more than a year ago, the engineers and body designers being given full sway to produce a line of Knight engine vehicles that would strike a new note of style, quality and performance in the Willys-Knight Six price classification.

In this work all of the vast manufacturing facilities of the Willys-Overland organization were placed at the disposal of these men, resulting in the new line of Knight engine cars which executives of the company declare will reach a sales volume during the current year in excess of any previous sale record in Willys-Knight history.

The bodies are characterized by entirely new lines beginning at the redesigned radiator and continuing on back to the carefully rounded rear quarters. These smart lines are enhanced through the employment of sweeping, one-piece full crown fenders and the five wire wheels, which are standard equipment. The fifth wire wheel is mounted in a fender well on the right forward fender, this being in keeping with the latest practice in design among the higher priced cars.

Each of the bodies are marked by spacious interiors while the hardware, which includes remote door controls, are of quality design. The leg room provides ample freedom both for occupants and for the driver. The seats are scientifically designed to provide proper contour to provide ease and comfort.

In the adoption of the new "finger-tip control," which permits absolute control of starting the motor, operating the lights and sounding the horn without changing the driving position, Willys-Overland brings to the Willys-Knight field the greatest driving convenience since the self-starter.

This equipment is standard on all products of the Toledo manufacturer. Throughout the past year various tests have been conducted with the Willys-Knight eleven-valve engine employed in this car, bringing positive proof of its unusual speed and power development and its ability to operate smoothly and silently in every road and weather condition.

NEW ENGLAND STATES SEND TOURISTS HERE

Many "Good-Will" Visitors Expected in Atlanta During April.

Atlanta will be visited in April by large delegations of "good-will" tourists from two New England states, Vermont and Massachusetts, according to announcement made Saturday by B. S. Barker, executive vice president of the chamber of commerce.

The Vermont State Chamber of Commerce, with headquarters at St. Albans, is behind the good-will tour scheduled to arrive on April 13, at 8 o'clock in the forenoon. The visitors will remain until 1:15 o'clock, and will be taken for an automobile tour of the city and shown Stone Mountain and the cyclorama at Grant park. Henderson Hallman has been appointed chairman of the reception committee.

Governor and Mrs. John E. Weeks of Vermont, will be the official heads of the party, which will include 125 prominent citizens of the state, representing various interests. The "Vermont Special" train will carry four baggage cars of exhibits which the Atlanta public is invited to view.

On April 23 or 24, the date to be definitely announced later, the pilgrimage of the Boston Chamber of Commerce will reach Atlanta and spend most of the day. They will be given a luncheon at the chamber of commerce building and shown points of interest. Channing Cope is chairman of the reception committee in charge of this event. The Bostonians will number about 50 persons, headed by Henry I. Harriman, president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, and Melville D. Liming, secretary. James H. Walsh, representative of the Boston chamber, was in Atlanta several days ago, making arrangements for the stay here.

INVALID FROM BED CHATS WITH WORLD

Lima, Ohio, March 30.—(Special.)—James C. Lisk, 28, is confined to his bed by paralysis, but with his one strong hand he reaches out to every corner of the earth and sometimes helps save lives.

His radio key, WSEQ, enables him to talk regularly with Commander Richard E. Byrd's camp in Antarctica, and with scores of stations in better known parts of the world. The operator at SYPZ at Marseilles, France, is one of his best friends.

Early one morning Lisk heard an operator in Florida trying to reach the governor at Tallahassee with a plea for help. The crippled man relayed it by telegraph to the governor, and assistance to many flood victims resulted.

A fall from a pony 16 years ago caused Lisk's disability.

FIDDLERS TO HOLD OLDTIME CONTEST HERE ON MAY 3

"Ye Olde Time Fiddlers" Interstate Association of the South will meet at the auditorium on Friday, May 3, and continue in session for two days, closing with a great contest with will require two evenings to determine the champion fiddler of the south.

The association is the outgrowth of a contest held in Atlanta a number of years ago.

From the mountains of East Tennessee, the hills of Kentucky, the flat woods of Alabama, the lowlands of Mississippi, and the Everglades of Florida fiddlers will come in an attempt to wrest the crown from the brow of Fiddlin' John Carson, who won the championship a number of years ago and has defended it since against all comers.

Music of Martha Features Sunday Organ Recital

Dr. Charles A. Sheldon, city organist, will render three selections from the opera Martha by Florent Schmitt at the regular Sunday afternoon organ recital in the city auditorium this afternoon.

These free Sunday recitals are open to the public. They begin at 3 o'clock and last for one hour. The program follows:

Overture to Martha ..... Florent Schmitt
"None So Rare, None So Pure," ..... Florent Schmitt
"The Last Rose of Summer," ..... Florent Schmitt
Pavane of Easter, New ..... Florent Schmitt
O'Ve Flowery Meads ..... Florent Schmitt
The Old Refrain ..... Florent Schmitt

Lilienthal's Opens New Branch Monday On Peachtree Street

Lilienthal's, Atlanta's oldest exclusive china store, Monday will open a branch at 245 Peachtree street, at the

HELD FOR THEFT OF $100,000 BONDS FROM MOVIE STAR

Los Angeles, March 30.—(Special.)—Carl Coleman, 25, and Morris Goodman, 24, were under arrest here today, in connection with the theft of $100,000 in bonds owned by Wallace Beery, screen actor.

The men confessed having the bonds in their possession but said they were stolen by a third man whose name they did not know, according to police.

Payment on the bonds, taken from Beery's coat at a motion picture studio, was stopped and new bonds issued to the actor.

corner of Harris, directly opposite the Capital City Club.

This veteran Atlanta commercial organization has been engaged in business here for the past 33 years, its main store being located at 107 Whitehall street, S. W. It deals in china and crystal for all uses and occasions and features open stock ware for convenient matching.

The branch on Peachtree, which opens Monday morning is established in the new up-town shopping center for the convenience of North Side patrons. It was announced Saturday, and will carry a complete and attractive stock. Officials of Lilienthal's invite the general public to visit the new store.

Goodness Doubly Assured

Deeds, not words, build a good name! The name of Dodge Brothers stands for endurance, trustworthiness, long life. Its reputation for dependability rests on a solid and unshakable foundation of years of honest motor car manufacture. The name of Walter P. Chrysler stands for style, for engineering leadership and integrity. His genius has been proved by a long succession of achievements that have virtually revolutionized motor car construction and design. That is why the new Dodge Brothers Six is so outstanding in character and behavior. The sturdiness so long associated with Dodge Brothers cars is a guarantee of its stamina. Its vivid style and spirited performance typify it as a Chrysler creation.

EIGHT BODY STYLES: $945 TO $1065 F.O.B. DETROIT

NEW DODGE BROTHERS SIX

CHRYSLER MOTORS PRODUCT

Lambeth-Eskridge Motor Co., Inc.

452 Peachtree St.

Lambeth-Eskridge Motor Co., Inc.
519 McDonough Road—Decatur

Lambeth-Eskridge Motor Co., Inc. .... Griffin, Ga.
Weaver & Pittman ..... Covington, Ga.

Brooks & Watson ..... Lithonia, Ga.
J. H. Bagwell ..... Canton, Ga.
A. O. Beason ..... Marietta, Ga.

O. S. Miller ..... Carrollton, Ga.
R. B. Askew & Co. .... Newnan, Ga.

LINCOLN LEADERS ARE SATISFIED AT SOLON RESULTS

Keen satisfaction over results from the Lincoln salon conducted last week at the Elmore hotel was expressed Saturday by David B. Magner, one of the Lincoln executives from the Detroit offices.

"The salon was a huge success from every standpoint," he stated. "Atlanta is a wonderful city and business here certainly is good."

Homer B. Harris, vice president of the Grant, Harris, Rippey company, under whose auspices the salon was held, was equally enthusiastic. "Our actual sales during the course of the salon greatly exceeded our most sanguine expectations," he declared. "If any man believes business isn't good in Atlanta, it is simply because he is not properly displaying his wares in an effective setting."

ORKIN COMPANY SPURS CAMPAIGN ON RATS, VERMIN

With the advent of the spring season, the Orkin Exterminating Company, at 82 Courtland street, S. E., Saturday reported an intensification of its work to rid Atlanta commercial structures and homes of rats, mice and all species of vermin.

This widely-known exterminating establishment has done effective work against rats and vermin here for the past five years, with Otto Orkin at its head as president, and Theodore Oser as vice president. The local company is one of 14 similar institutions in the Orkin chain operating successfully in southern cities.

In addition to complete, modern equipment for conducting thorough campaigns to rid stores, commercial and civic buildings and residences of rats and vermin, the Orkin company has a special fumigating vault at its Courtland street plant which makes vermin-free all furniture and other articles treated in it. The company has as its clients many stores and other business institutions as well as a long list of Atlanta homes.

Radio News of Nation-Programs
On the Air Today

RADIO IN THE HOME

Television News,
Special Features
In Radio Development

"Whimsy Cake" Recipe
Puzzles for Londoners
How do you make a whimsy cake?
That is what at least a portion of London would like to know, according to the "Living Age." In Bar-rie's play, "Quality Street," it is mentioned that on that street there is but one shop, and it sells only whimsy cakes. Horace Watson, manager of the Haymarket theater, where the play is being revived, declared that if he could find out how to make whimsy cake, he'd serve only that with tea in the greenroom while the play ran.

But even the author couldn't furnish a recipe, so an appeal was broadcast. Some literal souls have assured
Mr. Watson that whimsy cakes are are cut up and buttered. Others of a different nature say whimsy cake is like what Wendy served Peter Pan for tea.

Investigation into the cause of hum and extraneous noises in the AC heater type tube has led to improvement in this type of valve, DeForest engineers say.

Far From the Quaint Old Yankee Custom

The police of Tokyo thought they had captured a notorious criminal, and the newspapers were notified of
it. Then it turned out that the prisoner was an innocent man, Inspector Yasuji Deguchi, who had led in the arrest, committed a sort of political mari-kari by handing in his resignation on the spot, the "Living Age" records, and the wrongly captured man was given five yen to indemnify him for the trouble which had been caused him.

Picture Impulses Come From 22 Transmitters

Television Stations Now Located in Every Part of the Country—One in the South.

Washington, March 30.—(AP)—
Twenty-two visual broadcast stations soon will be transmitting pictures and television images on channels assigned by the federal radio commission.

Twelve of the stations are located in the east, four in the middle west, two in the far west and one in the south. Three are portables owned by the Radio Corporation of America.
One station, WRNY, Coatesville, N.
J., operated by the Experimenter Publishing Company, is operating on 1,010 kilocycles in the broadcast band.
The others send on channels, 100 kilocycles wide, in the high frequency band.

Stations operating on short waves and their frequencies follow:
W1XAE, Springfield, Mass., Westinghouse Company, 2,000 to 2,100 kilocycles; W1XAY, Lexington, Mass.,
Lexington Air Station, 2,000 to 2,100;
W2XBA, Newark, N. J., WAAM
Inc., 2,750 to 2,850; W2XBS, portable, RCA, 2,000 to 2,100; W2XBT, portable, RCA, 2,000 to 2,100;
W2XBW, portable, FCA, 2,000 to
2,100; W2XCL, New York, Pilot
Electric Manufacturing Company, 2,000
to 2,100 and 2,750 to 2,850.
W2VCO, New York, RCA, 2,100 to
2,200; W2XCR, Jersey City, Jenkins
Television Corporation, 2,100 to 2,200;
W2XCV, Schenectady, N. Y.,
General Electric, 2,100 to 2,200;
W2XN, Ossining, N. Y., Robert F.
Temple, 2,000 to 2,100; W3XNK,
Washington, Jenkins Laboratories, 2,000
to 2,100 and 2,850 to 2,950;
W3XNL, Bound Brook, N. J., RCA,
2,850 to 2,950; W4XE, Winter Park,
Fla., W. J. Lee, 2,000 to 2,100;
W6XX, Oakland, Cal., General Electric, 2,000 to 2,100; W7XAO, Port-

WWJ's Veteran

E. L. TYSON

Detroit, March 23.—(AP)—E. L. Tyson, veteran announcer of WWJ, is known as "Ty" to all of his friends.
He was born in Tyrone, Pa., 41 years ago and served overseas with the Twenty-eighth (Pennsylvania) division in the World War. He is married and has one small daughter.

land, Ore., Wilbur Jerman, 2,750 to 2,850.

W8XAV, Pittsburgh, Westinghouse, 2,000 to 2,100, 2,100 to 2,200 and 2,750 to 2,850; W9XAA, Chicago, Federation of Labor, 2,000 to 2,100; W9XAG, Chicago, Aero Products, Inc., 2,100 to 2,200; W9XAO,
Chicago, Nelson Bond and Mortgage
Co., 2,000 to 2,100; W9XAZ, Iowa
City, University of Iowa, 2,000 to 2,100.

TELEVISION STATION PROVES POPULARITY

When Jenkins Goes Off Air Flood of Letters Are Result.

Washington, March 30.—The popularity of television was demonstrated in Washington within the last two weeks when the movie broadcasting station of the Jenkins Laboratories temporarily suspended operations.
During the period of inactivity, the station received a steady flow of inquiries from the public and others demanding explanations.

The Jenkins Laboratories are located in a densely populated district, and complaints have been made to the federal radio commission that when the laboratories are broadcasting, reception or regular programs from local and out-of-town stations are seriously interfered with. At the request of the commission, therefore, the service was suspended, but early this week word was received that programs might be resumed, and the station is again busy with their scanning disks.

Claim Audience of 20,000.
G. Francis Jenkins, inventor, and head of the Jenkins Laboratories, probably has done more than any other individual to bring the art of television to its present stage of development. Anticipating that when he broadcasting from his present laboratory might be impracticable, he has,
through the company he heads, purchased a large tract in the Potomac nine miles from Washington upon which a new plant has been constructed.
This station will be completed about April 10, when it will take over the work of furnishing programs to the television audience which Mr. Jenkins estimates now to be close to 20-000 and which, he believes, will increase to 100,000 because of the greater power.

At present broadcasting is conducted only three nights a week—Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays—from 8 until 9 p. m. When the new station takes over the work, however, a nightly picture service will be inaugurated. The radio commission recently granted two new channels to Mr. Jenkins, and instead of those heretofore used—6,420 kilocycles for distance receivers and 1,935 for local service—the new station will have a power of 5,000 watts. With this increased power and the new frequency, Mr. Jenkins explained, a "radiovision" and a "radiovision" service will be furnished that will insure still more brilliant pictures, free from fading and interference.

Scanning Disk Data.
Standard scanning will be continued at the new laboratories. Mr. Jenkins said. This consists of 48 lines to the picture and 15 pictures per second,
and 900 r. p. m. of the disk receivers.
Under standards adopted by the engineers committee of the Radio Manufacturers Association, scanning is from left to right, and top to bottom, as one reads the pages of a book. Mr.
Jenkins said. Each picture broadcast will be preceded by a microphone announcement, and each picture story will finish with the word "End," at which signal the receiver again switches back to his loud speaker for the next announcement.

His immediate interest in the broadcasting of radio movies, Mr.
Jenkins said, "is to enable the ambassador of America and Canada to become familiar with the principles involved, in the belief that they will be the radio picture engineers of tomorrow."
The demonstration laboratory of the Jenkins company in Washington is responsible for many converts to television. At various times members of the radio commission, members of congress and others have been entertained with visual broadcasting experiments. A transmitter at one end of the building, through which runs a reel of motion picture film, is connected by wires with a receiving set in the offices. Here, seated at about ten feet from the "drum scanner," an improvement over the scanning disk, the spectator watches acrobatics, rope jumping and dancing as the figures move in a glass disc about six inches in diameter.

BREMER-TULLY SOLD TO BRUNSWICK CO.

Signaling the modern tendency toward expansion and typical of the economic benefits to be obtained in the announcement made by the Brunswick
Balke-Coller Company of the purchase of the entire capital stock of the Bremer-Tully Manufacturing Company of Chicago, the Bremer-Tully company is well known throughout the industry and enjoys licenses by Hazeltine,
Latur, Radio Corporation of America,
Westinghouse Electric, General Electric company, and the Meisner Company.

The new arrangement will mean that the respective facilities of these two outstanding companies in cabinet and radio production will be so co-ordinated as to insure a superior character product at popular prices with a particularly stable merchandising background supported by the most modern methods and machinery known to manufacturer as well as a complete engineering staff of specially-selected talent.

The strong financial and business organization of the Brunswick company, successful manufacturers over a period of 84 years, is too well known to need detailed description.

The new line of Brunswick Radio and Brunswick Panatone with radio will shortly be announced. It has been designed through the use of engineering talent of exceptional experience and capability and will be produced under the highest standards of efficiency and will fully justify Brunswick's reputation for outstanding performance and beauty of cabinet appeal, as well as with due recognition necessitated by the establishment of price levels such as will insure Brunswick dealers a mass market opportunity so essential to successful merchandising.

In the letter of announcement concerning the foregoing, the Brunswick company recognizes its responsibility to its dealer organization to maintain a position of leadership which has been established in instruments for broadcast reception, the amplification of recorded music, and in Brunswick records.

G. U. FULTON

Majestic
ELECTRIC-RADIO
Will Be Installed in Two Hours After Order Has Been Received
Phone Your Order Now for a Set on Approval

J. H. FULTON

FULTON BROS.
ELECTRIC CO.
ELECTRIC CONTRACTORS
133-135 Peachtree Arcade

Nothing But Radio

Let that be your guarantee when selecting your

Majestic at COCHRAN
RADIO

9 Auburn Ave.
Walnut 6187

J. M.
HIGH
CO.

Authorized Dealers

MAJESTIC

Electric Radio

Model 72

$197

Completely installed in your home making available to you the many wonderful programs of the air.

Let Us Prove
by Demonstration
the Unparalleled Performance of the

Majestic

"Mighty Monarch of the Air"

Every day you wait that many programs you lose.

J. M.
HIGH
CO.

Radio Dept.
Walnut 8681

Select Your New Majestic From

CABLE'S

All Models Are Here

Back on the Air

BERTHA FINCH

San Francisco, March 23.—(AP)— Petite Bertha Finch is back on the job as staff soprano of the N. B. C. station here after four months in Honolulu.

The diminutive artist was the leading lady at the Winter Garden revue
in the Hawaiian city and when she returned to the states she boasted of having received the largest number of leis of any artist visiting the islands.

Piano Co.
84 N. Broad St.

BERTHA FINCH

The diminutive artist was the leading lady at the Winter Garden revue
in the Hawaiian city and when she returned to the states she boasted
of having received the largest number of leis of any artist visiting the islands.

992 inspections

WHEN first told that 4,000 Majestic
Radio receivers are made every day, one's first thought is apt to be "They cannot make that many and make them good."
Majestic can . . . and does. It takes 6,500 people to do it . . . 650 being inspectors.
Each receiver, as it is built up, receives 992 inspections before it goes on the cars.

See . . . and hear . . . this amazing achievement. Cabinets that delight the eye . . . the tone quality of the Super-Dynamic speaker.
Let the "Mighty Monarch of the Air"—
Majestic—bring the world into your home.

Licensed under patents and applications of R.
C. A. and R. F. L., also by Leptophone, Lovell & Dunmore and Hogan License associates.

Tune in
Majestic Theatre of the Air
Over Columbia Broadcasting System Every Sunday Night, 9 to 10 Eastern Standard Time.
Headliners of the stage and screen.

Majestic
ELECTRIC-RADIO

GRIGSBY-GRUNOW CO.

5801 Dickens Avenue

CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

Wholesale Distributor

Capital Electric Co.

7 Auburn Avenue,
Atlanta, Ga.

Model 72 (shown above)

Beautiful Louis XVI walnut cabinet with doors of diamond matched oriental walnut having genuine inlaid marquetry border.
Instrument panel also of diamond matched oriental walnut framed with built walnut and birdseye maple panel. Seven tubes completely shielded, using R. F. L. balanced circuit. Majestic Super-Dynamic Speaker. Volume control instantaneous in action. Single dial control . . . . . $167.50

Less tubes

NOW, AS ALWAYS--ATLANTA'S LEADING MAJESTIC DEALERS

STERCH'S

Liberal Terms

Electrical Department--142 Mitchell St., S. W.

Opening Our New Service Station

"TO BETTER SERVE YOU"

Peachtree Street at Pine

Fisk Tires

Wheel Inspection

Vulcanizing

Car Washing and Greasing

Pan-Am Gasoline

Willard Batteries

FOR

Sure Traction

Safe Braking

Easy Steering

Excess Mileage

UNDER ALL CONDITIONS

Opening Day
MONDAY

Souvenirs For All

Every Tire Service is now available at this Modern Master Service Station

Road Service at All Hours

FISK RUGGED
ALL-CORD

The finest tire ever made by Fisk, giving the utmost in safe traction, good looks and long life.

YOU NEED

FISK

ALL-CORDS

A Convenient Master Station for PAN-AM GASOLINE

(The Gasoline That Burns Clean Because It Is Clean)

PAN-AM MOTOR OILS---Tough Oils That Guard Your Motor

Behind every gallon of PAN-AM Gasoline are PAN-AM'S resources and refining methods. Ahead of every PAN-AM gallon are miles of smooth, clean performance. This clean, efficient gasoline means a leaner, more efficient motor.

PAN-AM Motor Oil is preferred by men who watch their motors. Refined from the pick of the world's crudes to a smooth cushion for the moving, hammering parts of your motor. Drive in today for dependable PAN-AM Products.

SOUTH AND TIRE CO., Inc.

SAM MARTLIN, Manager

Phone IVy 3253

Peachtree Street at Pine

ATLANTA

Phone IVy 3253

Setting the Stage for Summer

-indoors and out!

Dress Up Your Winter Furniture With Whimsical Chintzes and Vivacious Cretonnes!

For Porch Privacy and Summer Comfort!

Vudor Porch Shades

—Made of permanently stained wood strips in brown and green with specially woven ventilator top—an exclusive Vudor Feature—assuring uninterrupted circulation of air! Screens in fancy colors may be ordered through us!

Shades 5 ft. x 7 ft. 6 in. . . $5.40
Shades 6 ft. x 7 ft. 6 in. . . $6.40
Shades 8 ft. x 7 ft. 6 in. . . $8.50
Shades 10 ft. x 7 ft. 6 in. . . $11
Shades 12 ft. x 7 ft. 6 in. . . $13.50

Boldly, Joyously, Patterned! New Drapery Crashes

39<sup>c</sup>

—You may choose from these animated crashes the slip covers for your furniture and then have your draperies to match—achieving the smartest trend in the realm of interior decorating—the related color and fabric ensemble in furniture and draperies! New and exclusive designs! 40-in. wide.

$2.75 Marquisette Curtains

$1.98 Set

—In a cool, cream color that is just "off-white"! With deep ruffles and top valance. 2 1/2 yards long. Simply, expertly made—of splendid quality marquisette that tubs with a smile!

—RICH'S, FOURTH FLOOR

Slip Covers Made to Order!

3-Pc. Suite Complete

$34.75

—Special offer for three days only—Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday! We will cover davenport and two chairs in 36-in. heavy, printed crash for $34.75 or will cover separate pieces! Charge includes everything! Davenport, separately, $17.85. Chairs, each, $8.95.

Slip Cover Fabrics

Belgium Linens, 50-in. wide, 79c.
Linen-like Crashes, 36-in. wide, 75c.
Afar Woven Novelty Fabrics, 50-in. wide, $1.98.
Glazed Chintzes, 36-in. wide, 85c.

Para---Guaranteed Waterproof! Shower Bath Curtains

$4.95 to $11.95

—A genuine Para rubber coating has been applied to the fabric and all seams vulcanized—making the curtain all one piece and absolutely waterproof! Large sizes for tub bath. Fast colors!

Auto Seat and Back Protectors. Adjustable to fit any make coach or sedan! $5.95 and $6.95 set.

Delttox Grass Rugs

—A Chinese reed design—a conventional bordered pattern—bold modernistic squares and cubes against a neutral ground—here is a sparkling galaxy of plain-surfaced rugs—fully prepared to lead a vigorous, out-of-doors life!

27x54 size, $1.49
54x90 size, $4.95
6x9 size, $6.95
8x10 size, $8.95
9x12 size, $9.95

—RICH'S, FOURTH FLOOR

Buy on Rich's Club Plan!

3-Pc. Stick Reed Ensemble

$295

—An enchanting inducement to lounge away long, lazy, summer afternoons! Of stick reed—woven into bold, vigorous sweeps of comfort—and cool fabricoid in modernistic squares of lawn green and silvered grey. Superior, inner spring construction!

Twelve Special Fiber

Sun Room Suites

In Mellow Buff Finish With Spring Seat Cushions In Gay, Harmonizing Cretonnes! $34.75

—The ultimate of summer comfort has been achieved when indoor comfort attains out-of-door vividness and charm! Here are attractive, durable suites, most moderately priced, that are equally at home in sunroom or on a shady porch!

Other Fiber Sunroom Suites. Priced to $147.50!

50 Striped Gliders, $28.75

—Luxuriously comfortable gliders for sun porch or terrace! Vivid, exotic colors broadly striped on sturdy duck! One especially attractive glider combines bands of bright blue with dazzling white. Guaranteed inner spring construction!

Other Gliders, Sedanettes, Hammocks—priced to $89!

50 Porch Rockers, $3.49

—In the beguiling green of the under side of new poplar leaves! With spaced slat backs and comfortable woven matting seats. Special price at $3.49!

Other porch rockers priced to $13.50!

—RICH'S, FIFTH FLOOR

RICH'S
Inc.

April Prepares a Summer Play Place of Lawn and Garden!

$14 "Great States"

Lawn Mowers

$9.95

—With rear tie rod that prevents cutting strain and keeps mower in perfect alignment! High, balanced wheels—ball bearings. A self-adjusting mower that works smoothly and easily!

"Success Plant Boxes"

$1.50 to $3.75

—Self-watering plant and flower boxes of heavy, galvanized iron equally adaptable for porch or window ledge! All sizes—24 in. to 42 in. long. Priced $1.50 to $3.75.

2-In. Mesh Poultry Netting

$3.50 Roll

—Roll contains 150 ft. of wire 4 ft. high! Build your chicken fences high to prevent them ruining your flowers and early vegetables!

Roll Netting 5 ft. high, $4.50.

Goodyear Pathfinder Garden Hose

$2.45

—Bermuda grass lawns and thirsty flowers respond most gratefully to frequent watering during the long, sun-scorched months! Grass fronds grow greener—flowers larger and more luxuriant—when watered twice a day, in early morning and late afternoon. The name Goodyear signifies long wear! 25 ft. hose. Also in 50 ft. lengths, $4.79.

Picturesque for House or Garden!

Lawn and Fan Trellises

$1

Dorothy Perkins rambling over a stone chimney—moon-vine trailing over a high wall—or vivid climbing nasturtiums—have a more glamorous charm when trained up their path to beauty over graceful white trellises! 8 ft. lawn trellises and 6 ft. fan trellises, $1. Other trellises and arbors priced to $18!

Lawn Settees—For terrace or porch, $1.69.

Spading Fork, Hoe, Rake

$3 Gardening Sets

$2

—A set that answers to all the demands of amateur gardening! Spading fork for turning up the fresh, moist earth—hoe for digging seed trenches and chopping weeds—rake to clear off rubbish! Convenient length handles!

$2.50 Hedge Shears of best Boker steel, $1.95.

HOUSEFURNISHINGS DEPT.
—RICH'S, FOURTH FLOOR

ENGAGEMENTS ANNOUNCED

ORME—HEALEY.

Mr. and Mrs. Aquilla Johns Orme announce the engagement of their daughter, Callie Jackson, to William Thomas Healey, the marriage to be solemnized in June in Ponce de Leon Avenue Baptist church.

HARPER—HOLLEMAN.

Mr. and Mrs. William Benjamin Harper announce the engagement of their daughter, Frances Lorene, to Emerson Holleman, the marriage to be solemnized in April.

WALKER—HILL.

Dr. and Mrs. John Lewis Walker, of Norfolk, Va., announce the engagement of their daughter, Agnes, to Hugh Hill, Jr., of Atlanta, formerly of West Point, Ga. The wedding will take place in the summer.

EMBRY—SUPERTY.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Embry announce the engagement of their daughter, Bessie, to Peter Superty, Jr., of Brooklyn, N. Y., the marriage to be solemnized June 1.

RAU—LEVY.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rau, of 1192 Park avenue, New York city, and Lawrence, L. I., announce the engagement of their daughter, Edith, to Leon R. Levy, also of New York, formerly of Atlanta.

BURKS—BRADFORD.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Burks, of Forest Park, announce the engagement of their daughter, Jessie Allene, to Ernest G. Bradford, of Atlanta, the wedding to take place in April.

KEEL—LEWIS.

Mrs. M. Keel, of Philadelphia, Pa., announces the engagement of her daughter, Ida, to Abe Lewis, of this city, the date of the wedding to be announced later. No cards.

NEVILS—GAMBLE.

Mr. and Mrs. William Clyde Nevils announce the engagement of their daughter, Willie Mildred, to Claude Davis Gamble, the marriage to be solemnized in June, the date to be announced later.

HALE—LANCASTER.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hale, of Atlanta, announce the engagement of their daughter, Lucy Grace, to Dr. H. H. Lancaster, of Waycross, formerly of Gainesville, the marriage to be solemnized in June.

ROWLAND—BROCK.

Mrs. Thomas Robert Rowland announces the engagement of her daughter Louise Octavia, to Dr. Lawrence Wayne Brock, of Greenville, S. C., formerly of Decatur, Ill., the ceremony to take place at 11:30 o'clock Wednesday morning April 24, at the home on Ponce de Leon avenue, Druid Hills. No cards.

Beautiful Rome Bride-Elect of April 10

Miss Laura Weller Graham, beautiful daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Meredith Graham, of Rome, whose marriage to Harold Frierson Hunter will be brilliantly solemnized in the First Baptist church in Rome, Wednesday evening, April 10, at 8 o'clock. A reception at Hill Crest follows the ceremony. Her father, John M. Graham, is president of the National City Bank of Rome and her mother was lovely Miss May Beth Sullivan, a Georgia belle and beauty. Miss Graham is a descendant of families prominently identified with the history of the state.

Miss Gaston Honored At Pre-Nuptial Parties.

A series of lovely parties were given during the week in honor of Miss Elizabeth Gaston, a bride-elect of April.

Miss Elsie Roberts honored her cousin, the bride-elect, with a pre-nuptial shower Monday afternoon. Miss Virginia Davis entertained at a bridge party in honor of Miss Gaston Tuesday evening. Miss Ruby Callaway honored Miss Gaston with a bridge-tee and handkerchief shower Friday afternoon, and Mrs. W. S. Gaston, mother of the bride-elect, was hostess Thursday afternoon at a tressen-tee. Miss Margaret Barnes was hostess Saturday afternoon at a bridge-tee and linen shower, honoring Miss Gaston.

WESLEY—McEACHERN.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Wesley, of Riverdale, Ga., announce the engagement of their daughter, Clara Elizabeth, to Floyd W. McEachern, of College Park, the marriage to be solemnized at an early date. No cards.

GARRETT—MASON.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Garrett, of Quitman, Ga., announce the engagement of their daughter, Annie Elizabeth, to Reuben Madison Mason, of Sanford, Fla., the marriage to be solemnized March 31. No cards.

THOMAS—STEPHENS.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Thomas, of Jackson, Ga., announce the engagement of their daughter, Leamon, to Kirby N. Stephens, of Toombsboro, Ga., the marriage to be solemnized in May.

BARBER—SIZEMORE.

Mrs. E. L. Barber announces the engagement of her daughter, Edna, to Elmer Cummings Sizemore, of Atlanta, formerly of Austell, Ga., the marriage to take place at an early date. No cards.

SPRING MODELS

In Girdles, Step-Ins, Scanties, Rose Maries, P. N. Comfolettes, Bien Jolies, etc. Beautiful Silk Underwear.

EAGER & SIMPSON
8 N. Forsyth St.

For Your Convenience—A Branch Store Opens April 1st

245 Peachtree St., at Harris

A Complete Line of Open Stock Dinnerware,
Crystal and Gifts
Moderately Priced
CHARGE ACCOUNTS SOLICITED

Silienthal's
CHINA STORE

Atlanta's Oldest Exclusive China Store.
107 Whitehall Street

Russell-Livingston Wedding Plans Are of Interest

Of cordial interest is the announcement today of the wedding plans of Miss Gertrude Russell and Albert Livingston. The wedding will take place at 6 o'clock Thursday evening, April 11, at St. John Methodist church. Dr. Sterling P. Wiggins will perform the ceremony.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Emily Parmelee, organist, will give a beautiful program of nuptial music. Mrs. Ermine Everett, contralto, will render several vocal selections. The bride-elect will be given in marriage by her brother, Clyde J. Russell.

Miss Blanche Russell will be her sister's maid-of-honor and Misses Beatie Russell and Pauline Livingston, sister of the groom, will act as bridesmaids. Little Ann LaFitte will be the dainty flower girl. The groom-elect has chosen as his best man, Gray Lambert, and Clyde Casey and Leon C. Deck will act as groomsmen.

Following the ceremony the bride and groom will leave for a motor trip through Florida.

Miss Briggs Is Honor Guest At Party Series

Miss Dorothy Briggs, whose marriage to Roy Stephens, of Thomaston, will be an event of April 20, will be the honor guest at a number of parties during April.

Mrs. W. H. Russell, sister of the bride-elect, will entertain at a bridge-tee April 6, at her home on Ponce de Leon court, Decatur.

Miss Grace Moore will entertain at a bridge party and linen shower April 13, at her home on Piedmont avenue, honoring the bride-elect.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Williams will honor Miss Briggs and Mr. Stephens with a buffet supper April 19.

Mrs. M. D. Norton entertained at a bridge party and handkerchief shower on Saturday, March 30, at her home on Lullwater road, complimenting Miss Briggs. Other parties are being planned for this attractive bride-elect.

Miss Florence Cox Weds Mr. Brownlee.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cox announce the marriage of their daughter, Florence, to George Wesley Brownlee, Jr., on Sunday, February 24, in Chattanooga, Tenn., the ceremony being performed by Rev. Pitts, of the Baptist church.

Miss McCown Weds Albert G. Pirkle.

Macon, Ga., March 29.—(Special.) Mr. and Mrs. James B. Sutton, of Macon, Ga., announce the marriage of their daughter, Edith Elizabeth McCown, to Albert Green Pirkle, of Atlanta, which was solemnized Saturday, March 30, Rev. W. R. Mackay, pastor First Presbyterian church, of Macon, officiating.

Wednesday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock.

Miss Arnold Weds P. C. Herrington.

Mrs. Annie F. Arnold announces the marriage of her daughter, Maude Leslie, to Patrick Calhoun Herrington March 23 at the residence of Rev. W. H. Faust, 1505 Lucile avenue, Atlanta, Ga.

NESBITT—LARGEN.

Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Nesbitt, of College Park, announce the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth, to Ben Thurston Largen, of College Park, formerly of Fayetteville, Tenn.

FONTAINE—ROSS.

Mr. and Mrs. James Madison Greene announce the engagement of their daughter, Billie Fontaine, to Charles Authur Ross, of Atlanta, formerly of Connecticut, the marriage to be solemnized in June.

BRIGGS—STEPHENS.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Briggs announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy, to Roy Stephens, of Thomaston, Ga., the marriage to be solemnized April 20. No cards.

McKIBBEN—TINGLE.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. McKibben, of Locust Grove, announce the engagement of their daughter, Nevie Pauline, to Andie Willie Tingle, of Atlanta, the marriage to be solemnized at an early date.

WYNN—SIMS.

Mr. and Mrs. James Thomas Wynn, of Greensboro, announce the engagement of their daughter, Tommie, to George Wilson Sims, the marriage to be solemnized in April. No cards.

HELMS—McMICHEN.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew D. Helms announce the engagement of their daughter, Gladys, to Raymond V. McMichen, the marriage to occur at an early date.

COLLINS—DAVID.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Collins, of Atlanta, announce the engagement of their daughter, Edith Hazel, to Alvin H. David, of Atlanta, formerly of Athens, the marriage to take place at an early date.

CHANDLER'S NEW SABOT STRAP

THE most dapper of recent low-heel models, sponsored by the smart set and doubly "smart" at Chandler's price... Just arrived in Sunburn Kid, Poppy-red Kid and Patent Leather—delightfully snug fitting.

CHANDLER'S
Exquisite SHOES

Whitehall St.
Cor. Alabama

172 Peachtree St.
Opp. Howard Theatre

The Prospective Bride & Groom.

For Better Selection, Always—
Durham

Charge Accounts Solicited

Confidence
Is a Big Factor.

Established
24
Years

10%
CASH

20%
MONTHLY

Just a Few Steps from 5 Points

DURHAM JEWELRY CO.
INCORPORATED
140 WEDGEWOOD AVE. ATLANTA, GEORGIA

Wedding Invitations

Samples mailed upon request
FOOTE & DAVIES CO.
SOCIAL ENGRAVERS
Atlanta

MYRON E. FREEMAN E. B. FREEMAN E. B. FREEMAN, JR.

Modernizing Your Wedding Ring

At insignificant cost, you may have your gold wedding ring turned down to modern narrow width, and overlaid with platinum top and sides, beautifully hand chased. Yet so carefully is this work done that the original inscription inside the ring is not disturbed, and the full sentiment is preserved. The time required is only a few days, and the cost, for average sizes, is $17.50.

MAIL INQUIRIES INVITED

Myron E. Freeman & Bro.
Jewelers to the Best Families
103 Peachtree Street
Atlanta, Ga.

OUR STOCK OF SILVERWARE IS DISTINCTIVE FOR BEING AMERICAN STERLING AND THE LARGEST IN THE SOUTH

Mrs. Mabelle S. Wall Is Going To Europe

With a small group of congenial companions and will visit Germany, Czechoslovakia, Austria, Italy, France, Switzerland and Belgium. They will travel very comfortably, stay at good hotels and enjoy a complete sight-seeing program. The cost of $965 is all-inclusive and there will be no extras. A complete descriptive folder will be sent upon request.

HOSSEY TOURS
315 ATLANTA TRUST CO. BUILDING
ATLANTA, GEORGIA
177-6731

The Way to Stay Young

It is to do the necessary things to remain young in action and appearance. Much will depend upon Beauty Culture. More so upon the operators who serve you. She should be trained in Beauty Culture and be not only an expert, but an artist. We offer you the services of 18 such in every department from hair bobbing to Hair Dyeing and Permanent Waving. Standard prices. Reasonable charge.

Clayton's Beauty Shoppe

Largest and Best-Known in Dixie.
115 Hunter St., Near Whitehall

Mr. J. P. Stevens On his Birthday

I have endured early hardships with fortitude, and overcome difficulties by perseverance; to have founded or developed a large business, useful in itself, and given employment to many; to have achieved fortune, independence, position and influence; to have established a character above reproach; to have accumulated esteem, the confidence and the friendship of his fellows; to have given largely of money to charity, and of time to citizenship; and to have gained all this of the world, without losing the soul by avarice, or by starving the heart into hardness—I say, he who has so lived has nobly lived, and he should find peace with honor when the evening of life draws on.

THIS TRIBUTE WAS SENT TO MR. STEVENS BY ONE OF HIS EMPLOYEES. IT EXPRESSES THE RESPECT AND ESTEEM IN WHICH HE WAS HELD BY HIS ASSOCIATES WHO FEEL A GREAT LOSS IN HIS DEATH WHICH OCCURRED MARCH 25, 1923

ENGAGEMENTS

JETT-ATKINSON.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Strickland announce the engagement of their cousin, Miss Annie Ione Jett, to Lot Atkinson, of Macon, the date of the marriage to be announced later.

TARATOOT-LONDON.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Taratoot announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary, to Max London, formerly of Gainesville, Ga., the date of the marriage to be announced later. No cards.

GOWEN-FENDIG.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence B. Gowen, of Brunswick, announce the engagement of their daughter, Gladys Hemenway, to Albert Fendig, Jr., of Brunswick the marriage to be solemnized at an early date.

LEE-WILLIAMSON.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Lee of Forest Park, announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Morris, to William Louis Williamson, of Ellenwood, the marriage to be solemnized in April.

GRADDICK-COOK.

Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Coleman Graddick, of Winder, Ga., announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen, to Wright Cook, Jr., of Atlanta the marriage to be solemnized at the home of the bride-elect's parents early in April.

MOCK-GAMLING.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ira Mock of Savannah, announce the engagement of their daughter, Robbie, to Thomas A. Gamling, of Marietta, the date of the marriage to be announced later.

JORDAN-PIERCE.

Mrs. Daisy Harris Jordan, of Roberta, Ga., announces the engagement of her daughter, Ethel Louise, to Thomas J. Pierce, of Atlanta, formerly of Roberta, the marriage to be solemnized Wednesday, April 17, at Roberta Baptist church.

LEDBETTER-FRANKLIN.

Mr. and Mrs. Selman A. Ledbetter announce the engagement of their daughter, Margaret Wade, to James Franklin, of Gallatin, Tenn., the wedding date to be announced later. No cards.

BERRY-KING.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin O. Berry, of Calhoun, announce the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth Louise, to George Olin King, of Calhoun and Atlanta, the marriage to be solemnized in June. No cards.

WILLIAMSON-RAINES.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Williamson announce the engagement of their daughter, Aileen, to Joe Burdette Raines, the marriage to take place in April. No cards.

LINLER-WILSON.

Mrs. John I. Linler announces the engagement of her daughter, Lula, to Dr. Henry Luther Wilson, the marriage to be solemnized in the early summer.

OZBURN-DOBBINS.

Mrs. Marilu Ozburn, of Young Harris, Ga., announces the engagement of her daughter, Pat, to John Stanley Dobbins, of Marietta, Ga., the marriage to be solemnized at an early date.

MASON-DOBBS.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Mason announce the engagement of their daughter, Lila Mary, to Clyde Dobbs, of Marietta, the marriage to be solemnized at an early date.

LANKFORD-HORSELL.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. D. Lankford, of Dalton, announce the marriage of their daughter, Linnie Byrd Lankford, to William M. Horsell, of Philadelphia, Pa., the marriage to take place at an early date.

HUNNICUTT-ARWOOD.

Mrs. Pearl Bolling announces the engagement of her daughter, Ola Frances Hunnicutt, to Charles D. Arwood, the marriage to take place in the early summer.

CANNON-ELKINS.

Mrs. Jesse Cannon, of Fitzgerald, announce the engagement of their daughter, Myrtle Jean, to Liston Dickson Elkins, of Waycross, Ga., the marriage to take place at an early date. No cards.

NEEL-HARRISON.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scott Fisher, of Romney, W. Va., announce the engagement of their niece, Vera Mae Neel, to Dr. Miller Thurman Harrison, the wedding to take place the latter part of April.

Miss Rau Weds Leon R. Levy At Early Date

Of cordial social interest in Atlanta is the announcement of the engagement of Miss Edith Rau, of 1192 Park avenue, New York city, and Lawrence, Long Island, to Leon R. Levy, also of New York, formerly of Atlanta.

Miss Rau is the lovely young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rau, of New York, and was graduated from Smith college in the class of 1927. The groom-elect is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Levy, prominent Atlanta citizens. He is an alumnus of the Georgia School of Technology, graduating with the class of 1922. He is a member of the architectural firm of Leon and Lionel Levy, of New York.

Piano Teachers Will Attend Demonstration.

A dozen or more Atlanta teachers of the piano with several visitors from out of town will attend this week a series of demonstrations of the Breithaupt method of piano teaching to be given at Ampico Hall, 1923 Peachtree street.

The lectures and demonstrations will be given by Miss Florence Leonard, of Philadelphia, who will be presented in Atlanta by Mrs. C. Armond Carroll. They will begin Monday and continue through Friday at 8 o'clock in the evening in the drawing room of Ampico Hall.

Miss Daisy Cobb will give a musical tea for a group of friends in the drawing room of Ampico Hall Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

The junior music contest eliminations by the Atlanta Junior Music Club will be held Wednesday and Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock at Ampico Hall, 1923 Peachtree street, under the direction of Miss Louise Daniel.

Mrs. W. K. Lounsbury will give a musical tea at Ampico Hall Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Frazier-Maddox Wedding Is Quietly Solemnized in Florida

Tarpon Springs, Fla., March 30.—Among the loveliest weddings of the season was that of Miss Virginia Hayward Frazier, of Charleston, W. Va., and Tarpon Springs, to Moreland Emerson Maddox, of St. Petersburg, Fla., formerly of Atlanta, Ga., which was quietly solemnized at high noon Saturday at All Saints' Episcopal church. The Rev. Ralph Nagle read the marriage service in the presence of a small assemblage of friends and relatives.

The interior of the church was decorated for the occasion with quantities of brilliantly tinted tropical flowers combined with palms and ferns in effective arrangement. Fragrant Easter lilies were used to adorn the altar which was massed with palms, interspersed with tall cathedral candles.

A program of lovely nuptial music was rendered preceding the ceremony. Entering the church first was Miss Ruth Robertson Lenhart, cousin of the bride, who acted as maid of honor. She was beautifully gowned for the occasion in a becoming model of peach-colored crepe, worn with a wide-brimmed hat of the same lovely shade. An armful of Columbia roses completed her costume.

The radiant beauty of the bride was enhanced by her smart ensemble costume of modernistic blue crepe, her hat being fashioned of straw in the same shade and her shoes of a slightly darker tone of blue. Her flowers were a graceful bouquet of Ophelia roses and valley lilies.

Mr. Maddox had as his best man, John Phillips.

Immediately following the marriage ceremony, Miss Frazier, aunt of the bride, entertained the wedding guests at a beautifully appointed breakfast given at Tarpon Inn, covers being placed for the members of the wedding party, the out-of-town guests and a group of close friends and relatives. During the day Mr. Maddox and his bride left for a motor trip to resorts of interest through Florida and on their return will make their home at 155 Sixth avenue, N. E., St. Petersburg, Fla.

The bride is the lovely young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clinton Frazier, of Charleston, W. Va., who also maintain a winter home in Tarpon Springs, Fla., where she has been a popular belle in social circles, due to her unusual beauty and great personal charm.

Mr. Maddox is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Maddox, of St. Petersburg, Fla., who until a few years ago made their home in Atlanta. He is a graduate of the Atlanta Law School and is associated in the practice of law with his father, maintaining offices in the Florida city. He is a popular figure in business and social circles and possesses a wide circle of friends in Atlanta who are interested in his marriage.

Junior Music Club To Meet Saturday.

The Atlanta Junior Music Club meets Saturday afternoon, April 4, at 3 o'clock in the tea room of M. Rich & Bros. Co. The first study course of the season will be conducted by Mrs. E. Z. Duke.

The first part of the program will be by the juveniles and includes Mary Ann Hillsman, pianist; Margaret Cash, June Cash, piano duet; Dorothy Whitely, reader; Louise Kitchens, Catherine McCalley, piano duet, and Margaret Stokely, voice.

The second part of the program will include piano numbers of three famous composers, Chopin, Rubinstein and Liszt. Margaret Taylor will play Chopin's "Waltz in D Flat," Gladstone Pursley, Rubenstein's "Staccato Etude in C," and Birdie Eisenberg Liszt's "Nightingale."

All music lovers are invited. A guest fee of 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children will be asked of non-members.

Miss Lida Haralson Weds J. D. Johnson At Quiet Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Lida Haralson, of Atlanta, formerly of Washington, D. C., to J. D. Johnson, of Atlanta, was quietly solemnized at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the parsonage of the North Avenue Presbyterian church. The Rev. Richard Orme Flinn performed the impressive ring ceremony in the presence of a few relatives and close friends.

Mrs. Johnson wore a becoming model of dark blue georgette featuring a long waist with deep inset yoke of real lace and graceful full skirt offset with two circular flounces. She wore a corsage of roses and lilies of the valley. Her coat was black bengaline trimmed with touches of monkey fur. Her hat was a close-fitting model of black straw.

Following the ceremony the bride and groom left for a wedding trip to Washington, D. C. Upon their return they will be at home at Alden avenue, N. W., Atlanta.

Mrs. Johnson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philmore Haralson, of Washington, D. C., is widely known in Washington, where she formerly made her home. She was born in Laurel, Maryland, moving to Washington more than 10 years ago.

Mr. Johnson is a well known Atlanta business man. He was formerly of Washington, D. C., having moved there from Atkinson, N. C., where he was born. He received his education at the University of North Carolina. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson have a wide circle of friends to whom their wedding is of sincere interest.

Miss Frances Fry Honors Expression Class.

Miss Frances Fry was hostess at an Easter egg hunt Saturday afternoon, honoring the pupils of her expression class.

Fashion Distinction

by

Leon FrohSin

For the Informal Occasions

It's not only smart to be informal, but flatteringly becoming as well. The so-called "casual mode" is the most studied of all fashions, but there's one sure way to attain it—select all your clothes at Leon FrohSin's, where casual Fashion Distinction is the rule, never the exception.

—SHOPPING?

Choose one of our new small figured prints with a light silk or wool coat of the shade the print uses for background. Print Dresses, $16.75 to $59.75; Coats, $29.75 to $259.75.

—BRIDGE CONTRACT?

You like to win, of course—it's so easy when possessed of the assurance that comes from wearing a Leon FrohSin afternoon model. Prices $29.75 to $119.75.

—TEA AND TALK?

Flavored with the spice of clothes, and seasoned with Fashion Distinction. They're clever as modern "chit-chat," these informal frocks at Leon FrohSin's. Prices $29.75 to $139.75.

—COMMITTEE OR CALLS?

For those intimate little gatherings of amusing friends—Clothes are unobtrusive, but so important. They're sure to be right if chosen here. Ensembles, $29.75 to $139.75.

Leon FrohSin

"WELCOME, HAPPY MORNING!"

VERY quietly, as the Easter morning dawns, an old, tired season slips into oblivion. Across the shadowy horizon steps a new, dewy-eyed, flower-laden Spring, clad in rosy garments, vibrant with life and laughter.

As has long been the custom on Easter morning, smart womankind expresses her inner joy through the outward manifestation of new and lovely clothes. Not only herself, but her children must be dressed in good taste, in charming fashion. Thus has she always welcomed the happy morning . . . thus she gratifies her sense of well-being so essential to well-bred happiness!

J. P. ALLEN & CO.

"The Store All Women Know"

Peachtree at Cain

Allen's prepared to welcome Easter long before it was time to mark the day on the Calendar . . . long before Spring was really in the air.

There will be many a lovely figure in the Easter Fashion Parade outfitted from Allen's specialty shops!

The little girl at the extreme left, and the little boy at the extreme right wear matching sets from Allen's Children's Shop. (Third Floor.)

Three smart Easter costumes from Allen's second floor are—left, a black coat, ermine trimmed; center, a navy chiffon; right, a pearl gray ensemble.

A smart little bag, of sun-tan simulated Boroso shark leather. From Allen's specialty shop.

Washable glove, in pull-on style. Of soft Poudre de Rose, a new shade.

Natural ball-bunt with a touch of black in its trimming. A hat both smart and becoming.

DeKalb Voters To Sponsor School On Citizenship

The Citizenship school, sponsored by the DeKalb League of Women Voters Friday, April 5, at Holy Trinity church in Decatur, opens with the morning session, commencing at 10 o'clock with devotion by Mrs. Comer Woodward, and a talk on "Children's Bills," by Dr. Comer Woodward, of Emory university, and the address on "Machinery of Child Welfare in the State of Georgia," given by Miss Gay Shepperson.

The "Newborn Bill" will be the subject of a talk by Mrs. R. L. Turman, regional director of the National League of Women Voters, and Mrs. Turman will preside at a round table discussion of the various subjects of the morning session. Luncheon will be served from 12:30 till 2 o'clock by the Holy Trinity Guild. Honorable Hooper Alexander will be the luncheon speaker, his subject being "Law Enforcement and the Revision of the Criminal Code."

The afternoon session begins at 2 o'clock with a talk on "Permanent Registration" by Mrs. Alfred Bailey, president of the Atlanta league. Mrs. Bailey will be followed by Phillip Davidson, of Agnes Scott college, on "Simplification of State Government." Mrs. Wellington Stevenson, the state president of the league, and the only woman member of the tax commission, will address the meeting next on the most important subject of "Tax Reform," at the conclusion of which she will preside at a round table discussion on this question. All organizations in DeKalb and Fulton counties are co-operating with the DeKalb league, and members of the league and those interested in better citizenship are urged to attend.

Social Items

W. N. Nichols is ill at Noble's sanitarium where he recently underwent an operation.

Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Davidson, of Lithonia, announce the birth of a daughter, March 24, at Wesley Memorial hospital, who has been given the name of Laura Elizabeth, for her maternal and paternal grandmothers. Mrs. Davidson was formerly Miss Bess Lovingson, of Awaroth.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Satterwhite, Jr., announce the birth of a daughter, March 26, who has been given the name of Dreda Lou, at Wesley Memorial. The baby is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Satterwhite, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Clay M. Snyder.

Mrs. Paul L. Fleming and her daughter, Miss Ellen Fleming, are spending the spring holidays in Roanoke, Va.

Miss Hazel Stamps, who is attending school at Sweet Briar college, Sweet Briar, Va., is spending the Easter holidays with her classmate, Miss Virginia Bellamy, at Wilmington, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Cooley announce the birth of a daughter, March 20, who has been given the name of Ray Schile. Mrs. Cooley was formerly Miss Frances Maddox.

Mrs. George H. Duncan left Friday to spend several weeks with her mother in Miami, Fla.

Mrs. Robert Wickham and little daughter, Catherine, have returned to West Point.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Lynch and Miss Jane Lynch, of New York, are spending several weeks at the Biltmore hotel.

Mrs. W. B. Lewis, of Detroit, Mich., spent Saturday in Augusta as the guest of Mrs. Thomas K. Glenn.

Major and Mrs. J. D. Butler, of

Mrs. Megahee and Marcelle Stanton Megahee

The photograph presents a charming likeness of Mrs. Percy Megahee and her lovely little daughter and namesake, Marcelle Stanton Megahee, daughter of Mrs. Stanton and the late Frank Libby Stanton, poet laureate of Georgia, and contributor of a column in The Constitution for almost a quarter of a century. Photograph by Rogers & Farmer.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Ryder, Captain and Mrs. Leon E. Norris, of Fort Benning, Ga., are spending a few days at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel.

Mrs. Caroline Peck Phillips and Miss Edith Young are among the Atlantans spending the week-end at Magnolia Gardens, Charleston, S. C.

William J. Weller returned to his home in New York Saturday after spending a few days with his son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Elder, on Brighton road, en route from Miami, Fla., where he spent the winter. Mrs. Weller and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey D. Comfort, who have also been Mr. and Mrs. Elder's guests, will return to Miami Sunday.

Master Clinton I. Smullen, of New York, is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Goldberg, at their home on Greenwood avenue during the Easter holidays.

A. Straus, Jr., of Columbus, Ga., Mrs. R. W. Davis, of Cincinnati, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Eldridge, of Montclair, N. J., and E. R. Tweedie, of Columbus, Ohio, are at the Georgian Terrace.

Mrs. J. B. Thomason leaves Tuesday for Jacksonville, Beach, Fla., where she will spend the summer months.

Luther Still has recovered from a two-week illness from influenza, at his home on Gordon street in West End.

Mrs. Elizabeth Loomis, of Jacksonville Beach, Fla., is visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Thomason at their home in Oakland City, en route home from a visit to Tulsa, Okla.

Miss Sterling Johnson, of Philadelphia, Pa., is spending the Easter holidays with her mother, Mrs. T. L. Johnson, Sr., at her home on Briarcliff place.

Mrs. Charles H. Danforth left last Friday for Selfridge Field, Mich., to join Colonel Danforth, who is commander of the army air service at this point. She was the feted guest of Mrs. Frederick Harvey Rayfield at her home on Camden road.

Miss Blanche Higbee, of Louisville, Ky., is visiting Miss Nellie Hixson at her home, 936 Peachtree street.

Mrs. O. A. Harbin is making an extended visit to her brother, Julian R. Adamson, in Miami, Fla.

Mrs. Bertha T. Harper, of Palo Alto, Cal., and her son, Dr. Roland Harper, of Athens, were the guests the past week of Mrs. Dora Townley. Mrs. Harper was called to Athens in January on account of the serious illness of her mother. Friends will be glad to know that Dr. Harper has entirely recovered and accompanied his mother to Birmingham on her return trip to California.

The Pre-School Circle of Edgewood school met Thursday morning at 10 o'clock in the kindergarten room, with the chairman, Mrs. Weekley, in charge. The mothers of the circle were urged to advertise the summer round-up, on May 2. All children who will enter kindergarten in September, and also in February, are to be brought for examination on that date. Very interesting talks were given by Mrs. Jack Berry, Mrs. T. W. McIlwain, Mrs. Elliott and Mrs. Morris.

Benefit Bridge Party Planned For Sufferers

Atlanta women will be given opportunity to swell the relief fund for flood sufferers in Georgia, Florida and Alabama by attending the card party to be given Friday afternoon, April 5, under the direction of the women's emergency committee of the Red Cross work in Atlanta and will be held in the large hall of the Electric and Gas building at Marietta and Fairlie streets, beginning Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The Georgia Power Company has contributed handsome prizes, including an electric range, four electrical appliances for first, second, third and fourth prizes and souvenir for every table, besides refreshments. Tickets will be $2 the table for four players. Score cards and pencils will be furnished, but players are expected to bring cards. The Cone Street Garage has offered free parking space for the cars of those attending the card party on Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Ed A. Pierce is chairman of the general committee on arrangements and Mrs. R. H. Wolfe is chairman of tables. Tickets may be had at the relief fund headquarters, 608 Chamber of Commerce building, or from any member of the committee in the relief work. This party is a part of the city-wide movement undertaken by the women's committee to raise funds for flood sufferers composed of Mrs. B. M. Boykin, chairman; Mrs. J. B. Little, vice chairman; Mrs. Louis J. Elkas, Mrs. Norman Shaw, Mrs. Frank Miller and Mrs. H. G. Parks.

Ormeewood Park Social News.

Miss Roberta Hansell has returned from Davidson, where she spent the week-end.

Mrs. S. H. Wilson has returned from Griffin, where she was called some time ago on account of the illness of her mother. Friends of Mrs. Wilson will be glad to know that her mother is recuperating.

Mrs. Jack Hazel has returned from an extended visit to relatives in Salt Lake City.

Mrs. John W. Brazell, who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. L. V. Krammer, left Friday for Augusta, where she will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Marshall.

Mrs. Nellie Anderson, of Augusta, was the guest of Mrs. L. V. Krammer and Mrs. John W. Brazell the past week-end.

Russell Numan, of Davidson college, is spending the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Numan.

Clarence Letson, of Due West, spent the past week-end at home.

Mrs. William Carker and William, Jr., left the past week for Sacramento, Cal., where they will join Mr. Carker and reside in the future.

H. C. Sharr, Mrs. Frank R. Edmunds and daughter, Betty, and Mrs. A. H. Willey and son, H. F. Willey, of Terre Haute, Ind., who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Sharr, left for their home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Stubbs spent the past week-end in Macon.

W. A. Hansell and Van P. Enloe are in Gadsden, Ala., on a business trip.

Mrs. George Murray and Mrs. H. E. Durham were the spend-the-day guests Wednesday of Mrs. Steve Montgomery at East Point.

Mrs. Bertha T. Harper, of Palo Alto, Cal., and her son, Dr. Roland Harper, of Athens, were the guests the past week of Mrs. Dora Townley.

Mrs. Harper was called to Athens in January on account of the serious illness of her mother. Friends will be glad to know that Dr. Harper has entirely recovered and accompanied his mother to Birmingham on her return trip to California.

The production is under the direction of Janet Mills Shepherd, the stage manager is Kenneth Kalmbach and the properties are arranged by Mrs. Sam Wood and Mrs. Fielding Dillard. The members of the cast are as follows: Princess Alexandra, The Swan, Mrs. William Elsas; Princess Beatrice, her mother, Mrs. Elsas; Symphonora, her aunt, Mrs. R. T. Taylor; George and Arlen, her brothers, Frances Woodford and Allan Raffaellovi; Father Hyacinth, George Raffaellovi; Dr. Hans Agi, the tutor, Thomas H. English; Prince Albert, Major R. T. Taylor; Princess Maria Dominica, Dorothy Raffaellovi; Count Leutizen, Cyril Smith; Caesar, Elkin.

Young Matrons' Circle Makes Final Plans for Tallulah Show

Under the leadership of the president, Mrs. W. Eugene Harrington, members of the Young Matrons' Circle for Tallulah enter the final week of concerted effort culminating in the brilliant midnight show at Keith's Georgia theater on Monday evening, April 8. More than 150 members are devoting their time to various phases of preliminary plans and all are assisting in the advance ticket sale, and show not only a sense of showmanship, but a decided talent for salesmanship, in selling tickets and in spreading the message of the splendid work of Tallulah Falls Industrial school.

The Young Girls' Circle for Tallulah, a group closely allied with the Young Matrons' Circle, is co-operating enthusiastically on behalf of the benefit show. Led by their president, Miss Gertrude Harris, the young girls have forsaken the usual social affairs to put in many hours a day in well-planned work. Beginning Monday tickets for the benefit performance will be on sale at box offices of principal downtown theaters, but the sponsors will continue their own individual efforts. From a section of the foyer of Keith's Georgia, where a most attractive exhibit of crafts from Tallulah Falls school will be arranged, relays of young matrons and young girls will conduct a ticket sale. The exhibit proper will be in charge of Mrs. Herbert Reynolds, and various members have volunteered to assist her.

The exhibit, which will be arranged during the week-end and be ready for inspection when the theater opens Monday, will include many of the best specimens from the looms at Tallulah—hand-woven coverlets in beautiful and varied designs and colorings, runners, scarves, luncheon cloths and couch covers. It will also have a number of hooked rugs in different sizes and design, baskets, both large and small, feather fans and many novelties. This exhibit will remain on display throughout the entire week and until Tuesday following the benefit show.

Studio Club Will Present 'The Swan' Friday and Saturday

"The Swan," a romantic comedy in three acts, will be presented by the Studio Club, 1021-2 Forsyth street, for public view Friday and Saturday evenings, April 5 and 6. In the past 12 months the dramatic group of the Studio Club has made five major productions, one private production of a one-act play and has taken a production to Gainesville. The five long productions are "The Romanesque," by Rostand; "The Constant Lover" and "The Red Owl," a bill of two one-act plays; also "The Intimate Strangers," by Booth Tarkington, "The Liens," by Fitzhugh, and finally "The Swan," by Molnar. "The Mouse Trap," a play in one act, was produced for members of the club only, and "The Intimate Strangers," was produced in Gainesville. A real working stock company composed of 20 or 30 of Atlanta's best talent, is being created, and the directors of the club are constantly receiving requests for parts in the new plays.

"The Swan" is the most ambitious play that has yet been mounted. It is the story of a lovely young princess who must decide between the gay prince, heir apparent of a neighboring country, and the handsome, serious tutor who loves her deeply but is after all only a farmer's son. The scene is in a small German kingdom and has all the romance of mythical royalty, brilliant uniforms, smart officers, a magnificent banquet, Strauss waltzes.

The play was written by Franz Molnar, noted Hungarian author, and translated by Benjamin Glaser. Molnar is famous for his romantic high comedy. What is unique in this play is its literary art, the freshness and beauty of its characterization, and the dramatic skill with which it is sustained on the level of high comedy and significant romance.

The production is under the direction of Janet Mills Shepherd, the stage manager is Kenneth Kalmbach and the properties are arranged by Mrs. Sam Wood and Mrs. Fielding Dillard. The members of the cast are as follows: Princess Alexandra, The Swan, Mrs. William Elsas; Princess Beatrice, her mother, Mrs. Elsas; Symphonora, her aunt, Mrs. R. T. Taylor; George and Arlen, her brothers, Frances Woodford and Allan Raffaellovi; Father Hyacinth, George Raffaellovi; Dr. Hans Agi, the tutor, Thomas H. English; Prince Albert, Major R. T. Taylor; Princess Maria Dominica, Dorothy Raffaellovi; Count Leutizen, Cyril Smith; Caesar, Elkin.

Mrs. Jack Spurling, of Albany, will arrive next week to be the guest of Mrs. W. S. Elkin, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Henderson and daughters, Misses Harriet and Julia Henderson, are spending the Easter holidays at Tallulah Lodge, visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edward Dorley.

Miss Mary Calip, of Agnes Scott college, is spending the Easter holidays at her home in Yazoo City, Miss.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy G. Jones entertained the Mr. and Mrs. Bridge Club Saturday night at their home on Ponce de Leon place.

Miss Ruth Rogers is ill at Wesleyan Memorial hospital, having undergone an operation.

Miss Helen Koefe, of Virginia college, Roanoke, Va., is the guest of Miss Dorothy Kethley at her home on Michigan avenue.

Mrs. S. K. Wright has returned to her home in New Berry, S. C., after visiting Mr. and Mrs. George Wright at their home on Wilton drive.

Mrs. Bruce Hall will attend the Georgia Club convention in Augusta next week.

Mrs. C. E. Gregory will be hostess to the Clairmont Avenue Bridge Club Thursday.

Mrs. R. C. Henderson and Mrs. Walter McDaniel will be chairmen of the benefit bridge-luncheon and fashion show to be given at the Decatur Woman's Club next Wednesday morning for the benefit of the club.

Mrs. Robert Baylor, of Chattanooga, Tenn., will arrive next Saturday to visit Mrs. Roy Jones and Mrs. W. S. Elkin, Jr. A number of social affairs are being planned for Mrs. Baylor and Mrs. Jack Spurling, who will also visit Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Elkin.

Emory University News of Interest.

Tuesday evening, April 2, at 6 o'clock, the members of the Emory Woman's Missionary Society will observe "Community Night" in the club-room in the Theology building, at which time their friends and families will be entertained at supper. A program will be given at this time under the direction of Mrs. Comer Woodward.

Miss Nell Parker is visiting relatives in Virginia.

Mrs. Peebles is visiting her son and daughter, Professor and Mrs. J. B. Peebles, at their home on North Decatur road.

Miss Alice Cole has returned to Richmond, after a visit to her sister, Mrs. Plato Durham.

Miss Marion Gertman, after spending the holidays with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. M. Gertman, left Thursday for Magnolia Gardens, and will return to Wesleyan Friday.

Miss Elizabeth Merritt, a popular member of the LaGrange College Glee Club, is spending the Easter holidays with Professor and Mrs. J. G. Lester.

M. J. Goodover, of Waycross, spent several days with his son, Professor N. Goodover.

Miss Eula Rumble, Miss Melissa Jack, Miss LaLeita Stipe, and Miss Rachael Johnson and Miss Berry Ross, of Wesleyan college, spent the Easter holidays with their parents.

Mrs. B. H. Greene is spending the week-end in Rome with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Quimby Melton, of Griffin, spent Sunday with their parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Melton.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Clarke and Miss Mary Clarke returned to Waycross Thursday after a visit to relatives at Wesley hospital.

The LaGrange college alumnae will entertain at a tea, Tuesday afternoon at Drexel Hills Club, in honor of the seniors of the Atlanta and Decatur high schools. The officers of the Atlanta chapter: Mrs. S. C. Dobbs, Sr., Mrs. Thomas M. Campbell, Mrs. J. B. Rulley, Mrs. Harold Almand, Mrs. E. W. Andrews and Miss Evelyn Whitaker and others will be among those receiving.

Mrs. Finley Gayle and little daughter, Betty, of Richmond, Va., are visiting Mrs. Plato Durham at her home on North Decatur road.

Miss Mary Helen Patton, of Memphis, Tenn., is spending a month with her daughter, Mrs. N. H. Forrest.

Mrs. E. F. Britz, of Chicago, Ill., is spending a week at Emory with relatives.

Miss Pricilla Ketchins has returned to her home in Winnsboro, after a visit to Mrs. Fielding Dillard.

St. Cecilia Chapter Plans Easter Egg Hunt.

The St. Cecilia Chapter of All Saints' church will give an Easter egg hunt Monday afternoon, April 1, at 3 o'clock. The party will take place on the grounds between the church and Egleston Hall, the proceeds to go in full to the Egleston Memorial Hospital for Children. In case of rain the festivities will be on indoors. Girl Scouts will act as assistant hostesses and will preside over the egg hunt, grab bag and ice cream booth. Hundreds of highly-bred eggs will be hidden and among them gold and silver prize eggs. Entertainment for the older as well as for the very young guests will be provided.

Posters have been placed throughout the city and a large attendance of children of all ages and denominations is expected. Admission 10 cents, grab bag 10 cents, and ice cream cones will be sold for 5 cents. Mrs. Page Rees is chairman, assisted by Mrs. Howard McCall, as co-chairman, and the members of the committee include Mesdames Ashby Hill, T. S. Kanan, G. T. Lockhart, Henry Powell, Hanson McNamara, F. J. Cooleage, Jr., James D. Henderson, Jr., Carl Wesley, F. J. Amend, Jr., W. Nevin Adkins and R. Winston Harvey.

J. P. ALLEN & CO.

'The Store All Women Know'
Peachtree at Cain

Allen's 3-Day
After-Easter
Clearance of

SAOES

$95

600 pairs selected from earlier Spring models... originally up to $17.50...
broken sizes... reduced to clear!

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday

Graceful pumps... smart ties... in patent
... satin... black, white, sunburn and colored
kid and reptile.

Allen's regular high-grade shoes... in broken sizes.

Shoe Salon—Street Floor

RATES FOR STORAGE:

Single Garments, 3%
Valued to $250

Single Garments,
2 1/2%
Valued $300 to $750

Single Garments, 2%
Valued Over $750

Minimum Rates for Lot Storage

Women's Fur or Cloth
Coats ..... $1.50
Valued $50 and Less

Men's Fur or Cloth
Overcoats .... $1.50
Valued $50 and Less

Men's Cloth Suits,
$1.50
Valued $50 and Less

Muffs, Fur Pieces
and Hats ..... 75c

The small storage cost insures your furs against fire and theft as well as the deadly moth.

Nominal charges are made for cleaning and repairs.

The cold, absolutely dry atmosphere of the vault gives furs their original sheen and luster.

The Moth is Barred from Polite Society

In Allen's Fur
Storage Vault!

It's an exclusive place, this summer resort of fine furs and fur-trimmed coats. No moth will prey upon this society! He'd be frozen out—completely! (Incidentally it's the finest fur storage vault in the South... equipped to clean and repair your furs in expert fashion).

J. P. ALLEN & CO.

'The Store All Women Know'
Peachtree at Cain

Miss Ruth Dabney Smith Plays Tuesday at the Woman's Club

Miss Ruth Dabney Smith, who makes her first professional appearance as violinist Tuesday evening, April 2, at the auditorium of the Atlanta Woman's Club, is a pupil of Leon Sametini and Leopold Auer. She descended from a long line of violinists on her father's side and also inherited musical talent from her mother. She has shown marked talent since she was out of kindergarten, and the young artist has been appearing on programs since she was old enough to hold a violin, and has played on many occasions and before almost all prominent organizations of the city as well as on radio programs here and in Chicago.

Miss Smith is an Atlantan and received her literary and musical education here, having graduated from Washington seminary and received her certificate in violin playing at that institution under George F. Lindner. Later she graduated from the Atlanta Conservatory, having completed the required course in theoretical work. She is a member of the Mu Phi Epsilon, a national honorary musical society, to which only those are eligible who have creditably completed a musical and theoretical training. She is a scholarship pupil in piano of Mrs. Mabelle S. Wall and of Edward Collins, of Chicago, whose symphonic compositions have received flattering recognition. She also won a violin scholarship with the teacher of many successful artists of America, Leon Sametini, as well as having studied with the world famous Leopold Auer. The violin Miss Smith will use in her concert Tuesday evening and which is her most treasured possession is one that once filled the hall of a French dancing master with its sweetness and from whom her great-grandfather bought it at what was then considered a considerable sum in Virginia. It has been pronounced by an expert to be of Tyrolean workmanship after a model of the famous Nicolas Amati. Once again the tones of this old instrument will be heard, but not in the tones used by the French dancing masters. Neither will it be played by the great-grandfather Smith of "Ole Virginia," but by his worthy Georgia descendant, Miss Smith, who will present a well-balanced and difficult program, with Miss Eda Bartholomew, well-known accompanist, at the piano.

Woman's Club Opera Breakfast To Be Held at Club, April 22

An outstanding event of grand opera week will be the opera breakfast at the Atlanta Woman's Club at 12 o'clock Monday, April 22, at which 45 stars of the Metropolitan Opera Company and the officers and directors of the Atlanta Music Festival Association will be guests. Mrs. John R. Hornady, president of the club, will preside and introduce Howard Candler, vice president of the Atlanta Music Festival Association, who will speak briefly concerning the work of the association. Reservations should be made at an early date.

The decorating committee includes Mrs. Fred C. Rice, chairman; Mrs. T. C. Harris, co-chairman, and Mrs. W. P. Dunn, chairman of parties. Mrs. John A. Perdue, chairman of distinguished guests, is general chairman of arrangements. She will be assisted by Mrs. M. L. Throver and Mrs. James T. Williams. The hospital committee includes Mesdames M. L. Throver, E. V. Carter, Thomas Arkridge, George L. Brower, William Larned, C. K. Ayer, J. Hinton Clark, Charles P. Byrd and Bun Wylie. Irving S. Thomas, Arthur Hazzard, E. V. Davis, J. P. Billups, Otis Poundstone, W. F. Dumas, J. E. Smith, Alonzo Richardson and others. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Simmons at the club, Hemlock 4636.

Garden Division. The garden division of the Atlanta Woman's Club, Mrs. A. P. Phillips, chairman, will sponsor a benefit party Tuesday afternoon, April 9, in the banquet hall of the club at 3 o'clock. A special feature will be the fashion show featuring Atlanta society girls, who will display new, advanced summer frocks, gowns suitable for grand opera, and late spring models from the fashions of London. Frocks shown, 225 Peachtree street. A group of young girls dressed in fairy-like gowns, will be seen in a spring dance preceding the game. Mrs. Clyde Drummond, general chairman of arrangements, will be assisted by Mesdames T. C. Harris, W. E. Beckham, Jesse M. May and Thomas H. Pitts. Prizes have been donated and light refreshments will be served. The proceeds derived from the party will go toward beautifying the grounds of the club. Those engaging tables must provide cards, score pads and pencils. Tables are $2 each, and for reservations call Mrs. A. P. Phillips, Dearborn 2720-J; Mrs. Clyde Drummond, Hemlock 5530; or Mrs. Simmons at the club, Hemlock 4636.

Cook Book. Mrs. John R. Hornady, president of the Atlanta Woman's Club, announces that the famous Atlanta Woman's Club cook book, which formerly sold for $2, is now on sale for $1. The book is made up of tested recipes contributed by women from all parts of the United States noted for their ability to properly cook and serve delicious, well-balanced meals. Special chapters are devoted to household hints, gardening, canning and entertaining, and working schedules are given for well-regulated households. Mrs. R. C. Jessup is chairman of the cook book division, and the books may be ordered through her by calling Hemlock 1607 or writing her at 120 Prado or they may be purchased from the secretary at the club. All out-of-town orders should be accompanied by check or money order for $1.25, the extra 25 cents to cover charge for packing and postage. Over 5,000 of these books have already been sold.

Literary and Art Divisions. The literary and art divisions of the Atlanta Woman's Club meet in the palm room of the club Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mrs. W. A. Robertson, chairman of literature, presiding, and Mrs. W. F. Melton, chairman of the art division. Mrs. George L. Brower, a member of the club, who spent part of last summer traveling in Italy, will present an interesting paper on "Vestiges of Dante." Mrs. Fred J. White, a gifted dramatic reader, will present a group of readings. Mrs. W. A. Robertson, chairman of the fine arts department, and Mrs. C. V. Holenstein, co-chairman of the literary department, are cooperating with Mrs. Robinson in putting on this splendid program. Mrs. J. E. Miller and Mrs. J. Hinton Clark will welcome the guests and act as a hospitality committee. Arrangements have been completed for the presentation of the new opera, "La Rondine," in operatic at the next regular meeting of the Atlanta club, Monday, April 8. The opera, appearing on the program are Miss Margaret Battle, who will direct the music; Miss Lucile Price, soprano; Charles W. Wyman, tenor, and Helen Battle, accompanist. Mrs. W. C. Jarungin, dramatic reader, will interpret the libretto. "La Rondine" is the new opera that will be presented by the Metropolitan Opera Company in Atlanta during the engagement in April.

Young Matrons' Service Legion Plans Party.

The Young Matrons' Service Star Legion will sponsor a benefit bridge at the Atlanta Biltmore at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday, April 9, and the proceeds will go to educate the daughter of an ex-service man. The Doll Evans shop of J. P. Allen & Co. will hold a fashion review for children. Mrs. Fort Adams is chairman of arrangements, assisted by Mrs. John Tye, Jr., and Mrs. Beverly DuBois as co-chairmen. Mrs. Bolling Jones, Jr., is president of the Young Matrons' Service Star Legion.

Please read the following article carefully, then go back and read it again! This is one exhibit in which you must not fail to be represented.

CIVIC WELFARE EXHIBITION. Medora Davis, Chairman. The second civic welfare exhibition opens at the Barbizon, April 7. The interest in this exhibition is widespread because it affords a marvelous opportunity for each league to show the work of its particular project in an ingenious way. Models of welfare projects such as clinics, camps, milk stations and community houses seem to lend themselves particularly well to this sort of exhibition. The actual representation of a working unit appeals to everyone. Posters and pictures show clearly the different departments of large projects. Last year there was great interest shown in the many different types of work accomplished by handicapped people. It is of great value to the various leagues to see what articles other leagues have found practical for the occupational therapy patients to make. Last year there were exhibits from nearly a hundred leagues and it is hoped that this year the work of every league will be shown in some way.

General Rules. 1. Models must not exceed a base of 2 feet by 3 feet. 2. All pictures must be mounted on one large piece of canvas. 3. Each article must have an entry blank and be clearly marked with its value. 4. Orders will be taken on saleable articles where no articles. No articles from the exhibition will be sold. 5.

Rainbow Shower Honors Miss Jackson.

A miscellaneous "rainbow" shower was given Saturday by Miss Annie Kate Green and Miss Morris Everett, honoring Miss Lena Rawlins Jackson, whose marriage to Joseph Bessent Rudolph will be solemnized in April.

Miss Lucy Hamilton Green, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Green, sang "There's a Rainbow Round My Shoulder," and led the bride-elect to the foot of the rainbow, where she found many gifts in the traditional pot of gold.

The guest list included Miss Jackson, Mrs. J. E. Jackson, Mrs. Jack Green, Mrs. A. C. Wellborn, Mrs. Ira Chance, Mrs. Irby Green, Miss Bella Webster, Miss Annie Laurie Wilder, Miss Crystal Hope Wellborn, Miss Margaret Hoyt, Miss Lucille Sims, Miss Margaret Mackay, Miss Mary Stokes and Miss Katherine Heard.

"A Close Call" Given Thursday at Wesley.

The students of the Atlanta School of Oratory and Expression, 402 Wesley Memorial Church building, will give a play entitled "A Close Call" Thursday, April 4, at 12 o'clock. Those taking part are Miss Jimmie Stansell, Miss Vera Howell, Miss Marjorie Ruff, Miss Virginia Owen, Mrs. J. M. Spinks and F. R. Butler. The public is invited.

Trio of Lovely Brides-Elect Who Will Wed in Spring

The above group of brides-elect includes, left to right, Miss Bessie Embry, whose marriage to Peter Superly, Jr., will be a lovely event of June 1; Miss Florence Celia Tumlin, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Tumlin, whose engagement is announced to Arthur Leonard Fowler, their marriage to take place April 10 at the home of the bride-elect's parents in Decatur; and Miss Willie Mildred Nevils, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Clyde Nevils, whose engagement is announced today to Claude Davis Gamble, the wedding to be an event of June. Photo of Miss Embry by Elliott's Peachtree studio; photo of Miss Nevils by Little studio.

Miss Harper To Be Bride Of Emerson Holleman in April

An announcement of cordial interest is that made by Mr. and Mrs. William Benjamin Harper of the engagement of their daughter, Frances Lorene, to Emerson Holleman, of Houston county. The bride-elect's mother, Miss Harper, is the youngest of four sisters. She received her education at Girls' High school, from where she graduated. The bride-elect's mother was Miss Martha Woods, of Fayette county, Georgia. The bride-to-be is the sister of Robert A. Harper, of Chicago; Mrs. Erby M. McGee, Mrs.

Milton H. McClure and Mrs. Edwin E. Aiken. Mr. Holleman is the son of Joseph Travis Holleman and the late Mrs. Holleman. Mr. Holleman's mother was the late Miss Nannie Kemp, of Houston county. He is a graduate of the Georgia School of Technology, where he was a member of the Phi Kappa Phi Fraternity. He is now connected with the Southern Mortgage Company. Mr. Holleman is the brother of Mrs. J. E. DeVaughn, of Montezuma, Ga.; Horace Holleman, Carlyle Holleman and J. T. Holleman, Jr.

Junior League Jottings

BY MARGARET NELSON, President.

The regular monthly meeting of the Junior League of Atlanta will be held Tuesday, April 2 at 3 o'clock, at the Piedmont Driving Club. Next year's officers and board will be elected and several interesting subjects will be brought up for discussion. The entire membership of the league is urged to attend.

Didn't all of you enjoy the last issue of the Magazine? Remember that we want some good articles and pictures for the June number, which is to be entitled "Come Into the Garden, Maud!"

Please read the following article carefully, then go back and read it again! This is one exhibit in which you must not fail to be represented.

CIVIC WELFARE EXHIBITION.

Medora Davis, Chairman. The second civic welfare exhibition opens at the Barbizon, April 7. The interest in this exhibition is widespread because it affords a marvelous opportunity for each league to show the work of its particular project in an ingenious way. Models of welfare projects such as clinics, camps, milk stations and community houses seem to lend themselves particularly well to this sort of exhibition. The actual representation of a working unit appeals to everyone. Posters and pictures show clearly the different departments of large projects. Last year there was great interest shown in the many different types of work accomplished by handicapped people. It is of great value to the various leagues to see what articles other leagues have found practical for the occupational therapy patients to make. Last year there were exhibits from nearly a hundred leagues and it is hoped that this year the work of every league will be shown in some way.

General Rules. 1. Models must not exceed a base of 2 feet by 3 feet. 2. All pictures must be mounted on one large piece of canvas. 3. Each article must have an entry blank and be clearly marked with its value. 4. Orders will be taken on saleable articles where no articles. No articles from the exhibition will be sold. 5.

Rainbow Shower Honors Miss Jackson.

A miscellaneous "rainbow" shower was given Saturday by Miss Annie Kate Green and Miss Morris Everett, honoring Miss Lena Rawlins Jackson, whose marriage to Joseph Bessent Rudolph will be solemnized in April.

Miss Lucy Hamilton Green, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Green, sang "There's a Rainbow Round My Shoulder," and led the bride-elect to the foot of the rainbow, where she found many gifts in the traditional pot of gold.

The guest list included Miss Jackson, Mrs. J. E. Jackson, Mrs. Jack Green, Mrs. A. C. Wellborn, Mrs. Ira Chance, Mrs. Irby Green, Miss Bella Webster, Miss Annie Laurie Wilder, Miss Crystal Hope Wellborn, Miss Margaret Hoyt, Miss Lucille Sims, Miss Margaret Mackay, Miss Mary Stokes and Miss Katherine Heard.

"A Close Call" Given Thursday at Wesley.

The students of the Atlanta School of Oratory and Expression, 402 Wesley Memorial Church building, will give a play entitled "A Close Call" Thursday, April 4, at 12 o'clock. Those taking part are Miss Jimmie Stansell, Miss Vera Howell, Miss Marjorie Ruff, Miss Virginia Owen, Mrs. J. M. Spinks and F. R. Butler. The public is invited.

Congenial Parties Assemble At Driving Club

Congenial parties assembled Saturday evening at the Piedmont Driving Club, which is a weekly rendezvous for Atlantans and their guests. Spring flowers in profusion were used in decoration throughout the spacious club.

Mr. and Mrs. William Huger entertained a congenial party. Covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Woodruff, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Van Winkle, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Orme, Jr., Misses Cullie Orme, Cornelia Orme, William Healey, Charles Huntly, of Buffalo, N. Y.; Oliver Healey, John Barnett and Mrs. Huger.

Mr. and Mrs. Winship Nunnally entertained for Mrs. Max Don Howell, of New York. Covers were placed for Mrs. Howell, Mr. and Mrs. Colquitt, Alex. Hopkins, Floyd Penn and Mr. and Mrs. Nunnally.

Dining together were Colonel Walter Boswell, Major and Mrs. C. H. Seals, Captain and Mrs. S. G. Brinton, Captain and Mrs. Robert J. Joerg, of Fort Benning, Columbus; Captain and Mrs. T. H. Ramsey, Major and Mrs. A. B. Jones and Mrs. P. L. Jones.

Mrs. Anne Bates Walsh entertained a congenial party, honoring her guest, Mrs. Whitman Robert Connolly, of Peoria, Ill. Covers were placed for Mrs. Connolly, Misses Virginia Campbell, Frances Boykin, Sara Hurt, Mrs. Candler Dobbs, Mrs. Emily Robinson Head, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Thorwell, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Richardson, Jr., Roff Sims, Jr., Richard Courts, Jr., E. J. Hardin, Howard Smith, Esmond Head, Mr. and Mrs. George Harrison, James D. Robinson, Jr., Joe and Sam Cooper, and Call Johnson, Jr., of St. Louis.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Inman entertained at the club, honoring Miss Josephine Richardson and her guest, Miss Marjorie Stair, of New Orleans.

Pi Kappa Alphas To Entertain At Dance at East Lake Club

The Alpha-Delta chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity will give a dance at East Lake Country Club Friday, April 5, inviting for the occasion a large number of the college set.

The members of the active chapter include E. T. Allen, J. M. Anderson, Jr., C. H. Asbury, J. H. Asbury, Jr., L. E. Bercegeay, R. B. Camp, O. H. Carmichael, G. D. Coffey, W. H. Edwards, J. G. Gaston, J. H. Hines, T. S. Johnston, H. A. Lefferts, J. W. Leigh, Jr., J. V. Little, E. M. Lively, L. V. Ludwig, F. N. Magill, A. M. O'Neal and J. P. Williamson.

The pledges are: Rury Saunders, Charles Nesom and Wesley Brinson. Chaperoning the affair will be Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Smythe, Mr. and Mrs. Bob McFarland, Denn and Mrs. Ver-

Miss Ledbetter And Mr. Franklin To Be Married

The announcement of the engagement of Miss Margaret Wade Ledbetter and James Franklin, of Gallatin, Tenn., will be received with cordial interest by their many friends. The lovely bride-elect is the elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Selman A. Ledbetter and was born in Gainesville, Fla., but has spent most of her life in Atlanta. She graduated from Woodberry Hall, class of '26, and was a member of the Delta Pi Sorority and the Black Cat Club. Later she completed her education at Florida State College for Women in Tallahassee. She is a sister of Miss Laura Ledbetter and Mr. Selman A. Ledbetter, Jr. Miss Ledbetter is a direct descendant of Colonel John Donelson, pioneer settler of middle Tennessee, who was a member of the House of Burgesses in 1771 and a distinguished patriot in the Revolutionary War. Her mother was formerly Miss Laura Wade Thomson, of Lebanon, Tenn., daughter of Dr. Robert Wood Thomson, now of Gainesville, Fla., and the late Emmie Wade, of The Hermitage. Her father is one of the most prominent and successful business men in the south, having been engaged in the piano business in Florida and Georgia for over 20 years and at present is a valued official in the Cible company.

Mr. Franklin is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Franklin, of Gallatin, Tenn., and a brother of Mr. Albert Franklin and Mr. Pierce Franklin, of Detroit, Mich., and Mr. Harry Franklin, Jr., a student at Webb's School for Boys in Bell Buckle, Tenn. He graduated from Fitzgerald and Clark Military academy, Tallahassee, Tenn., and later received his law degree at Cumberland university, Lebanon, Tenn., in the class of '28. Mr. Franklin's mother was formerly Miss Elizabeth Pierce, of Gallatin, and a descendant of prominent and aristocratic Pennsylvania families. His father is one of the most prosperous and influential citizens of Gallatin, where he has been engaged in the tobacco business for many years.

Disabled Veterans To Stage Party.

The Disabled American Veterans of Atlanta will stage an attractive program at the Red Cross hut at United States Veterans' hospital No. 48 Monday evening, April 1, at 7 o'clock. Miss Margaret Mooring's school of dancing will furnish special dance features and will also provide the orchestra for the evening. The D. A. V. drum and bugle corps which brought home the prize from the national convention at Denver in the summer of 1928 will give a demonstration of their talent. L. C. Bellinger and Howard Glenn, past state commander, and Frank R. Fling, state commander, will have charge of the D. A. V. party.

Disabled Veterans To Stage Party.

The Disabled American Veterans of Atlanta will stage an attractive program at the Red Cross hut at United States Veterans' hospital No. 48 Monday evening, April 1, at 7 o'clock. Miss Margaret Mooring's school of dancing will furnish special dance features and will also provide the orchestra for the evening. The D. A. V. drum and bugle corps which brought home the prize from the national convention at Denver in the summer of 1928 will give a demonstration of their talent. L. C. Bellinger and Howard Glenn, past state commander, and Frank R. Fling, state commander, will have charge of the D. A. V. party.

Luring!

"Vagabondia"

CRULY a vagabond moderne with its high Paris heel and futuristic overlay. The basic leather is "Lido Sand" kid—the overlay darker "Sunburn." The round toe and the short vamp mark it genuinely Parisian and the last word in one straps.

SEVENTY STYLES

Sizes 2 1/4 to 9 $5 Widths AAAA to D

Hosiery to Harmonize

7 new types - Many new shades - 3 new low prices

$115 $135 $165

NISLEY Beautiful Shoes

68 Whitehall Street, S. W., Atlanta

Perfectly Appointed Stores in Principal Cities

MUSE'S

ENGLISH SHORTS

(khaki)

two front pockets; one watch pocket; two hip pockets. All pockets and belt loops bar tacked.

Ages 4 to 12 $1.15

Ages 13 to 16 $1.25

Ages 8 to 12 $1.25

Ages 12 to 14 1/2 $1.50

Boys' Dept. MUSE'S The Style Center of the South PEACHTREE-WALTON-BROAD Sixth Floor

THE GOWNS - THE FROCKS - THE ENSEMBLES
THE COATS - THE MILLINERY - THE FOOTWEAR
THE HOSIERY AND ACCESSORIES

AS FOUR WOMEN HEAR IT

WHEN professional wreckers begin demolishing within a few weeks, the famous Waldorf-Astoria in New York city, a romantic and sentimental chord will be struck in the hearts of many Atlantans, who as brides and grooms journeyed to that red brick hostelry to spend their honeymoons beneath its sheltering roof. On November 22, 1900, two happy couples, Mr. and Mrs. Lowry Arnold and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Raine boarded a northbound train, and upon reaching the metropolis, directed that the "cabbie" drive his hansom to the hotel and alighted therefrom to inscribe their names upon its register. Mr. and Mrs. Arnold's marriage was solemnized at the home of the latter's parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clarke, in the gray stone mansion standing today between Third and Fourth streets, on the right side of Peachtree. Mr. and Mrs. Raine took their wedding vows that same balmy November evening in the First Methodist church, erected upon the site where stands the towering Candler building, and were attended by a bridal party numbering thirty members of society. When Mr. and Mrs. Evelyn Harris wedded in October, 1903, at Miss Loula Fitten's Linden avenue abode, they, too, departed for New York to honeymoon at the Waldorf, as did Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Sisson following their marriage in February, 1907. The latter couple relate an amusing story of being introduced to one another two weeks after their wedding date by Telamon Cuyler, another Atlantian. Mr. Sisson chanced to meet Mr. Cuyler in glittering Peacock Alley, and at the approach of the bride, Mrs. Sisson, who strolled down the length of the world-famous promenade, Mr. Cuyler arose, and with great ceremony welcomed her into the circle, introducing her most formally to her bridegroom husband.

Fashionable St. Luke's church on Peachtree street was lit with the soft glow from a tropical-like sunset on June 21, 1909, with relatives and friends foregathered in the edifice to witness lovely Miss McGowan Phelan become the bride of Wyckliffe Goldsmith. Rev. Cary B. Wilmer, rector of the church, read the service pronouncing them man and wife, and after a reception at the home of the bride's parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Phelan, Mr. and Mrs. Goldsmith boarded the midnight train headed for New York city and the Waldorf-Astoria. Right across the street from All Saints' Episcopal church, on the corner of West Peachtree and North avenue, dwell the family of the late S. Y. Tipper, and after Miss Mary Deas Tipper wedded Carlton Smith they left for the metropolis with the Waldorf as their destination, to stop at the hostelry favored by every member of the Tipper family. Perhaps one of the most brilliant functions ever given by the late George Boldt, universally proclaimed the king and wizard among managers, who for many years ran the affairs of this palatial establishment, was the dinner honoring Mrs. John E. Murphy, the late Mr. Murphy, and the late Colonel and Mrs. Robert J. Lowry, of Atlanta. He had been in attendance here upon the golden wedding ceremony of the latter, celebrated with great pomp and glory at the Capital City Club, and upon the famous next trip to New York, Mr. Boldt entertained them in a private dining room, where walls were hung in gorgeous crimson silk brocade, and gold leaf chandeliers were upholstered in the same hand-some material. The dinner lasted until 2 o'clock in the morning, served in matchless style and splendor by the celebrated "Gleaner," who since the death of Mr. Boldt, has been the genial host at the hotel which always catered to the elite of the country, and in whose hearts sentiment runs to flood tide as the hour draws night for the raising of the structure running between Third and Third and a half streets, at Fifth avenue. It filled the soul with genuine delight to sit in the spacious cafe, gaze through the heavy plate glass windows, and watch the world drift by on Fifth avenue. To the Waldorf went Mr. and Mrs. Julian Harris. He is a son of that immortal Joel Chandler Harris, while she is a daughter of the late Charles Collier, once mayor of Atlanta and president of the Cotton States Exposition of 1895, which was staged on the same spot in Piedmont park which serves as one of the North Side playgrounds of the city. The late Judge Luther Rosser, brilliant lawyer of his day, encountered Mr. and Mrs. Harris during their honeymoon trip, and the trio decided to dine together in the cafe one evening. In a mischievous moment, so thoroughly typical and characteristic of the humor of the renowned jurist, he instructed the waiter to serve him with an order of "corn liquor and fried Chittaboochee catfish." The Waldorf was "home" to Mrs. Henry Collier, whose visits to the hotel began in her girlhood days with her father, the late John W. Sheffield, of Americus, and she has continued this practice all of her life. Reams could be written about this marvelous hotel and its interest in its rating carries genuine regret, because it marks the end of certain regimens and customs, which gave dignity and color to a fast disappearing age.

ATLANTA is conspiring against "Macon." In fact a certain group of Atlantans laid careful plans to that effect some time ago. In league with a popular bachelor, they have sought to reduce the central city's rating power by one, thereby increasing Atlanta's quota of charm and beauty as well as her population. The cunning god of love plays in matchless style and splendor by the celebrated "Gleaner," who since the death of Mr. Boldt, has been the genial host at the hotel which always catered to the elite of the country, and in whose hearts sentiment runs to flood tide as the hour draws night for the raising of the structure running between Third and Third and a half streets, at Fifth avenue. It filled the soul with genuine delight to sit in the spacious cafe, gaze through the heavy plate glass windows, and watch the world drift by on Fifth avenue. To the Waldorf went Mr. and Mrs. Julian Harris. He is a son of that immortal Joel Chandler Harris, while she is a daughter of the late Charles Collier, once mayor of Atlanta and president of the Cotton States Exposition of 1895, which was staged on the same spot in Piedmont park which serves as one of the North Side playgrounds of the city. The late Judge Luther Rosser, brilliant lawyer of his day, encountered Mr. and Mrs. Harris during their honeymoon trip, and the trio decided to dine together in the cafe one evening. In a mischievous moment, so thoroughly typical and characteristic of the humor of the renowned jurist, he instructed the waiter to serve him with an order of "corn liquor and fried Chittaboochee catfish." The Waldorf was "home" to Mrs. Henry Collier, whose visits to the hotel began in her girlhood days with her father, the late John W. Sheffield, of Americus, and she has continued this practice all of her life. Reams could be written about this marvelous hotel and its interest in its rating carries genuine regret, because it marks the end of certain regimens and customs, which gave dignity and color to a fast disappearing age.

ATLANTA is conspiring against "Macon." In fact a certain group of Atlantans laid careful plans to that effect some time ago. In league with a popular bachelor, they have sought to reduce the central city's rating power by one, thereby increasing Atlanta's quota of charm and beauty as well as her population. The cunning god of love plays in matchless style and splendor by the celebrated "Gleaner," who since the death of Mr. Boldt, has been the genial host at the hotel which always catered to the elite of the country, and in whose hearts sentiment runs to flood tide as the hour draws night for the raising of the structure running between Third and Third and a half streets, at Fifth avenue. It filled the soul with genuine delight to sit in the spacious cafe, gaze through the heavy

ATLANTA is conspiring against "Macon." In fact a certain group of Atlantans laid careful plans to that effect some time ago. In league with a popular bachelor, they have sought to reduce the central city's rating power by one, thereby increasing Atlanta's quota of charm and beauty as well as her population. The cunning god of love plays in matchless style and splendor by the celebrated "Gleaner," who since the death of Mr. Boldt, has been the genial host at the hotel which always catered to the elite of the country, and in whose hearts sentiment runs to flood tide as the hour draws night for the raising of the structure running between Third and Third and a half streets, at Fifth avenue. It filled the soul with genuine delight to sit in the spacious cafe, gaze through the heavy

Pastel Shades

"Pateau"

A MOST IMPORTANT STYLE NOTE IN FOOTWEAR

"PATEAU"

Pastel Shades of pink, green, blue and parchment.

Paul's

59 Whitehall

EXCURSION TO CHARLESTON

APRIL 5-6

MAGNOLIA GARDENS

$8.00 ROUND TRIP

Lv. Atlanta ..... 9:00 P.M. Sat. April 6th
Lv. Charleston ..... 8:00 P.M. Sun. April 7th
Ar. Atlanta ..... 6:00 A.M. Mon. April 8th

(Occur sleeper until 7:30 A.M.)

Spend Sunday in Charleston visiting the Wonderful Magnolia and Middleton Place Gardens. $8.00 Excursion Tickets good five (5) days returning.

Also fare and one-half rate for longer periods on sale April 2, 3, 4, 10, 11, 12, 17, 18, 19, 20th, 1929.

Make Sleeping Car Reservations Now.

GEORGIA RAILROAD

WA. 2726 WA. 3666

ATLANTA is conspiring against "Macon." In fact a certain group of Atlantans laid careful plans to that effect some time ago. In league with a popular bachelor, they have sought to reduce the central city's rating power by one, thereby increasing Atlanta's quota of charm and beauty as well as her population. The cunning god of love plays in matchless style and splendor by the celebrated "Gleaner," who since the death of Mr. Boldt, has been the genial host at the hotel which always catered to the elite of the country, and in whose hearts sentiment runs to flood tide as the hour draws night for the raising of the structure running between Third and Third and a half streets, at Fifth avenue. It filled the soul with genuine delight to sit in the spacious cafe, gaze through the heavy

ATLANTA is conspiring against "Macon." In fact a certain group of Atlantans laid careful plans to that effect some time ago. In league with a popular bachelor, they have sought to reduce the central city's rating power by one, thereby increasing Atlanta's quota of charm and beauty as well as her population. The cunning god of love plays in matchless style and splendor by the celebrated "Gleaner," who since the death of Mr. Boldt, has been the genial host at the hotel which always catered to the elite of the country, and in whose hearts sentiment runs to flood tide as the hour draws night for the raising of the structure running between Third and Third and a half streets, at Fifth avenue. It filled the soul with genuine delight to sit in the spacious cafe, gaze through the heavy

ATLANTA is conspiring against "Macon." In fact a certain group of Atlantans laid careful plans to that effect some time ago. In league with a popular bachelor, they have sought to reduce the central city's rating power by one, thereby increasing Atlanta's quota of charm and beauty as well as her population. The cunning god of love plays in matchless style and splendor by the celebrated "Gleaner," who since the death of Mr. Boldt, has been the genial host at the hotel which always catered to the elite of the country, and in whose hearts sentiment runs to flood tide as the hour draws night for the raising of the structure running between Third and Third and a half streets, at Fifth avenue. It filled the soul with genuine delight to sit in the spacious cafe, gaze through the heavy

ATLANTA is conspiring against "Macon." In fact a certain group of Atlantans laid careful plans to that effect some time ago. In league with a popular bachelor, they have sought to reduce the central city's rating power by one, thereby increasing Atlanta's quota of charm and beauty as well as her population. The cunning god of love plays in matchless style and splendor by the celebrated "Gleaner," who since the death of Mr. Boldt, has been the genial host at the hotel which always catered to the elite of the country, and in whose hearts sentiment runs to flood tide as the hour draws night for the raising of the structure running between Third and Third and a half streets, at Fifth avenue. It filled the soul with genuine delight to sit in the spacious cafe, gaze through the heavy

ATLANTA is conspiring against "Macon." In fact a certain group of Atlantans laid careful plans to that effect some time ago. In league with a popular bachelor, they have sought to reduce the central city's rating power by one, thereby increasing Atlanta's quota of charm and beauty as well as her population. The cunning god of love plays in matchless style and splendor by the celebrated "Gleaner," who since the death of Mr. Boldt, has been the genial host at the hotel which always catered to the elite of the country, and in whose hearts sentiment runs to flood tide as the hour draws night for the raising of the structure running between Third and Third and a half streets, at Fifth avenue. It filled the soul with genuine delight to sit in the spacious cafe, gaze through the heavy

Easter Festivities Graced by Presence of Lovely College Belles

Photo by Kenneth Rogers, staff photographer.

The above group of attractive young college belles were snapped at the luncheon at which Miss Marion Cobb Bryan, lovely sub-debutante of Mr. and Mrs. Shepard Bryan, entertained last Monday at her home on Peachtree road, honoring Miss Cornelia Orme and her guests, Misses Jane Gilman, of Chattanooga, Tenn.; La Verne Wallace, of Los Angeles, Cal.; and Mary Sandberg, of Washington, D. C., the quartet having arrived from Holton Arms, in Washington, to spend the spring vacation days with Miss Orme's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Orme. On the front row, left to right, are Misses Elizabeth Spalding, Susan Broyles and Jean Nutting; middle row, left to right, Misses La Verne Wallace, Jane Gilman, Mary Sandberg, Catherine Walker and Cornelia Orme; back row, Miss Augusta Porter, her guest, Miss Janet Harris, of St. Louis, Mo., and the hostess, Miss Marion Cobb Bryan.

Co-op Club of Ga. Tech Gives Annual Dance at Biltmore

An interesting event assembling the college set of society last evening was the informal dance given at the Atlanta Biltmore by the Co-op Club of Georgia Tech. The club is the only purely social campus organization that is composed entirely of co-operative engineering students. It was founded in 1918. The present officers of the club are Jack C. Light, president; Fred C. Runge, vice president; Quentin S. Quigley, secretary; John A. Arnold, treasurer.

The chaperons present included Dean and Mrs. Vernon Skiles, Dean and Mrs. Floyd Field, Captain and Mrs. Asa H. Skinner, Professor and Mrs. William H. Johns, Professor and Mrs. John W. Fountain, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Cannon and others.

Among the guests present were the Water Bearer to the King of Cameroun, the latter role of king will be played by John Sloan, one of New York's most distinguished painters. The pageant held in connection with last year's Carnival of Imagination was Egyptian in theme. Mrs. Doughty took the part of an Egyptian slave, incense burner to the high priest.

Indians and cowboys will mingle with colonial dames and southern colonels at the carnival, which will depict scenes and episodes in American history. Some of the characters selected by those who will participate in the pageant are Christopher Columbus, Isabella, Sir Walter Raleigh, the Witch of Salem, George and Martha Washington, Betsy Ross and General Howe. The first section of the pageant will include the early cave dwellers of New Mexico, in which Mr. Sloan and Mrs. Doughty are cast. The latter in the colorful Indian costume of the period.

SNAPSHOTS of Atlantans collected at random: Mrs. Paul Brooks and her daughter, Miss Mildred Willford, standing under the royal pontoon of the Halcion, a Bermuda, which is in the glory of full bloom, its gorgeous pink blossoms giving a splash of color to the tropical scene. Miss Evelyn Sheffield and Mrs. John Owens, Jr., of Montgomery, Ala., enjoying a golf match on the links of Brookhaven, the Capital City Country Club, wearing the smartest of black and white costumes. Mrs. Charles Winslow driving her stunning new blue motor car out Peachtree road. Governor Hardman assisting the planter in the planting of spring flowers on the sloping terrace of the executive mansion on The Prado, in Ansley park. Little three-year-old Jack Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Martin, wearing a yellow bountiful and carrying a small walking stick while strolling hand-in-hand on Peachtree road with his lovely little sweetheart, Miriam Hallman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hallman, followed by their two devoted and proud nurses, Mr. Luther Rosser and Mrs. Rosser. Woodruff wearing the most attractive of printed chiffon gowns and striking picture hats at the tea given Friday afternoon by Mrs. Anne Bates Walsh at her Druid Hills home. Mrs. E. Buckingham Hall, of Morristown, N. J., formerly Miss Charles Owens, of this city, being greeted by a group of Atlanta friends as she alighted from the motor of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Owens, at Tenth street. Mrs. Fred Shafer enjoying the magnificent magnolias blooming in the famous gardens near Charleston, S. C. That's all today. More next Sunday.

Nelson-Eckford Wedding Plans.

Interest centers in the marriage of Louise Nelson and Errol Eckford, which is to be solemnized at high noon, Saturday, April 6, at the home of the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Philip Nelson, on Fifteenth street. The Rev. Richard Orme Finn, pastor of the North Avenue Presbyterian church, will officiate in the presence of a fashionable assemblage of friends and relatives. The charming bride-elect will have as her maid of honor and only attendant her sister, Miss Margaret Nelson. Dr. Warren Doughty will act as best man. Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Nelson, parents of the bride-elect, will entertain at a wedding breakfast. Serving punch will be Misses Ida Sadler, Alice Harold, of Americus, Ga., and Callie Orme, Mrs. Claude McGinnis, Jr., and Mrs. Hugh Nunnally will pour coffee. Mrs. Henry Grady, Jr., will keep the bride's book. Mrs. Claude McGinnis, Jr., will entertain Tuesday, April 2, at a luncheon complimenting Miss Nelson. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grady, Jr., will entertain at a bridge party Tuesday evening, April 2, at their home on Peachtree road.

Seminary Alumnae Stages Benefit Bridge.

Washington Seminary Alumnae Association will entertain at a benefit bridge party Saturday afternoon, April 6, in the parlors of the school on Peachtree road. Officers of the Alumnae association acting as hostesses are Miss Yolande Gwin, president; Mrs. William C. Warren, Jr., vice president; Misses Isabelle Breitlauch, treasurer; Martha Bowen, corresponding secretary, and Eberhard North, recording secretary. Reservations for tables may be made by calling Miss Yolande Gwin at Hemlock 0519-W.

Robert Jones Freeman Is Christened.

A beautiful service of Saturday morning was the christening of little Robert Jones Freeman, five months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eakes Freeman, at All Saints' Episcopal church at 11 o'clock, with Rev. W. W. Memminger officiating. The little boy is a namesake of Robert Jones, famous golf champion who is known throughout America and England as "Bobby" Jones. Mr. Jones acted as godfather for his little namesake and Charles Bradenton, of Warren, Texas, was named the other godfather. Miss Leone Walker, maternal aunt of the baby, acted as his godmother. Only members of the family witnessed the impressive service that was read in a beautiful setting of Easter lilies, burning white tapers and massive palms.

Miss Neel To Wed Dr. Harrison In Late April

The announcement in today's paper of the approaching wedding of Miss Vera Mae Neel and Dr. Miller Thurman Harrison is of wide interest. Miss Neel, though born in Palestine, Texas, has spent much time with relatives in eastern West Virginia. Her professional training was obtained in the University of Yale medical school, New Haven, Conn. She is remembered in Atlanta as having been connected with Davis-Fischer sanitarium.

Dr. Harrison is a native of Zebulon, Ga., but has spent the greater part of his professional life in Atlanta. He is a graduate of the University of Georgia and of Emory university, and is active in the Fulton County Medical Society.

The marriage will be performed in the Presbyterian church in Charleston, W. Va., by Rev. G. G. Synnor, D. D., at noon, April 24.

Lockett-Bonsal Wedding Cards

Invitations have been received by Atlantans to the wedding of Miss Margaret Lockett and Philip Wilson Bonsal, to be solemnized Wednesday evening, April 10, at 8:30 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church in Knoxville, Tenn. Miss Lockett is the only daughter of Mrs. Abner Percy Lockett and the late Mr. Lockett and has many friends in Atlanta, having visited here on several occasions. She is of exquisite blond coloring and is a well-known horsewoman, having ridden in many southern horse shows. Miss Lockett has travelled extensively in Europe and America.

New! Rich's Beautiful 16th Century Music Shop!

... An enchanted place of weathered, stained oak booths, with leaded glass panes, hinges and knockers of wrought iron—and flag-stoned floors! Old tapestries—dimmed hunting scenes and turreted battlements—share the honors of the paneled walls with modern masters—Galli-Curci, Scotti and Paderewski—in oils. The chairs and settees, upholstered in rich, deep crimson, were specially designed for this fascinating shop... as were the unique, indirect lighting fixtures and the brilliant, crystal-prism chandelier!

Rich's features a complete line of Majestic and Crosley radios, Brunswick and Victor phonographs, and four popular makes of records! You can always hear the latest releases here first!

"Rich's For Records!"

RICH'S

Inc.

THE MUSIC SHOP
—RICH'S, FOURTH FLOOR

Edited By
MAINER LEE TOLER

Lewis' After-Easter Sale

COATS

$15 - $18

Sizes 14 to 46 Sizes 14 to 46

and

$25

Sizes 14 to 46

Lewis Emphasizes the Untrimmed Coat!

Perfectly tailored and smartly finished in every chic detail are the coats in these three groups. Their value is apparent in every inch of their fine quality materials, in their graceful lines, in their utter newness! Remember, Easter is early this year and this after-Easter Sale is more timely and more saving than usual!

H.G. Lewis & Co.

102 WHITEHALL ST.

THE FEDERATED CHURCH WOMEN OF GEORGIA

OFFICERS: Mrs. T. L. Lewis, honorary president, 397 Fourth street, N. E., Atlanta; Miss Rosa Woodberry, president, 149 Peachtree circle, Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. Elsie Thomas, first vice president, Lakeview avenue, Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. Charles P. MacLaughlin, second vice president, 1005 Adair avenue, N. E., Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. Granger Hensell, corresponding secretary, 1788 Ponce de Leon avenue, Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. L. A. Witherspoon, treasurer, 65 Fifteenth street, Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. F. Robin Graham, auditor, 1228 Spring street, N. W., Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. John Kerkus, recording secretary, Peachtree road, Atlanta, Ga.

STATE EDITOR: Mrs. J. W. Willis, 831 Myrtle street, Atlanta, Ga.

Associate Editors: Mrs. D. S. Sanford, 829 Myrtle street, N. E.; Mrs. C. R. S. Tauffer, 857 Virginia avenue; Mrs. C. V. Ables, 1018 Oxford road, N. E.; Mrs. Allan V. Gray, St. Phillips cathedral, 11 Hunter street, S. W.

Federation founded by the late Mrs. Albert Braswell.

"Laborers together with God." 1 Cor. 3:9.

"That Ye Might Have Life"

Reverently again we celebrate the most sacred event of the Christian world, the resurrection of Jesus, its significance growing more beautiful and its power more profound as the most perfect example of supreme love and triumph to challenge the minds of the ages: God's gift of His only Son, the redeeming power of His death for all men, His triumphant resurrection!

Jesus said He came that we might have life and have it more abundantly! He said He came that we might have peace that the world cannot give! He said when He went away He would send a Comforter, someone to ever abide with us. His exquisite care! He said that He would prepare a place for us that where He is we may be also!

The heart rises in spontaneous worship to this princely Giver—our risen Lord—who so loved us to give His life, a ransom! Life in abundance!

Have you ever wondered why skies are blue? Why trees and grass are green, the waybirds are decked with flowers, the birds sing? "The floods clap their hands, let the hills be joyful together." Why sparrows do not fall to the ground unnoticed and stately lilies toll not, neither do they spin, yet kings are never robbed as they? God loved beauty, and therefore He made the world beautiful. But, above that, He loved man and made him ruler of all that He had created: the beauty, the wealth and the wonders of the world.

From nature we learn the beauty of resurrection. We grieve at the death of the flowers but we know that with the return of the soft breezes of spring and the silver rain drops falling musically on the earth, they will bloom again in radiant freshness and fragrance.

Life in abundance—the message of the resurrection! The joy of praising God for His goodness and loving kindness! The communion of kindred hearts! The appreciation of the beauties and wonders of the world! Are there not a response to the love God has shown to us?

"THIS IS MY BELOVED SON, HEAR YE HIM!"

LIDA DAVIS JONES (Mrs. Carpenter Jones),
Member of Ponce de Leon Baptist Church.

Mrs. Talmadge, Jr., Addresses All Saints' Woman's Auxiliary

Mrs. John Talmadge, Jr., of Athens, Ga., diocesan custodian of the United Thank offering, will address the meeting of the All Saints' Woman's Auxiliary Monday, April 1, at 3 o'clock at the chapel. Mrs. Talmadge's subject will be "The Spiritual Side of the United Thank Offering and the Blue Box." This thank offering is given by women of the Episcopal church for women workers in the mission field.

Mrs. Will Erwin, of Athens, will speak to the meeting on the subject of "The Gift of Life." Mrs. Rupert Horton will speak on "Sidelights on a Triennial Service." The program is in charge of Mrs. Rupert Horton, custodian of the U. T. O. for the All Saints' Auxiliary. She extends an invitation to all women interested in the "Little Blue Box" to attend this meeting. Mrs. John MacDonald is president of All Saints' Auxiliary.

St. Luke's Auxiliary,
The Woman's Auxiliary of St.

Briefly Told

Mrs. D. S. Sanford, Baptist editor of the Federated church paper, returned to Atlanta after an absence of four weeks visiting Jacksonville, Tampa, Miami and other points in Florida.

Miss Ruth Jinks, field worker for the North Central division of Baptist W. M. U., has returned from Blue Ridge, Ga., where she spent a week in the Morganton association. She was in Sylvestor during the past week working in the South River association.

Mrs. A. F. McMahon, corresponding secretary-treasurer of Georgia Baptist W. M. U., will spend the week beginning April 1 attending annual association meetings in the

SILVERWARE REPAIRED and REPLATED LIKE NEW ### BEDS REFINISHED

Auto Parts
Chromium and Nickel Plating
Gold, Silver and Brass Plating

SIMMONS PLATING WORKS

219-221 Pryor St., S. W.
WAL. 6244-6245 Est. 1893

The Atlanta Conservatory of Music Will Conduct a Summer School from 10th of June to 20th July, 1929.

Georg Fr. Lindner, Director

MOTHERS KNOW ITS WORTH

MRS. IRA ARNOLD
Box 63, Rocklake, N. Dak.

MRS. MAUD MEYERS
460 E. 13th Street, Dubuque, Iowa

"I was all run-down and out of spirits before my third baby was born so I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helped me with all my troubles and gave me an appetite where before I didn't eat at all. I did all of my housework up to the day my baby came, as I am a farmer's wife and could not afford help. I feel just dandy now and I will answer any letters and I will tell every one how good this medicine is."—Mrs. Ira Arnold.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Presbyterian Choir Will Render Easter Cantata

The chorus choir of the Covenant Presbyterian church will sing the Easter cantata "Hosanna" by Nolte Easter Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The public is invited to hear this rendition of the Easter story so beautifully told in song.

The choir includes Mesdames W. A. Whitman, Sanford K. Bell, Mary Acuff, Emma Everett, W. P. Briggs, Ralph Dook, Robert B. Cunningham, Alvin Maye, J. C. McCleskey, R. H. Kiser, Mary Louise Tolbert, Misses Nelle Johnson and Lois Miller, and Paul Eisenhart, Messrs. Griggs, J. D. Collins, Paul Bell, Alvin Maye. The organist and director is Mrs. W. A. DeLamar.

perintendent, and Mrs. James Kemp-ton, personal service chairman.

The G. A. counselors of B. W. M. U. met at Rich's school room Tuesday morning, March 26, at 10:30 o'clock. Mrs. John R. Burress, counselor from Second Baptist church, presided.

The principal feature of the sixth district rally, Mrs. W. H. H. Dorsey, secretary, which met at the First Baptist Church, East Point, Tuesday, March 26, was a play by the members of the hostess society emphasizing the "co-operative program."

The annual rally of the sixth district, Mrs. A. G. Sullivan, secretary, will be held at the Inman Park Baptist church Thursday, April 11.

The birthday anniversary of the late Dean Thomas H. Johnston, of St. Philip's, was commemorated on Tuesday, March 26, with a special service of holy communion in St. Philip's cathedral.

Miss Clara Howard, a missionary of the Southern Methodist Church, who is home on furlough, talked to the members of the Rainbow Club Friday evening, March 29, about her work in Korea.

Sunday, March 31, is Homecoming Day for the members of the Rhoads Class of Park Street M. E. church. All the members of the class are expected to be on hand promptly at 9:30 o'clock, as the class picture will be taken and later on will be printed in the new church directory which the class is getting out. Special services have been arranged.

CHURCH MEETINGS

Baptist.
The executive board of Baptist W. M. U. of Georgia, met at headquarters in the Palmer building Tuesday, April 2, at 12:15 o'clock.

The Capital Avenue Baptist W. M. U. meets Monday afternoon, April 1, at 3 o'clock, at the church.

The Woodward Avenue Baptist W. M. U. meets Monday afternoon, April 1, at 3 o'clock at the church.

Circles of W. M. U. of First Baptist church meet at the Lullwater building, West Peachtree and Grant streets, Monday afternoon, April 1, at 3 o'clock.

W. M. U. of Ponce de Leon Avenue Baptist church meets at the church Monday afternoon, April 1, at 3 o'clock.

Woman's prayer meeting of Ponce de Leon Avenue Baptist church meets at the church Thursday afternoon, April 4, at 3 o'clock.

Methodist.
The W. M. U. of the Kirkwood Methodist church meets Monday afternoon, April 1, at 2:30 o'clock at the church.

Woman's prayer meeting of St. Mark's Methodist meets Thursday morning, April 4, at 10:30 o'clock.

Presbyterian.
Circles of Woman's Auxiliary of First Presbyterian meets Monday afternoon, April 1, at 3 o'clock at the church, as announced in the church bulletin.

Easter Sunday afternoon, March 31, at 5 o'clock, the choir of the Covenant Presbyterian church will sing the Easter cantata "Hosanna," by Nolte.

Christian.
The Woman's Society of the Peachtree Christian church meets Monday afternoon, April 1, at 2:30 o'clock at the church.

The Ladies' Aid of the Decatur Christian church meets at the home of Mrs. Hiram Allen, 212 Adams street, Tuesday morning, April 2, at 10 o'clock.

The group meetings of the Woman's Council of the West End Christian church meets Wednesday morning, April 3, at 10:30 in the homes.

The Woman's Council of the First Christian church meets Wednesday afternoon, April 3, at the church at 3 o'clock.

Episcopal.
The Church School Service League of All Saints Episcopal church will sponsor an Easter egg hunt at Holy Innocents Mission on Sixteenth street, Monday, April 1, at 3 o'clock.

The Young Woman's Auxiliary of All Saints church meets Tuesday, April 2, at 6 o'clock, at the parish house.

The Ladies' Aid of St. Philip's Episcopal cathedral meets Wednesday, April 3, at 3 o'clock at the chapter house.

Parent-Teacher Association of St. Philip's cathedral meets Thursday, April 4, at 3 o'clock at the parish house.

Woman's Auxiliary of St. Philip's cathedral meets Friday, April 5, at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. E. C. Crichton on Piedmont road.

The Young Woman's Auxiliary of St. Philip's cathedral meets Friday, April 5, at 6 o'clock in the chapter house.

Interdenominational Bible class meets at All Saints Episcopal church, Friday, April 5, at 11 o'clock.

Non-denominational.
Jimmy Walker, from Emory university, is conducting a series of vestry services at the Y. W. C. A. residence once a week.

Mrs. W. A. Smart will conclude her series of talks to the Clover Club Tuesday evening, April 2. The subject of the series is "The Social Teachings of Jesus."

A special Easter program has been planned by Senior B-1 of the B. Y. P. U. for Sunday evening at 6:15, the regular hour for the B. Y. P. U. service. An important council meeting was held in the church Monday night.

Services have been held in the

Wife of New Lutheran Pastor Was Active in N. C. Church

Mrs. John L. Yost, wife of the new pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Atlanta, Ga.

Mrs. John L. Yost, whose picture is shown above, has recently moved to Atlanta from Gastonia, N. C. Her husband is pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Trinity avenue and Capitol place. Besides being prominently connected in the social circles of the North Carolina city, Mrs. Yost was very actively engaged in the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Trinity avenue and Capitol place. Besides being prominently connected in the social circles of the North Carolina city, Mrs. Yost was very actively engaged in the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Trinity avenue and Capitol place.

William Spann leads the program and is assisted by Mrs. C. W. Cotton, representing the church. Garret Geisler and Miss Martha Geisler represent both the German and the American missions. Italy, Slavia, Hungary, Finland, Virgin Islands, Porto Rico, the Jew, the American Indian and the negro will be represented by the following young people—Edith, Huss, Frances Kuhlman, Sarah Abgren, Gladys Huss, Irma Borg, Louise Steiglitz, Martha Kuebler, Karmish Sparman, Henry Jones, Betty Layle, Hoff, Louise Cummings, Glen Brady and Robert Repass.

The Bible school Easter festival of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Rev. John L. Yost, pastor.

The Bible school Easter festival of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Rev. John L. Yost, pastor.

The Bible school Easter festival of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Rev. John L. Yost, pastor.

The Bible school Easter festival of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Rev. John L. Yost, pastor.

The Bible school Easter festival of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Rev. John L. Yost, pastor.

The Bible school Easter festival of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Rev. John L. Yost, pastor.

The Bible school Easter festival of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Rev. John L. Yost, pastor.

The Bible school Easter festival of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Rev. John L. Yost, pastor.

The Bible school Easter festival of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Rev. John L. Yost, pastor.

The Bible school Easter festival of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Rev. John L. Yost, pastor.

The Bible school Easter festival of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Rev. John L. Yost, pastor.

The Bible school Easter festival of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Rev. John L. Yost, pastor.

The Bible school Easter festival of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Rev. John L. Yost, pastor.

The Bible school Easter festival of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Rev. John L. Yost, pastor.

The Bible school Easter festival of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Rev. John L. Yost, pastor.

The Bible school Easter festival of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Rev. John L. Yost, pastor.

The Bible school Easter festival of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Rev. John L. Yost, pastor.

The Bible school Easter festival of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Rev. John L. Yost, pastor.

The Bible school Easter festival of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Rev. John L. Yost, pastor.

The Bible school Easter festival of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Rev. John L. Yost, pastor.

The Bible school Easter festival of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Rev. John L. Yost, pastor.

The Bible school Easter festival of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Rev. John L. Yost, pastor.

The Bible school Easter festival of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Rev. John L. Yost, pastor.

The Bible school Easter festival of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Rev. John L. Yost, pastor.

The Bible school Easter festival of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Rev. John L. Yost, pastor.

The Bible school Easter festival of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Rev. John L. Yost, pastor.

Central Methodist In Fitzgerald Has Fine History

The following article relating the history of the Central Methodist church in Fitzgerald will interest readers of the church page and is from the Leader-Enterprise and Press:

"Back in the early days of Fitzgerald the Central Methodist church came into existence. Antedating that time there were Methodist churches about over this part of Georgia and doubtless from these the foundation was laid for the Southern Methodist church in this city. With the incoming crowds of the colony days, representing many states of the union, there came close on their heels the Rev. J. M. Glenn, then a young minister, who shepherded this small flock and did a great and good foundation work. There remain here now those who remember his pastorate and the things accomplished in that day. The Rev. Glenn was here in 1896 and 1907. He is one of the ex-ministers in his denomination, having served many high places of honor and usefulness in the church. His present address is Young Harris, Ga.

"Succeeding him came another young man who wrought well. The Rev. W. M. Blitch was pastor here in 1898, 1901, and now is the Methodist pastor of Atlanta, where he is very popular and much loved. While here he established Methodism and his four years of labor are yet bearing fruit. The Rev. Robert Kerr served during the years 1902 and 1903. The Rev. Kerr spent last year in Ireland, visiting some of the historic places of early Methodism. He is now stationed at Adel, where he is doing a successful pastorate. In 1904 came The Rev. T. W. Darley, for a year only. The Rev. Darley since has passed away, but still is remembered here. The Rev. W. L. Wooten came for the years 1905 and 1906. He left influence here that has borne fruit. From this pastorate home came a daughter who married C. E. Brower, general superintendent of the A. R. & C. railroad, for a long time a citizen of Fitzgerald. The Rev. Wooten died in 1913 and is buried at Tignall, Ga.

Weds In Fitzgerald.
"For 1907 and 1908 Rev. John C. Flanders was pastor. One of his sons married a Fitzgerald girl, and they now live in Macon. It was during his pastorate that the present parsonage was acquired. The Rev. Flanders died in 1924 while presiding elder of the Waycross district and is buried at Ashburn. There were few preachers of more earnest effectiveness than he. The Rev. Guyton Fisher was pastor from 1910, 1911 and 1912. He now is at Pelham, Ga., after having served some of the leading churches in Georgia. Fisher-longer orator, well read, and a preacher, he yet is remembered among many of those now in the church. Then came the Rev. George Matthews for 1913, 1914 and 1915. Brother Matthews is remembered here as well as all over Georgia, for his saintly character, lovable nature and sympathy for his fellowman. He died while pastor at Ashburn, Ga., from injuries received in an auto wreck in 1925, and is buried at Fort Valley, Ga.

The Rev. L. A. Hill at the close of his service as presiding elder of the Macon district at Moultrie, where he is in the midst of a constructive pastorate. He was succeeded by the Rev. Whitley Lawson, who stayed here from 1922 and 1923, and is now superannuated, living at Sparks, Ga., and in feeble health. Then came the Rev. S. C. Oliff for 1924-1927. Perhaps the hardest working man of the local church has ever had. It was his vision and his untiring labor that erected the present handsome church so prominently located and of such attractiveness to all who visit our city. The Rev. Oliff is now presiding elder of the Valdosta district. Succeeding him came the present pastor, the Rev.

W. A. Tyson, now in his second year as pastor.

"From a handful the church has grown during these 33 years to a quite large membership and a good constituency. There now are 372 members with a flourishing Sunday school. There also are organizations for the young people and a missionary society that ranks well in the list of all those in this part of Georgia. Items worthy of note in the work of this church last year are: More than $3,000 was given to the orphan home and the total amount of the finances received $17,000. This included special missionary enterprises, and the many varied activities of the church. There also were 100 conversions. The church is organized and going forward in many worthy undertakings, filling a place of real need and rendering a distinct service to the community."

New England Women Entertain at Bridge.
The Atlanta colony of New England Women gave a bridge party for members and friends at the home of Mrs. Dawson Collier, 40 Woodcrest avenue, Tuesday afternoon, April 2, at 2:30 o'clock. Members should make reservations with Mrs. Collier, Henlock 4932, or Mrs. Bates, Henlock 8661.

W. A. Tyson, now in his second year as pastor.

"From a handful the church has grown during these 33 years to a quite large membership and a good constituency. There now are 372 members with a flourishing Sunday school. There also are organizations for the young people and a missionary society that ranks well in the list of all those in this part of Georgia. Items worthy of note in the work of this church last year are: More than $3,000 was given to the orphan home and the total amount of the finances received $17,000. This included special missionary enterprises, and the many varied activities of the church. There also were 100 conversions. The church is organized and going forward in many worthy undertakings, filling a place of real need and rendering a distinct service to the community."

W. A. Tyson, now in his second year as pastor.

"From a handful the church has grown during these 33 years to a quite large membership and a good constituency. There now are 372 members with a flourishing Sunday school. There also are organizations for the young people and a missionary society that ranks well in the list of all those in this part of Georgia. Items worthy of note in the work of this church last year are: More than $3,000 was given to the orphan home and the total amount of the finances received $17,000. This included special missionary enterprises, and the many varied activities of the church. There also were 100 conversions. The church is organized and going forward in many worthy undertakings, filling a place of real need and rendering a distinct service to the community."

W. A. Tyson, now in his second year as pastor.

"From a handful the church has grown during these 33 years to a quite large membership and a good constituency. There now are 372 members with a flourishing Sunday school. There also are organizations for the young people and a missionary society that ranks well in the list of all those in this part of Georgia. Items worthy of note in the work of this church last year are: More than $3,000 was given to the orphan home and the total amount of the finances received $17,000. This included special missionary enterprises, and the many varied activities of the church. There also were 100 conversions. The church is organized and going forward in many worthy undertakings, filling a place of real need and rendering a distinct service to the community."

W. A. Tyson, now in his second year as pastor.

"From a handful the church has grown during these 33 years to a quite large membership and a good constituency. There now are 372 members with a flourishing Sunday school. There also are organizations for the young people and a missionary society that ranks well in the list of all those in this part of Georgia. Items worthy of note in the work of this church last year are: More than $3,000 was given to the orphan home and the total amount of the finances received $17,000. This included special missionary enterprises, and the many varied activities of the church. There also were 100 conversions. The church is organized and going forward in many worthy undertakings, filling a place of real need and rendering a distinct service to the community."

W. A. Tyson, now in his second year as pastor.

"From a handful the church has grown during these 33 years to a quite large membership and a good constituency. There now are 372 members with a flourishing Sunday school. There also are organizations for the young people and a missionary society that ranks well in the list of all those in this part of Georgia. Items worthy of note in the work of this church last year are: More than $3,000 was given to the orphan home and the total amount of the finances received $17,000. This included special missionary enterprises, and the many varied activities of the church. There also were 100 conversions. The church is organized and going forward in many worthy undertakings, filling a place of real need and rendering a distinct service to the community."

W. A. Tyson, now in his second year as pastor.

"From a handful the church has grown during these 33 years to a quite large membership and a good constituency. There now are 372 members with a flourishing Sunday school. There also are organizations for the young people and a missionary society that ranks well in the list of all those in this part of Georgia. Items worthy of note in the work of this church last year are: More than $3,000 was given to the orphan home and the total amount of the finances received $17,000. This included special missionary enterprises, and the many varied activities of the church. There also were 100 conversions. The church is organized and going forward in many worthy undertakings, filling a place of real need and rendering a distinct service to the community."

W. A. Tyson, now in his second year as pastor.

"From a handful the church has grown during these 33 years to a quite large membership and a good constituency. There now are 372 members with a flourishing Sunday school. There also are organizations for the young people and a missionary society that ranks well in the list of all those in this part of Georgia. Items worthy of note in the work of this church last year are: More than $3,000 was given to the orphan home and the total amount of the finances received $17,000. This included special missionary enterprises, and the many varied activities of the church. There also were 100 conversions. The church is organized and going forward in many worthy undertakings, filling a place of real need and rendering a distinct service to the community."

W. A. Tyson, now in his second year as pastor.

"From a handful the church has grown during these 33 years to a quite large membership and a good constituency. There now are 372 members with a flourishing Sunday school. There also are organizations for the young people and a missionary society that ranks well in the list of all those in this part of Georgia. Items worthy of note in the work of this church last year are: More than $3,000 was given to the orphan home and the total amount of the finances received $17,000. This included special missionary enterprises, and the many varied activities of the church. There also were 100 conversions. The church is organized and going forward in many worthy undertakings, filling a place of real need and rendering a distinct service to the community."

W. A. Tyson, now in his second year as pastor.

"From a handful the church has grown during these 33 years to a quite large membership and a good constituency. There now are 372 members with a flourishing Sunday school. There also are organizations for the young people and a missionary society that ranks well in the list of all those in this part of Georgia. Items worthy of note in the work of this church last year are: More than $3,000 was given to the orphan home and the total amount of the finances received $17,000. This included special missionary enterprises, and the many varied activities of the church. There also were 100 conversions. The church is organized and going forward in many worthy undertakings, filling a place of real need and rendering a distinct service to the community."

W. A. Tyson, now in his second year as pastor.

"From a handful the church has grown during these 33 years to a quite large membership and a good constituency. There now are 372 members with a flourishing Sunday school. There also are organizations for the young people and a missionary society that ranks well in the list of all those in this part of Georgia. Items worthy of note in the work of this church last year are: More than $3,000 was given to the orphan home and the total amount of the finances received $17,000. This included special missionary enterprises, and the many varied activities of the church. There also were 100 conversions. The church is organized and going forward in many worthy undertakings, filling a place of real need and rendering a distinct service to the community."

W. A. Tyson, now in his second year as pastor.

"From a handful the church has grown during these 33 years to a quite large membership and a good constituency. There now are 372 members with a flourishing Sunday school. There also are organizations for the young people and a missionary society that ranks well in the list of all those in this part of Georgia. Items worthy of note in the work of this church last year are: More than $3,000 was given to the orphan home and the total amount of the finances received $17,000. This included special missionary enterprises, and the many varied activities of the church. There also were 100 conversions. The church is organized and going forward in many worthy undertakings, filling a place of real need and rendering a distinct service to the community."

W. A. Tyson, now in his second year as pastor.

"From a handful the church has grown during these 33 years to a quite large membership and a good constituency. There now are 372 members with a flourishing Sunday school. There also are organizations for the young people and a missionary society that ranks well in the list of all those in this part of Georgia. Items worthy of note in the work of this church last year are: More than $3,000 was given to the orphan home and the total amount of the finances received $17,000. This included special missionary enterprises, and the many varied activities of the church. There also were 100 conversions. The church is organized and going forward in many worthy undertakings, filling a place of real need and rendering a distinct service to the community."

St. Anthony's School Sponsors Egg Hunt.

An Easter egg hunt will be sponsored by Mrs. J. J. Vaske Monday April 1, on the school grounds of St. Anthony's school. Several contests will be held and prizes awarded. Mrs. P. A. Fane will have charge of ice cream. All children must have tickets or admission fee before being allowed to hunt. Tickets will be 10 cents.

Camp Fire Activities Are of Interest.

All Camp Fire Girls, Guardians and parents are invited to attend the camp banquet Friday evening at 6 o'clock at the Southern Baking Company on Highland avenue. A program has been arranged portraying the activities of Camp Toccoa. "Where Dreams Come True." The cost of the banquet is 50 cents per plate and it will only be open to the first 100 who make reservations through Camp Fire headquarters, Walnut 3738.

The girls' council meets Monday afternoon, April 1, at 3 o'clock. Members are requested to meet at the stone pavilion at Grant park. The business session, including monthly reports from each representative, will be held in the pavilion and the remainder of the program devoted to nature lore under the guidance of Miss Ethel Purcell, Mrs. Carl Karstom and Miss Ethel Pur

Social Festivities Honor Bridal Pair in Griffin

Griffin, Ga., March 30.—Of cordial interest over the state is the marriage of Miss Alice Searcy and Charles Merriam, Jr., which will be solemnized next Saturday at 3:30 o'clock at St. George's Episcopal church here. The Rev. L. W. Blackwelder, pastor, will officiate, and Aldine Combs will play the pre-nuptial music. The bride-elect will be given in marriage by her father, Judge W. E. H. Searcy, Jr., and will have for her matron of honor, her sister, Mrs. Ralph Shannon, of Camden, S. C., and for her maid of honor, Miss Sallie McCall Hamer, of Orlando, Fla. The bridesmaids will be Mrs. Bartlett Searcy, of Griffin; Mrs. John Lewis, of Providence, R. I.; Miss Selma Watson, of Wilson, N. C.; Miss Estelle Bassett, of Summitt, N. J.; and Miss Sara Hurt, of Atlanta. The best man will be Howard Merriam, of Providence, R. I., brother of the groom. The groomsmen will be Bartlett Searcy and William Searcy, III, of Griffin; Isaac Merriam and Larry Knowles, of Providence, R. I.; Gus Zinsner, of New York, and Jack Livingood, of Cincinnati.

Miss Searcy and Mr. Merriam are being delightfully honored prior to their marriage. Last week Mrs. Jack Lamar entertained at a bridge party at her home in Mason for Miss Searcy and Miss Sara Hurt honored them with a dinner party. Mrs. William O'Steen gives a bridge-ten Monday at the country club. The Presbyterian church, performing the ceremony in the presence of members of the two families and a few intimate friends. The lovely bride was gowned in a tan georgette and lace ensemble and wore a light sinel hat trimmed with lace and other accessories to match. Mr. and Mrs. Griffin left on a wedding trip and will make their home in Paterson, N. J.

The marriage of Miss Katherine Sams, of Griffin, and William Griffin, of Paterson, N. J., formerly of Griffin, was solemnized Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Presbyterian manse with Rev. Malcolm R. Williamson, pastor of the Presbyterian church, performing the ceremony in the presence of members of the two families and a few intimate friends. The lovely bride was gowned in a tan georgette and lace ensemble and wore a light sinel hat trimmed with lace and other accessories to match. Mr. and Mrs. Griffin left on a wedding trip and will make their home in Paterson, N. J.

'Pet Parade' To Be Staged On April 20

The Woman's board of the Henrietta Eggleston Memorial Hospital for Children will stage a "Pet Parade" on the grounds of the hospital Saturday afternoon, April 20, at 3 o'clock, which will be unique in nature and attract many exhibitors and spectators. The proceeds of the parade will be used for hospital purposes. Animals of every kind and description will be in the parade and ribbons or trophies will be awarded in each class. The judges to be selected from the members of the Atlanta Kennel Club. Prizes to be awarded to the types of animals will be as follows: Best, youngest, largest, smallest, finest, most unique, prettiest and the best trick dog. Members of the Atlanta Humane Society have offered a prize for the best orphan animal which has been picked up from the streets and which shows the best care and attention. As the parade will be held during National Humane Week, the Atlanta Humane Society will lend their efforts in making it a success. Members of the committee in charge will be Mrs. R. K. Rambo, chairman; Miss Yolande Gwin, vice chairman; Mesdames Frank Holland, Stacy E. Hill, H. S. Wagner, L. F. Schelver, and Miss Sara Bittick. An entry fee of 10 cents for children exhibiting and 25 cents for adults will be charged. Admission for spectators will be 25 cents. Miss Yolande Gwin will have charge of entries, and these should be mailed to her at 114 Maddox drive, N. E.

Jewish Club Will Sponsor Junior Follies

The "Junior Follies," a musical show, will be given by the Junior division of the Jewish Woman's Club Tuesday evening, April 16, at 8:30 o'clock at the clubhouse, Washington and Clark streets. Earl Blackwelder, who directed the recent highly successful Oglethorpe Petrol Follies held at the Forsyth theater, is stage director and coach for the "Junior Follies." Miss Elsie Rodergeran is assisting with the music for the show. The "Junior Follies" is composed of comedy, dance, song, speed, pep and verve. The talent of those participating in the show and the strikingly beautiful costumes which characterize the production promise to be one of the best shows held in Atlanta. Tickets for the "Junior Follies" may be obtained from members of the Junior division of the Jewish Woman's Club or the sponsors of the club, Miss Polly Gershon, Main 0208-W, and Miss Bessie Nissenbaum, Main 3425-W.

The first of a series of dances to be given by the Jewish Woman's Club at the clubhouse, Washington and Clark streets, will be held Thursday evening, April 4, from 9 until 12 o'clock. A popular dance orchestra has been engaged for the evening and a large attendance is urged. Admission will be 50 cents for men, no charge for ladies. The Jewish Woman's Club is an educational, civic and social institution and is sponsoring these dances with the view of bringing the younger set in the community together. Mrs. M. N. Kessler is in charge of the dance, with Mrs. J. S. Russ, co-chairman, and any information regarding same may be obtained by calling Main 3425-W or Main 2637-W.

Mrs. Hoover's Autographed Photo Is Received by Girl Scouts

Atlanta Girl Scouts have received a large autographed photograph of Mrs. Herbert Hoover, who is active vice president of the National Organization of Girl Scouts, wearing the gray-green Girl Scout uniform. "Most cordial greeting to my Girl Scout friends" were her wishes to her young scout sisters, with whom she has been most active for many years. If President Hoover accepts the invitation of the national educational convention in Atlanta in July, Mrs. Hoover will be a guest of Atlanta Girl Scout Council.

Atlanta, the out-of-door life being one of great interest to her.

Registrants for the full camping season at Civitania were very active the past week and a large per cent of the quota has already been reached. Troops begin the first of April to make their week-end encampments. Each group must register at headquarters before leaving for the camping trip.

Two Atlanta scouts were awarded the letter of commendation Wednesday at a group meeting at the First Presbyterian church by Mrs. William Talley, scout director. This recognition of outstanding character development was given to Miss Francis Holmbeck, of 922 Washita avenue, N. E., and Miss Lucile Taylor, of 1223 Clifton road, N. E., for three years' outstanding service to Girl Scouting and the community.

The following delegates to the girls' convention in Jacksonville April 19 have been appointed: Scouts Dorothy Fugitt, Frances McMillan, Frances McDonald, Marjorie Tindall, Martha Paschall, Marian Fugitt, Sarah Bowman, June Matthews, Mrs. William P. Talley and Mrs. Lee Ashcraft will attend the leaders' conference.

Girl Scouts from Troop 1, Miss Adelaide Nelson, leader, were contributors this week to the Red Cross relief fund for recent flood sufferers. Eight girls from this group will be junior hostesses with the St. Cecilia Guild at an Easter Monday egg roll.

ing on the lawn of All Saints' church at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon for the Eggleston Memorial Hospital for Children.

Troop 2 of Edgewood school, under the direction of Miss Louise Pirkle, presented the Junior Red Cross with 12 white Easter rabbits, which they made from white outing, to be given to children in hospitals on this Easter morning.

Troop 5 of Georgia Avenue school gave an interesting demonstration on the P-T-A program this week. Health was the theme. The setting-up exercises that each scout takes while following the health trail were taken to rhythmic musical count. Good habits for health were discussed by members of the troop. The girls of this group sponsored a handkerchief show for Miss Kate Faver, the principal of the school, whose birthday it was. Troop 5 has now five instruments in its orchestra, which furnishes music for school activities.

Troop 10 of St. Mark's has three new tenderfoot scouts, Margaret McAuley, Betty Shurman and Frances Lucas, also two candidates, Mildred Wagon and Katherine Alexander. One group of these scouts is studying pacing, compass reading and trail signs preparatory to the making of a sketch map of the territory surrounding the church for one-fourth of a square mile. The many interesting methods by which messages may be sent through the Morse code is another project for April with this troop.

Among the parents sponsoring this troop are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chalmers, Solicitor and Mrs. John A. Boykin, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Collier, Rev. and Mrs. R. C. Huston, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Barge, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Barge, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Gantt, Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Milam,

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Galbraith, Dr. and Mrs. B. H. Wagon, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Cowles, Mr. and Mrs. Reanest Rothchild and Mr. and Mrs. W. Salem Brown.

The spring dinner-meeting of the Girl Scout Leaders' Association will be held Thursday, April 4, at the Francis-Virginia tearoom at 5:30 o'clock. Mrs. Isabelle Clarke Morrison presiding.

Decatur School Pupils To Sponsor Opera

Sponsored by the pupils of Room 9 and 3 of Decatur Junior High school, the opera, "Faust," will be given in the junior high auditorium Thursday, April 4, at 7:45 o'clock. The proceeds to finance the lighting of the school halls. The story of "Faust" will be told throughout the opera between the musical numbers by Miss Sillie Sewell and the cast will include Rowland Wilmoth, who has been studying for the past several years under Volpi and who will take the part of Faust. Mrs. John W. Heidt, of Ponce de Leon place, who studied with Sergei Klambsky in New York, and who has a voice of unusual loveliness, will take the part of Marguerite. Jesse Barnett will take the part of Mephistopheles; George Connor the part of Valentine, while 9 and 3 will sing the choruses. The orchestra, composed of junior high pupils, will be assisted by Mrs. Frances Collins, violinist, and Miss Dorothy Ramage, pianist. A rare treat is promised for Thursday evening and it is anticipated that a large audience will be present.

75-77 Broad St.
At Hunter

ED. MATTHEWS & CO.

75-77 Broad St.
At Hunter

SALE SPRING OPENING SALE

500 Tabourettes To Sell Monday

Now's the Time to Put Out Your Flowers!

Think of it! 500 good, strong, sturdy, hardwood tabourettes, finished in fumed oak. Just the thing to stand your potted flowers and ferns on to get the air and sunshine they need. Only 4 to a customer, and the sale starts Monday morning, 9 o'clock sharp. Sale price, only

No C.O.D's, Phone or Mail Orders

24<sup>c</sup> Each

"SAVE WITH ICE" Kleen-Kold Refrigerators

Good appearance and sound construction at moderate price. Kleen-Kold refrigerators have every item necessary to practical refrigeration, without non-essentials. You couldn't get more refrigeration service or satisfaction if you paid double the price. All sizes are here.

$1.00 Down Delivers
Your Refrigerator

FREE! With Your Refrigerator

With every refrigerator sold Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, we will give, absolutely free, a beautiful 4-piece Flintex mixing bowl set—in your choice of pink, green or blue. Use Flintex for your baking—will not crack or break. A set should be in every kitchen.

8-Piece Bedroom Outfit at a New Low Price

Floor Lamps Special MONDAY

These are very beautiful lamps. They have 20-inch, pleated, imitation parchment shades, bronze wrought iron stands, with decorated bases to match shades. You will be both surprised and delighted with such an extraordinary value as we offer you in these lamps. Special while they last Monday, only

$1.98

No C. O. D's, Mail or Phone Orders

$89.75

Semi-Poster

Terms Arranged to Suit Your Convenience

Outfit Consists of
Semi-Poster Bed
French Vanity
Chest of Drawers
Vanity Bench
Simmons Coil Spring
Simmons 50-lb. Mattress
Two Feather Pillows

French
Vanity

Chest of Drawers

ED. MATTHEWS & CO.
At
Hunter 75 -- Broad St., S. W. -- 77 At Hunter

East Atlanta Notes of Interest.

Mrs. Frank Stokes was hostess at dinner Friday evening at her home on Moreland avenue, honoring a group of her son's, Malvern, friends. Covers were placed for eight guests, including Brooks Stevenson, Vincent Bowers, Clarence Letton, Charles Townley, Howard Webb, Carlton Nunan and Malvern Stokes. Mrs. Cowan entertained a group of children at an egg hunt at her home on May avenue Thursday afternoon. Mrs. T. J. Starr, of Sunnyside, Ga., is visiting Mrs. H. A. Weens. Rev. George Erwin, of Arlington, will be the guest of Rev. and Mrs. C. B. McDaniel for two weeks. Rev. Erwin will assist the revival to be held at the Mary Branham church. Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Mitchell visited Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Clay in Chattanooga, Tenn., for a few days last week. Mr. and Mrs. Ewell Argo have returned home after a visit to Colonel and Mrs. Julian E. Ross, of Port Lardale, Fla. Mr. and Mrs. Argo visited Miami and other places of interest in Florida also. Mrs. C. A. Wood and little son motored to West Palm Beach, Fla., last week to spend a month with her mother, Mrs. Stephens. Mrs. W. T. Loftis entertained her church circle Monday afternoon. Mrs. Ira McDavid and Mrs. Townsend will be joint hostess at a bridge-tee Tuesday evening for the W. R.

M. A. at the home of Mrs. Townsend on Donnelly avenue. Mrs. Ewell Argo entertained at two tables of bridge Wednesday afternoon at her home on Moreland avenue. Vases of spring flowers were used to decorate the home. Top score was won by Mrs. McWaters. Mrs. Jim Pefinis entertained at bridge Friday afternoon in honor of Mr. Kaponis, who is convalescing after a recent illness. Those present were Miss Eva Vance Freeman, Mrs.

T. M. Freeman, Mrs. Z. U. Peterson and Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Young. Miss Freeman won top score. Mrs. Parks Williams entertained at a demonstration luncheon, at which Henry Webber was host. Thursday. The guests included 12 of the hostess' neighborhood friends. Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Williams, of Jacksonville, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Park Williams. Mrs. Henry Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Burnham, Mrs. Claude Lanier,

J. T. Elder and J. H. Hodnet, of College Park, motored to Acworth to spend last Sunday. Mrs. Fred C. Brownlee entertained at dinner Thursday evening in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Terrell Wilson, a bride and groom of the early spring. Mrs. H. W. Bowman was hostess to the Senior B. Y. P. U. of the Moreland Avenue Baptist church Thursday evening. Mr. and Mrs. C. T. White left the past week to visit the Magnolia Gardens in Charleston, S. C. Mr. and Mrs. Busha and daughter, Miss Maggie Busha, will accompany them. Tech Y Singers To Give Program. The Tech Y singers, composed of 20 Georgia Tech students, will make their first public appearance in a secular program as the headliners on a stunt night program at Oakhurst Presbyterian church Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. Lively college songs will feature their offerings. The remainder of the program will consist of stunts offered by the Christian Endeavorers of the church and a series of stunt races conducted by Robert E. Mell, director of the Tech Y singers. No admission charge will be made. A free will offering for the delegation of the Oakhurst Christian Endeavor Society to the state convention in Savannah will be taken.

Ever Alert to Changing Styles Haverty Marks Another Milestone With a Special 44th Anniversary Showing of New Furniture!

1885
HAVERTY'S
44th
ANNIVERSARY
1929

Comfortable 3-Piece Fiber Porch Set $29.95

Enjoy the cool porch in the hot summer evenings. This three-piece Fiber Porch Set consists of swing and two rockers. Attractively finished in green, orange and brown decorated shellac finish. Nothing assures more comfort than a serviceable Porch Set. The saving in this suite is remarkable.

Terms: $2.50 Cash; $1.00 Weekly

Metal End Day Bed $28.75

With a beautiful chrome-covered Day Bed you are always prepared for the unexpected guest. This comfortable Day Bed, as illustrated, carries brown enamel finish metal ends, steel constructed springs. Heavy skilled mattress. Covered in evidence to harmonize with any room furnishings. Durable and comfortable. Forty-Fourth Anniversary Special.

Terms: $1.00 Cash; $1.00 Weekly

Model "72" Majestic $197

Get the voice of the air with a new Model 72 Majestic. Its beautiful Walnut cabinet, with attractive inlaid on door panels of beautifully matched walnut veneer, you will marvel at its power—the clear, strong, lustrous sound by the new super-dynamic speaker.

Easy Terms

Beautifully Designed 8-Piece Walnut Veneer Dining Room Suite $97.75

We are especially happy to present to you this Splendid Dining Room Suite in our Forty-fourth anniversary. A beautiful suite of furniture at an unusually low price. Consists of dining table, buffet, arm chair and five side chairs. Durable, elegant, serviceable. Harmonizing with a beautiful finish in finished walnut. The saving in this suite is no longer to be seen in its appeal.

Terms: $5.00 Cash; $2.50 Weekly

Porcelain Top Utility Cabinet $9.95

This Utility Cabinet stands 30 inches high and is 27 inches wide. It has a porcelain top, easy-gliding drawer and two utility drawers. Consists of white or green enamel finish. Forty-Fourth Anniversary Special.

Terms: $1.00 Cash; $1.00 Weekly

Leonard Refrigerator $28.50

The new 43-pound capacity side-by-side Leonard Refrigerator will save your ice bill and is suitable for the home or apartment use. Inner construction of extruded metal, white enamel lining. Order construction of enamel.

Terms: $1.00 Cash; $1.00 Weekly

25-Foot. Ribbed Garden Hose $3.95

Every home should be equipped with a hose for the lawn as well as the garden and particularly this twenty-five foot heavy ribbed Garden Hose. Complete with nozzle. Forty-Fourth Anniversary Special.

Terms: $1.00 Cash; $1.00 Weekly

Folding Lawn Chairs $1.00

Comfortable folding lawn chairs in attractive striped canvas. Unusually comfortable. CASH AND CARRY. NO MAIL. PHONE OR C. O. D. ORDERS.

Window Shades 95c

Standard size 36"x54" Opaque Window Shades in plain green and tan finish. Brighten up the home with window shades. No charge for measuring—it is six or more shades are needed. Forty-Fourth Anniversary Special.

Convenient Terms

A 44th Anniversary Feature!

9x12 AXMINSTER RUGS $24.50

With our Forty-fourth Anniversary we are offering an outstanding value in 9x12 Axminster Rugs for MONDAY ONLY. Colorful rugs for the home in the season's most wanted color combinations. Choice of Oriental and conventional designs. Suitable for every room in the house. Every purchase at Haverty's tomorrow marks a definite saving.

$1.00 Cash... $1.00 Weekly

Select Two or More Rugs

HAVERTY FURNITURE CO.

Cor. Edgewood Ave. and Pryor St.

Decatur Store, 112 E. Ponce de Leon Ave.

"The Convenient Store Better Prepared to Serve You" is yours in our Decatur Branch—The newest link in our chain, carries a complete stock and can fulfill the majority of your requirements. The merchandise in this advertisement as well as many more dominating values in Haverty's Forty-fourth Anniversary, may be purchased at our Decatur Store tomorrow.

Protect Your Winter Clothing With a Walnut Veneer Cedar Chest $29.95

Protect your winter clothing by placing them in a genuine walnut veneer multi-pocket Lane Cedar Chest. This beautiful Cedar Chest, as illustrated, carries panels in front, back and bottom of 3-inch red cedar heartwood. Separately joined panels. Double inner locked corners, snug-fitting lid. The legs are screwed on. A dominating value in our Forty-Fourth Anniversary.

Terms: $1.00 Cash; $1.00 Weekly

"Blue Flame" Oil Stove $29.95

Haverty's three-burner Blue Flame Oil Stove is just what you need for the extremely warm summer days. Cooks quickly and is unusually economical. Attractively finished in black enamel. Equipped with three high speed Loran burners. Forty-Fourth Anniversary Special.

Open Free Terms: $1.00 Cash; $1.00 Weekly

Comfort, Charm and Usefulness Are Characteristic of Present Day Furniture!

True enough, furniture styles have made drastic changes during the past few years—but style alone is not the big advantage of having your home furnished with present day furniture.

In striking contrast to the staid dignity and severity of lines so prevalent in furniture of a few years back, is the comfort, charm and usefulness so characteristic in furniture of today.

You can easily enjoy all the advantages of a well-furnished home by using Haverty's easy-payment plan. A dignified credit system—simple and easy to understand. Ask any of our salesmen to explain this unusual credit system to you, if you are not already familiar with it. You will be surprised not only at its simplicity, but at the length of time allowed to complete payments.

This Tapestry Upholstered Cogswell Chair, $19.95

Invest Your Money in the Year's Greatest Value—Choice of Finish... $79.50

This luxurious three-piece Bedroom Suite is a new creation which we have just received from the markets for our Forty-fourth Anniversary celebration. Is constructed of selected hardwoods with beautiful decorations richly finished. Consists of four-drawer, oval bottom, single adjustable mirror vanity, new style bed and four-drawer chest. Beautifully finished in choice of grey and green decorated. Here is your opportunity to obtain an unusual measure of infinite styles and fine craftsmanship at an unusually low cost. We suggest you make your selection early to avoid possible disappointment.

Terms: $1.50 Cash; $1.50 Weekly

3-Piece Jacquard Velour Living Room Suite. Reversible Cushions $89.75

Another one of Haverty's dominating values in our Forty-fourth Anniversary. This three-piece Living Room Suite consists of Davenport, Club Chair and Fireside Chair, upholstered in rose and taupe genuine jacquard velour. Loose spring-filled tapestry reversible cushions. Exposed part of frame in mahogany finish. Queen Anne design. By all means see this outstanding Living-Room Special tomorrow!

Terms: $5.00 Cash; $2.50 Weekly

HAVERTY FURNITURE CO.

Atlanta Store: Cor. Edgewood Ave. and Pryor St.
Decatur Store: 112 E. Ponce de Leon Ave.

Open An Account Tomorrow

See Our Windows

Keely's---The Home of Better Silks!

Monday—Acclaimed Opening Day for Summer Display of

What's New in Wash Fabrics!

—The fabrics for the southern climate and the southern woman are COTTON FABRICS. Superlatively suitable, always, for verandah! club! garden! and indoors. The breath-taking loveliness of designs this season run the whole gamut of beauty in colors and patterns.
—If wise, you will buy in quantities while the summer display is complete!

6,000 Yds. Novelty Wash Fabrics..... 49c

—36-in. Printed Handkerchief Lawn.
—36-in. English Sports Broadcloth.
—36-in. Burtons Checked Tissues.
—36-in. Printed Satinets.
—36-in. Printed Cotton Charmeuse.
—36-in. Solid Color Suiting.
—36-in. Irish Linen Suiting.
—36-in. Striped Broadcloth Shirting.

Gingham, 48c

—Lorraine block checked gingham in red, blue, green, pink and helio. Combine with solid colors for a smart ensemble. 32-in.

Gabardine, 59c

—Novelty printed Gabardine. Floral and modernistic designs. 36-in. Splendid for sports frocks and ensembles.

Pique, 98c

—Novelty printed pique. Gay and colorful prints with solids to match for coat dresses and ensembles. 36-in.

5,000 Yds. Novelty Printed Cottons..... 39c

—40-in. Printed Voiles.
—36-in. New Era Dimity.
—36-in. Gypsy Suiting.
—32-in. Printed Pongettes.
—32-in. Lorraine Tissues.
—32-in. Solid Color Zephyrs.
—36-in. Solid Color Broadcloth.
—36-in. Solid Color Pique.

Prints, 29c

—4,000 yards of fast color prints. 36-in. Palm Prints. 36-in. Playmore Prints. 36-in. Novelty Prints. 36-in. Punjab Prints.

Voiles, 98c

—Printed chiffon voiles. Of exquisite Rayon construction in dark and light colors. 36-in. wide.

Swiss, 79c

—St. Gall dotted swiss. Sheer and crisp in bright, summerlike colors. 32-in.

—Keely's, Main Floor, Back

Stages tomorrow a Silk Sale which will add still greater luster to an already celebrated reputation. Quality silks offered in two outstanding Silk Sales of the past week caused a furor of buying. These lots have been augmented by the arrival on Saturday of TWO THOUSAND FIVE HUNDRED additional yards.

—Every yard is fashion pedigreed. Every yard represents a saving of one dollar to two dollars to the lucky purchaser.

Printed Silks
$1.98

Haas Bros.' Printed Silks!
Regularly $3, $3.50 and $3.95

—Hundreds and hundreds of yards have been added to glorify this offering. Printed silks in gorgeous and colorful duotone, tritone and multitone patterns—unrivalled in their exquisite beauty.

—Geometrics, florals and polka dots printed on a superb quality crepe.

—All are of this season's printings and are the height of present print demand.

Monday, Promptly at 9 O'Clock, the Sale Starts!

—Keely's, Main Floor

Costume Silks
$2.29

A Surprise Is in Store for You!
Regularly $3 to $4.95

—Amazing values in a Silk Sale as unexpected as it is welcome! Every yard from one of the most famous silk producers known to the buyer. A Sale of similar silks offered last week was an enormous success.

—Bolt upon bolt, shipped into the store Saturday, has been hurriedly unpacked to take the place of the great quantity bought so eagerly last week.

—Faille, flat crepes, satin crepes, Georgettes and printed silks.

Monday—First Day!

Special Purchase and Sale of 5,000 Pieces Colored Glass

In Keely's New Gift Section
Shop Early! Some Lots Are Small!

Beverage Set, $1.39

—Reg. $1.95. Consists of jug, four glasses, metal tray with handle. Rose, crystal and green.

Console Sets, 79c

—Reg. $1.25. Rose color. Roll edged bowl, complete with sticks.

Fish Aquariums, 69c

—Reg. $1. Table type in oval shape. Crystal.

Ice Buckets, $1

—Reg. $1.50. Cut design in floral pattern. Rose and green. Complete with tongs and strainer.

Candy Boxes, 39c

—Reg. $1. Rose and green. Large size with cover. Three compartments. Limited quantity.

Cake Boxes, $1

—Reg. $1.50. Glass with aluminum cover. Round.

Iridescent Glass, 69c

—Reg. $1. Vases, sugar and creamers, cake dishes, bowls and mayonnaise.

Salad Plates, 19c

—Reg. $3.50 doz. Special at $2.19 doz. Rose, green, orchid glass in round or optic.

Ice Tubs, 49c

—Reg. $1. Handled. Plain optic in rose color. Limited quantity.

Salad Sets, $1

—Reg. $1.50. Salad and cake sets in rose and green. Consists of one each cake dish, salad bowl, fork and spoon.

Console Sets, $1.95

—Reg. $3. Rose and green console sets. Hand painted designs in three styles.

Stemware, 19c

—or $2.19 doz. Reg. $3.50. Three patterns in rose or combination of rose and crystal. Limited quantity!

—Keely's, Main Floor, Back

Buy for Wear Now and Later!

Junior and Flapper Frocks $1

Guaranteed Fast Colors!

—Exceptionally special! Wash frocks in styles to please the junior miss. A myriad of gayly colored prints on practical, durable percale.

—Flattering styles in youthful waist line effects that flutter into flared skirts.

—Just 250! And how quickly they will whirl away! Junior and flapper styles in sizes 14 to 20. You'll not be satisfied to buy less than a half dozen! On sale Monday.

—Keely's, Second Floor, Back

Sleeveless! Straight Lines!

Wash Silk Frocks, $5.95

—Wash crepe de Chine frocks that you'll meet at friendly bridge games, on afternoon calls and gayly holding the center of attraction for sports wear.

—Not many—but the first fifty will be the lucky ones. Sleeveless, straightline frocks of supple crepe de Chine. Pearl button or self trimmed. Pastel colors and white.

—Frocks that are easy to dip into warm suds, press and be always ready for more good times. Very serviceable and practical for warm weather wear. Sizes 16 to 40.

—Keely's, Second Floor, Back

Good Quality and Low Prices Prevail in New Step-in Sets, $2.95

—New assortment of crepe de Chine and tub silk step-in sets await your selection Monday. Excellent in quality and workmanship. Sizes 32, 34 and 36.

Silk Bloomers, $1.95

—Very special! Why, because they are heavy quality Jersey, made well to wear well. Sizes 5, 6 and 7.

—Keely's, Second Floor, Back

New Patterns! New Colors! In Keely's Spring Rug Sale!

Buy on Keely's Easy Club Plan

Seamless Axminsters, $39.95

You Would Expect to Pay $50

Seamless Wilton Velvets, $75

Should Sell for $90

—Fine Wilton velvet rugs, that you see offered for $90. Seamless, in the latest patterns, with fringe ends. Size 9x12.

Special! Scatter Rugs

Size 18x27-in. .... 79c

Size 27x54-in. .... $2.49

—Not many, but enough for first corners. Excellent scatter rugs in good patterns.

—Keely's, Third Floor

Axminsters,
$27.50
Seamless!

Should Sell for $35

—Excellent selection of new, spring patterns and colors. Size 9x12.

—If you need a rug, don't overlook this wonderful buy!

—Only a limited number of these fine seamless rugs! Through a fortunate circumstance we were able to secure regular $50 rugs to sell at only $39.95. Oriental, modern and Persian designs, with a deep, luxurious pile. Size 9x12.

Exposition and Sale of Gorgeous

New Spring Draperies

—Now it is spring cleaning time, with its attendant need for new curtains and draperies. Our experienced Interior Decorators will gladly help you solve your redecorating problems—give estimates and offer expert suggestions, without charge.

—Monday only, the Drapery Section will make, WITHOUT CHARGE, draperies or curtains selected from the following gorgeous assortment:

Drapery Damask
$1.95 to $3.69 Yd.

—Comprehensive selection of new spring patterns. All are sun-fast.

—Tailor-made without charge. Monday only!

Linen Prints, 98c Yd.

—Ideal for summer drapes. New springtime colors and patterns.

—Tailor-made without charge, Monday only!

Mohairs, $1.95 Yd.

—Plain, checked and printed Mohairs. Nothing better at this price for enduring wear. Sun and tub fast.

—Tailor-made without charge, Monday only!

French Marquisette 39c to $1 Yd.

—Exquisite quality of French marquisette. Makes lovely sheer ruffled and glass curtains.

—Tailor-made without charge, Monday only!

—Keely's, Third Floor

KEELY COMPANY

GEORGIA STATE FEDERATION OF WOMEN'S CLUBS

ORGANIZED IN 1896—MEMBERSHIP 30,000—JOINED GENERAL FEDERATION IN 1896—MOTTO: "WISDOM, JUSTICE, MODERATION"—CLUB FLOWER: CHEROKEE ROSE

PRESIDENT—Mrs. A. H. Brown, of Augusta; vice president at large, Mrs. S. V. Sanford, of Atlanta; second vice president, Mrs. R. K. Rambo, of Atlanta; recording secretary, Mrs. O. L. Otto, of Savannah; corresponding secretary, Mrs. W. C. Kellogg, of Augusta; treasurer, Mrs. M. E. Judd, of Dalton; parliamentarian, Miss Rose Woodberry, of Atlanta; editor, Mrs. Bessie Shaw Stafford, of Georgia; General Federation director in Georgia, Mrs. A. P. Brantley, of Blackshear; Georgia Federation headquarters, 509 Chamber of Commerce building, Atlanta, telephone IVy 0674; national headquarters, 1734 N. street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

DISTRICT PRESIDENTS—First, Mrs. G. M. Barnes, of Midville, president pro tem.; second, Mrs. P. I. Dixon, of Thomasville; third, Mrs. Robert E. Lee, of Fitzgerald; fourth, Miss Virginia Persons, of Dalton; fifth, Mrs. Kate Green Hess, 307 Oxford place, N. E., Atlanta, phone DE. 3753; sixth, Mrs. L. A. Collier, of Barnesville; seventh, Mrs. Herbert E. Hogue, of Marietta; eighth, Mrs. A. C. Skelton, of Hartwell; ninth, Mrs. J. E. McElroy, of Norcross; tenth, Mrs. J. W. Hoots, of Gordon; eleventh, Mrs. G. V. Cate, of Brunswick; twelfth, Mrs. J. C. Meadows, of Vidalia. Miss Julia McIntosh Sparks, state publicity chairman, 509 Chamber of Commerce building.

Original Relic Program Staged By Brunswick Woman's Club

The original relic program presented by the department of fine arts of Brunswick Woman's Club is deserving of space on today's official club page in The Constitution, having been recently staged at the Cloister hotel, presided over by Mrs. Frank L. Stacy, fine arts chairman, with Mrs. G. V. Cate, eleventh district president, chairman of relic program. She is an authority on the history of that section of Georgia, having studied the early history of the state and presented each collection with ease and grace and held the closest attention of the large audience present.

She showed a doll named Florence Louise Fleming Colebury, born 1800, years ago in Philadelphia, Pa., and the property of Miss Lulu Colebury. A sampler belonging to the George Washington was presented was on view.

Mrs. J. B. Wright exhibited a five-piece set of pewter which belonged to the family over 200 years and which was marked on the bottom 1560, and a daguerrotype of her great-grandmother, and a stuffed bird, killed and mounted over 100 years ago. Mrs. W. N. Gamble presented a newspaper printed in Ulster county, N. Y., in 1800, telling of the death of George Washington, and a mourning border between each column. Mrs. Louise Stacy showed a copy of the Massachusetts Sun, published in Worcester, Mass., December 4, 1776, five months after the signing of the Declaration of Independence, and an original land grant from King George III, dated January 3, 1775, to John Stacy, for 250 acres of land in the parish of St. Thomas, Ga. She showed a glass coaster 130 years old, explaining that in those days it was customary to pour your hot tea or coffee into your saucer or cup, and the coaster was to sit your cup in while you drank from the saucer.

Confederate Money. Mrs. Mary Stacy presented a collection of Confederate money from $5,000 on down and including a five-cent piece, which was issued in 1864 and signed by U. S. Grant, mayor, and a three-piece piece dated April 1776, and a pair of colonial steel knuckles. The C. O. Condon, Jr., relic of Indian relics gathered on St. Simons island contained an Indian pot which had been "killed." According to Miss Margaret Ashley, of Atlanta, student of Indian life, who visited St. Simons recently, when the owner of the pot died, a hole was broken in the bottom of the pot and the spirit of the master, and it was buried with its owner. The pot was decorated with a design which was customary to the Indians, and it was buried in the soil before it was killed. Another indication of the advance in skill was shown by the fact that the head of the arrow of the crude type, with a slim collar for fastening to the stem, to the best of the modern head with its barbed edges and made so as to whirl as it flew through the air and inflict a terrible jagged wound. This collection included two hammer stones, one scraper, one skinner or digger, one shaped chipper, and several flint, graptolite, and other sections for the making of arrowheads. A round stone with two holes was a medallion which was worn by the Indian maiden for decoration. An old musket from long ago wars on St. Simons island was also displayed in the Swenden collection. A pair of spurs, a powder horn all kinds of shot, cannon balls and buttons from the coats of soldiers of three wars.

Miss Mada M. Brown exhibited a collection of various sizes found on the grounds around Frederica and an old English coin dated 1738. Also an Indian skull found in the ruins of Lawrence, Mrs. John C. Currie, of St. Simons, presented a marble seal with the head of General Oglethorpe, believed to be the seal of the general himself. This was found in a field at Frederica. Several quilts were exhibited, one introducing the tulip design in orange and green and a white background, by Mrs. W. D. Harrington, and an exquisitely arranged quilt top of flowers cut from English chintz on a white homespun background, by Mrs. Louise Stacy. Mrs. J. E. Lambright presented an extra from the Brunswick Advocate dated January 11, 1861, telling of the first gun fired in the struggle between the north and south, in Charleston harbor, January 9, 1861, also of the secession of Florida and Mississippi on the same date. This extra was found in an old school book of Mrs. Ellen Darts. Mrs. M. N. Diefenderfer presented a pewter tea set, from 150 years ago, and her Madge Merritt presented a duelling pistol which belonged to the Lamb family, and a counterpane, published in 1820, which contained exactly the same advice as those published in 1920—to wit, to lime the soil in order to make two blades of grass grow where one had grown before. It contained market bulletins quoting eggs at 5 cents a dozen. The volume also said that any traveler going through the country could see that forests were fast disappearing and that no trees were being planted to replace those cut.

Cane Displayed. The cane of Honorable Thomas Butler King, of Retreat plantation, was displayed. The cane had a gold head and concealed a short sharp sword and was presented to Mr. King for his protection by his friends while serving as the first collector of the port of San Francisco during the "Roaring Forties." Thomas Butler King served for 16 years as representative of this district in congress. Mr. King and the Honorable W. C. Brantley are the only Glynn county citizens who ever represented this district in the United States congress. A Civil War army pistol was shown. Both the cane and the pistol are the property of Mrs. F. D. Aiken. An insight into the daily life of the slaves and their owners in the old plantations was revealed by an account book kept by Mrs. Thomas Butler King of Retreat plantation. During the past year, Mrs. King spent in congress and in public life she had charge of the plantation and demonstrated executive ability in its management, producing and cultivating the famous "Retreat brand" of sea island cotton, which brought top market prices in Europe. On the other hand, she allotted task each day, and when this was completed he could work his own little plot of ground surrounding his cabin, tend his chickens or stock, or make boats, baskets or "fanners," and any money thus made was his.

Mrs. Fish Issues Report Upon Sixth District

Mrs. Edward Fish, of Barnesville, publicity chairman of sixth district, issues the following report of that district:

Mrs. L. A. Collier, sixth district president, mailed letters to presidents of the districts asking for the outstanding work of each club. Many responses have been received and the work when completed will be turned over to Mrs. B. O. Brantley, director for Georgia, who has asked each district to do this.

Jackson Club, with Miss Pauline Mallet, president, and the Butts County Federation, with Mrs. J. E. Settle, president, have aided materially in the passage of a bill in the state legislature in securing appropriations for the preservation and beautification of Indian Springs. They have succeeded also in making a state park out of this and putting it under the supervision of the forestry board, of which Mr. B. M. Lufburrow is head.

Zebulon Club, which won the cup for doing the most outstanding work of a dog's foot made while the tabby was so.

Mrs. Agnes Hartridge exhibited a lantern with crystal sides which came from the lighthouse and believed to be one of the original oil lamps. Mrs. Cate presented a picture of the present lighthouse in the course of construction, which is very near the site of the first one, and a map which located Fort St. Simon's on this site, and likewise the diary of R. Durler, who taught school at Frederica in 1800. He boarded with the widow of Major Samuel Wright and taught their children "penmanship and conversation." She showed two old maps of Frederica recently unearthed in the state capital in Atlanta, and bound copies of the Brunswick Advocate for the years 1828 and 1830. This map stated that the subscription was $3 if paid in advance and $4 if paid at the end of the year. Mrs. Cate showed a picture of the new town subdivision, the location of the city hall in the middle of Hanover park, and a picture of the old boardwalk, which stood where the Oglethorpe hotel stands. It is believed that the origin of the word "boogie" was discovered at this time. A bottle of a brown whisky bottle in the shape of a log cabin. Blown in the glass was the date 1840 and on the bottom of the bottle was the name of George W. Old Cabin Whisky—120 Walnut street, Philadelphia, Pa. She claimed that this was her great-grandmother's bottle.

Hand-Wrought Door. The hand-wrought iron door with its glass intact from Brunswick's first street lights, which were illuminated with gas and lit each night by a small lamp, was shown. Mrs. Cate's relic. A map of special interest was a copy of one owned by Mrs. Hartridge at Black Banks, which was made in 1801. The copy was made for her by Mrs. Maxfield Parrish and enabled Mrs. Cate to locate the site of the first governor's mansion. A copy of the Daily Citizen of Vicksburg, Miss., dated July 2, 1863, while the town was besieged by the Yankees, because of the shortage of paper, was printed on wall paper—producing the unique effect of flowers on one side and newspaper on the other, completed Mrs. Cate's collection.

Mrs. W. H. Shadman showed a small piece of live-oak from the original stump of the tree which was cut to furnish the stern posts of "Old Ironsides," and an Indian pipe found in the fields at St. Simons. Mrs. D. W. Kraus showed a lamp given her by Miss Nellie McDonald, and it came from Vermont, Nova Scotia. It was for use in a sick room and on the bottle which held the oil were marks indicating by the consumption of the oil that one hour had passed. Mrs. Kraus presented an Austrian luster pitcher over 100 years old and a basket from China which belonged to her mother, the gift of Richard Wayne, her uncle, one of the first missionaries to China and who went from Midway church and remained 16 years, and the passage consumed over 12 months. A pair of brass candleholders from England, a quilt from homespun made in 1800 and hand-colored and several daguerrotypes completed her collection. Mrs. H. M. Branham presented an embroidered bedspread over 140 years old, under which nine brides slept. The collection included silks, lace, and fans and canes. One of her treasures was a watch made in London and presented to Dr. Branham's grandfather, the dial of which spelled his name, Henry Branham. She exhibited a black silk tilt-top carriage parasol and a daguerrotype stolen by soldiers from Bethel plantation during the war and returned to the Tyson family by a naval officer years afterward. A collection of pennies coined in the United States of every issue since 1797, was presented by A. Konetzko, augmented by paper money and stamps, money issued by the state of Georgia, cities and banks out of existence. A genuine spinning wheel, owned and operated by Mrs. T. L. Cain, of Black Banks, was shown. She used the cards to prepare the cotton and spun it into thread on the wheel. She was dressed in a costume of gray silk made in 1860, the wedding gown of Nick Young's mother and wore old-fashioned gold earrings and cameo brooch.

Mrs. Brantley Makes Request. Because of a request from Mrs. A. P. Brantley, of Blackshear, director for Georgia, in general federation, asking for a report of the outstanding community service rendered by individual clubs of the district in the past two years, so that Georgia may compete in a contest being sponsored by the general federation, Club presidents of the fifth district, G. F. W. C., are requested to state what they consider the outstanding community service rendered by each club in the past two years at the time they make the annual report at the fifth district executive board meeting, Tuesday, April 2.

Mrs. Adams Presides Over Chattahoochee Club. The social meeting of the Chattahoochee Woman's Club was held Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. A. West and Mrs. E. P. Adams. The newly elected president presided. "My Georgia Land" was sung as the opening number of the program. In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. J. Roy McGinty, Mrs. A. J. Waters acted as secretary pro tem. Mrs. West and her school committee offered $1 to the room of the Chattahoochee school visited by the largest number of parents during the month.

Mrs. T. H. Moreland will act as librarian for March. Mrs. Jesse M. Sellers read Eugene Field's poem, "Little Boy Blue," with piano accompaniment. Mrs. Frank McGinty gave a piano solo, "Terminal Duet." In the flower contest, Miss Mattie Muselwhite won the prize, a flower bowl.

'Community Service' Is Keynote Of Millen Club Meeting

The keynote of the March meeting of the Millen Woman's Club was "Community Service." In developing the program on "The Fine Art of Living" this topic of community service was the keynote of the club work that even the reports for the past month seemed a part of the program.

The garden committee, Miss Bone, director, reported plans under way for the annual flower show and the prize list published. The ways and means committee, Mrs. H. H. Shepherd, reported having secured $25 from the Fair Association for work done in the woman's department of the Jenkins county fair. This committee is working on the pageant for May Day.

The civic committee, Mrs. Alex Harvey, chairman, reported having conferred with the city council relative to planting all parkways in town. Plans are in the making for these parkways, the forestry board, of which Mr. B. M. Lufburrow is head. This committee is helping with the flower show plans.

Mrs. J. G. Ellison gave the federation news report. Mrs. John Bates and Mrs. J. S. Sims developed the "My Task" theme, an example of how other women have served and how we may serve. The music for the afternoon was in keeping with this theme. Mrs. H. H. Shepherd, Mrs. Parker and Vainwright sang a beautiful quartet, "My Task." Mrs. Mark Perkins solo was "Just for Today."

The play, "The Zander-Gump Wedding," was presented by the club. The others on the committee are Mrs. Mesdames George Goddard and T. J. Hunt; Mrs. Mesdames H. W. Ellis, Ed. Fish, Miss L. J. Mitchell, and chairman, Mesdames John Quinn and J. M. Rogers.

The play, "The Zander-Gump Wedding," was presented by the club. The others on the committee are Mrs. Mesdames George Goddard and T. J. Hunt; Mrs. Mesdames H. W. Ellis, Ed. Fish, Miss L. J. Mitchell, and chairman, Mesdames John Quinn and J. M. Rogers.

The play, "The Zander-Gump Wedding," was presented by the club. The others on the committee are Mrs. Mesdames George Goddard and T. J. Hunt; Mrs. Mesdames H. W. Ellis, Ed. Fish, Miss L. J. Mitchell, and chairman, Mesdames John Quinn and J. M. Rogers.

The play, "The Zander-Gump Wedding," was presented by the club. The others on the committee are Mrs. Mesdames George Goddard and T. J. Hunt; Mrs. Mesdames H. W. Ellis, Ed. Fish, Miss L. J. Mitchell, and chairman, Mesdames John Quinn and J. M. Rogers.

The play, "The Zander-Gump Wedding," was presented by the club. The others on the committee are Mrs. Mesdames George Goddard and T. J. Hunt; Mrs. Mesdames H. W. Ellis, Ed. Fish, Miss L. J. Mitchell, and chairman, Mesdames John Quinn and J. M. Rogers.

The play, "The Zander-Gump Wedding," was presented by the club. The others on the committee are Mrs. Mesdames George Goddard and T. J. Hunt; Mrs. Mesdames H. W. Ellis, Ed. Fish, Miss L. J. Mitchell, and chairman, Mesdames John Quinn and J. M. Rogers.

The play, "The Zander-Gump Wedding," was presented by the club. The others on the committee are Mrs. Mesdames George Goddard and T. J. Hunt; Mrs. Mesdames H. W. Ellis, Ed. Fish, Miss L. J. Mitchell, and chairman, Mesdames John Quinn and J. M. Rogers.

The play, "The Zander-Gump Wedding," was presented by the club. The others on the committee are Mrs. Mesdames George Goddard and T. J. Hunt; Mrs. Mesdames H. W. Ellis, Ed. Fish, Miss L. J. Mitchell, and chairman, Mesdames John Quinn and J. M. Rogers.

The play, "The Zander-Gump Wedding," was presented by the club. The others on the committee are Mrs. Mesdames George Goddard and T. J. Hunt; Mrs. Mesdames H. W. Ellis, Ed. Fish, Miss L. J. Mitchell, and chairman, Mesdames John Quinn and J. M. Rogers.

The play, "The Zander-Gump Wedding," was presented by the club. The others on the committee are Mrs. Mesdames George Goddard and T. J. Hunt; Mrs. Mesdames H. W. Ellis, Ed. Fish, Miss L. J. Mitchell, and chairman, Mesdames John Quinn and J. M. Rogers.

The play, "The Zander-Gump Wedding," was presented by the club. The others on the committee are Mrs. Mesdames George Goddard and T. J. Hunt; Mrs. Mesdames H. W. Ellis, Ed. Fish, Miss L. J. Mitchell, and chairman, Mesdames John Quinn and J. M. Rogers.

The play, "The Zander-Gump Wedding," was presented by the club. The others on the committee are Mrs. Mesdames George Goddard and T. J. Hunt; Mrs. Mesdames H. W. Ellis, Ed. Fish, Miss L. J. Mitchell, and chairman, Mesdames John Quinn and J. M. Rogers.

The play, "The Zander-Gump Wedding," was presented by the club. The others on the committee are Mrs. Mesdames George Goddard and T. J. Hunt; Mrs. Mesdames H. W. Ellis, Ed. Fish, Miss L. J. Mitchell, and chairman, Mesdames John Quinn and J. M. Rogers.

The play, "The Zander-Gump Wedding," was presented by the club. The others on the committee are Mrs. Mesdames George Goddard and T. J. Hunt; Mrs. Mesdames H. W. Ellis, Ed. Fish, Miss L. J. Mitchell, and chairman, Mesdames John Quinn and J. M. Rogers.

The play, "The Zander-Gump Wedding," was presented by the club. The others on the committee are Mrs. Mesdames George Goddard and T. J. Hunt; Mrs. Mesdames H. W. Ellis, Ed. Fish, Miss L. J. Mitchell, and chairman, Mesdames John Quinn and J. M. Rogers.

The play, "The Zander-Gump Wedding," was presented by the club. The others on the committee are Mrs. Mesdames George Goddard and T. J. Hunt; Mrs. Mesdames H. W. Ellis, Ed. Fish, Miss L. J. Mitchell, and chairman, Mesdames John Quinn and J. M. Rogers.

The play, "The Zander-Gump Wedding," was presented by the club. The others on the committee are Mrs. Mesdames George Goddard and T. J. Hunt; Mrs. Mesdames H. W. Ellis, Ed. Fish, Miss L. J. Mitchell, and chairman, Mesdames John Quinn and J. M. Rogers.

The play, "The Zander-Gump Wedding," was presented by the club. The others on the committee are Mrs. Mesdames George Goddard and T. J. Hunt; Mrs. Mesdames H. W. Ellis, Ed. Fish, Miss L. J. Mitchell, and chairman, Mesdames John Quinn and J. M. Rogers.

The play, "The Zander-Gump Wedding," was presented by the club. The others on the committee are Mrs. Mesdames George Goddard and T. J. Hunt; Mrs. Mesdames H. W. Ellis, Ed. Fish, Miss L. J. Mitchell, and chairman, Mesdames John Quinn and J. M. Rogers.

The play, "The Zander-Gump Wedding," was presented by the club. The others on the committee are Mrs. Mesdames George Goddard and T. J. Hunt; Mrs. Mesdames H. W. Ellis, Ed. Fish, Miss L. J. Mitchell, and chairman, Mesdames John Quinn and J. M. Rogers.

The play, "The Zander-Gump Wedding," was presented by the club. The others on the committee are Mrs. Mesdames George Goddard and T. J. Hunt; Mrs. Mesdames H. W. Ellis, Ed. Fish, Miss L. J. Mitchell, and chairman, Mesdames John Quinn and J. M. Rogers.

'Child Labor' Is Subject Of Milner Club

Each month the Tallulah Falls chairman, Mrs. B. C. Brannan, brings a message from our school. She spoke on the beautiful articles made by the children in the handicraft department. The president, Mrs. Alex Boyer, announced the first district executive board meeting in Midville. Mesdames Sparks, Corbett, Thompson, Brinson, Boyer and Miss Hogue are the district chairmen that will attend. Mesdames Mays and Pafford will go as visitors.

The following officers for the year beginning in June were elected: President, Mrs. S. C. Parker; vice president, Mrs. A. H. Sparks; recording secretary, Mrs. W. H. Shepherd; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Merrill Johnson; press reporter, Mrs. W. E. Pafford; parliamentarian, Mrs. Newt Burke, and treasurer, Mrs. Arthur Cates.

Mrs. J. G. Ellison gave the federation news report. Mrs. John Bates and Mrs. J. S. Sims developed the "My Task" theme, an example of how other women have served and how we may serve. The music for the afternoon was in keeping with this theme.

Mrs. J. G. Ellison gave the federation news report. Mrs. John Bates and Mrs. J. S. Sims developed the "My Task" theme, an example of how other women have served and how we may serve. The music for the afternoon was in keeping with this theme.

Mrs. J. G. Ellison gave the federation news report. Mrs. John Bates and Mrs. J. S. Sims developed the "My Task" theme, an example of how other women have served and how we may serve. The music for the afternoon was in keeping with this theme.

Mrs. J. G. Ellison gave the federation news report. Mrs. John Bates and Mrs. J. S. Sims developed the "My Task" theme, an example of how other women have served and how we may serve. The music for the afternoon was in keeping with this theme.

Mrs. J. G. Ellison gave the federation news report. Mrs. John Bates and Mrs. J. S. Sims developed the "My Task" theme, an example of how other women have served and how we may serve. The music for the afternoon was in keeping with this theme.

Mrs. J. G. Ellison gave the federation news report. Mrs. John Bates and Mrs. J. S. Sims developed the "My Task" theme, an example of how other women have served and how we may serve. The music for the afternoon was in keeping with this theme.

Mrs. J. G. Ellison gave the federation news report. Mrs. John Bates and Mrs. J. S. Sims developed the "My Task" theme, an example of how other women have served and how we may serve. The music for the afternoon was in keeping with this theme.

Mrs. J. G. Ellison gave the federation news report. Mrs. John Bates and Mrs. J. S. Sims developed the "My Task" theme, an example of how other women have served and how we may serve. The music for the afternoon was in keeping with this theme.

Mrs. J. G. Ellison gave the federation news report. Mrs. John Bates and Mrs. J. S. Sims developed the "My Task" theme, an example of how other women have served and how we may serve. The music for the afternoon was in keeping with this theme.

Mrs. J. G. Ellison gave the federation news report. Mrs. John Bates and Mrs. J. S. Sims developed the "My Task" theme, an example of how other women have served and how we may serve. The music for the afternoon was in keeping with this theme.

Mrs. J. G. Ellison gave the federation news report. Mrs. John Bates and Mrs. J. S. Sims developed the "My Task" theme, an example of how other women have served and how we may serve. The music for the afternoon was in keeping with this theme.

Mrs. J. G. Ellison gave the federation news report. Mrs. John Bates and Mrs. J. S. Sims developed the "My Task" theme, an example of how other women have served and how we may serve. The music for the afternoon was in keeping with this theme.

Mrs. J. G. Ellison gave the federation news report. Mrs. John Bates and Mrs. J. S. Sims developed the "My Task" theme, an example of how other women have served and how we may serve. The music for the afternoon was in keeping with this theme.

Mrs. J. G. Ellison gave the federation news report. Mrs. John Bates and Mrs. J. S. Sims developed the "My Task" theme, an example of how other women have served and how we may serve. The music for the afternoon was in keeping with this theme.

Mrs. J. G. Ellison gave the federation news report. Mrs. John Bates and Mrs. J. S. Sims developed the "My Task" theme, an example of how other women have served and how we may serve. The music for the afternoon was in keeping with this theme.

Mrs. J. G. Ellison gave the federation news report. Mrs. John Bates and Mrs. J. S. Sims developed the "My Task" theme, an example of how other women have served and how we may serve. The music for the afternoon was in keeping with this theme.

Mrs. J. G. Ellison gave the federation news report. Mrs. John Bates and Mrs. J. S. Sims developed the "My Task" theme, an example of how other women have served and how we may serve. The music for the afternoon was in keeping with this theme.

Mrs. J. G. Ellison gave the federation news report. Mrs. John Bates and Mrs. J. S. Sims developed the "My Task" theme, an example of how other women have served and how we may serve. The music for the afternoon was in keeping with this theme.

Mrs. J. G. Ellison gave the federation news report. Mrs. John Bates and Mrs. J. S. Sims developed the "My Task" theme, an example of how other women have served and how we may serve. The music for the afternoon was in keeping with this theme.

Mrs. J. G. Ellison gave the federation news report. Mrs. John Bates and Mrs. J. S. Sims developed the "My Task" theme, an example of how other women have served and how we may serve. The music for the afternoon was in keeping with this theme.

Lamar County Federation Meets In Barnesville on April 13

Mrs. John Corry, of Barnesville, president of Lamar County Federation, announces that the county federation spring meeting will meet with Barnesville Three Arts Club Saturday, April 13. Mrs. Tom Murphy is president of the Three Arts Club and Mesdames Charlie Graddock and W. B. Smith, Jr., are directors of the Junior and Juvenile Three Arts who will assist. Mrs. R. K. Rambo, of Atlanta, second vice president of the state federation, and R. M. Lufburrow, state forester, have been asked to speak to the federation. Forestry work has been the feature of the club's work this year. The Atlanta-Macon highway has been planted in shrubs and trees, over 2,000 having been put out by the County Federation Clubs in co-operation with the state highway department. A loving cup was donated by J. A. McCarney, of Decatur, to be donated to the county club contributing the most outstanding work in highway beautification, the cup to be awarded at the fall meeting. The local club, Mrs. H. H. Hogue, of Atlanta, has been awarded the national Dixie highway road of remembrance and the county is co-operating with the Road of Remembrance Association, of which Mrs. Orren Massey is president. This national club donated to the County Federation Road of Remembrance Department 100 trees which were planted on the highway. Every one of these trees will be dedicated to a world war veteran. One tree, an American tree, the sentiment tree of America, was planted to the unknown soldier, with a suitable celebration recently. They were asked by the local League of Women Voters, Mrs. L. A. Collier, Martin post of the American Legion.

The clubs in the county federation are: Barnesville, Mrs. L. A. Collier, president; Johnstown, Mrs. S. M. Smith, president; Redbone, Miss J. L. Bush, president; Three Arts, Mrs. Tom Murphy, president; Garden City, Mrs. J. M. Rogers, president; Milner, Mrs. Jack Childers, president; the American Legion Auxiliary, Mrs. Homer Sappington, president. The presidents of these clubs will assist the Three Arts in receiving the guests, and the presidents of the other clubs in town will also receive. Mesdames H. H. Hogue, of Atlanta, Mrs. J. W. Reeves, W. C. T. U., and Mrs. J. C. Collier, D. A. R.

Fourth District Board To Meet The spring executive board meeting of the fourth district Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs will be held at the Warm Springs Baptist Church on April 11, opening at 10 o'clock. Visitors will be most welcome. Charge for luncheon will be 75 cents.

Mrs. Richardson Takes Chairmanship. Mrs. A. H. Brenner announces that Mrs. Alonzo Richardson has accepted the chairmanship of federation pin. The General Federation asked that each state not having a chairman appoint one, many inquiries being made all the time about the pin. Mrs. S. S. Tullifer, Rock Springs, Wyo., is General Federation chairman.

second best, 50 cents; best child's solo (girl), $1; second best, 50 cents; best children's duet, $1; second best, 50 cents; best grade chorus, $5; second best, $2.50.

Instrumental—Best piano solo, $1; second best, 50 cents; best piano duet, $2; second best, $1; best piano quartet, $4; second best, $2; best harmonica solo, 50 cents; second best, 25 cents.

Vocal—Best solo (man), $1; second best, 50 cents; best solo (lady), $1; second best, 50 cents; best vocal quartet, $4; second best, $2; best chorus, $10; second best, $5; best duet, $2; second best, $1.

Instrumental—Best piano solo, $1; second best, 50 cents; best piano duet, $2; second best, $1; best piano quartet, $4; second best, $2; best violin solo, $1; second best, 50 cents; best violin duet, $2; second best, $1; best violin quartet, $4; second best, $2; best violin chorus, $10; second best, $5; best violin duet, $2; second best, $1.

Expression—Time limited to 10 minutes for each reading. Best musical reading, $1; second best, 50 cents; best monology, $2; second best, $1.

Saturday, April 13—List of prizes to be awarded April 13—high school students and adults eligible. Vocal—Best solo (man), $1; second best, 50 cents; best solo (lady), $1; second best, 50 cents; best vocal quartet, $4; second best, $2; best chorus, $10; second best, $5; best duet, $2; second best, $1.

Instrumental—Best piano solo, $1; second best, 50 cents; best piano duet, $2; second best, $1; best piano quartet, $4; second best, $2; best violin solo, $1; second best, 50 cents; best violin duet, $2; second best, $1; best violin quartet, $4; second best, $2; best violin chorus, $10; second best, $5; best violin duet, $2; second best, $1.

Expression—Time limited to 10 minutes for each reading. Best musical reading, $1; second best, 50 cents; best monology, $2; second best, $1.

Ochlocknee Club Plans Beautification. Thomasville, Ga., March 30.—The Woman's Club of Ochlocknee, a little town in the northern section of Thomas county, backed by the citizens of the town, are carrying out plans for beautification inaugurated some months ago, and have been working on the city council to prohibit stock running at large within the corporate limits. City fathers have now enacted an ordinance which will make it necessary to keep all stock in enclosed lots, and the measure has been approved by the mayor, becoming effective Monday, April 1. The women's club includes in its beautification program the planting of flowers.

Summer is almost here, and this shoppe has anticipated your needs in light summer outfits. Come in and see them.

Cinderella CHILDREN'S SHOPPE 116 Peachtree Arcade "Where Moderate Prices Prevail"

FREE BOOKS

Will Be Distributed As A

FREE BOOKS

FREE BOOKS

FREE BOOKS

FREE BOOKS

FREE BOOKS

FREE BOOKS

FREE BOOKS

FREE BOOKS

FREE BOOKS

FREE BOOKS

FREE BOOKS

FREE BOOKS

Beautiful Bride-Elect and Lovely Visitors Grace Easter Season

The Constitution's feature page presents today a beautiful likeness of Miss Callie Jackson Orme, at the left; Miss Martha Morrow, of Washington, D. C., at center, and Mrs. Max Don Howell, of New York, at the right. Miss Orme's engagement, announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aquilla Johns Orme, to William Thomas Healey, is of wide interest to fashionable society, the marriage to be brilliantly solemnized at a June ceremony in the Ponce de Leon Avenue Baptist church. Miss Morrow, who is a student at Holton Arms, in the national capital, is among the lovely college belles spending the spring holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gilham Morrow, at their home on Park lane. Mrs. Howell is receiving a cordial welcome from her friends in the city and is the center of much social attention during her visit to Mrs. Walter Colquitt. She was formerly Miss Betty Boyd, an Atlanta belle and beauty. Photograph of Miss Orme by Rogers & Farmer studio; photos of Miss Morrow and Mrs. Howell by Bascom Biggers.

Miss Callie Orme and William T. Healey Will Wed at Brilliant June Ceremony

Of unusual social importance and marking the Easter tide of 1929 by reason of the prominence of the families, is the announcement made today by Mr. and Mrs. Aquilla Johns Orme, of the engagement of their daughter, Callie Jackson, to William Thomas Healey, the marriage to be brilliantly solemnized in the Ponce de Leon Avenue Baptist church at a fashionable June ceremony. The bride-elect is considered one of Atlanta's most beautiful young women and is a ranking belle in the city's most exclusive social circles. She made her debut in 1925 and was an admired member of the 1924-25 Debutantes Club. While a student at Washington seminary, from where she graduated in 1922, Miss Orme was honored in her senior year by being selected by the student body as May queen. The beautiful bride-elect completed her education at Holton Arms school in Washington, D. C., followed by extensive traveling in Europe.

Miss Orme is a valuable member of the Atlanta Junior League, of which her sister, Mrs. William Huger, is a former president. She is also a member of the Phi Pi Club. Miss Cornelia Orme is the younger sister of the bride-elect and her only brother is Aquilla J. Orme, Jr. On both her maternal and paternal sides, she is descended from Georgia's most aristocratic families. Miss Orme's mother, for whom she is named, was formerly Miss Callie Jackson, daughter of the late Captain and Mrs. Harry R. Jackson. The late General and Mrs. T. R. Cobb were the bride-elect's great-grandparents on her maternal side.

Mr. Healey is a representative of prominent and notable southern families, whose members have been constructive in the development of Georgia and South Carolina. He is the son of Mrs. William T. Healey and the late William Thomas Healey, who was a highly esteemed Atlanta citizen and a leading figure in the up-building of the city, and he was a graduate of Princeton university. His mother was formerly Miss Ada Niles Moore, daughter of Dr. Charles Moore, a prominent physician of Forsyth, Ga., and the late Mrs. Ada Niles Moore.

His paternal grandparents, the late Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Healey, were numbered among Atlanta's leading citizens and played a conspicuous part in the city's early growth and development. The late Mrs. Healey was before her marriage, Miss Olive Markham, sister of William Markham, who served as mayor of this city at one time and recognized as one of Atlanta's outstanding pioneers. The groom-to-be and his only brother, Oliver Healey, are numbered among Atlanta's most popular members of the younger social contingent, the former being a member of the Capital City and Piedmont Driving Clubs, also the Nine O'Clocks, whose membership is composed of a number of Atlanta's most prominent young men.

Mr. Healey was graduated from Andover academy, being a member of the Olympic team and serving as captain of the football and track teams while enrolled there, and will graduate from Princeton in June. During his three years at Princeton, he has been signally honored by members of the student body, being a member of the Ivy Club, the oldest organization of this famous college.

After their wedding, taking place the latter part of June, Mr. Healey and his bride-elect will spend their honeymoon in Europe. Miss Orme and Mr. Healey will be honored today at a mid-day dinner by the former's parents at their home on Peachtree street, covers to be placed for members of the two immediate families. Tuesday evening, Mrs. Healey, the groom-elect's mother, will honor the future bride and groom at a dinner party at her home on Peachtree road, the guests to include members of the two families.

Miss Caroline Selden Is Luncheon Hostess.

Honoring Miss Betty Shaw, of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Miss Helen Payne Peoples, of Washington, D. C., the guest of Misses Helen Hill Smith and Laura Payne Smith, Miss Caroline Selden entertained at a luncheon Saturday at her home on Walker terrace. Red tulips, lilacs, iris and Easter lilies were used in decoration throughout the home. Miss Selden wore a figured French model, featuring the shades of black, red and blue. Miss Peoples wore a smart model of blue wool striped with silver metal cloth. Miss Shaw was gowned in dark green flat crepe.

Assisting in entertaining were Mesdames George Kearsley Selden, Anita Stewart Armstrong, C. C. Case and Alex Smith, Jr.

The guests included Misses Betty Shaw, Barbara Case, Helen Payne Peoples, Helen Hill Smith, Laura Payne Smith, Betty Weyman, Mary Ann Carr, Harriet Grant, May Birney Alston, Caroline Crumley, Caroline Duncan, Flossie Hill, Florence Bryan, Mary Bryan, Betty Scott, Vaughan Nixon, Marion Calhoun, Mary Ivey, Carol Hopkins, Selden and Mrs. Martha Morrow.

Mrs. Foster Honors Miss Louise Nelson.

Honoring Miss Louise Nelson, a popular bride-elect, Mrs. Annie Adair Foster entertained at a luncheon at the Druid Hills Golf Club Saturday. The guests included Miss Nelson, Miss Margaret Nelson, Miss Ida Sadler, Mesdames Henry P. Nelson, Robert Gregg, Arthur Howell, Humphrey Wager, Henry Grady, Jr., Mary Nelson Ream, Perry Adair, Henry Grady, Jr., Hugh Nunnally and Henry Linn.

Easter Dawns Today Amid the Fragrance And Blooming of the Ascension Lilies

With the glory of the spirit which Easter symbolizes, the day has dawned with the fragrance and blooming of the Ascension lilies and the great out-of-doors is abloom with spring life. Easter brings the note of joy into the world and to its people, and from church doors will come happy throngs in every community where there is a church, these worshippers adorning themselves in garments akin to light and color to harmonize with the brightness of Easter tide. Suggestive of the day and the joy rising at flood tide in the hearts of these worshippers, cantatas will be sung in churches, proclaiming in musical passages the thought that "He Is Risen," after three days of darkness following his crucifixion on the cross. The rebirth of spring in all its colorful glory keeps step with the Easter parade, flaunting its gayety and brilliance to be reflected in the happy faces whose hearts are attuned to the spirit of the season. The Prince of Peace breathes a benediction over all the earth and nations everywhere rejoice that He is King.

Miss Bennett Honors Miss Mary Preacher.

Honoring Miss Mary Preacher, Miss Elsie Bennett entertained at a luncheon Saturday at her home on Rumson road. The guests included Misses Cora Hatch, Edna Ruffy, Kitty Park, Mrs. G. Lloyd Preacher, Sr., and Mrs. G. Lloyd Preacher, Jr.

Miss Jane Brownlee Is Honor Guest.

Honoring Miss Jane Brownlee, who has returned for the Easter holidays from Washington, D. C., Mrs. William Brownlee entertained at a luncheon

Miss Smith Honors Friends at Supper.

Saturday at the Piedmont Driving Club. Covers were placed for Misses Brownlee, Frances Boykin, Emily Malone, Dorothy Malone, Katherine Carlton, Bessie Greenway, Mary Hurt, Ruth Hendrix, Inel Little, Frances Marion, Bright Bickerstaff, Mrs. Brownlee, Mrs. A. E. Foster and Mrs. George Rosser.

Miss Emily Inglis Is Luncheon Hostess.

Honoring Miss Betty Howard, of Denver, Col., and Miss Marion Calhoun, Miss Eleanor Smith entertained at a buffet supper Saturday evening at her home on Inman circle. The guests included Misses Howard, Calhoun, Helen Avis Howard, Frances Barnwell, Susan Baker Jones, Jane Morrow, Alma Roberts, Marie McAfee, Frances Clarke, Emily Inglis, Fort Scott Meador, Elizabeth Whitton, Nancy Keeler, Aileen Tolbert, Joyce Smith, Duncan Sheppard, Tom Sanders, Jim Sanders, G. O. Kraft, John Courser, Maurice Davis, Jack Hancock, Dick Smith, Howard Martin, William Fuller, Robert Fringie, Marion Davis, Jim Franklin, O. J. Sala, William Spear, Jay Glenn, Bud Lamont, Bill Fitts, Charlie Andrews, John Mullins and W. R. Massengale.

Miss Emily Inglis Is Luncheon Hostess.

Miss Emily Inglis entertained at a

Trio of College Belles Honored At Tea-Dance by Mrs. Howell

Among the interesting affairs of Saturday, assembling members of the college set, was the tea-dance at which Mrs. Clark Howell entertained at the Brookhaven Country Club, honoring her schoolgirl daughter, Miss Mary Ann Carr, who is spending the spring holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howell, at Pine Hill, and Miss Barbara Case and her guest, Miss Betty Shaw, of Pittsburgh, Pa. Miss Carr is a student at National Park seminary in Washington, D. C., while Miss Case and Miss Shaw attend Rosemary Hall in Greenwich, Conn.

Luncheon at the Brookhaven Country Club Saturday, complimenting Misses Marion Calhoun, Helen Avis Howard and her guest, Miss Betty Howard, of Denver, Col., who are students at Mt. Vernon seminary, Washington, D. C.

The guests included Misses Calhoun, Helen Avis Howard, Betty Howard, Vaughn Nixon, Eleanor Smith, Susan Jones, Scott Meador, Frances Barnwell, Elizabeth Whitton, Edith Kendrick, Jane McMillen, Mary Eleanor Kemp, Margaret King, Lila Coker, Marie McAfee, Judy King, Lili Pace, Nancy Keeler, Elizabeth Hunter and Jane Morrow.

and are the holiday guests of Miss Carr's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Case on Habersham road.

Quantities of early spring garden flowers, including spirea, redbud, flowering peach and jonquils in attractive arrangement adorned the lounge and the banquet hall of the club where the young guests were received. Punch was served throughout the afternoon from flower-banked tables and the favors were attractive Easter novelties. Assisting the hostess in entertaining were Mesdames C. C. Case, Phinley Calhoun, Edward Richardson, Hugh Richardson, James Robinson, R. M. Grant, J. L. Riley, Clarence Haverly, Shepard Bryan, Trammel Scott, Charles Northen, Philip Alston, Green Warren, Elizabeth Emerson, Colquitt Carter, Miss Margaret Bryan and Mrs. Horne.

Miss Carr wore for the occasion a becoming ensemble costume of hinch blue chiffon with a hat to match. Miss Shaw was gowned in lettuce green chiffon with a hat to match and Miss Case was a lovely figure wearing beige georgette, her costume completed by a smart beige hat combining felt and straw. Mrs. Howell received the young guests wearing a costume of beige georgette and a beige straw hat.

LATE SPRING SHOWS INTERESTING NOVELTIES IN PRINTED FABRICS

Prints Still Supreme

There Are Charming New Designs Adapted for Morning, Afternoon and Evening

By Louise Park

Just when one imagines that the last word has been said on the subject of prints, there arrives a whole group of new and fascinating designs which arouse a fresh outburst of enthusiasm on the part of the woman who loves distinctive frocks.

Plain colors, of course, are lovely. But they remain plain colors, and unless one evolves some new and subtle combination of tones they remain more or less the property of the world at large.

But prints are different. Here one may find the very thing that expresses one's individual style or taste, and have a frock or suit which couldn't possibly belong to any one else. There are gay prints and sober ones, bold ones and conventional ones, tiny geometrics and huge splashing designs—there is a print for every hour of the day and evening. One may have half a dozen printed costumes, and have not one suggest another.

This, however, they have in common. The modern print design is distinctly sophisticated. It suggests the work of an artist, and was obviously meant to be worn by a woman of the world.

Gene are the sweet and naive sprigged patterns beloved by our grandmothers—or at least, if they do appear, it is with the naïveté of the modern primitives—a subtle simplicity which is the reverse of artless. No longer does womankind crave to be called sweet—rather must she be known as chic—smart—bien soignée!

However, to return to our prints. There is one general rule which seems to govern them. Small patterns for daytime wear—large designs for evening.

Designers of print own to no limit to their ingenuity. There is nothing in the heavens above, the earth beneath, or the waters under the earth which hasn't furnished subjects for their patterns.

And, of course, with the inspiration of a world in the throes of the modernistic revolt, there is a whole series of prints featuring lines and angles, circles, squares and geometric patterns in bewildering variety.

If your heart yearns for floral effects you will find no end of them for flowers are "better than ever"

as they say in fashion parlance.

But they are flowers with a new feeling. Stylized little blossoms that never grew in any garden, which are as apt as not to reverse the natural color scheme and show green blossoms with leaves of red or blue—but flowers which have an undeniable charm of their own.

In fact one of the most interesting features of the new prints is their use of color. The tri-color motif, far from being on the wane, appears to be stronger than ever, and lends itself to innumerable combinations in the new prints.

In many instances beige is used as the third color, instead of white, with two strong contrasting colors, as it is in harmony with the suntan shades which prevail in gloves, shoes, hosiery and bags.

Chartreuse green, much commented upon as a leading color in the early spring fashion stories, finds its happiest medium in combining with other colors in the new prints, as it is exceptional good with gray, navy, black, beige or brown.

The black and white and navy and white prints show a tendency to introduce a note of high color. Lacquer red, royal blue or chartreuse green, a color which is repeated in the accessories with telling effect.

Brown, beige and brilliant orange is another lovely combination which carries out the story of autumn colorings for spring wear.

But just a word of warning!

While prints predominate, and every wardrobe should contain at least one print frock this season, remember that it is far easier to go astray in the selection of prints than in plain colors. There are designs which emphasize all one's bad points—and designs which camouflage them wonderfully. Only a few women can wear the all-print costume successfully—but many look well in the plain coat over a print frock.

For the woman who is not as slender as she wishes, the charming new checks and blended plaids and geometrics, or the tiny all-over floral patterns on dark grounds will prove more successful than striking patterns of more modernistic feeling.

Ensemble of Debonair, a new sports weave silk, in white with Roman stripes. A street dress of bordered print in bright colors on navy ground. A jacket suit of gingham checked crepe marocain.

Silks in the New Effects

Daytime Silks Have a Tendency To Usurp the Place of Woolens in Variety of Weave Design

Things are topsy turvy in the fabric world. As woolens grow lighter and more supple, silks have a tendency to take on an added weight and importance and much diversity of weave.

There is now a feeling that crepe de Chine is just a bit too dressy for the street and spectator sports mode, and more interest is displayed in the heavier rough weave silks, and the marocains.

Yarn Dyed Silk.

The first ensemble sketched in the group shows a very new fabric, a yarn-dyed silk known as debonair in a cream white basket weave, with a diagonal effect, almost as heavy as a lightweight cloth—a material which tailors beautifully and still hangs in the soft graceful lines peculiar to silk.

It is a bordered fabric—borders have returned to favor by the way—and the Roman stripes in soft shades of blue, rose and yellow are effectively disposed on the bodice of the belted frock.

Straight Lines.

Although many novelties in line have been introduced this season the straight line coat continues to be the favorite among the majority of women because of its universal becomingness. This suit shows a full length coat, with decorative pocket buttoned to match the sleeve trimming.

A New Hat.

Worn with this suit is one of the smartest of the new medium brimmed hats for spectator sports wear. It is a model from Thenault, known as Pre Catalan, and is of natural ballbunt, with grosgrain trimming in red and navy.

The red ribbon is fringed to form tiny tufts which show beneath the band of navy. Navy kid pumps, and an envelope bag of navy calf with a red stripe complete a smart and youthful early summer costume.

A Bordered Print.

Very lovely is the bordered print in all-over floral pattern which makes the wearable frock in the center.

The design, which shows tiny blossoms in red, orange and maroon on a navy background, is copied from a peasant print, and adapts itself perfectly to informal daytime wear, either alone, or as part of an ensemble.

The deep collar, with its fine pleated of drill, is very much of the moment, as are the pleated cuffs, the swathed girdle, and the graceful flaring skirt with circular details.

Black or Colorful Accessories. The printed frock allows much latitude in the choice of its accessories. For early spring wear, the printed dress may be combined with a black cloth coat, and worn with black hat and shoes.

The warm colors in this print harmonize with the shoe of deep mahogany kidskin now so much in vogue, and one may have hat and bag to match. Navy is equally good, with touches of bright enamel in the bag clasp, or in the hat ornament, to match the shades in the print.

Checks Are Good. Following their threatened invasion of the fashion world in early spring checks are better than ever. And the humble gingham gives the inspiration for many of the smartest checked silks.

This type of gingham checks makes a cardigan suit which is outstanding among the many cardigans with which the shops are filled. It is so fresh, so crisp and youthful, that it will surely tempt the woman who loves the original and distinctive in clothes.

Blue and White. The fabric is a heavy crepe printed in navy and white gingham check and it is worn over a scalloped blouse of white flat crepe. The scarf, without which no costume is complete this season, is of the checked silk lined with white to match the blouse, scalloped on the edge, and the three-quarter flaring sleeves, showing the cuffs of the blouse beneath, are very new.

A Touch of Scarlet. The hat of navy felt has a narrow leather band in vivid red, and the shoes are of navy kidskin.

It is more and more the custom of the woman who observes the nuances of fashion to introduce a third color in assembling her ensemble, for if two colors are good, three are better, and the tri-color theme introduced by Chanel shows no inclination to lose its popularity.

Tri-Color Designs. The three colors appear in many of the plaid, checked and geometric patterns which are being woven for street and sportswear.

Accessories in the Mood of Spring

The New Hats, Shoes, Bags and Jewelry Offer Much That Is Tempting

Scarfs and Jackets. This is where the cocktail jacket—that most useful and popular of garments—comes to the rescue. It has been found so practical that the only wonder is that we struggled along without it for so many years.

Fashions evolve, however, and this little wrap shows dozens of new and delightful variations this season. In many instances it is now made of the same fabric as the dress, and is an integral part of it.

It may be a deep fringed scarf covering the arms to the elbow, and wrapped gracefully about the figure—to be discarded when one dances. To many women the straight line of the original cocktail jacket is a little trying, and for them the detachable scarf, which may be adjusted to suit the individual figure, is a welcome solution of the problem of the dinner frock.

Prints Are Good.

Of course, early in the spring lovely printed chiffons made their appearance for between-season evening dresses, and there is every indication that they will be better than ever this summer.

Paris, however, never content with what is, shows several new twists and turns in the handling of printed fabrics.

Printed chiffons, for instance, such as the one illustrated on this page, are now being mounted over crisp taffeta, instead of silky chiffon or satin.

Distinctive Lines.

The lines of the new silhouette, both for day time and evening, are clearly defined, and many of them derive from that most feminine period, the early 80's.

A fabric with some body, and a crispness of feeling, is required to carry out this type of frock, and the new chiffons over taffeta are meeting with a great success.

The model sketched was of a rust pink shade, with large orchid flowers, and was posed over a slip of flesh pink taffeta.

Pale Foundations.

The tendency of the French designers seems to be to mount the printed chiffons over ivory, pale beige or flesh tints rather than over the dark colors which have prevailed in other years.

This method brings the pattern into relief, especially if the background of the print be black, or a dark shade, and gives a certain delicacy and lightness suited to the midsummer months.

Umbrellas Endanger Belgians in Traffic

Most of the time it is raining, or at any rate misting, in Brussels, and the lives of Belgians are imperiled by the necessity of constantly carrying umbrellas, the Living Age records. At least, so many accidents, fatal and otherwise, have resulted from pedestrians' failure to look up from under the umbrella when crossing the street, that the subject has come in for editorial comment in the newspapers.

The variety which prevails in women's fashions today is reflected in accessories, which were never so numerous nor so good looking.

The cult of the importance of the ensemble has taught women the trick of varying the costume by sets of harmonizing hats, bags and shoes—a trick that is at once smart and practical, as it gives an apparent variety to what is in reality a limited wardrobe.

The New Hats.

Of course, the first sign of spring is the new hat, but with the many smart creations which have been arriving from Paris in the last month it is a very strong-minded woman, indeed, who is going to be satisfied with one or two.

Alas, however, it is evident that some of the designers, even the best, are mistaking novelty for chic this season, for in the relief of making something beside the omnipresent cloche they have burst forth in a positive riot of tucks, pleats, bows and lines which are eccentric rather than beautiful.

Individual styles.

In these new collections, however, are many models superlatively smart, and the woman who is clever enough to recognize her type may rest assured that she need no longer look like everyone else—for individuality is the keynote of the season.

Felts and straws are running neck-and-neck in the race for popularity, after felts have had it all their own way, to these many years.

The fine fabric-like straws, baki, ballbunt, Parisienne and Sisol are the most important because they lend themselves to the tucks and pleats and closely moulded crowns which still persist.

Black, navy and the natural colors are important, but there are many hats in the high shades as well, for colorful accessories are now the rule.

A Hat from Molyneux.

Sketched on this page is a hat typical of the new feeling, a Molyneux model of navy ballbunt, the irregular brim caught up over one eye, and wide belting ribbon used as trimming.

Such a hat, reflects the present formality of the street mode, and is excellent with the suit of flat crepe, or the printed frock and plain topcoat.

Reptile Is Popular.

The shoe and bag sketched in the same group show the continued and in fact, increasing popularity of reptile in modern accessories.

The square envelope bag sketched, with diagonal closing, is of navy calf and natural watersnake, with a gold clasp.

For wear with it is suggested a new version of the strapped street shoe, of graceful cut, but practical and comfortable, which combines navy kid with insets of natural water-snake.

All that Glitters.

All that glitters is extremely good for evening this season, and the new jewelry is nothing short of dazzling.

Pins, bracelets, necklaces and earrings are positively regal in their magnificence—and fortunately, imitation stones are still in good standing among the best-dressed women.

Square cut crystals in color are used with links of brilliants in many effective sets of bracelet, necklace and earrings, the favorite stones at the moment being simulated emeralds and sapphires.

Rubies are also used to great effect with the classic type of evening frock in off-white satin or flat crepe—the sort of dress which is being done superlatively by Augustabernard.

A New Pin.

Many of the draped evening frocks have as their only ornament a sparkling pin such as the one sketched, which is done in rhinestones and square cut crystals, terminating in large cabochon emeralds.

The necklace is of square cut and round emeralds with filigree links

Evening Sandals.

Crepe de Chine is of outstanding importance for evening wear, but the formal slipper pays tribute to the glittering mode by adopting touches of gold or silver kidskin and a tiny buckle of rhinestones or colored stones.

There are also many new versions of the gold and silver slipper, one of the prettiest of which is sketched in the group of evening accessories.

This slipper is made of cut-out sections of silver kid, cunningly applied on a background of crepe de Chine, making a model of real distinction, and one which may be worn with many different frocks.

Plane Travel Best, Sassoon Is Certain

"On more than one occasion" in his flight from England to India and back, writes Sir Philip Sassoon, British undersecretary for air, "I congratulated myself heartily that I was speeding at my ease high above the water, instead of tossing miserably upon it. On at least one occasion, while sitting behind the over-enthusiastic driver of a highly powered motor car I wished myself safely back in the security of my flying-boat."

A pin of rhinestones, crystals and emeralds for the formal frock. Emerald necklace. Slipper with encrustations of silver kidskin.

Molyneux hat of navy straw and belting ribbon. Envelope bag of calf and reptile. Shoe of kid and watersnake.

Matching Hosiery To Complexion

There's something new under the sun!

And something which is going to prove a boon to the woman who has puzzled her brains over the problem of the correct shade of hosiery.

For it is now conceded that complexions and hosiery must match exactly.

Take Off Your Glove.

The clever saleswoman who is showing hosiery now suggests that Madam slip off her glove. By the tint of her wrist the shade of her hosiery is determined. But wait a moment. It's not as simple as it sounds. There is a whole range of shades for the fair-skinned, the medium blonde, and the brunette, according to the occasion when the stocking is to be worn, and the degree of sunburn which the lady has acquired.

Stockings and Cosmetics.

The manufacturer of face powder and the hosiery makers now work hand-in-hand, with the result that one may achieve marvels of exactness in tint.

Women who don't wish to expose themselves to the piercing rays of the sun, now manage a sunburned effect by the use of subtly blended powders. One may simulate every degree of sunburn with perfect exactitude, and then find the perfect matching shade in hosiery—with results truly chic.

The Darker Tones.

There seems no present limit in sight to the enthusiasm for sunburn, and even the woman who has carefully shielded her complexion all her life is no longer content without a rich, warm bronze coloring.

Stocking shades follow the trend faithfully, and are showing the darker beiges for street and sports wear especially. These are most effective with the classic brown and white shoes and white or light colored sports frocks, for late spring and summer.

Consider the Blonde.

The very fair-skinned woman is in a quandary, because the mere possession of lovely pink-and-white coloring is no longer sufficient for chic. She must add emphasis to her type—a touch of the exotic rather than the merely pretty—which has scant rating in the smart world today. She must either expose her face to the sun's rays or make it up with an additional warmth of tone which she is careful to copy exactly in her hosiery and gloves.

For evening she wears the natural skin-colored stocking, with the faintest pink cast, in a weave as filmy as a cobweb.

Explorer in Turkestan Has Choice of Worst

Exploration in the deserts of Turkestan is impossible in summer because of the heat and sand storms. Therefore, says the Living Age in an account of the work in Central Asia which has made Sir Aurel Stein notable, he must go in winter. And in winter, that region has temperatures of from zero to 10 degrees below at night, rising possible to freezing in daytime. Sometimes Sir Aurel's party is unable to find wood for a fire, the magazine adds.

Evening gown of flowered chiffon over pale pink taffeta.

Sidelights on the Evening Mode

That the social season of the late spring and early summer will be a gay one is indicated by the interest which designers are showing in new and unusual evening costumes.

Time was when the evening mode was not of great importance for summer. A simple little dinner dress or two, with perhaps one formal dance frock held over from the preceding season, was supposed to be enough for the well-dressed woman.

New Ideas.

This season there is so much that is novel and striking, however, that the woman who loves clothes will be sorely tempted to add several new dining and dancing frocks to her summer wardrobe.

There is a real distinction between these two, even for summer, for it is no longer considered correct to appear

Daughters of the American Revolution

State regent, Mrs. Herbert Fay Gaffney, 2 Dimon Court apartments, Columbus; first vice regent, Mrs. John D. Pope, Albany; second vice regent, Mrs. Bun Wylie, Atlanta; state recording secretary, Mrs. Mel Knos, Social Circle; state corresponding secretary, Mrs. T. D. Power, Columbus; state treasurer, Mrs. B. C. Ward, 102 Peachtree street, Atlanta; state auditor, Mrs. C. H. Leary, Brunswick; state historian, Mrs. C. H. Leary, Brunswick; state editor, Mrs. John W. Daniel, 102 East Henry street, Savannah; assistant state editor, Mrs. Alva Weaver, Jr., Thomas; state chaplain, Mrs. Fannie Mae Dabney, Atlanta.

'Meadow Garden' Is Described An Interesting Article

"Meadow Garden"

Historic Meadow Garden, the home of George Walton, signer of the Declaration of Independence, is described in the following interesting article by Miss Ruth Dye Brigham:

How can one describe adequately, with mere words, the beauty and loveliness of historical Meadow Garden, the exquisite and unique home of George Walton, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence? This home is the most interesting spot in Augusta, having been built in 1780, about a mile and a half from the town proper, which was built around and below Fort Augusta. Family tradition says that when George Washington visited Augusta in 1792 he was entertained in Meadow Gardens, and after George Walton died, Lafayette, on his visit to Augusta in 1825, paid a visit of respect to Mrs. Walton. Meadow Garden is the property of the National Society, D. A. R., and the idea of purchasing and restoring the old place was conceived by Mrs. J. W. Walters, who made many trips to the congresses at Washington, and enlisted the aid of many prominent Daughters of the American Revolution in other states. At last, the battle was won, and the purchase price paid. The Augusta chapter spent over $2,000 in restoration of the place. A new roof was put on, and the walls were replastered, but nothing was altered. The place was restored, not remodeled.

And today, this famous old place stands a monument to one of Augusta's most beloved women, Mrs. Harriet Gould Jeffries, and to the Daughters of the American Revolution, who aided her in the work of restoration, and in the preservation of this old, priceless and so beautifully cared for by the faithful hands of Mrs. Lucy Colvin, who, with her husband, lives in a little house in the garden. The old-fashioned house is a perfect setting for this quiet, little lady, who goes about her duties so conscientiously, with her unassuming manner, realizing just how precious is every object in the house. In the long hall that runs the length of the house, there is an antique hatrack, on which rests a British officer's fusil used in the Revolutionary war. An old cannon, too, which was used by the American forces in the battle of Ninety Six, South Carolina, and in the defense of Augusta, Ga., is placed here.

Priest Relics.

The library contains many things of interest, but the thing that first catches the eye is the picture of our beloved General George Washington, wearing his "Cincinnatus" insignia. There are also some views of his headquarters at Newburg, N. Y. There are copies of many old newspapers, including the Boston Gazette of 1773, the Ulster County Gazette, New York, One particularly interesting book contains the brilliant Madam Le Vert's journal, beginning at Havana Island of Cuba, January 28, 1855, and ending in Spain on the 10th of March, 1855. Another very interesting journal of this famous lady's began in June, 1853, and ended in July of the same year, in which she wrote charmingly of London, Paris and Versailles.

What a delightful place! A refuge from the raucous clamor, the hurly-burly, the agitation of modern life!

D. A. R. Chapter Reports Feature Accounts of State Conference

The following D. A. R. chapter reports feature interesting accounts of the state conference given by delegates who attended.

Thronatees Chapter D. A. R. met at the clubhouse Thursday afternoon, 55 being present. The reports were of vital interest. Mrs. Riley, chairman of scholarship committee, read the agreement entered into by the Freeman Business college and the two young women awarded the scholarship loans, marking the beginning of two revolving loan scholarships. A letter was read from Professor J. E. Brooks, superintendent of city schools, thanking the chapter for a typewriter for the School of Opportunity. The report of the state conference by the Atlanta Georgian, offering a trip around the world.

The regent read a resume of the year's work, which formed the basis of her report at the state convention in Brunswick. Mrs. J. W. Walters read a list of the various historic spots in Georgia which entered into the contest of "most historic spot." The majority favored Tondoe's Tavern, but the regent was requested to use her judgment in voting at the convention. Four names were presented for membership.

Mrs. John A. Blessed gave a violin interpretation from Cavalleria Rusticana, accompanied on the piano by Miss Edith Poole. Mrs. A. P. Coles, an honor guest from Atlanta, read an interesting sketch of "The Four White Houses." Miss Edith Poole gave a piano solo. The regent announced the hostesses, Mrs. Tillie Lagerquist, chairman; Mrs. J. W. Walters, Miss Willie Walters, Mrs. Philo Cheney, Mrs. F. B. Taylor, Mrs. J. W. Gillespie, Mrs. O. L. Davis and Mrs. J. W. Bush.

In the opposite room a most interesting collection of antiques was arranged by Mrs. J. B. Lanier and Mrs. Camden Fields, co-chairmen of the committee in charge. Special mention was made of the handsome tea services, one the inheritance of this chapter's first vice president, late Mrs. A. W. Muse, and presented over by her daughter, Mrs. R. E. Champion; the other an heirloom of the late Mrs. J. R. Whitehead, an honored regent, presented over by her daughter, Miss Cena Whitehead, and Mrs. F. B. Taylor. There were rare old documents signed by presidents and revolutionary patriots, interesting miniatures and daguerotypes, rare old china and silver, gorgeous brocades and embroideries, a pair of antique and an old hand-woven bedspread, and interesting heirlooms in a great variety.

Sylvester Chapter.

The Barnard Trail Chapter D. A. R. met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. S. O'Sheal. The regent, Mrs. J. R. Jeffords, presented to the state conference in Brunswick, the prizes won at this conference. Mrs. Jeffords presented these prizes in behalf of the chapter. The Barnard Trail chapter tied with Valdosta chapter for a loving cup, which was given for sending to the state chairman the largest number of old Bible records. This cup will be kept by the Valdosta chapter the first six months of the year and by the Barnard Trail chapter the last six months. The other prizes were $10 in gold, given to the chapter meeting the highest roll requirement; first, and a beautiful silver loving cup given to the chapter securing the greatest number of subscriptions to the D. A. R. magazine. The magazine now goes into every home represented in the Barnard Trail chapter.

Hon. Charles S. Osborn was a distinguished guest at a meeting and spoke on "National Defense." The chapter was honored to have two of Mr. Osborn's friends from Connecticut, Mr. and Mrs. Webb Waldron, as guests. Mrs. Waldron told something of her travels. During an informal discussion of World country history Mr. Osborn offered to donate $100 for the publication of this history. He also gave a donation to the fund for marking the Thigpen trail. Mrs. O'Sheal, Mrs. J. M. Bullard and Miss Mary Mangham were joint hostesses and served tea.

Augusta Chapter.

Augusta Chapter, D. A. R. met Thursday afternoon, March 21, at historic Meadow Garden with a good attendance and the regent presiding. Mrs. Martin Jones, of Brooklyn, N. Y., gave a group of songs. A change in the constitution was made, notice having been given a month in advance. In Article 1, Section 1, the word three was substituted for the word four, making the section to read: The annual dues shall be three dollars payable not later than November. The initiation fee shall be five dollars payable in advance. Mrs. J. Bryan Hill, formerly of Bristol, Va., a new member, was welcomed for the first time and Mrs. S. H. Sullivan, formerly of Abbeville, S. C., was received by transfer into the chapter. Mrs. Susan Wileless was voted a new member, her name having been indorsed a month ago.

The regent, Mrs. M. M. MacFerrer, gave a report of the work of the state conference recently held in Brunswick. Mrs. A. H. Brenner, Mrs. J. Foxhall Sturman and Mrs. Gardner also gave reports. The chap-

Mrs. Wyley's Name Is Omitted.

It is regretted that the name of Mrs. Bun Wyley, state second vice regent, as the presiding officer during the March 14th of the D. A. R. conference, was inadvertently omitted. The afternoon session was opened with Mrs. H. Fay Gaffney, state regent, in the chair, after which Mrs. Bun Wyley, state second vice regent, took the chair and presided, introducing Mrs. Defender, who, in the absence of Mrs. John A. Perdue, chairman, conducted the memorial service.

This old home, with its air of dignity and almost poignant simplicity, has a restful charm, achieved only by preserving dreams of the past, and making of them realities of the present. Meadow Garden has preserved, and still preserves, through materialistic media, and memory, the atmosphere of its day. It has defied the encroachment of time's mutation and remains in the midst of, and despite, a surrounding industrialism. "The Mount Vernon of Georgia."

Previously voted to mark "Old Town Augusta," a star to be used as a marker, and was to be placed at Fifth and Broad streets. It was voted to buy the lineage books of the D. A. R., which books contain a roster of over 200,000 women of certified descent from revolutionary heroes. The chapter voted forty-six of the one hundred and six already published. The plan is to purchase the remaining sixty books and then each year purchase all that are issued. This will make it much easier for those wishing to perfect their lines of lineage for the D. A. R. in Augusta.

The regent urged every member of the chapter who could possibly go to the national congress in April in Washington to go and work for Mrs. Talmadge. Mrs. Sanford Gardner reported that much necessary work and improvements must be done at once on the buildings at Meadow Garden and it was decided to ask the city to help in the sewer connections as there is not enough money in the treasury to this important repair work and install the plumbing work.

The regent tendered her resignation to take effect at the end of the fiscal year in May, due to the responsibility which were far too burdensome when added to other activities which had a prior claim upon her. She asked the chapter for her continued interest. A called meeting of the chapter will be held Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock at the home of the regent, 1100 Greene street, March 27, and the executive committee and alternates to Washington in April are requested to be present with any other member who could go to Washington. The delegates to the national congress is Mrs. S. A. Fortson, and the regent's appointee is Mrs. Sanford Gardner. The following are the alternates: Mrs. J. W. Walters, Mrs. Charles R. Clark, Mrs. Le Roy Hankinson, Mrs. Robert Walton, Mrs. W. Terrill Wiggins, Mrs. L. V. Stone, Mrs. Edwin Clark, Mrs. Percy Burum and Mrs. W. A. Rigby. Mrs. Charles R. Clark and Miss Isabelle S. Clark acted as hostesses for the afternoon.

Gainesville Chapter.

Observing Washington's birthday and Georgia Day in the program the Gainesville chapter, D. A. R., held the February meeting with Mrs. Ernest Palmour as hostess. Mrs. C. A. Rudolph, regent, presiding. Miss Helen H. Crawford, a description of "Wakfield," the birthplace of Washington, and in presenting "Sulgrave Manor," Mrs. D. W. Anderson quoted Washington Irving. The books, those staunch adherents to old family abodes still hovered and caved about their hereditary nests—bringing close to us the things that have a human existence today as when its walls were to Washington's ancestors. A short sketch of the history of observance of George Washington's birthday by Mrs. S. S. Hardy. The chairman of Constitution Hall chair committee reported that a play would be given in Washington to take up the last payment of the chapter's debt.

Mrs. John Hulsey, chairman of historic spots, suggested that the road going to the town, marking as it did the division between the Cherokee Indian nation and the white man's territory, be submitted to the state historical society. The chairman of medals and prizes reported the examination for the medal for revolutionary period would be held the following day at the high school. Of much interest was the information that Mrs. J. H. Hulsey that the two pioneer women of this section to be represented in the Brenan college historical program were Mrs. P. Paschal and Mrs. Cynthia Thompson, the former a natural physician who at the age of 72 performed an operation and saved a life; the latter bravely assisting her husband in operating a trading post while the country was part of the Cherokee nation.

McIntosh Chapter.

The March meeting of Lachlan McIntosh Chapter, D. A. R., was held at the home of Mrs. W. B. McKinstry in East 41st street, Savannah. The regent, Mrs. J. E. D. Bacon, presiding. Mrs. David F. Fure, the delegate to the state conference held in Brunswick, Ga., gave a very full and enthusiastic account of the proceedings of the conference. Mrs. R. J. Davant and Miss Margaret Cosens, of this city, the only two chapter members now on the roster, were voted honorary members of the chapter. Miss Rachel Snyder was unanimously elected a member of the chapter, having been transferred from a chapter in Shepherdstown, W. Va.

The chapter went on record as strongly protesting the opening of traffic of the squares in this city and an article opposing this action on the part of the city will be prepared and published in the newspapers. After the business session the following historical program was enjoyed: "Abigail Adams," (wife of John Adams), by Mrs. Julian H. Tison; "John Adams," (second president of the United States), by Mrs. David T. Fure; "John Quincy Adams," (sixth president of the United States), by Mrs. E. W. Tison.

The John Ball Chapter met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. W. Hanks, of Grady. The material for the flag contest was on hand and was distributed to the members of the committee by Mrs. J. W. Hanks. The committee on the history of Wilkinson county reported that work was progressing rapidly. Mrs. J. W. Hanks, of Grady, represented the chapter at the state conference which was held in Brunswick, as an alternate for the regent, Mrs. A. G. Kitchens. The chapter voted to send $1 to the Georgia bell which is to be placed at Valley Forge.

Mrs. A. G. Todd, chairman, read the program arranged for the coming year, much interest being manifested by the chapter in the new program. A committee was appointed to assist Mr. Sanchar in beautifying the courthouse grounds; plans for immediate planting of several trees and shrubs were made by the committee. Following the business meeting, the program was presented, including: Reports, "Famous Foreigners," sketch, "Pulaski," by Mrs. J. H. Dugan; sketch, "Rochambeau," by Mrs. Gertrude Carwell; sketch, "D'Eslating," by Mrs. J. P. Foster, Jr.; "Burial of Cotteau," by Mrs. C. G. Chapman.

Savannah Chapter.

The Savannah Chapter, D. A. R., met Tuesday afternoon, March 19, at the Confederate Memorial hall. The chapter went on record as unanimously opposing the opening of the squares in the city to traffic. The registrar reported that there was an unmarked grave of a real daughter of the Revolution in Effingham county, who has several descendants in the Savannah chapter; the chapter voted to mark this grave in the near future, with a suitable marker.

Resolutions made by several members of the chapter of a meeting at the city hall when the play was presented by the Poles to erect a mound in Savannah to Commemorate Pulaski, next October. It was voted to appeal to the postmaster general and congress for the issue of a special stamp in celebration of this event, which stamp will be sold only in Savannah and sponsored by the Savannah chapter. Mrs. A. L. Patterson, chairman, brought in resolutions on the death of two of the members who passed away during the past year, Mrs. W. W. Osborne and Mrs. George R. White.

A special communication was read by the recording secretary, Mrs. Edgar Oliver, from Mrs. Julius Y. Talmadge, refuting the propaganda that several descendants in the Savannah chapter; the chapter voted to mark this grave in the near future, with a suitable marker.

A special communication was read by the recording secretary, Mrs. Edgar Oliver, from Mrs. Julius Y. Talmadge, refuting the propaganda that several descendants in the Savannah chapter; the chapter voted to mark this grave in the near future, with a suitable marker.

They were Misses Florine Moore, Junia Morgan, Lavonia Scott and Virginia Dunn.

A most charming guest of the chapter was Dr. Junia H. Floyd, a native of Georgia, and a native of Kentucky, but came to Georgia from Indiana. She is a Ph. D. graduate from the University of Chicago, and a Ph. D. graduate from Columbia university; she has had graduate work in Europe and is also an author. She speaks French and Spanish fluently and is a lineal descendant of Nancy Hart, Georgia's own war woman.

Dr. Floyd had never heard that a distinguished Georgia historian had declared that Nancy Hart was a myth and of the violent discussion which the statement produced.

Dr. Floyd has known all of the marvelous stories of Nancy. Through Dr. Floyd, this patron saint of the Nancy Hart chapter comes vivified; the members of the chapter are proud to acclaim her who gave a name to one of Georgia's counties, to a stream of water near her home, to a highway in the state and now, perhaps, to a government marked on this highway.

Crawford Chapter.

The Elijah Clarke chapter, D. A. R., unveiled a marker erected in honor of William Harris Crawford, a distinguished Georgian, and presenting it to the city of Crawford Sunday, March 3. The exercises preceding the unveiling were held in the Crawford Methodist church with Mrs. E. G. Wheeler, president of the Crawford Woman's Club, presiding. Mrs. Frances Long Taylor, of Athens, introduced the speaker of the occasion, Dr. J. H. T. McPherson, of the University of Georgia. Dr. McPherson, in a very personal way, brought out all that is due to the life of William Harris Crawford, that stood for patriotism, a statesmanship, as well as giving glimpses into the intimacies of his home life. At the close of Dr. McPherson's talk, Crawford Crane, a representative scout of young America, held the United States flag at attention, while the congregation rose and sang "America."

The following is the speech made by Miss Crawford, which is of unusual interest, as she is not only a descendant of the one to whom the marker was erected, but also a most enthusiastic member of the chapter that gave it.

"Standing on ground made sacred to me by the memory of my distinguished ancestor, it is not only with pleasure, but with reverence that I accept the honor of unveiling this marker. Modestly forbids that I dwell on the accomplishments of my great-grandfather—history records his life's work, and bears witness of what he has been to the south and to the nation. In this unveiling, let us hope that this marker will serve, not alone to perpetuate the memory of William Harris Crawford, but that it will bear a silent testimony to the youth of the future, and cause them to emulate him and the principles for which he lived and died—thus enabling them to live finer and better lives. So, the Elijah Clarke chapter of the D. A. R., takes great pleasure in tendering this sacred spot, through the mayor of Crawford, Mr. Blanchard, to the little city of Crawford, knowing and believing that she will care for and cherish it in loving remembrance."

Covington Chapter.

Sergeant Newton chapter, D. A. R., met at the home of Miss Sallie Mae Sockwell, presiding. Mrs. R. E. Everitt and Mrs. H. M. Mobley entertaining with Miss Sockwell. Mrs. R. A. Norris, regent, presiding. Chairman of historical program of the chapter observe the birthday of Thomas Jefferson. Chairman of patriotic education reported one book bought for the school library. Chairman of World War memorial will plant shrubbery around memorial fountain, plans being under way to unveil same. Mrs. Fitzhugh Lee and Mrs. R. W. Campbell were invited to membership.

The prize given by the chapter each year to the pupil in Covington public school making the highest average in American history was presented at this meeting. Mrs. R. E. Everitt in behalf of the chapter presented the award to Miss Martha Shaw, of the senior class. At the close of the business session the meeting was turned over to the entertainment committee who presented a program on "Women of the Revolution." Mrs. R. E. Everitt gave a very interesting sketch of Abigail Adams. Mrs. R. M. Sockwell told of the heroism of Molly Stark. Mrs. George T. Smith sang two Irish selections, "A Little Bit of Heaven" and "My Wild Irish Rose." The program ended at the piano by Mrs. Lee.

Mason Bros. --- 6 and 8 West Mitchell

DOLLAR DOWN SALE

$1.00 Down Delivers Any Article In the Store

Extra Special for Monday

Fiber Rocker

Regular $12.50 Value—Special at $8.95

Here is a really wonderful Fiber Rocker, exactly as pictured, has loose spring cushion with beautiful crocheted covering, sturdily constructed and finished in your choice of colors, special for Monday at $8.95.

$1.00 Down Delivers One to Your Home

10-Piece Living Room Suite

$1.00 Cash Delivers Any Article in the Store

The number of the 10 pieces to sell at this phenomenally low price is limited, necessitating early choosing to avoid disappointment. Plan to be here early Monday for yours. The suite is upholstered in beautiful Jacquard Velour, with reverse cushions and high-grade spring construction. . . 3-piece suite and 7 other attractive useful pieces for your living room free—all for . . .

$96.50

FREE Foot Stool, End Table, Pillow, two Book Ends, Table Runner and one Console Mirror.

Automatic Refrigerators

Food Odors Will Not Mix

You can place onions, fish, butter and milk in an Automatic Refrigerator, without fear of the odors mixing. Come in tomorrow for demonstration.

$1.00 Cash Balance Easy Terms $5.00 Allowed for Your Old Refrigerator

Dry Air Circulation Cool Water at all Times

You can strike a match anywhere on the inside of an automatic. Perfect air circulation makes this possible.

Mattresses

The porcelain Water Cooler insures cool water at all times. It is healthier and saves chipping off your ice.

MASON BROS.
ATLANTA'S GREATEST FURNITURE HOUSE

6 AND 8 WEST MITCHELL ST.

New Numbers: 168-170 Mitchell St., S. W.

Four Doors From Whitehall Street

EVENING GOWN of FLOWERED CHIFFON

Allen's sponsors the graceful new lines of the silhouette. The V necklines in front and accented in the back give an effect of slenderness which is enhanced by the longer train effect. The rhinestone belt breaks the severity of line and supports two gorgeous poppies.

J. P. ALLEN & CO.

"The Store All Women Know"

Peachtree at Cain

This Column Is Filled With "Knockout" Values!

Special Price! Ruffled Curtains

Sheer and colorful. Many of these were made in our own work room which insures fine material, expert workmanship, new style. 200 pair—some of them regularly selling for $2.98! Unusually attractive with full ruffles. Pr. $1.49

HIGH'S STREET FLOOR

900 Yards "Armstrong" Inlaid Linoleum

This is, indeed, an outstanding sales feature! Most attractive all-over effects and neat tile patterns. Choicest colors. Cemented to your floors free of charge! Sq. Yd. . . . $1.00 Sq. Yd.

HIGH'S STREET FLOOR

$1.50 Quality SILK SCARFS

Triangular scarfs of crepe de chine and georgette clip their price tags to the minimum! Bright additions for all smart Spring outfits. Choose yours now! 99c

HIGH'S STREET FLOOR

$1.00 Chamosuede Novelty Gloves

Your slip-on style and savings with every pair of these lovely chamosuede gloves. Fancy cuff and plain slip-on styles. Most desirable shades. Only, pair . . . 69c

HIGH'S STREET FLOOR

Size 12x24 $2.95 Mirrors

Attractive mirrors in either mahogany or polychrome finish. Priced for every pocketbook! One day special! Each . . . $1.95

HIGH'S STREET FLOOR

Regular $1.89 Bridge Tables

This is a special that no one will want to miss! Good-looking bridge tables, finished in red, green or mahogany. No Phone or C. O. D. orders. Each . . . $1.00

HIGH'S FURNITURE STORE

Men's and Boys' 10c Handkerchiefs

This is your best opportunity to purchase a supply of nice, soft quality handkerchiefs! White and colors. Offered at only, dozen . . . 69c

HIGH'S STREET FLOOR

Women's Linen Handkerchiefs

Dainty linen handkerchiefs with initials for women! Plain linen with neatly hem-stitched hems for men. Offered Monday at only, each . . . 12c

HIGH'S STREET FLOOR

200 Pairs French Kid Gloves

Every pair perfect! New colors—with fancy cuffs. Would ordinarily be priced $3 to $4.95. To sell Monday at the lowest sum of, pair . . . $1.95

HIGH'S STREET FLOOR

BUYERS' AND MA

Whiting & Davis $2.95 Mesh Bags

A special purchase makes possible this rare offering. Fine enamel scale mesh, in love-liest colorings. Lot composed of only 72. Monday only, each . . . $1.66

HIGH'S STREET FLOOR

$4.95 Hand-Tooled Hand-Laced Bags

These are offered to you for positively less than cost. Genuine cowhide, hand-tooled, hand-laced bags with safety locks. Limit of one to each customer. Only 25 . . . $2.95

HIGH'S STREET FLOOR

75c Decks of Modernistic Playing Cards

Linen-finished cards with gilt edges and most attractive backs in modernistic designs. In nice telescope box. Limit of two decks to customer. Deck . . . 49c

HIGH'S STREET FLOOR

3,600 Cakes 10c Ivory Soap

Every housewife will want a supply! No Phone or Mail orders taken. Limit 10 bars to each person. 59c

HIGH'S STREET FLOOR

Begins Monday: April

Enthusiasm is running rampant at High's! The vanguard of the entire store has been turned over to the show you just what wonders they can work! The Big Weeks of planning, shrewd quality-searching, keen buy doors and offer you, undoubtedly, the greatest values th chandise of the tip-top quality—at the most meagre pri

SALE OF DIAMONDS

Diamond Solitaire
$8.95

Fiery, well cut, genuine diamond (no chips). In lacy, pierced white-gold mountings. $15 value. $1.00 Weekly

Blue White Diamond
$39.95

Effective diamonds of surprising size and excellent quality. The newest mountings in rings. Worth $60 each. $1.00 Weekly

Blue White Diamonds
$69.95

$100 value! Don't wait! These rings will be snapped up quickly—their quality is apparent—their mountings exquisite! $1.00 Weekly

Diamond Watches
$29.95

17 jeweled, fully adjusted, super-accurate movement in solid white gold case. Two diamonds and four sapphires. $45.00 value

$1,200 Diamond Bracelet
$666.00

REDUCED TO Over four carats of blue white diamonds, artistically set in all platinum flexible bracelet. Others from $25 to $250. $25.00

HIGH'S STREET FLOOR

Your Opportunity to SAVE 1/3

Carat Diamonds, $399.00; half carats, $149.00. Every one a 100% testimonial of the unequalled values offered in this, our newest department!

HIGH'S CLUB PLAN

A Few Easily Spared Pennies Pay for Your Choice at Sale Price

Even while prices are cut to the lowest margin during "Buyers and Managers Sale," our Club Plan terms hold good! A small down payment that you will hardly miss—then payments conveniently stretched over 16 to 50 weeks! Take advantage now.

SEE IT FIRST

Selection packages sent for your inspection and approval, with all charges prepaid. Write for details.

Mail Orders

5,000 Yards High's FAMOUS SILKS

All $1.98 and $2.45 Quality

40-In. Plain Weighted Flat Crepes
40-In. Printed Flat Crepes
40-In. Printed Georgettes
40-In. Plain Georgettes
40-In. Lovely "Russian" Crepes

$1.33

34-In. Heavy Rough Pongee
40-In. Black Satin Crepe
32-In. Washable Silk Broadcloth
33-In. Washable Sports Crepes

Every Yard the Very Best Obtainable!

Our buyer, Mr. Aaron Kahanow, offers this list of exquisite silks with pride and certainty that patrons will feel that every item measures up to and exceeds, if possible, his high standard of quality, beauty, low prices!

HIGH'S SILK STORE.

Special Purchase Women's $8.50 SMART SHOES

$4.85 Pair

Shoes for every imaginable occasion that the season brings! Pumps, strapless models! In high and low heels! Created of materials that conform strictly to the mode, to your comfort—promising you long wear! Priced as only a special purchase can be priced—within easy reach of every woman! Come and be fitted in your choice!

HIGH'S STREET FLOOR.

Basement Buyers and Managers Offer Sensational Bargain

The Greatest Dress Event of the Year

200 DRESSES At 1/2 Price and Less

Flat Crepes $6.45 Material in These Frocks Alone Is Worth More Than Price!
Georgettes
Silk Prints!
Sizes and Styles for Every Woman!

Put a red ring around Monday, April 1st! It marks the season's greatest sale of smart Spring dresses! Be on hand when the doors open . . . come for a choice, first selection! Here are dresses to delight every individual fancy . . . suited to every possible occasion. Colors light, dark, medium . . . prints that combine them all! Sizes 16 to 44.

BASEMENT STORE

Tailored and Trimmed Dainty Undies

Gowns—Teddies
Step-Ins—Slips
Bloomers

49c

Lovely, cool undies for your summer wardrobe! Sheer voiles, muclin and rayon in white and pastels! Would usually be priced 98c each garment!

BASEMENT STORE

Heavy Quality Silk Slips

$1.98 slips of heavy, shining sports silk. Every one strictly first quality! The pastel shades that every one prefers. Sizes 36 to 44. Specially marked $1.00

Women's $1.00 Pure Silk Hose

Chiffon and Service Weights

59c Pair

When hose of such exquisite beauty of texture—such myriad and subtle shades reach a rock bottom price like this . . . it is High time to buy! Chiffon and service weights in regular and slenderizing pointed heels! Chiffons are silk all the way! Complete size range from 8 1/2 to 10.

BASEMENT STORE

$1.59 Kimonos

Beautiful crepe kimonos, beautifully trimmed with satin. Smartly tailored. Sizes 36 to 44 . . . $1.00

Children's 98c

Wash Dresses

Voiles and prints in most adorable styles. Buy a number for your 2 to 12-year girls. . . 50c

$1.19 Rayon Bloomers

Every pair of these bloomers is absolutely perfect! Very fine gauge rayon. Special at . . . 88c

Marquessette Panels

Lovely for your home this Spring! Ecru panels, finished with fringe. Size 36x81 inches. Monday at each . . . 50c

36-Inch Curtain Net

Buy for your new curtains now! Barred and dotted patterns. All white and with colored dots. Yard . . . 19c

36-In. Percale Prints

Colorful, sturdy prints for house frocks, blouses and the little girls' dresses. Priced yard . . . 19c

98c House Dresses

Attractive house frocks made of standard quality prints. With set-in sleeves. Sizes 36 to 44 . . . 50c

98c Porto Rican

Night Gowns

Lovely gowns in white and pastel colors. Trimmed with hand embroidery and applique. Only . . . 49c

24x36 Rag Rugs

Convenient sized rag rugs in a large assortment of pretty colors. Well made and finished with fringe . . . 69c

Kitchen Stools

Enameled four-legged stools in white, red, navy, gold and green. At . . . 85c

Aluminum Percolators

Splendid, two-pint aluminum percolators offered at the amazing sales price of only . . . 59c

3x6 Window Shades

Tan and green window shades in light and dark colors. An outstanding feature . . . 59c

Men's Smart Two Pants WOOL SUITS $17.50

Smart!—Which means excellent style, Spring materials, perfect fit! Two pair of pants mean at least double wear and double attractiveness! 2 and 3-button models. Sizes 34 to 42. Tremendous value—Monday!

HIGH'S BARGAIN BASEMENT

HIGH'S BARGAIN BASEMENT
The Economy Center of Atlanta

MANAGERS' SALE!

1st to 6th Inclusive

is charged with irrepressible excitement. The managers and Department Managers—and they are going to make a sale in High History—that's what they are staging! Then drastic price cutting! Now we fling wide our doors and make it possible anywhere! Fresh, new, seasonable merchandise.

"KNOCK OUT" Values

$1.00 "Merode" UNION SUITS

Very smoothly woven of the finest cotton. Built-up and strap shoulder styles. Open and closed models. Sizes 36 to 44. Only 59¢
2 for $1.00
HIGH'S STREET FLOOR

Girls' $3.98 Sheer VOILE FROCKS

Sheer, summery frocks in solid pastels and daintily printed voiles. Trimmed beautifully with ruffles, tucks and hem-stitching. Bloomer and straight line. 7 to 14. 2.98
HIGH'S THIRD FLOOR

on Monday

BASEMENT "Knockout" Values!

60 Silk Dresses

Ends of far her priced garments! Smart styles; beautiful materials. Sizes 16 to 38. $3
BASEMENT STORE

Pure Silk Hose Full-Fashioned

Pairs pure and silk service light hose. With row list tops. Slightly irregular. Sizes 8½ to 10. Pair 79¢
BASEMENT STORE

100 Men's Shirts

Good-looking shirts in white and novelty patterns. With and without collars. Run of sizes. Regularly $1.19 to $1.49. Each. 69¢
BASEMENT STORE

Boys' Wash Suits

One and two-piece suits and wash suits for boys from 3 to 8 years. Some with belts and pockets. Regular 69¢. 33¢
BASEMENT STORE

.98 Wash Frocks

Of these lovely frocks! In the latest new styles. Of many prints and dimities. Size 16 to 18. Buy Monday for 69¢
BASEMENT STORE

100 Yds. Remnants

1 to 5-Yard Lengths. Chamberlain Cloth, Prints, Linen Goods, Voiles, Sheeting. 1/2 Price
BASEMENT STORE

Attention! 1,000 Pairs $1.65 to $1.85

Silk Hosiery

Full-fashioned silk hosiery in clearest chiffon and service weights. Every pair absolutely perfect. All shades for new Spring costumes. A popular standard make. Pair $1.39
HIGH'S STREET FLOOR

Smart D'Orsay's $1.95 Slippers

Just as pictured at left. With soft padded soles and medium heels. In rose and open, also black with rose linings. A special for Monday only. $1.00
HIGH'S STREET FLOOR

Women's $16.75 to $24.95 SMART SPRING FROCKS

Actual Values $16.75, $19.95, $24.95
$12.65
Misses' Sizes 14 to 20; Women's Sizes 36 to 46.

Flagrantly scattering her irrepressible newness, her abounding color, her endless beauty... Spring dances into our Ready-to-Wear Department! Frocks as lovely as Spring herself... whose price tags fairly challenge your belief! Only seeing can convey the variety and beauty of styling. You need a number at this price.
HIGH'S SECOND FLOOR

EXTRA SPECIALS

81x90 Extra Heavy Sheets

Housewives, what a joy this feature should bring to you! Fully bleached, torn and hemmed sheets of an excellent heavy quality. Usually $1.39. Limit of 6 to each customer. $1.00

Stamped Pillow Cases

Patterns that will delight you—stamped on tubing of an unquestionably fine quality. Absolutely free from starch, each. 39¢

$2.00 Krinkled Spreads

Bed spreads that will truly bring Spring-time into your bed rooms! Colored krinkled stripes in rose, blue, gold and green. Lasting quality. $1.79

36-Inch Fine Broadcloth

Our regular 59¢ material. Fine weave, smooth finish. Bright colorful new prints, and one color. Color-fast. Tremendously popular for dresses and undies for women and children. Special Monday, Yard 44¢
HIGH'S STREET FLOOR

Lace Filet Pieces

Scarves and three-piece vanity sets of splendid quality filet. Scarves in sizes 18x36 and 18x45 inches. Each 69¢

5,000 Yards Fine Quality 32-Inch Gingham

Splendid, soft-finish gingham in a large and varied assortment of colorful checks and plaids. Special! Yard 22¢

50c Grade Printed Voile

So wonderfully cool and lovely for summer wear. Displaying the newest patterns and colorings. Offered at, yard 32¢
HIGH'S STREET FLOOR

"Boy Blue" Shirts

Sizes 12 to 14 1-2

All boys with real masculine ideas will like these shirts! White Broadcloth and fancy patterns. Your choice for $1.00

Boys' Knickers

Sizes 6 to 14

Guaranteed Washable

Knickers that will work, play and launder with most astounding durability! Grey and tan plaids. Well made and finished. Pair $1.49
HIGH'S THIRD FLOOR

Boys' Two-Pants

Knickers Suits

Sizes 6 to 14

Suits of handsome all-wool fabrics. Each suit with two pairs knickers, coat and vest. Popular shades tan and grey $10.74

High's Well-Appointed Rest Room for Women

Have you visited our lovely, new Rest Room? We urge you to come and partake of the careful atmosphere, the spacious restfulness, the charm of this new room! Let it offer a respite when shopping tires you... when you want to think over that list of things you need to purchase! It was created for your comfort... come and enjoy it!
HIGH'S SECOND FLOOR

Auto Parking Free—While You Are Shopping at High's Park Your Car at

Bell Brothers' or Hunter's Garages. Pryor street, between Alabama and Hunter. Get tickets validated at Information Desk, Street Floor.

1,200 Women's Brand-New SUMMER PORCH DRESSES

Cool, summery frocks that will rock gaily on porches... trip happily about the neighborhood... go briskly to market! Sleeveless and short sleeve models. Fitted, flared and gathered skirts. Of printed sheer materials and light colored prints. Sizes 16 to 50. $1
HIGH'S THIRD FLOOR

Women's $1.98 and $2.48 SILK LINGERIE

Dainty, silken underwear for the most delightful summer wear. Of crepe de chine and sylvette silk. Slips, teddies, step-ins and dance sets. Size range from 34 to 44. Shadow proof slips in lovely shades of flesh, peach—and white. Teddies, step-ins, dance sets in pastel shades, attractively trimmed with lace. $1.89
HIGH'S STREET FLOOR

See Our Special "Broadway Melody" Window Display Featuring "As-You-Like-It" HOSIERY

500 Dozen J. & P. Coats 5c SPOOL COTTON

Black and white in numbers 40, 50, 60 and 70. Limit of one dozen spools to customer. No phone or mail orders taken. 44¢
1 Dozen $1.00
HIGH'S STREET FLOOR

Modernizing Old Wedding Rings

Heavy 18-karat white gold casing over your old yellow ring—exquisitely carved in the popular wreath or blossom design. The old wedding ring is reshaped without disturbing the original lettering. $3.39
HIGH'S STREET FLOOR—FRONT

Men's $2.00 White Broadcloth Shirts

Handsome white Broadcloth shirts, with or without collars. Six and seven-button front styles. Well worth their usual $2.00 prices. $1.29
Sizes 13½ to 17½. Each
HIGH'S STREET FLOOR

Boys' Attractive $1.49 Wash Suits

Smart little flapper style suits for all boys from 2 to 8 years. Of golden cloth, linen, broadcloth—combinations of prints and solid colors. Priced, each. 99¢
HIGH'S THIRD FLOOR

Men's 39c Socks

3 Pairs 87c

Fancy rayon socks in the new plaids and novelty patterns that will catch every masculine fancy! Standard make. All sizes. $1.00
HIGH'S STREET FLOOR

Children's 50c Novelty Socks

The little fellows and girls need countless pairs for summer! Plain silk in the desirable light colors. Large assortment of sizes. Special Monday for, pair 29¢
HIGH'S STREET FLOOR

$1.98 Fabrikoid Over Night Cases

Handy cases for your overnight trips. Made of black fabrikoid, securely finished with brass trimmings. $1.00
Round corners. Marked at only...
HIGH'S STREET FLOOR

$3.50 Quality Black Enameled Hat Box

Look ahead to your summer trips! Buy your hat box now. Black enamel boxes with fancy linings, brass locks and trimmings. An unsurpassed value at $1.98
HIGH'S STREET FLOOR

Women's $3.50 Gloria Umbrellas

Splendid silk umbrellas with attractive novelty handles. Trimmed with cord. Large variety of colors. 10-ribbed. Your choice at $2.59
HIGH'S STREET FLOOR

J.M. HIGH CO.

46 Years of Life and Progress

Photoplay News

CONDUCTED BY LORENZO JONES JR.

DOUG FAIRBANKS BACK IN HOWARD PICTURE

This week promises to be a red letter one for Atlanta theater-goers, with the Howard offering the inimitable Douglas Fairbanks in his latest production, "The Iron Mask," a thrilling sequel to "The Three Musketeers," in which he won strong praise. "The Iron Mask" is now playing on Broadway to capacity houses at Rivoli theater, drawing lavish acclaim from critics and theater patrons alike. Again the dashing and agile Fairbanks is cast as D'Artagnan, the foremost blade in France and captain of the Musketeers. Again Athos, Porthos and Aramis ride with him through death-defying adventures for the smile of a fair lady; for devotion to their king. An audience will live again in the glorious and colorful days of chivalry and swordplay, of tender romance and intrigue.

Douglas Fairbanks speaks for the first time from the screen, introducing an innovation in sound and talking pictures. In intimate speech he tells his audience of the carefree days when men risked life itself for loyalty and love, bidding every person join in and enjoy these days.

Marguerite de la Motte, who played with the star in "The Three Musketeers," returns again as his leading lady, Constance, his beautiful sweetheart who becomes the victim of chance and provides many successful scenes. Others in the outstanding cast include Belle Bennett and Dorothy Revier.

Dramatically effective sound and musical accompaniment has been arranged for the picture by Director Allan Dwan and Hugh Reinhold, including the theme song "One For All, All For One," a rollicking number especially written to portray the spirit of the epic of dauntless courage and tender romance.

Also on the screen program will be offered Paramount News and choice novelties. At Evans, at the organ, has devised a new and original organ specialty.

Al Short and the Howard stage band will present the bandshow, "Ain't Rio Grande," a colorful Spanish revue featuring St. Willis, Anita Lapierre and ten Abbott girls.

"AIN'T RIO GRANDE!"

Al Short Presents New Show at Howard.

Flash, color and beautiful girls are the ingredients in the Howard's stage offering, "Ain't Rio Grande," this week.

Al Short and the Howard stage band have prepared an array of tune-ful Spanish numbers to fit into this clever revue.

Headlining the bill, besides Short and his men, is St. Willis, nationally known comedian, who, it is claimed, possesses an unlimited repertoire of fun-making.

Pretty Anita Lapierre, harmony girl, will sing several songs, assisted by ten Abbott dancers who will bring the last word in fast stepping routines.

Especially beautiful are the Spanish costumes which will be worn by the dancers and Miss Lapierre.

Enmet Rogers, producer, states "Ain't Rio Grande" is the most spectacular unit he has yet offered Howard patrons.

Women Again Starting Wars, Etc., in Current Cinemas

Florence Vidor in "Chinatown Nights"
Georgia.

Bessie Love and Anita Page
in "Broadway Melody"
Capitol.

Corinne Griffith in
"The Divine Lady"
Metropolitan.

Baclanova and George
Bancroft in "Wolf of Wall Street."—Rialto.

Douglas Fairbanks in "The Iron Mask."
Howard.

JOLSON AT EMPIRE

"Singing Fool" Returns to Popular Theater.

The unforgettable voice of Al Jolson, master jazz singer of the age, will be heard again at the Empire theater, corner Georgia avenue and Crew street, Monday and Tuesday of this week, where "The Singing Fool," latest and greatest Jolson film, will open a big week in pictures.

Filled with singing and talking, of which Jolson is master of both, "The Singing Fool" is the biggest picture attraction of the past five years, and Manager Alpha Fowler Saturday closed a deal to present the picture at his house this week due to the fact that he has complete Vitaphone equipment to present it just as it was presented at the largest de luxe motion picture house downtown recently.

"The Singing Fool" presents Jolson in several singing numbers, chief among which is the famous "Sonny Boy." The story tells of the cabaret waiter whose voice brings him to the attention of a big producer and subsequent fame. How all this is centered in his wife and boy, and his life blighted by loss of both is entertainingly told.

"The Air Circus," a clever picture with a trio of young stars, headed by David Hollins and Sue Carol, is the attraction at the Empire for Wednesday and Thursday. This is a Fox Movietone picture and is presented in the Movietone reproduction apparatus.

which is an exclusive neighborhood theater feature at the Empire.

Loew's Grand.

Starting off Monday with "Abie's Irish Rose" and winding up the last three days of the week with "The Flying Fleet," Loew's Grand theater this week presents what should prove to be a highly entertaining program for the edification of Atlanta movie patrons. Both productions are synchronized with sound. "Abie's Irish Rose" is a talking and singing picture, while "The Flying Fleet" carries a full musical score and sound effects.

Anne Nichols' famous story of the Jewish boy and the Irish lass who defy the edicts of their families and finally by their marriage heal a racial feud, loses nothing in its presentation on the screen. On the contrary, the film production, with spoken dialog and songs interspersed, has been pronounced one of the motion picture successes of the day. Charles ("Buddy") Rogers plays the Jewish boy and Nancy Carroll the cute little Irish girl, while Jean Hersholt, one of the greatest character actors of the generation, has the role of Solomon Levy, Abie's father.

In "The Flying Fleet," which opens Thursday, Ramon Novarro is seen in one of his best pictures. Based on the epoch making trans-Pacific flight from San Francisco to Hawaii, the picture is full of thrills such as the aviator's art can provide. There are giant airplanes thundering in the skies, hawklike fighting planes whirling in dizzy maneuvers, the wreck of a huge flying monster at sea, and a sensational parachute jump from a blazing plane.

Alamo No. 2.

If masculine hearts are palpitating at the beauty and charm of Billie Dove in her latest First National starring vehicle at the Alamo theater No. 2, "The Yellow Lily," wives and sweethearts have their treat in the picture, too.

Masterful, powerfully reserved Clive Brook is playing opposite the star. Brook's vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

"The Yellow Lily" is an adaptation of Lajos Biro's play. Brooks enacts the role of a Hungarian archduke, Miss Dove that of a village beauty in Hungary. Alexander Korda, famous Hungarian director, held forth at the megaphone.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

Brooks' vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.</

Theatre Talk

CONDUCTED BY LORENZO JONES JR.

'Skidding' Is Popular Play On Stock Bill at Atlanta

Atlanta theatergoers this week will have the rare privilege of seeing performed in this city a comedy drama that is still playing to large crowds on Broadway. It is "Skidding," a skilful mixture of pathos and drama, which has been chosen by Leslie Fulewider as the first presentation of the Fulewider All-Star Players at the Atlanta theater.

It is a rare thing, in fact, an almost unheard of thing for a play to be given to a stock company while it is still playing on Broadway, yet Mr. Fulewider has secured this sparkling comedy-drama for Atlanta patrons while it is still enjoying a highly successful run in New York.

"Skidding" is a thoroughly human comedy and was planned as deliberately as an architect plans a building. There is nothing left to chance in this play written by Aurania Roukeyrol with the intention of pleasing her audience and making it laugh at the antics of the characters. The humor is subtle and the frequent moments of tender pathos carry a definite appeal. The story is American throughout. Its locale is a western state where Judge Hardy is up for re-nomination in a district court. The story of those sturdy old Americans to whom humor means more than anything else. He refuses to barter his honor for the nomination and is defended but in the defeat is compensated by advancement to the supreme court, which has been his life-long ambition and which comes when his fortunes are at their lowest ebb.

The judge, however, is only one of a household composed of varying and extremely different natures. There are also his three daughters and a young son who is typically American and it is in this picture of family life that the story gets its biggest appeal. It is so natural, so true to life that the audience is lifted right over the footlights and made a part of this interesting family.

There is a good deal of truth in the petty squabbles and pleasantries of homelife as depicted in "Skidding." And the real fun comes out of the utter humanness and cleverness of the characters taking part. Taken as a tonic in three doses it makes for one of the most enjoyable evenings imaginable in the theater.

If the local theatergoers enjoy a delightful comedy of home life in a small town, that is filled with laughter from beginning to end with, here and there, a heart throb thrown in to make the breath come quicker then they will not want to miss "Skidding."

Every member of the popular Fulewider All-Star Players will have a fine part in the production this week, for the play offers a number of splendid roles.

Bessie Love, Anita Page
in "Broadway Melody"
Capitol (no stage bill).

(Top) Jessie Maker—Georgia.
(Below) Si Wills—Howard.

Glimpses of Hollywood BY ROSALIND SHAFFER

Hollywood, Calif., March 30.—(Special Correspondence.)—Real tragedy obtruded itself into make-believe during the past week when the giant Golia bomber, being piloted by Al Wilson, stunt flier, for a scene in "Hell's Angels," crashed, killing the mechanic, Phil Jones.

This recalls many fatal accidents that have happened in the when thrills were sought for the films at the risk of human life.

The public has become so suspicious of "faking" shots that producers feel that nothing but the real thing will do. Facts concerning the accidents that take place in thrilling shots generally are carefully guarded by studios but occasionally the legal notices of a damage suit suggest that there might be more known if many of the accidents were not fatal to the only person interested.

This gambling of human lives is not of course peculiar to film entertainment as circus and other forms of amusement stake lives for thrills. The toll of lives exacted for picture thrills, however, has been considerable in the last few years.

News columns carried news of the drowning of several men in Alaska in the rapids during the filming of "The Trail of '98." "Old Ironsides" was one of the most costly pictures to human life and limb. Only recently the suits of five persons crippled, or killed in scenes for "Old Ironsides" were decided here in a court for $35,000, a comparatively small sum, considering the cost of the picture.

During the making of "Wings," Dick Grace, stunt aviator, broke his neck, though it did not prove fatal. A flying cadet from the flying field at San Antonio by the name of Wisley was killed in a flying mishap. Richard Arlen was slightly injured in an air accident for the same picture. "What Price Glory," brought a damage suit due to an accidental explosion of powder.

"Tox Mix" picture, "Silver Valley," was marred with a tragedy, when a girl doubling for Dorothy Dawn, was killed in a scene where she was in a boat on a stream above the rapids and was thrown so violently against a rock rendering her unconscious by the force of the water that she drowned before she could be rescued.

Only recently a girl stunt parachute jumper, Lita Wickham, of Chicago, was killed in a Hoot Gibson picture while doubling for Ruth Elder. For some reason, Miss Wickham failed to pull the string releasing the parachute.

During the filming of "Noah's Ark" there were serious accidents. In one scene a flood of water that was let loose proved to be of unexpected power and it was every man for himself among the extras. It was a bad time for George O'Brien, who was chained to a plank. Another plank, broken loose by the force of the water, tore off his toe nails and bruised him badly. Dolores Costello was obliged to take to bed for several days afterward from the exposure and shock.

News reel motion pictures prove every bit as costly to life and limb as the bigger features. Jack Miller, an Indian stunt man, known as Chief White Eagle, was killed a year or two ago, when he attempted to make a drop with four successive parachutes, while the action cameras ground. Fred Osborne, stunt man, staked his life and rode a motorcycle over a hundred-foot cliff for a news reel. He is permanently crippled.

Gilbert Roland is to play the heavy in Norma Talmadge's next picture. This is a turn around from his usual leading man roles with the star. Incidentally, "Smilin' Through," one of Miss Talmadge's big successes, will be made with sound.

Man-Toss, COLLEEN MOORE and GARY COOPER in "LILAC TIME" WED. "THE NIGHT BIRD" SAT. "WIND"

See and Hear WILLIAM HAINES in "Alias Jimmy Valentine" A Talking Picture

Man-Toss, COLLEEN MOORE and GARY COOPER in "LILAC TIME" WED. "THE NIGHT BIRD" SAT. "WIND"

See and Hear WILLIAM HAINES in "Alias Jimmy Valentine" A Talking Picture

Man-Toss, COLLEEN MOORE and GARY COOPER in "LILAC TIME" WED. "THE NIGHT BIRD" SAT. "WIND"

STAGE

Ted Osborn, juvenile in Fulewider production in "Skidding."—Atlanta.

Richards and Church
Metropolitan.

BEVERLY BAYNE OUT New Star To Be Offered With Fulewider Players.

Miss Beverly Bayne, who has been appearing with the Leslie Fulewider all-star players at the Atlanta theater, concluded her engagement with the company with the last performance Saturday night, according to Mr. Fulewider.

Mr. Fulewider left for New York last week and has secured the services of one of the foremost and best known actresses on Broadway who comes immediately to Atlanta to be with the Fulewider players. The success enjoyed by the talented company for the last two weeks has made it possible for Mr. Fulewider to engage the services of an outstanding Broadway star, it is said.

Cameo.

Something unusual in mystery drama opens to an engagement at the Cameo Monday and Tuesday. It is the film "The Perfect Crime," featuring Olive Brook and Irene Rich. The story concerns a world-famed criminologist who, bored with the ease with which he can solve criminal problems, decides to commit the perfect crime. What takes place, makes a most absorbing drama.

With the underworld of New York as a background, and with occasional scenes of the war and high social circles, "Man, Woman and Wife" will show Wednesday and Thursday at the Cameo with Norman Kerry in the starring role. The picture has one of the most unusual endings of the year. In the supporting cast are Pauline Starke, Marian Nixon, Kenneth Harlan and Crawford Kent.

James Oliver Curwood's thrilling story, "The Yellow-Back," is the Friday and Saturday feature. Tom Moore is the star player, while Tom Santsch, Lionel Belmore and Irma Harrison have prominent roles. As is true of other Curwood stories, "The Yellow-Back" deals with the great north country and its characters are people of the Canadian woods—trappers, lumbermen, the royal northwest mounted police—in a gripping story of conflict and thrills.

Some real harmony singing will be dispensed by the Four Eton Boys, Merry Songsters from Morris England. They are also songwriters supreme, furnishing a "hot" program of musical numbers and a variety of odd instruments with interpolations of comedy and dance bits.

TWO HEADLINERS SEEN ON GEORGIA BILL

Keith's Georgia this week presents what seems an unusually good vaudeville bill which boasts of two headliners, each sharing equal honors. There is Tyler Mason in "Smiling Thru Dark Moments" and Jessie Maker and William J. Redford, who offer "Rolling Stones."

Tyler Mason in "Smiling Thru Dark Moments" does not do the smiling himself. He is the incubator in which the smiles are hatched. The smiles, of course, being on the faces of his public. Each is caused by a shaft of humor sharp enough to pierce any dark moment. His medium is a collection of songs and stories.

Maker and Redford easily might rely solely upon themselves in their bid for approval as they have been a standard act of vaudeville these many years. Their own ability as entertainers would seem quite sufficient to maintain their place in the spotlight. However, they believe that players need tools just as well as carpenters or any other art. Their present vehicle, "Rolling Stones," is by Paul Gerard Smith, one of the most versatile vaudeville authors. "Rolling Stones" tell the story of an ambitious boy and girl who leave their home town and seek fortune elsewhere in a very humorous way.

Then there is Joe Young in "Hokumology," with Lillie Sargent, Mary Chapelle and Eleanor Gibson. We have heard of hokum this and hokum that, but according to Mr. Young hokumology is the new science of fun. It is to comedy what synecopation is to music and just as popular. Joe Young is a professor of this modern method. It is said that he can get two or more laughs where only a single chuckle was supposed to have existed before.

ATLANTA THEATRE

ALL WEEK OPENING MONDAY NIGHT
FULEWIDER ALL-STAR PLAYERS

—IN—

"SKIDDING"

A Human Comedy That Still Rocks
Broadway With Laughter

MATS. WED. & SAT. . . . . 75c, 50c, 35c
EVES. 8:30 . . . . . $1.00, 75c, 50c

PHONE IVy 3370 FOR SEATS

Back Again!
Al Jolson
in
'The Singing Fool'
Monday—Tuesday
Wednesday—Thursday
Fox Movietone
'THE AIR CIRCUS'
FRIDAY
AMATEUR NITE
COLLEEN MOORE
'SYNTHETIC SIN'
SATURDAY
'THE HAUNTED HOUSE'
EMPIRE
Ga. At Crew

KEITH'S GEORGIA
LITH ORPHUM WARD DEVIILLE

SENSATIONAL! MYSTERIOUS!
CHINATOWN NIGHTS
from the thrilling story
"TONG WAR"
A Paramount Picture

—with—
WALLACE BEERY FLORENCE VIDOR
WARNER OLAND
Hear the Entire Cast Talk!
The romantic lure of Oriental mysticism and its strange attraction for a beautiful young woman to the "big white boss" of Chinatown. A strong role for Beery. A real triumph for Miss Vidor.

Where East Meets West THE THRILL BEGINS!
And Look What a Vaudeville Show!
JESSIE and WILLIAM J. REDFORD in "ROLLING STONES"
MAKER and TYLER MASON
"Smiling Thru Dark Moments"
THE FOUR ETON BOYS
"Merry Songsters from Morris England"
JOE YOUNG
in "HOKUMOLOGY" with Lillie Sargent—Mary Chapelle—Eleanor Gibson
ADOLPH VERDINS MUSIC
Matinee 1 to 6:30
35c

Comedies!
Novelties!
Paramount
News

LOEW'S CAPITOL STARTING MONDAY DOORS OPEN 10:30 A. M.
CONTINUOUS 11 A. M. to 11:30 P. M. FIRST SHOWING AT 11 O'CLOCK
PLEASE COME EARLY FOR YOUR COMFORT

The Big Parade of the Gay White Way!

THE world doubted when it was predicted that one day the marvels of the metropolitan stage would come to life on the screen—the spectacle of costly musical extravaganzas, the intoxicating rhythms of great song hits, the sensuous sight of alluring choruses, the humanity of tense drama—they are all here in "The Broadway Melody" greater than in any $6.60 stage show!

THE BROADWAY MELODY

with CHARLES KING ANITA PAGE BESSIE LOVE

Vaudeville Eliminated This Week Only

NOTHING like it ever before!
A new era of the TALKING screen! The new thrill of a lifetime! How fortunate that this new advancement is brought to you so dramatically in a love story of infinite power and tenderness!

EASTER Midnight
Premiere Performance
TO-NIGHT
AT 12:01 A. M.

FOX MOVIE TONE NEWS
"CONFESSIONS"
METRO-MOVIE TONE
Directed By
LIONEL BARRYMORE

NO ADVANCE IN OUR USUAL "LOEW" PRICES!

This is what to do to win part of Eight Thousand Five Hundred Dollars $8,500.00 in PRIZES

Name the title of the Motion Picture Represented by the Cartoon Printed Below

CARTOON NO. 9

Notice the cartoon at the left.

This cartoon represents the title of a motion picture.

The correct title can be found in the list of titles printed directly below the cartoon.

This contest is composed of 30 cartoons on the order of the cartoon which you see at the left.

In order to win a prize you name the correct titles of the 30 cartoons.

There are no catches and no tricks.

The Atlanta Constitution wants you to know exactly what you are up against before you enter this contest. For that reason, The Constitution will permit anyone so desiring to see the complete set of 30 cartoons. You can obtain the complete series of 30 cartoons by sending in the coupon printed in the lower right hand corner of this page.

Title
The correct title for Cartoon No. 9 can be found in this list: "The Fighting Fury," "The Poison Pen," "Western Speed," "Two-Edged Sword," "Respect by Proxy," "Peacock Alley," "Racing Luck," "You're Fired," "The Lamp," "Monkey Shines," "No Fare," "Maytime," "William Tell," "The Beauty Shop," "Sunnyside Up," "The Love Letter," "Money Mad," "Sultana," "The Rustle of Silk," "The Green Clock," "Tears and Smiles," "The Lost Paradise," "Face at the Window."

In this contest you do not compete against anybody so far as the number of subscriptions are concerned. The same requirement stands for everybody.

Notice the list of prizes below:

Note that the largest number of subscriptions required is 4 and the smallest number is 2. No need to collect or pay any money if your subscribers live in the city of Atlanta or any city or town where The Constitution maintains carrier or delivery service.

$8,500.00 IN PRIZES

PRIZE LIST NO. 1

Any Prize in this List can be won with 4 six-months subscriptions

1st ... Studebaker Sedan, President Model, 115 h.p., Straight 8 .....	$2,445.00
On display at Yarbrough Motor Co., 560 W. Peachtree, N. W.
2nd ... Starck Baby Grand Piano .....	1,200.00
3rd ... Dining Room Suite .....	400.00
4th ... Ladies' Fur Coat .....	375.00
5th ... Orthophonic Victor Victrola .....	300.00
6th ... Orthophonic Victor Victrola .....	300.00
7th ... Steinite Radio (Dynamic Speaker) .....	187.50
8th ... Steinite Radio (Dynamic Speaker) .....	152.00
9th ... Pathex Movie Camera and Projector .....	97.50
10th ... Steinite Radio (Table Model) .....	75.00

PRIZE LIST NO. 2

Any Prize in This List can be won with 2 six-months subscriptions

1st ... Studebaker Sedan, Dictator Model	$1,455.00
On display at Yarbrough Motor Co., 560 W. Peachtree, N. W.
2nd ... Bedroom Suite .....	350.00
3rd ... Orthophonic Victor Victrola .....	300.00
4th ... Ladies' Fur Coat .....	255.00
5th ... Ladies' Fur Coat .....	255.00
6th ... Pathex Movie Camera and Projector .....	97.50
7th ... Pathex Movie Camera and Projector .....	97.50
8th ... Steinite Radio (Table Model) .....	75.00
9th ... Steinite Radio (Table Model) .....	75.00
10th ... Portable Orthophonic Victor Victrola .....	35.00

WIN THIS $2,445 STUDEBAKER

In An Hour
—the door is open

Walk right in and mail the coupon printed in the lower right-hand corner of this page.

IF YOU WANT TO WIN

Mail the coupon printed below. This coupon will bring you the complete set of 30 cartoons and full details—in fact everything you could possibly need or wish to win a prize in this contest. Do not ever enter a contest until you fully understand everything.

Mail the coupon and get everything you need to win a prize.

Movietest Editor,
The Atlanta Constitution,
Atlanta, Ga.

Please send all 30 cartoons with full details and particulars to:

Name .....
Address .....
City .....
State .....

EASTER RABBIT HERE AGAIN—And in honor of the advent of the shy little animal associated with this spring event, the pupils of Mrs. Chas. La Fontaine's dancing school posed especially for this picture. Left to right, the "bunnies" are Roslyn Woodward Cotter, Madelin Rose Hosmer, Marylea Adams, Helen Robinson Roberts, Laura Bell Jarvis, Hazel Lillian Ashby, Margaret Anderson and Nell Marquardt. (Kenneth Rogers)

ZIEGFELD'S CHOICE—From a group of 45 southern college girls Flo Ziegfeld selected the photo of Miss Grace White, of Greenwood, S. C., as the most beautiful. The girls are sponsors of the various organizations at Baylor Military Institute.

LAST MEETING OF FOCH AND PERSHING—Marshal Foch, the great commander of the allied armies, with General Pershing, inspecting the American cemetery near Paris, just before Foch's death. (International)

STUDENT OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS OF THE JUNIOR PRESS CLUB, an organization composed of representatives of Atlanta schools, are shown in the above picture. Left to right: Boifeuillet Jones, treasurer of the club; Mrs. Louis J. Elsas, chairman Junior Red Cross and founder of the club; W. L. Brady, Jr., president of the club, and Mrs. Louis H. Moss, chairman of the Junior Press club. (Kenneth Rogers)

THE JUNIOR PRESS CLUB OF ATLANTA, a group of boys and girls representing every high school in the city—public as well as private, is shown in the above picture, snapped on the roof of the Capital City club during a "get together" gathering of the members. The Junior Press club, an outgrowth of the Junior Red Cross organization of this city, was formed in the belief that an understanding of publicity and the conducting of a daily newspaper was one form of community service. The central figure in the top row is Clark Howell, Sr., editor of The Constitution, who is cooperating with the embryo newspapermen—and women—by providing a "practice ground" for them at The Constitution. In the first row, directly below Mr. Howell, is W. L. Brady, Jr., president of the Junior Press club, while to the right of young Brady is Boifeuillet Jones, treasurer of the organization. (Kenneth Rogers)

ANITA STEWART TO BE JUNE BRIDE—Famous star of silver screen is engaged to marry George Peabody Converse in New York sometime in June. (Herbert)

TWO DIE IN OIL BLAST—Two men burned to death and scores of workmen were injured when a storage tank of an oil company at Marcus Hook, Pa., recently exploded. The clouds of dense smoke were visible for miles. (Associated Press)

THE MAGIC BEAUTY OF SNOW—Silver Peak, in the Cascade mountains, Washington, clothed in the lovely garment of snow, as glimpsed between two majestic fir trees. (Associated Press)

BRENAU STUDENT PRESIDENT—Miss Dorothy Warthen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Macon Warthen, is president of the Student Government Association and executive council at Brenau college. She will read Paul Kester's play, "Friend Hannah," in the Brenau auditorium on Friday, April 5, as a graduation recital in oratory. Miss Warthen was recently voted Brenau's "most representative girl," and for two years has been one of the college's "six most beautiful girls." (H. C. White Studio)

HOW BROADWAY HITS ARE MADE—A backstage scene from "The Broadway Melody," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer talking, singing, dancing feature picture to be shown at the Capitol theater the week of March 31. The scene shows Bessie Love and Anita Page as "The Mahoney Sisters," a vaudeville team trying out for parts in a Broadway musical comedy.

GIMME A NIBBLE—Sandino, Nicaraguan parrot, recently received from his native land by the Catalina Aviaries at Avalon, Catalina Island, finds consolation in a strange land by eating from the same apple with Antoinette Johnson, of Pasadena. (Associated Press)

WIFE OF REBEL LEADER—Senora Concha Escobar, wife of General Jose Escobar, chieftain of the Mexican revolt, is understood to have brought $100,000 into the United States when she recently crossed the border on a mission for her husband. (Associated Press)

NO DIVOTS IN WATER GOLF—Californians can't leave well enough alone. Now they have to vary the ancient game of Scotland by playing it on the water, with floating rings marking the green. The players wear swimming suits because of the water hazards. (International)

WHERE'S JOHN GILBERT?—Greta Garbo, Swedish movie star, comes back to America after a three-month vacation in her native land. Photo was taken as her vessel, the S. S. Drottningholm, reached New York. (Associated Press)

CURVES AHEAD—The highway through St. Gothard's pass, a famous motor route in Switzerland. It is regarded as one of the little country's greatest engineering achievements. (Herbert)

Songbirds Coming to Atlanta

Some of the famous artists of the Metropolitan Opera company who will delight southern audiences during the annual Atlanta week of grand opera which begins Monday, April 22.

Beniamino Gigli as Lionel in "Marta."

Lucrezia Bori as Magda in "La Rondine."

(Above) Giuseppe Danise as Barnaba in "La Gioconda."

Edward Johnson as Faust in "Faust."

(Left) Lawrence Tibbett as Valentin in "Faust."

(Above) Armand Tokatyan as Prunier in "La Rondine."

Rosa Ponselle as Gioconda in "La Gioconda."

(Left) Aida Dominelli as Pousette in "Mignon."

ONE OF SCREEN'S LOVELIEST—Leila Hyams, a featured player with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, is, according to the best judges of Hollywood, surely destined for stardom. They base their predictions on her looks—anyone will agree on that point—and her voice, which is said to be one of the best yet tested for the "talkies."

RECENT BRIDE—Mrs. Robert Paul Hood, formerly Miss Judith Mason McDaniel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alton R. McDaniel, of Calhoun, Ga. (Photo by Underwood & Underwood)

A DEAD MAN'S PHOTOS—These four remarkable pictures were developed from the exposed film in the camera of Charles Traub, cameraman killed when the Triplex speed car, driven by Lee Bible, crashed recently at Daytona Beach. In the last photo the car may be seen headed toward Traub just before it went out of control.

HATS ARE BLOOMING! These Panama hats didn't grow this way. They are merely arranged thus at an English bleaching and drying field. (International)

THEY SAY THE MONK IS PRICELESS—It is unnecessary to comment upon the rarity of such girls as Sally Blane, Radio Pictures starlet and Wampas Baby star. The monkey is a Humboldt woolly from Brazil.

OLD HATS MADE NEW

We also dye all kinds of straw hats to any desired shade. Superior workmanship and reasonable prices. Give us a trial.

James Hat Cleaning Parlor

19 Peachtree St.

IVy 8937

GEORGIA CHORAL CLUB—The choral club of Wesleyan conservatory, of Macon, the nucleus from which next season's Glee club will be formed. In the picture, front row (seated), left to right: Pauline Bould, of Vicksburg, Miss.; Janie Sims, Wiens, Ga.; Estelle Lang, St. Marys, Ga.; Alice McElroy, Ocala, Ga. (president); Evelyn Crawford, Macon, and Marie Jones, Macon. Center row (seated): Rosa Vickers, Brunswick; Josephine Fuqua, Unadilla, Ga.; Elizabeth Holcombe, Macon, and Josephine Hunt, Dawson. Back row (standing): Cora Mae Pilon, Ocala, Fla.; Lynn Torbert, Atlanta; Mildred Goodrun, Newnan; Carolyn Waters, Gainesville, Ga.; Winifred Darsey, Griffin; Mary McCord, Atlanta; Clyde Tabor, Perry, Ga.; Mary Hudson, Newnan; Marjorie Bailey, Harlem, Ga.; Alice Rustin, Charleston; Eleanor Stanford, Atlanta; Elizabeth Chapman, Sylvania, Ga.; Geraldine Howell, Headland, Ala., and Frances Upchurch, Atlanta. (Hillyer C. Warlick)

In Atlanta THE LINCOLN

Lincoln manufacturers have demonstrated the commanding superiority of design and engineering craftsmanship that is extended in the building of this magnificent motor car. The proof of these facts to the people of this section is our allotment and if you will allow us the opportunity of a demonstration—you will not mistake the outstanding beauty and distinctive qualifications of this new Lincoln.

Let Us Demonstrate This Marvel of Modern Motor Car Construction.

Grant-Harris-Rippey COMPANY

Temporary Location

505 West Peachtree St.

HEm. 2955

NEW WATER FLASH TO COMPETE IN ALBANY-NEW YORK RACE—The ski-boat will be driven by its inventor, Sydney Breese, in the April outboard marathon. A system of hydro-folls lifts the craft so that the hull does not touch the water when the boat is going full speed.

(Above)
MISS ANNE RIDLEY, of Atlanta, most intelligent.

(Right)
MISS IDA NEVIN, of Atlanta, best all-round student.

MISS HARRIET WYNNE, of Atlanta, most courteous.

YOU CAN DRIVE YOUR LINCOLN AT NORMAL SPEED THE VERY FIRST DAY YOU OWN IT

SAY what you will, it takes a little from the joy of motoring . . . this business of "breaking in." The car is like a swift horse straining at the bit. The power is there. The speed is there. But you can't use them. For the first five hundred miles, you have been told, "you had better keep her under thirty miles an hour."

That is an annoyance that the Lincoln owner is fortunately spared. For the Lincoln is made so accurately, with such extraordinary precision—in many cases 1/15th of a hair's breadth!—that all its parts fit perfectly from the start. There is no need of wearing in motor bearings or pistons. It would be just as ludicrous to talk of breaking in your watch.

That is why you can drive your Lincoln at normal speed the very first day you own it. And that is typical of Lincoln methods from start to finish. For the Lincoln is as good inside as it is out.

Its beauty, its power, its profound comfort and stability spring from a single source . . . the high resolve of its makers to build as nearly perfect a motor car as it is possible to produce.

THE 7-PASSENGER SEDAN
A capacious yet graceful closed car seating seven persons with ease, and suitable either for town or country use. Its luxurious upholstery, unique spring suspension, and perfect balance achieve exceptional comfort.

"AS NEARLY PERFECT A MOTOR CAR AS IT IS POSSIBLE TO PRODUCE"

THE LINCOLN

Washington Seminary's "Who's Who" Girls

Here are the "most" students of the fashionable Atlanta school for young women on Peach-tree road, elected recently by student body voting. The pictures are supplied by the Rogers & Farmer studio.

(Above)
MISS CLARE JONES, of Atlanta, most representative.

(Right)
MISS PEGGY UNDERWOOD, of Atlanta, most popular.

(Above)
MISS JAQUELIN MOORE, of Atlanta, most attractive.

(Left)
MISS BETTY MATTHEWS, of Thomaston, Ga., prettiest.

MISS MODENA McPHERSON, of Atlanta, most athletic.

(Right)
WHOOPIE! LUPE IS A STAR
—Lupe Velez, the screen's little Mexican madcap, hereafter will shine at the top of the movie heap. Starting in the cabarets, Lupe played bits before the camera, then assumed feature roles, and now is a full-fledged star.

THAT PERFECT PROFILE—Slim body lines won Joyce Blanche Murray a long-term movie contract. She holds the world's endurance record for toe-dancing, 17 minutes.

"DREAM SHIP" OF THE AIR—Here's a model of the giant air liner conceived and designed by Claude H. Freese, Los Angeles plane designer. Specifications call for a "plane-dirigible" 500 feet long, 180 feet wide capable of carrying 500 passengers from the west coast to Europe. (Herbert)

HONORED AT SHORTER COLLEGE—Miss Grace Jackson, of Atlanta, member of the junior class of the Rome, Ga., school for young women, has been elected vice president of the student government for the coming year. (Owen Lively)

PLAYMATES—The two boon companions of four-year-old Theodore Marks, son of a famous animal trainer, are "Pole" and "Tom," two cats of very different type. (International)

SINGS AT U. D. C. MEETING—Miss Susanne Adair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Green B. Adair, of Atlanta, in costume of the Sixties when she sang "The Conquered Banner" for the patriotic society. (George Cornett)

A GOOD EXAMPLE FOR GEORGIA TO FOLLOW—This is the kind of through state highways our sister state, South Carolina, is now building. These are scenes on two recently constructed highways and the state has just voted a $65,000,000 bond issue to complete the system.

(Left) JUST PLAYING—"Marco," pet teddy bear of a Hollywood movie studio, and "Napoleon," movie police dog, enjoy a romp after a session under the Kleig lights. (International)

(Above) SAFETY ON THE ICE is assured by this "ice-mobile," which is taking Professor J. W. Sandstrom, Swedish meteorologist, over the frozen waters of the Baltic on tours of exploration. (International)

A portrait study by Richard N. Speaight, F. R. P. S., of London whose work will be a notable part of the portrait exhibit at the Biltmore.

Walton Reeves Biltmore Studio

BILTMORE HOTEL

Respectfully commends to your attention a remarkable collection of portraits by the foremost photographers of Europe, to be presented by

Richard N. Speaight, F. R. P. S., the Distinguished London Court Photographer

BILTMORE HOTEL BALLROOM

Tuesday, April 2nd, Nine Until Six

Wednesday, April 3rd, Nine Until Noon

(Tuesday Evening is Reserved for Members of the Photographic Profession Exclusively)

The exhibit, significant both for its unexcelled artistry and the social and political eminence of the subjects, is held under the auspices of the Eastman Kodak Company.

WHERE 14 PLUNGED TO DEATH—The wreckage of this once proud bi-motored passenger plane photographed after the craft had crashed into a moving freight train at Newark, N. J. All passengers on the sight-seeing trip being made by the plane met death. (International)

(Right) WHERE THE INDIAN PENNY ORIGINATED—Plume, full-blooded Indian of the Waterton Lakes National park reservation in the Canadian Rockies, wears the tribal feathered head-piece from which the United States modeled the Indian copper penny. (Associated Press)

FOR THE GLORY OF A DICTATOR—After five years of toil by engineers and workmen, a great monolith of solid marble weighing forty tons has been taken from its earth bed at Cerrera, Italy. Forty teams of oxen were required to drag the mighty stone to the sea, where a ship took it to Rome. The great boulder will be converted into a memorial to Benito Mussolini. (International)

SOMETHING NEW IN AERIAL PHOTOGRAPHY—This view of Washington was taken at night by Captain Albert W. Stevens in an army plane. Flash bombs were used to provide light; the negative was developed in the air and delivered to the American Telephone and Telegraph company by parachute. Thence it was dispatched by wire to cities all over the country.

Why Fat Had to Go

Fashion Forbade It

A few years ago, Paris forbade fat. All her styles were created for the slender. Then there came a tide of disapproval for obesity, both in men and women. Youth and beauty, health and vigor demanded its reduction.

Then science came in. It found that a great cause of excess fat lay in a defective gland. By thousands of experiments on animals it found that excess fat could be banished by correcting this deficiency. That is one great reason why excess fat has been disappearing fast. You see that in every circle. Slender figures are the rule. Mothers look like daughters. Not by starving, not by over-work, but by scientific measures.

The greatest factors in this fight on fat are embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for over 20 years—millions of boxes of them. Users have told others the results. Thus, year by year, the use has grown until it is now enormous.

Try this modern method. No abnormal exercise or diet is required. Correct the cause. Watch the fat go, day by day. Watch the new health and new vigor. Do it because this is the right way and the tried way to end obesity. Don't delay. Many new joys are waiting for you when you get weight down to normal.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist is out, he will get them at once from his jobber.

MARMOLA
Prescription Tablets
The Pleasant Way to Reduce

A Wise Woman Trains Her Bowels!

When elimination is perfect, there is seldom an ache or ailment. Even the complexion shows what calcium does for the system.

Do you know that only an occasional tiny calcium wafer will soon have your system functioning every day—of its own accord? How much better than salts or harsh cathartics!

Calcium wafers keep you fastidiously clean inside, and gives a skin you read about! Ask a physician.

Try Them!

A five-day test will prove to you very conclusively the system's need for calcium wafers and the decided benefit from these little wafers. Your druggist has them.

FULL BOX FREE

Enough for full test—ample to prove the value to you of Marmola's calcium wafers—will be sent you. If you mail this coupon to the Marmola Co., Dept. C-3432, Marshall, Mich.

Name _____
Address _____
City _____
State _____
Zip _____

At All Drug Stores: 15¢ or 60¢ boxes

Calcium Wafers

FILM FAVORITE TO WED AGAIN—Bryant Washburn, pioneer of screenland who was divorced a year ago, will marry Miss Dahlia Pears, known on the screen as Virginia Vance (Associated Press)

Mercolized Wax Keeps Skin Young

Mercolized Wax is a new skin cream that keeps the skin young and smooth. It is made of natural waxes and is free of all harmful chemicals. It is the best skin cream for all skin types.

See these fascinating Ocean Islands ...that rise from the blue Pacific

Out of the gleaming Pacific emerges Catalina!

SET foot on Catalina, or other islands that dot the coast of Southern California—and you are in another world! Great masses of rock rise precipitately from the placid blue Pacific! Catalina, with its colorful harbor and gay beach is a scenic wonderland alone worth a trip to Southern California this Summer—and but a 30-mile sail from the harbor of Los Angeles where steamers also leave for Hawaii, and the Oriental ports.

From Santa Barbara to San Diego broad, safe beaches, rocky headlands and alluring beach cities give vacation visitors a thrilling change of scene. Before you, the vast Pacific! Several miles out are the deep sea fishing barges; sail boats dot the ocean. Now, a great steam yacht cuts her way up the coast. Speed boats dash along with joyous parties. Beaches are alive with water and sun bathers.

If you prefer aquatic sports, come to Southern California for your vacation. But, if you are a "land lubber," new things to see and do are without end. From the moment you arrive in Los Angeles, Pacific Coast metropolis, entertainment is endless, night as well as day. Hollywood is part of Los Angeles. Here are the great picture studios and homes of screen stars whom you see everywhere—at the cafes, hotels and theatres. Here also is world-famous Hollywood Bowl with its "Symphonies under the Stars" at night.

Today you may visit the Orange Empire. (See the Old Spanish Missions en route.) Tomorrow, a fascinating mountain trip, for Mts. Lowe and Wilson are only a few miles away. Take in Old Mexico, too, and see Tia Juana and Agua Caliente. If you are interested in big business, drive through the oil fields rated at a billion dollars. Los Angeles County's agricultural output alone approximates $95,000,000.

Plan now to come this summer. Summer rates are in effect from May 15 until October 31. You may see the entire Pacific Coast for little extra expense.

Mail the coupon at once for "Southern California through the Camera," a new and valuable book in gravure containing 73 large pictures.

All Your Club of Southern California, Div. 1-B
1151 So. Broadway, Los Angeles, Calif.

Please send me your free book "Southern California Through the Camera." Also booklets telling especially of the attractions in the counties which I have checked.

☐ Los Angeles ☐ Riverside ☐ San Bernardino ☐ Santa Barbara

☐ Los Angeles Sports ☐ Orange ☐ Ventura ☐ San Diego

Name _____
Street _____
City _____ State _____

Atlanta Junior Leaguers Model Rich's Bridal Fashions

M. CALLUM HOSE sheer as mist. Of clear chiffon with picot tops. Delicate blush pink. Priced at $2.50.

These white satin opera pumps, for the bride, may also be ordered any color desired to match the costumes of her maids. $12.50.

FLOWERED CHIFFON afternoon ensemble. In black and capucine. With sleeveless ruffled jacket. From the Misses' Shop ....$49.50

GOING AWAY ENSEMBLE of Lelong blue flat crepe. Off-white blouse piped in blue. A Carolyn model from the Misses' Shop .....$49.50

THE WEDDING GOWN of starched chiffon in blush pink. From the Misses' Shop .....$49.50
Flesh tulle veil with flesh gardenias—draped after manner of Lelong, $25. Veils draped free of charge in Lace Department, street floor.

PEARL BEADS in 60-inch length. Ivory colored. $1.95
CHIFFON KERCHIEF edged with cream lace. $1
CHANEL'S MAGNOLIA PERFUME $5

TENNIS FROCK of white crepe. One piece with pleated skirt. Topped with velvet pique jacket in cerise. From the Misses' Shop .....$18
Jacket from the Sports Shop .....$16.50

THE BRIDESMAID FROCK of starched chiffon in chartreuse. From Misses' Shop ....$49.50
(Special orders for Bridesmaid Dresses in any color.)

STERLING SILVER Candlesticks, pr. ....$2.49
Sterling Cream and Sugar Set .....$9.95
Sterling Mayonnaise Set with ladle .....$4.45

GOWN ENSEMBLE in chartreuse. Gown of flat crepe edged in wide bandings of rose beige lace. Georgette jacket to match .....$15.95

HARTMANN'S TOUROBE, covered in canvas, speckled in brown and cream, striped in brown. $55
Hat Box to match. ....$27.50

M. RICH & BROS. CO.

ATLANTA, GA., SUNDAY, MORNING, MARCH 31, 1929

Little Orphan Annie

SUNDAY, MARCH 31, 1929

ATLANTA, GA., SUNDAY, MARCH 31, 1929.

WHO IS THAT EGG?

GASOLINE ALLEY

- KING

WINNE WINKLE

THE BREADWINNER

LET'S HAVE SOME FUN WHILE THE BOSS IS OUT!! WE'LL TAKE THIS SUNDAY PAGE APART! HEY SPUD, YOU AND CHINK GRAB THAT LINE OVER THERE!

YEAH, BUT WATCH OUT FOR THAT TOP LINE! IT'S FALLING!

GET READY TO CATCH IT DUMB-BELL!

THERE - THAT'S A GOOD LETTER "A" !!

THAT'S FINE! THAT LETTER "P" IS ALL RIGHT!

WELL, THAT AIN'T SUCH A BAD LOOKING "R" !!

I'LL TAKE CARE OF LETTER "I" MYSELF! YOU FELLERS CAN TAKE A REST !!

AND THIS LETTER "L" IS EASY TO MAKE!

WELL, THAT SPELLS "APRIL" !!

THAT'S A GOOD "F"!

THIS AIN'T SUCH A GOOD LETTER "O"! THAT TOP LINE IS SAGGING THERE !!

THIS LETTER "O" AIN'T MUCH BETTER'N THE LAST ONE! THAT TOP LINE IS FALLING THE OTHER WAY NOW !!

AND THIS IS "L", THE LAST LETTER!

THAT'S RIGHT! WE MADE AN APRIL FOOL OUT OF TH' BOSS' SUNDAY PAGE, DIDN'T WE ??

HURRY UP FELLERS! WE GOTTA PUT THESE LINES BACK THE WAY THEY WERE! HERE COMES THE BOSS TO SIGN HIS NAME ON THIS PAGE !!

JUST IN TIME!

BEAT IT!

WAIT FOR ME!

BREADWINNER

EASY!

WHAT TO DO ?? WHAT TO DO ??

MY GOOD MAN, WHAT'S WRONG?

I'M FAR FROM HOME -

AND I GOT A LETTER FROM MY WIFE WHICH WORRIES ME TERRIBLY -

WHY SO?

SHE WROTE THAT SHE IS ALL UNSTRUNG.

WELL, - SEND HER A WIRE -

ATLANTA, GA., MONDAY MORNING, MARCH 31, 1929

SOMEBODY'S STENOGR

by A.E. Hayward

Registered in U. S. Patent Office

Copyright, 1929, by Pottle Ledger

3-31

The SUNDAY CONSTITUTION MAGAZINE

ATLANTA, GA., SUNDAY, MARCH 31, 1929

Drawn by J. Scott Williams

An Easter Flower

BY ALFRED NOYES

"To make one petal, myriads of atoms (each in itself a planetary system of electrons) must climb and wheel to their exact stations in the design."

Up-whispered by what Power,
Deeper than moon or sun,
Must each of the myriad atoms of this flower
To its own point of the colored pattern run;

Each atom, from earth's gloom,
A clean sun-cluster driven
To make, at its bright goal, one grain of bloom,
Or fleck with rose one petal's edge in Heaven?

What blind roots lifted up
This sacramental sign,
Transmuting their dark food, in this wild cup
Of glory, to what Heavenly bread and wine?

What Music was concealed,
What Logos in this loam,
That the Celestial Beauty here revealed
Should thus be struggling back to its lost home?

Whence was the radiant storm,
The still up-rushing song,
That built of formless earth this heavenly form,
Redeeming, with art, the world's blind wrong,

Unlocking everywhere
The spirit's wintry prison,
And whispering from the grave, "Not here! Not here!
He is not dead. The Light you seek is risen!"

Going to the Devil

Will the Younger Generation, In Its Search for Reality, Find Only Disillusionment? Or Will It Eventually Discover a Truer Happiness Than Its Parents Have Ever Known? Read This Interesting Eastertide Discussion of the Subject

BY THE REV. RANDOLPH RAY, D. D.

Rector of the Little Church Around the Corner, New York City

GOING to the Devil!" I have heard that phrase so many times during these last few years, in connection with our young people, that if I did not know better I should almost begin to believe it. They do make a mess of things sometimes—more's the pity—but so do many of us who are much older and wiser and who ought to know better.

Searching for Reality and Happiness, that is what they are doing, these youngsters. And most of the time they are in such a hurry to find out things for themselves that they ask the question and run along without waiting for an answer.

When one feels Happiness, has one necessarily found Reality? Are Reality and Happiness at the end of the same road? It is a philosophical question. Some say that Illusion is the only road to Happiness. Maya has been worshipped in some form in all ages. Alas! we know that a very good symbol of the period called "Victorian" is the ostrich with its head carefully buried in the ground. Was that method an easier solution than driving sixty miles an hour with eyes wide open and a cigarette in one's mouth, seeing everything but stopping for nothing?

What, after all, is Reality—and where can I find Happiness? I am a preacher—I should know. Do I? Is it possible to know how one felt at twenty when one is forty? Feeling is a thing of the present. One does not feel in the past nor can one feel in the future. It is a thing of the now—it is NOW. Happiness and Reality to the young are emotional reactions, no matter what they may mean at forty.

If one could feel exactly as one felt at twenty I am perfectly sure that one would not feel that one's young son and daughter are going to the Devil. Hence the saying, "You are as young as you feel." To understand the modern youth, one must feel young. It would seem to me that both the ostrich and the motorist are ignoring reality, and both must sooner or later come a cropper.

"I want to be real," said a clever newspaper woman to me as she gazed admiringly at Trader Horn's flowing beard. "That," she said, "is reality. I wonder if I have the capacity for such realism?"

"You haven't the capacity for such a patriarchal beard," I answered facetiously.

But after all, I mused, perhaps it amounts to the same thing in the long run—an old man with a long beard may be many things—a bearded woman would be only a freak in a side show!

"So, you see," I said to a would-be very daring young flapper, fascinated with the intelligentsia, with a taste for Freud and the night club habit, "I do not believe that you are bad, not really so—just inexperienced. Hungry to know and eager to go! Some people call your pace 'going to the Devil'—I rather think she was shocked because I was not shocked—but, I, too, am looking for Reality and I find it every day in this same generation of boys and girls. A better name for your would-be orgies—physical and intellectual—is 'Quest for Reality.'"

After a bit we settled down to a heart-to-heart talk and she forgot about Judge Lindsey's new book, which she had brought along to confute all of my church ideas of marriage, and I lost my impatience with her as I found that really she was very ambitious, working hard at her art five hours a day. She was brimming with idealism, eagerness and earnestness. She was pretty, and only nineteen.

I repeat, they are not bad, these young people of today—just eager. Impatient of cant or pretense, in revolt against the great god Conventionality. Twenty-five years ago the fathers and mothers of today were just as full of life, of sex—of the devil, if you please.

It was fashionable then to be conventional. The "Gay Nineties" did not allow the right hand to know what the left hand

"They of the '90s
Were Not More
Virtuous; Nor Do I Believe That These
Youngsters of 1929
Are More Vicious."

reached for, certainly not what the left hand clutched and held. They knew nothing of Freud, and dreams had no meanings except those found in the dream book. A spade was never a spade, even when used to dig a grave or cover garbage. They spoke in asides of things "under the rose"—there was a delicate aura and aroma of violets and lavender which permeated their conversation. They did things because other people did, and expected them to do them too. If they did not have a virtue they assumed it.

The present-day crowd seems to have gone to the other extreme. Their motto would seem to be "conceal your virtues and parade your vices." As a matter of fact, I think there is an even break. They of the '90s were not more virtuous, nor do I believe that these youngsters of 1929 are more vicious.

Different points of view make life seem very changed. Perhaps they have lost some of the attributes that life must have. Sometimes it does seem that they are lacking in courtesy and reverence. Certain it is that civilization without these two attributes would decline rather than progress.

Standing in a busy railway station recently, waiting impatiently for a woman to buy her ticket at the window, I marveled at the patience and continued courtesy of a very young clerk. His poise and kindness, under most trying and provoking circumstances with dozens of people waiting in line, was equal to that of any gentleman of the old school.

A well known woman came to me some time ago much distressed about her nineteen-year-old daughter. I knew the girl very well—she was pretty and very clever—certainly, from her mother's point of view she was wild. Authority she recognized only in her desire for self-expression. An understanding preacher has recently defined sin as an error in self-expression. This young woman had spent a hectic year of the unconventional life of a debutante in conventional New York society.

According to the mother's story, our young lady had tried a great many things during the year, including an elopement with an equally wild youngster, bent on self-expression, late one night after a country club party. She had thought better about the matter, however, and early the next morning returned to her home. Nothing had occurred—she had been indiscreet—she had changed her mind—her family was shocked.

There was a battle of words and general misunderstanding. The young lady could not see anything wrong in her conduct and consequently had nothing to conceal. She boasted openly of her escapade. Father and mother burned with Victorian shame; that is a very dreadful burn. The daughter soon left home—got a job and an apartment. That was little more than a year ago. I counseled patience and confidence. Today that young woman is in the way of becoming a most useful citizen. She deplores the idleness of her former friends and feels that her mother would be much happier if she had a more disciplined life. Can you beat it?

A little while ago everybody was singing "I Want to Be Happy," from a popular Broadway musical comedy. The popularity was due to a great deal more than its tuneful melody. It expressed the desire, the aspiration, the determined purpose of this generation, and it became a modern sermon as it warbled on, "want you to be happy, too."

The Quest for Happiness—that is what it is—and each generation must make its own search. The experience of the former generation always is ignored, and we of that generation call their adventures "going to the devil." They make their exploits today in airplanes and very swift motor cars. We went on horseback and in steam cars. When they smash, it seems to us much worse than the accidents of our day. I wonder! They criticize us—our deportment, our reserve, our business and social methods, and call our regard for public opinion hypocrisy; Polonius and good form—Sunday clothes and best fee—all are definite relics of the Victorian Age.

They even criticize our religion, the darling little devils—it would seem they might revere the Church and Grandmother. They do not, the dears—even when Grandma drinks gin and frequents night clubs. Nor the Church either, not even when Dr. John Haynes Holmes agrees with Judge Lindsey about marriage and birth control and Dr. Guthrie revels in rhythmic fantasies in old St. Mark's.

Perhaps they are right! It is true that our smug Victorian religion did not prevent the Great War—nor did it do very much for business methods and social practices.

I, for one, would not have the old days back—I, too, want Reality. It can be gained only by living in the time when one is alive. That time is NOW! Present conditions and problems are ours! We have not given our young people any too good examples. We talk and make laws and think our duty is done—as we proceed to break the laws we have made and by our actions show that we do not really believe the precepts that our tongues so glibly utter.

These young people snap their fingers in our faces as they cry "A fig for your precepts—I want a good time and I recognize no authority but the needs of my nature—we won't say one thing and do another—we won't pretend"—and on they dance, wildly, madly, like gambling beasts of the field—or so it would seem.

Yet here is the paradox. Never before have there been so many young women who do not have to work—doing serious work. They are nurses in hospitals, working hard in all of the professions. The business world is full of them, and this is true also of our young men. There is a determination to make life count. I want to be happy, but I want you to be happy, too—this is their motto. The new generation does not want something for nothing. I find that they are ready to pay. They want value received, but they are willing to pay market value.

They have lost some things which I, for one, hope they never will be able to find. Prudishness very often leads to pruriency. It is a beautiful sign that our youngsters are not prudish. They certainly are frank. There need be nothing immoral in calling things by their real names. Nor need there be anything dreadful in the easy comradeship of the sexes. It is very difficult for those who were brought up in a different generation to concede this. Their suspicions arouse anger and, worse still, the ridicule of these youngsters. This is fatal. This is where the former generation comes into the picture. The immature always need the guidance of the mature and it is equally true that youth must ever lead its elders.

Generations dovetail into one another. The law of evolution sees to it that there are no drastic changes all of a sudden, no really new creations. The seed, the blade, the ear—that is the law of progress. Do you not see my drift? If the youthful are to be helped, they must be understood. They must be respected. The older generation must seek to be guides, not reformers. God knows that they need guidance, just as their elders did when they were crossing the same old bridges that seem so new today.

Life is really beautiful, an adventure well worth the making!

"This is preacher stuff," my young friend interrupts. "For God's sake, don't talk platitudes!"

"Aha!" I answer. "Nothing annoys me, my flapper friend, more than to be told I am talking platitudes!" But Life is a platitude! It is so usual—just one thing after another! The same problems in each generation!

It was the much bored Solomon who declared there was no new thing under the sun, and I am sure that my friend Will Rogers would say the old king was right. So I stand by my guns. Life is a beautiful adventure, and I am sure that the boys and girls who excite so much adverse comment today will be the stalwart leaders of tomorrow. Take, for example, the most outstanding of the younger generation just coming to age, whose achievements speak for themselves—the youth Lindbergh, and in him see the Reality that eagerness and daring can find!

(Copyright, 1929, for The Constitution.)

It's Your Birthday

A Blue Ribbon Short Story

By Alice M. Williamson

When the Typist Queen of London Met the Chewing Gum King of New York, Romance Stepped Up to the Footlights and Made a Bow

HE awakened with the sense of something hanging over her.

Twenty-nine! Disgusting to be twenty-nine! You might as well be thirty, because when you told people you were twenty-nine, they sprung instantly to the conclusion that you lied.

Besides being her birthday, it was Sunday. It would be!

She had not been allowed, as a child, to play games on the "Sabbath." She had been made to go to church twice and listen to her grandfather's sermons.

Her mother (a sweet, sweet person) had named her Rose—the last name she ought to have had! She had stayed at home and been dutiful to her mother, who was delicate, and had taken care of her grandfather, who suffered with rheumatism and was cross at home, though to outsiders he was the vicar and venerable. At last both died within a few months of each other—mother of influenza, grandfather of—well, he had just crumbled.

Rose was given a second-hand typewriter for her eighteenth birthday (yes, actually her eighteenth! when other girls had chocolates and books and flowers!) in order to "learn to be useful to grandfather."

Well, she had learned to be useful to him and she was now useful to herself. She had become very skilled indeed, and here she'd been in London for the last eight years with "Willie Ardsley: Typist: Open Day and Night."

There was no Willie. It was a "firm name," and sounded so attractive that Willie Ardsley's typewriting establishment near Piccadilly was one of the most successful in town.

As for Rose, next to Willie, himself (that is, Mr. James Ealing, manager) she was what you might call top-dog. She could choose the work she liked best, provided always that she worked—worked—worked. Well, that was that—and enough about it!

In the worthier moments Rose read Bernard Shaw, and Yeats, and H. G. Wells, and the Stilwells; and volumes representing these minds stood where they showed most on her bookshelves.

Rose had never, since coming to London to live, been in a better restaurant than one in Soho where you got quite an elaborate Italian dinner, a jazz band and day before yesterday's vase of flowers thrown in for the fixed price of four shillings and six pence. The hero who once took her there had no profile nor shoulders to speak of. He was a writer of short stories for magazines, and had met her in the course of business, for Willie Ardsley typed all his MSS. He was quite successful. He didn't care much for her, and she cared as little for him. But he was the one young man in her life; and every girl knows that any man is better than none.

Well, she looked at herself in the dressing table mirror with that twenty-ninth birthday look. If she'd had smart clothes she might have had a smart figure. She was neither brunette nor blonde. She had much mouse colored hair and large mouse colored eyes.

She was neither tall nor short, thin nor plump. But she had perfect teeth, and her lashes were almost beautiful. Also she had a pretty chin and throat.

She scowled and felt fiendish. "I'll make a birthday present to myself of an adventure," she spoke aloud. "If possible, with a man in it, a good looking man. I'll pick and choose, even if I can't keep him for more than five minutes."

All young women, even those who think they've given up hope (they never have really!) own one pretty costume with everything to match. Rose Rendel owned one. She put it on, and at eleven-thirty walked out of the house into May sunshine.

She went on and on, until she came to that part of town where Front Page people live: Lovely Ladyships and Popular Debutantes.

Crossing aimlessly into Hill street she jumped out of the way of a limousine and turned with a reproachful glare. But the man driving did not see her.

He slowed down his car and stopped in front of a house. He then leaped out, slammed the car door without locking it, glanced at his wrist watch and mounted the porch.

Rose walked past very slowly and saw the visitor admitted by a footman. At that moment rain began to patter down; a few fat drops. One fell on her head and shot an idea into it. She opened the rear door of the limousine, stepped in and seated herself on springy gray cushions, most becoming to her pale purple dress.

"Now we'll see!" she said.

And ten minutes later she did. The young man strode out of the house, evidently without waiting for the assistance of the footman. He banged the door behind him as a short time ago he had banged the front door of his car. But fury now, not of eager anticipation, and he was in before he noticed that the back seat was occupied.

"I beg your pardon!" he exclaimed. And Rose knew that he was an American.

She was reckless. "I beg yours," she said. "But you owe me something."

He stared. "Owe you something?"

"Yes," Rose insisted. "You nearly ran over me a little while ago. So I thought you owed me shelter from the rain."

"One is doing it now. That is, if you call me young. I'm thirty-three."

"So glad some one's older than I am!" said Rose. "I'm twenty-nine today. Really twenty-nine, not thirty!"

"You look about twenty-five, and—" he stopped short.

"And?" she repeated.

"I was going to say—and you act about fifteen."

"I feel fifteen—now," Rose said. "Before you nearly killed me I felt a hundred. It's like being born again."

He stared at her once more.

"When I came out of that house," he said, "I felt two hundred."

Rose glanced up at the house windows. "Haven't we better start? She may be wondering."

"Will you change over and sit on the front seat beside me!" her host suggested.

"I had one more reason for taking a box," said Jack Grimes.

"I'm awfully sorry," he said. (He really had a very nice face.)

"You do look awfully sorry about something!" Rose said. "Something else."

"Well," he admitted, "I am. But never mind! I'm glad you took shelter. Can I—er—drive you home?"

"I haven't got a home," said Rose. "It's my birthday. I promised myself a present of an adventure. This is it. I didn't expect it to last more than five minutes! If you'll drive me to the top of Regent street, where I can get a bus, I should say the five minutes would be just about up."

The man looked at her in a different way. He was seeing her now as a woman, a creature of some individuality and interest.

"I'll do nothing of the sort!" he exclaimed. "I haven't got any home either, worth speaking of, and it seems now as if I never would have one. Would you understand that I mean well if I asked you to lunch with me? I thought I had an engagement, but I haven't."

"I need only to look at you to see that you mean well," answered Rose. "And I'd love to go to lunch with you."

"Where?" asked the man. "You must choose."

"Ever since I came to work in London I've always wished a young man would invite me to lunch or dine at the Savoy," said Rose, "and no one ever has."

Rose did, and hoped the Other Woman saw the maneuver.

"Are you a prince?" Rose inquired, when, without question, they were bowed to one of the most charming tables in the Savoy restaurant.

"I happen to be staying here. That's the secret," explained the man. "No, I'm not a prince; I'm a king. That's the trouble! That's why she turned me down today. She prefers even an earl to a—chewing gum king. That's what I am—the Chewing Gum King of New York. You may as well know it, and speak now, or forever after hold your peace!"

"I'll speak now," said Rose. He looked surprised. "And what will you say?"

"I confess to the Chewing Gum King of New York that I'm the Typist Queen of London. To be a Chewing Gum King means you have to be a multimillionaire."

"Well, it does," the king admitted. "I really am somebody at home, and I deserve to be, for when I came out of college I pitched in and redeemed my father's gum—I mean his business—from going bankrupt because it was so darned old fashioned, and struck out a few peppy ideas that won me the kingship. What does that mean over here, though? If she introduced me to a room full of her marquises and earls, her friend, Jack Grimes, of the homo class, they'd give me a fish-eyed stare to show me there are no Grimes. Then, if she explained me the Grimes, the Chewing Gum King, they'd probably faint. It's not done, you know! In London society a Chewing Gum King isn't just something the cat brought in. He's what the cat turned up its nose at. Why, she made an engagement to lunch with me at Henley today—"

"Who did? The cat?" Rose cut in.

"Well, by George, I almost thought so, when she said I was 'quite mistaken'; she'd promised ages ago to lunch at Claridge's with Lord Dedes. And Dedes was on the spot with words, to back her up."

"No wonder you banged the door when you came out and maybe murdered the footman," murmured Rose.

He was looking at her with real interest now.

"Tell me," he said, "who you are besides the Typist Queen."

"Isn't that enough," Rose smiled, feeling very gay and happy, "to know about a person you're never likely to meet again after—well, let's say three o'clock?"

"Who says I'm never going to meet you again?" challenged the Chewing Gum King.

"Fate, I should think!" said Rose. "Rose Rendel's my name. It was down in south Devonshire where I was the not very dear old vicar's not very dutiful granddaughter that unwittingly I fitted myself for my present queenhood. My royal palace is a Bloomsbury lodging house where I make my own breakfast, never eat lunch, and generally dine on a boiled egg and baked apple, because it isn't once in a blue moon that I get asked out."

"What are London men thinking about?" the man from New York wanted to know.

"Not about me, anyhow. You've got your ideas about Typist Queens from the movie queens! Here most of us belong to the superfluous two million. I know only one man. I type his stories. His heroes know that hearts are more than coronets and simple faith than Norman blood. But he doesn't feel that way about life, himself. The only place he has in it for a Typist Queen is a Soho restaurant for a four-and-six penny dinner now and then when somebody else has left him in the lurch. As for you, you treat me to the Savoy and a cocktail and caviar, all three for the first time in my life. I wish to goodness he'd walk in here and see me now. He'd think twenty times as much of me as he ever thought before."

"Then he isn't worth your thinking about at all," preached Grimes.

"No. If he weren't the only man I know, except you; whereas you can have as many girls in your life as you like; yet you think about the one who—went to Claridge's with Lord Dedes."

"I followed her to England because I hadn't thought about much of anything else since I met her. This has put the lid on! I'm not going to think of her any more."

"Are you sure?" wondered Rose.

Again one of those earnest, wide-eyed boyish stares.

"Wouldn't you help me?" he asked.

"How could I help you?" Rose blushed.

"Well, you say you know only one man in London besides her, and that girl's you. It looks as if Providence had thrown us together to be useful to each other."

"Useful" is a mild word for what you are to me," said Rose. "You're ornamental! If I could help you half as much as you've helped me today, I—"

"You've helped me twice as much already! And you can keep on in the same way," the king assured her. "Lunches. Teas. Yes, I'll even turn into a tea hound, if you want me to! Dinners. Theaters. What do you say?"

"You're certain it's not the cocktail making you feel like this?"

"Cocktail! It would take ten cocktails to make me feel at all, today. No. It's you that makes me feel. You're better than a side car when a man's down and out."

"Good gracious! A side car?"

"It's a kind of cocktail. You must try one next time."

"Will there really be a next time?"

"One or two every day if you're willing. Unless you're afraid the four-and-six penny fellow may object."

"Would you mind if he did?"

"Not a bit."

It's Your Birthday

"And I'd be delighted. It would be a feather in my cap."

"Seems an easy way to provide yourself with a feather. Could I take you where he'll see us, and then flirt with you until he turns black in the face?"

"He's quite dark already. Do you know how to flirt? I shouldn't have thought somehow, you did."

"Hang it, you're right! That's my next worst trouble to being the Chewing Gum King. I don't know how to flirt. Never learned. Can you teach me?"

"For the benefit of another woman?"

"Well, that was the big idea. But somehow I don't believe it is now. Say, Miss Rendel, you're a mighty original girl. I never met any one like you. It's impossible to think much about any other woman, I guess, for a guy when he's with you."

"I've got on my birthday manners today," said Rose. "They're more bold and dashing than my office air."

"I'd like to sample them, too," said Jack Grimes.

"You can do so only on business," Rose warned him. "Because, you see, though I'm queen, the prime minister has twice as much power at twenty-one Ermine street as I have."

"All right," said Grimes. "I'll come on business. I'll come tomorrow. I don't know what time, because I've got to write it first."

"Write what?"

"My MS. It'll be a life story. I won't forget the number, or the street. I won't give the stuff to any one but you. What are the office hours?"

"For me—nine to five, nominally. Mostly I stay till after six and finish off things. Now and then I've done night work. There is extra pay, but I don't like working all night, except in certain moods."

"What moods?" Grimes questioned her. Rose shrugged her shoulders. "I hardly know. Just moods! Sometimes I feel so bored with everything being the same, that I could scream. Any change seems better—till I get it. Then I work at night—till I'm tired of that, which is soon. Did you ever feel so?"

He stopped and thought for a minute. "I thought today I was going to feel exactly so, till—"

"Well?"

"Till you told me it was your birthday." She gazed at his good looking face, puzzled.

"If you were wanting to pay me compliments, you'd have said: 'Till you saw me sitting in your car.' So that can't be what you want to do!"

"No. I want to tell the truth. I hardly thought about you, as you, at all when I saw you. I was just astonished and wondered if you'd made a mistake, or what."

"Especially what?"

"Well, yes. Of course, I've got eyes in my head. I saw, the first instant, that you were young and handsome and smartly dressed—"

"You did, really? How splendid!"

"Yes, I really did," he was answering. "But I wasn't in a state of mind then to take much notice of Venus as Venus. It was the human note that struck me, when you said, 'It's my birthday and I promised myself a present of an adventure if it lasted only for five minutes' that got me, somehow."

"That's when I walked up and knew that some girl was sitting in my car, and that if I hung on to her, instead of letting her go, it would be like—like having a specialist who never lost a case called in when you were at your last gasp. Did I think that I could sit down and enjoy my lunch and look forward again to life the way I'm doing now? I did not! Yet I never enjoyed a lunch more, if as much, and it's all owing to you. Yes, some girl, you are! Some queen!"

The two lingered over luncheon till others, who had come into the restaurant long after they came, had gone. At last Rose realized with a pang that it would be wise to tear herself away; it seemed literally that.

He asked her to let him motor her into the country for dinner. He could drive, he said, and did know his way around, outside London. But Rose forced herself to refuse. Something feminine within her knew that a woman had better give a man less of her than he wants, instead of giving ever so little too much—even if she may never be going to see him again.

"You can drive me home to the palace," she said.

He hadn't forgotten about the other man and the idea of "showing themselves off together," but Rose confessed that even if she consented to the "stunt," it would be difficult.

"When Percy Germaine condescends to ask me anywhere," she explained, "he calls me up at the office at the last minute—just giving me time to go home and dress. Not to save my life would he disgrace himself by taking me to dinner if I had not dressed! And I never hear from him in between invitations. All I know is that he tries to harrow my feelings by talking about this or that pretty actress or well known girl whom he takes to dances at Ciro's or the Embassy. And I'm just weak enough to be harrowed!"

"Damn him!" said Grimes simply. "I'd like to dig a hole in the ground with him and fill the hole in."

Rose knew then that she had fallen in love with the Chewing Gum King. And she hated, hated, hated that cold blooded, hard boiled girl in Hill street.

"Some absent minded beggar wants to talk to you over the phone," announced Willa Ardsley, alias Mr. Ealing, next morning at the office.

"Why absent minded?" Rose inquired.

"O, when I answered, 'Willa Ardsley speaking,' he said 'I want the queen—I mean Miss Rendel.'"

"I know who it is!" cried Rose, and in another instant was at the telephone.

"Hello, is that Queen Rose?" called Grimes' voice.

"Yes, King John. How goes the MS.?"

"Jack, please. The MS is what I want to tell you about. It may take a bit longer than I thought. You see, I'm an amateur author, though as a gum merchant I'm the whitest white light on Broadway. I'm not sure I can finish today, but I can't wait to see you. Will you dine with me at the Ritz tonight, early? Go to the theater—any play you like—and dance later at Ciro's?"

"I should say I would!" Rose almost gasped. "May we see Gerald du Maurier, or have you—?"

"I haven't, and we will. I'll call for you at your palace at 7:15, if that's all right."

"It would be," answered Rose. "But my Prime Minister, Mr. Ealing, has asked me as a favor to stay till 7. There's some French typing being done in a rush, promised for tonight, and I'm the only more or less French expert. But I can dash home for my evening things at lunch time by hurrying over my food, and I'll snatch a few minutes after 6 to dress in one of the offices that'll be empty by then."

But instead of "dashing home," Rose changed her mind. She dashed instead to a big neighborhood shop and was extravagant to an extent which nearly gave her heart failure in retrospect. In consequence of this recklessness, a dazzling figure sat in Miss Rendel's chair at Miss Rendel's desk that evening when at 6:20, a young man walked into Willa Ardsley's.

He stared. "Good heavens! I hardly knew you!" he exclaimed.

"I hardly know myself," said Rose. "Good evening, Mr. Germaine. Have you brought some MSS?"

"No," he said. "I dropped in on the chance that you hadn't left yet, to get you to dine with me somewhere close by and go to a movie I want to see. The plot sounds as if they'd stolen an idea from a story of mine that you typed; and I thought it would be a good thing to have your opinion. But by the look of you, you've got another engagement."

"I have," said Rose. "It was the first time she had ever had 'another engagement' when Percy Germaine had blown in with a last minute invitation."

He was surprised and hurt. "Couldn't you break it—for me?"

"Afraid I couldn't," replied Rose, radiant. "I'm dining at the Ritz, going to see Gerald du Maurier, then on to Ciro's for supper and to dance."

"O!" exclaimed Germaine. "O, really! With a rich and grateful client, I suppose?"

"He's not a client—yet," said Rose. "But he is rich. He's—er—one of those industrial kings in America."

But at this moment a youth entered, bearing a box. "Miss Rendel," he chirped. "Flowers for you."

This went without saying. The box spoke for itself in an expensive, golden voice from Bond street.

Rose opened it and daintily drew out a shoulder knot of pale purple orchids. A card engraved with the name of Mr. John Grimes had, penciled across it, "In memory of your birthday."

Rose loved pale purple. The result of today's extravagance was all pale purple, sparkling with crystals, even to the bandeau that coaxed the golden lights into her prettily waved bob.

"From your friend the millionaire?" Germaine catechized.

Rose nodded and pinned the orchids on to exactly the right place.

"I'm sorry," she apologized, "but I must go on with this work. I've promised Mr. Ealing to finish it before I leave."

"I won't interrupt you," said Germaine. "But if you don't mind, I'll sit at this other desk for a few minutes and write out a short synopsis for you to type tomorrow. It's too early to go to dinner yet."

Rose smiled as her fingers flew over the machine. She knew that Percy Germaine simply couldn't bear to leave until he saw with his own eyes whether or not she had fibbed to him about her American millionaire.

She typed away in silence, never lifting her lashes. Yet she felt in her bones just how much Germaine's synopsis suffered from his secret interest in her new magnificence. She doubted if he had ever even thought her pretty before.

Seven o'clock; seven-five (the Germaine interruption had cost a few minutes), and Rose finished the last word on the last page. Deftly she placed the pages and clamped them together. She slipped them into a big envelope as the door opened to admit the Chewing Gum King. Gracious! But he was handsome in evening clothes! And she hadn't realized how tall he was. "Well, if you don't look the queen!" he greeted her, then caught sight of the smallish young man not in evening dress, seated at a desk in the corner.

"I'm hanged if I introduce them!" thought Rose. "I'll be high and haughty." "I'm all ready, you see!" she spoke brightly. "I'll phone to Mr. Ealing's office that I've finished and am going. Then we can start. Thank you a thousand times for the lovely orchids. How did you guess about my frock?"

"I knew you liked this color, and that it liked you," the newcomer said.

Mr. Ealing's secretary came in. Rose got up and, with a smile, handed Grimes her cloak which she'd draped over the back of her office chair.

Then she turned to Germaine: "How goes the synopsis?" she asked. "I must be off. But stay as long as you like. Good-by—and a nice evening at the movies."

Grudgingly Germaine stood. He looked like half a man beside the Chewing Gum King. Crystals and paste buckles flashing, Rose danced out as her millionaire held the door open.

"Was that Percy?" he inquired, as they walked down the twisting stairs. "It was? Something told me so! How do you feel about him?"

"I feel," said Rose, "like somebody in the Bible felt when the Lord delivered the Philistines into his hands."

"You darling!" The king grinned. "But you haven't got 'em all! The Philistines, I mean. The Lord has handed quite a bunch to me."

"Do explain!" she begged.

"I've explained already, in writing," he said. "I finished that life history of mine right up to date, and I'll give it to you just before we part. Promise you'll read it through and see if you can do anything with it, before you sleep tonight."

"But," argued Rose, "if we're going to Ciro's after the theater—"

"O, I've condensed the stuff a lot," said Grimes. "The last part's the most important. It won't take you long to run your eyes over it."

"Then I promise," Rose said.

Dinner was wonderful. The king of New York would hardly believe that the queen of London had never before tasted champagne. But, yes! Twenty-nine, and this was the first time!

O, and a box at the theater! What extravagance! Not so, the king defended himself. The extra seats only looked empty. They really supported the queen's courtiers, or suite, or whatever queens went to the theater with. He'd wanted the sensation of sitting in a box with her.

"You told me yesterday you weren't pretty," he said. "But look what the audience thinks."

There were a number of opera glasses directed upon her, among them one to obtain which Mr. Germaine had slipped sixpence in a slot. He had changed his mind about the movie.

"I had one more reason for taking a box," said Jack Grimes. "You'll probably guess it in a few minutes. If you don't it'll be because somebody's late or you're slower on the uptake than I think."

The curtain went up and Rose hadn't guessed yet. But just at a tense moment in the first act, when a bustle in the audience was calculated to be most annoying to the actors, a tidal wave of gold and silver tissue, summer ermine, diamonds, pearls, marceled shinglings, black coats and stiff white shirt fronts poured into the opposite box.

After prolonged fluttering, the wave subsided, decomposing into four parts; two of these were feminine, two masculine. A girl with golden hair and a dress (what there was of it) seemed to consist entirely of diamonds strung together in a blaze of light, took, as a matter of course, the best place in the box.

An older woman with white hair and an equal amount of dress, consisting of jet, melted plumply into the second best. The two men sat behind. One was young, with a jaw of iron. The other, less young, had already a bald head and was developing a double chin.

"You knew they were coming!" Rose whispered.

Grimes nodded.

"Then you've been to see her?"

"You'll read about that in my MS. Truth stranger than fiction."

"And is one of those men Lord Dedes?"

"You'll read about that, too."

"Well, the younger man looks as if his ancestors had strengthened their jaws for generations on your chewing gum, so he can't be that one!"

Luckily the play gave them a chance to laugh aloud just then.

"Do you think she's beautiful?" Grimes questioned. "But why do I ask, when you haven't looked at her once?"

"And she hasn't looked at me. But, you poor thing, don't you know women see each other without looking? That's what our eyes are for. Yes, she's quite marvelous, absolutely perfect in every detail. Now—I suppose you don't know that's the mew of a cat!"

"I was just wondering," said Grimes. "Thank you very much."

"For what?"

"Well, if you don't know, maybe you'll read between the lines of the MS."

They then ceased to talk, and listened to the play. Rose kept her eyes fixed on the stage, and so did the girl and the woman in the opposite box. But, if the two there knew as much about her features, expression, dress and way of wearing the hair as she knew about theirs, they did not waste a moment.

"Magazine cover beauty," thought Rose. "And every year she's going to grow more like her mother. I can wish her nothing worse!"

"He saw her today," was the undertone of Rose's thought. "Saw her today! Is she engaged to Lord Dedes? And is he flaunting me to revenge himself? O, I hate to believe that!"

Then, suddenly, she knew that she could not live through supper and Ciro's without having read the MS.

"Do you really feel like that?" he asked, when she broke it to him. "Then my prayer is answered."

She was puzzled. "I don't understand," she said.

He told her she would when she'd read the MS. It was only half past eleven when he brought her to the palace door.

"Have you a phone in your room?" he wanted to know.

She laughed at the idea. "There's only one in the house and that's in a kind of lair at the back of what, in our grand moments, we call the entrance hall."

The king sighed. "I suppose, of course, you can't come down to it and call me up at the Savoy (I'll be in my room, waiting) when you finish."

Continued on Page Twenty.

Pirates Ahoy!

By Charles B. Driscoll

 WENTY-FIVE ships, carrying 2,300 seamen and soldiers, made up the force with which Sir Francis Drake set out in the fall of 1585 on one of the most extensive raiding expeditions ever directed at the Spaniards in the west from a European port.

A precarious peace existed between Spain and England. But it was a peace that nobody expected to last long. The treasure Drake had brought home from his last expedition was impounded in the Tower of London, while negotiations were going forward slowly between the king of Spain and Queen Elizabeth, his sister-in-law, looking to a settlement of the question of the proper disposal of this treasure.

Meanwhile Drake was fitting out this new expedition. The queen herself put two ships into the squadron this time. Wealthy backers were easily found to furnish other ships and equipment, and Drake himself had a stake in the enterprise, aside from the labor and time he was putting into it.

When the fleet was about ready to sail, Drake reached an understanding with the queen and with the adventurers who were going with him. The queen would not grant Sir Francis a privateering commission, since there was no war. His official and legal status was that of a pirate. But he had two of the queen's ships, the queen's friendship and good wishes, and a knighthood that he had won from the queen for his recent exploits in the west. He was content.

No man in this adventure was to receive wages. Everyone risked his time and labor against his share of the loot. Everybody took a chance. The queen made it quite clear to Drake that she might have to disavow his acts and have him declared a pirate, in order to avoid war with Spain. This wasn't pleasant medicine for Drake, but he took it with courtly grace. He wanted merely permission to be off.

Off he sailed on the morning of the fourteenth of September. He had no orders, but there was an understanding that he was to go over to Spain and demand information as to why certain embargoes had been laid against certain English corn merchants in Spanish ports.

He made the port of Vigo, after capturing a fishing vessel or two on the way over. One of the English historians of the voyage describes the astonishment of the Spaniards when they saw the English fleet dropping anchor at the mouth of Vigo harbor. It was a goodly fleet, and, says the chronicler, "it was a great matter and a royal sight to see them."

Don Pedro Bemadero, the Spanish governor of Vigo, sent off to learn what was wanted. Drake sent back word that if there was a war on he wanted to take part in it presently, but if there was no war, he wanted to know why English corn merchants were not permitted to trade peacefully in Spain.

The governor's answer was conciliatory. He said he knew of nothing amiss, and he certainly would not countenance any rough usage of Englishmen. Drake was not much interested in the answer. He landed men on the island at the mouth of the harbor, and sent in small boats to explore the shore line. The city was practically without defenses, and the name of Drake was almost paralysis to the Spaniards.

Great pack trains started at once for the mountains just back of Vigo, carrying money and jewels. Some of the church plate was sent across the harbor in boats, and Drake's men captured one of these boats, taking from it silver articles used in the church service.

The fleet came in and was moored in a commanding position. But the Spaniards were gathering an army, and in a day or two were able to parley with some show of force. Drake departed without further molesting the town.

At the Cape de Verde Islands, Drake landed a thousand men and captured St. Iago. The Portuguese inhabitants fled before the advance of the English and took their money and valuables with them.

The city was occupied on the seventeenth of November, which was the anniversary of the accession of Queen Elizabeth to the English throne, so a great festival was held, with the fleet firing a salute and the captured forts replying.

There was no booty to be got out of this deserted city, so Drake marched twelve miles inland and captured another town, which was burned when the raiders found that the money had again eluded them.

But here Sir Francis met an enemy which was destined to be far more hurtful to his enterprise than the Spanish and Portuguese guns. Yellow fever broke out in the fleet, and nearly three hundred of the men died of it. In low spirits the raiders set sail for the West Indies.

The first objective was Santo Domingo, which was even then an old and wealthy city with massive stone buildings and a magnificent cathedral. A short time ago I visited Santo Domingo, and a native of the town, hearing I was interested in pirates, took me up to the great flat roof of the cathedral and showed me two round iron cannon balls, three-quarters buried in the massive structure.

"Those," he said, "were put there by Sir Francis Drake when he bombarded our city on New Year's Day, 1586."

That is very likely true, for Drake did bring his fleet within the harbor and fire cannon balls into the town. The roof of the cathedral would be an inevitable landing place for some of the missiles, taking into consideration the power and trajectory of the guns of Drake's fleet.

A force was landed about ten miles from Santo Domingo before the fleet appeared off the harbor, and marched toward the city. Drake, retaining half his men, then essayed the harbor and found the entrance easy.

But, while the great freebooter nearly always took a city he set his eye upon, he nearly always lost the treasure by reason of his landing his attacking force some distance from the objective. He used his regular tactics at Santo Domingo, with the usual result. His land force made its way into the city after some sharp fighting, only to find that the frightened Dominicans had fled to the forest, taking with them most of the church plate and gold and silver treasure.

When Drake had possession of the city he sent a negro boy to the governor with a message demanding ransom to save the town from burning. A Spanish officer, in a fine rage, drove his lance through the boy, who managed to make his way back to Drake. The boy is said to have died at the feet of the commander.

Now, Sir Francis Drake was not without temper, and on this occasion he had the means to display it. He brought forth two friars out of a neighboring monastery and hanged them on the spot where, he believed the atrocity had been committed upon the negro boy. Then he sent a third friar to tell the governor that two of the religious would be hanged there every day until the offending Spanish officer be handed over to him.

The governor surrendered the culprit, and Drake compelled a Spanish soldier to kill him.

Sir Francis was disappointed in the loot. He began burning the city, but it didn't burn readily, being built with massive stone walls. Two hundred men were set at the burning, and labored hard trying to work up a general conflagration, but the best they could do was to burn one or two interiors at a time.

Meanwhile, negotiations for ransom were carried on by the light of the burning buildings. The government house, at that time rated as one of the finest buildings in the world, was destroyed by hundreds of explosions of gunpowder, and even then it was necessary to put labor battalions to work with axes and picks to complete the destruction.

The body of Columbus was believed to be buried in the cathedral, and this great structure was not deliberately harmed by Drake. It stands today on the public square, just as it stood while Drake and his men were busy with their gunpowder and torches, with the reputed body of Columbus reposing in a jeweled casket. It is said that Sir Francis respected the memory of a great navigator, and for that reason spared the church.

In a month the pirates had succeeded in destroying only half of the solid city, and they were tired. Drake accepted twenty-five thousand ducats as ransom, a trifling sum for such efforts as he had put forth, and sailed for other and more promising shores.

There was heavy firing at Cartagena when Drake sailed up and engaged the forts. The town was expecting the raid, since the story of the looting of Santo Domingo had traveled across the sea.

Again, a party was landed outside the harbor, and advanced against stiff opposition, finally scaling the wall and taking the town.

This time there was less violence and more courtesy after the capture. Drake and the Spanish authorities entertained one another with dinner and wine and much punctillio.

The English remained in possession of the city for six weeks, trying to boost the Spaniards' offer of thirty thousand ducats. Then yellow fever broke out in the fleet anew, working havoc with the manpower of the expedition. Drake took the thirty thousand and stood for cooler waters.

It was found inadvisable to try to carry out the commander's project for the capture of Nombre de Dios and Panama, since seven hundred men were now dead of the fever, and others were falling into fatal delirium daily.

Drake sailed northward, and, to compensate his disappointment at his inability to take Nombre, he stopped in Florida long enough to burn the little Spanish towns of Helena and St. Augustine. He stopped at Raleigh's settlement in Virginia long enough to take aboard the starving remnants of a colony that had been planted there the year before with high hopes. The ragged colonists brought aboard with them plentiful supplies of tobacco, an herb they had learned from the Indians to smoke. It is said that the curiosity aroused by this smoking phenomenon in England was so great that it almost eclipsed the enthusiasm over the return of Drake.

Financially, this expedition was a failure. It brought back only twenty thousand pounds in silver and gold, and this was divided among the surviving seamen and sailors. The ship owners, including Elizabeth and Drake, got nothing.

But the ultimate results were considerable. This expedition was the straw that broke the back of the camel of King Philip's patience or procrastination. Two of his strongest western cities had been raided and held to ransom by an English fleet in which were at least two of Queen Elizabeth's ships, and the leader of the raids was none other than Sir Francis Drake, knighted by the English queen for a previous exploit of the same kind.

Philip decided to strike a blow from which England would never recover. He set about at once creating the Invincible Armada.

(Copyright, 1929, for The Constitution)

Masterpieces of Mystery

Condensed by Arthur B. Reeve

NO. 44---"THE LOST DUCHESS"---(ANONYMOUS)

AS the Duchess returned?"

"No, sir—well—sir, the fact is, sir—that something a little singular has happened. The carriage has returned without the Duchess, and the men say they thought her grace was in it."

"What do you mean?"

"I hardly understand, your grace. Perhaps you would like to see Barnes."

Barnes was soon shown into the room. With him came Moysey, the footman.

"If you please, your grace, we waited for the Duchess outside Cane and Wilson's, the drapers. The Duchess came out, got into the carriage, and Moysey shut the door, and her grace said, 'Home!' and yet when we got home she wasn't there."

"She wasn't where?"

"Her grace wasn't in the carriage, your grace."

"Do you mean to tell me that the Duchess got out of the carriage while you were driving full pelt through the streets, without saying anything to you, and without you noticing it?"

"It seems that way, sir. I'd have been willing to swear that it was the Duchess that got into the carriage outside Cane and Wilson's. But it seems like a rummy go."

"You call it a rummy go, do you! You two are up to some mischief." The Duke of Datchet had noticed that Knowles had again entered the room. "What is it, Knowles?"

"A letter, sir."

"Let's have it."

Before the Duke's astonished eyes were the words:

"To His Grace, the Duke of Datchet.
"Private!
"VERY PRESSING!!!

"Your grace will be so good as to bring five hundred pounds in gold to the Picadilly end of the Burlington Arcade within an hour of the receipt of this. The Duchess of Datchet has been kidnapped. An imitation Duchess got into the carriage outside Cane and Wilson's. Unless your grace does as requested, the Duchess of Datchet's left-hand little finger will be at once cut off, and sent home. You find a lock of her hair in this letter now. Before 5:30 you will be at the Burlington Arcade, at the Picadilly end. You will be accosted by an individual in a white top hat, and with a gardenia in his buttonhole. You are at liberty to give him into custody, or have him followed by the police, in which case the Duchess' left arm will be sent you in time for dinner to proceed with that remembrance of her. Remember! not later than five-thirty, unless you wish to receive her grace's little finger."

A lock of the Duchess' golden hair fell into his palm.

"You devils. Tell me what has happened or I will kill you with my own hands."

"We do not know anything, sir!"

"Knowles, who brought this?"

"A lady in a hansom, sir. She said that it was very important."

A knock was heard at the door. Knowles dashed to it. There was no one there, but on the floor lay a white envelope.

"For you, sir!"

"Hurry, see if you can catch the person who left it!" But too much time had already been wasted. Even from the window the Duke could see nothing.

He took the envelope up and opened it.

"The Duchess appears so anxious that we have allowed her to write to you."

He tore open the envelope. It was her writing!

"My dear Hereward—For Heaven's sake do what these people require! I don't know what has happened or where I am, but I am nearly distracted. They have cut off a lock of my hair and they will cut off my left hand little finger unless you send five hundred pounds in gold."

"Hereward, HELP ME!"

When he read the letter the Duke turned very white—as white as the paper on which the letter was written.

"I am going to pay the five hundred pounds, but I am going to get that fellow afterward—if it takes every penny I possess."

The Duke of Datchet coming out of the bank, lingered for a moment on the steps. On his countenance there was an expression which to a casual observer might have suggested that his grace was not completely at ease. The casual observer took the form of Ivor Dacre, his friend.

"What's the matter with you, and the Duchess?" he asked. "She and you look like the kitchen boiler must have burst or something like that."

"You didn't see the Duchess this afternoon?"

"I certainly did. She was going toward Waterloo place in a hansom cab, like the very blazes!"

"Ivor, she has been kidnapped!"

"Datchet!"

"She has! Some scoundrel has decoyed her away and trapped her. He's already sent me a lock of her hair and he tells me that he'll cut off her finger if I don't give him five hundred pounds in gold by half-past five."

Mr. Dacre's countenance was a thing to be seen, and remembered.

"Don't jolly me, old man! They talk of poodles being kidnapped, but as for Duchesses— You'd better let me call a cab and see you home!"

"Ivor, you're a fool! I'm going to meet one of her abductors now. I have the money in this bag. If you want to come along, do. It's twenty after five and I must—I must hurry. Oh, God, if I should be too late!"

Side by side they moved rapidly down the Burlington Arcade. The Duke was obviously in a state of the extremist nervous tension. Mr. Dacre was equally obviously in a state of the most supreme enjoyment. They reached the Picadilly end. They looked about.

"I see no man such as this letter you have given me describes, old man. It strikes me this is one of the finest things in hoaxes!"

"I hope I haven't kept you waiting." They turned to see a gentleman in the glorious attire of a London dandy with a white hat and a magnificent gardenia.

"Who are you?" they asked.

"Ah—that is a question. I am an individual who is so unfortunate as to be in want of 500 pounds."

"Where's my wife?"

"Her Grace will be home almost as soon as you are—when you have given me that money which I perceive you have. Of course, you and this gentleman might wish to commend me to the mercies of the police. In that case, you know, we should hack off the Duchess of Datchet's lovely white arm—up to the shoulder."

"You're a cool hand!"

"Some men are born that way."

Mr. Dacre intervened: "If you will take my advice, Datchet, you'll summon that constable who is coming down the arcade now. Scoundrels such as this are more amenable when they have handcuffs on their wrists."

The stranger seemed much amused. "My dear Duke, by all means act upon the gentleman's suggestion. Five hundred pounds is worth a lot more to you than the Duchess' arm. Here, I will call him myself in order that you may tell him. Officer!"

The constable approached the audacious rogue and addressed him:

"Do you want me, sir?"

"No, I do not want you. I think it is the Duke of Datchet."

The duke looked white, even savage. There was not a pleasant look in his eyes and about his lips. He endeavored evidently to put a great restraint upon himself. There was a momentary silence.

"No, constable, I do not want you. The person was mistaken."

The stranger looked at his watch as the constable walked away.

"I will give you five minutes for further consideration."

"I don't need it. Here are your 500 pounds. You may hear of this later."

"You are at liberty to do anything you please—even the most difficult thing in the world."

A hansom stood waiting at the end of the Arcade. In a few minutes Datchet and Mr. Dacre were racing up the steps of the ducal mansion.

"Hereward!" It was Her Grace of Datchet.

"Mabel!"

"So you are not quite dead?" she cried.

"What do you mean?" asked the Duke.

"My darling! Was it a Pickford's van which struck you?"

"Mabel!"

The two men eyed her strangely.

"And you are uninjured, except where he took that lock of your hair?"

The lady looked a little puzzled.

"What lock of hair? Do you mean my hair?"

The Duke took a little packet out of his pocket. The lady was bewildered. He took two letters.

"Oh, Hereward, has this accident affected your mind? Dear, WAS it a Pickford's van?"

"What do you mean, Mabel?"

"Weren't you hurt? Didn't you send me this?"

The Duke looked at a card she extended.

"Mabel, come to me at once with the bearer. They tell me they cannot take me home."

It was his own handwriting!

"Explain this, my dear Duchess. Where did you get it? Where have you been? Why didn't you come home in the brougham?"

"Well, I was in at Cane and Wilson's when this was brought to me. The man took me to Draper's Building, near the Stock Exchange. He told me you were coming out of the Stock Exchange when a van knocked you over. He said that it was a Pickford's van. I went there, where he left me, and I asked, but no one knew of an accident, so I hurried home."

"And he didn't cut a lock of your hair?"

"Certainly not. And I didn't write that note."

"Why, what is this? You weren't kidnapped at all?"

"No."

"I will tell you the whole thing." As he took a chair he proceeded to start the story of the happenings of the afternoon. "And your double got out on the road somewhere, and disappeared, for the carriage was empty when the men got home. And then the hair was brought and a letter."

The Duchess appeared, all at once, to be seized with inextinguishable laughter.

"Hereward! You gave him 500 pounds! Think how he must be laughing at you now!"

And the Duke of Datchet thought of it.

Next Sunday—"The Mystery of Marie

Reget," by Edgar Allan Poe.

(Copyright, 1929, for The Constitution.)

AUNT HET

A Good Spankin' Would Help Amy

BY ROBERT QUILLEN

"If I had a husband that would let me walk on him, I'd just as soon be married to a worm."

"I HEAR John an' Amy ain't gettin' along much good, an' it's about like I expected. When a girl gets as stuck up as Amy is, there ain't nothin' goin' to make her happy with a man like John unless it's a spankin'."

"John's just as good as she is. In some ways he's a sight better. But he had to quit school an' go to work when his pa died, an' Amy's folks sent her to college."

"John's a hard worker an' makes a sight o' money. He's generous, too, an' gives Amy ever'thing she wants. But he never had time to learn how to dance, an' he don't know which fork to use, an' his grammar ain't elegant. Bein' common like other folks makes him feel inferior, an' he's got Amy settin' on a pedestal."

"I guess maybe she set herself there, come to think of it. Anyway, she corrects John in public an' acts like she ought to apologize for him; an' she thinks she married beneath herself."

"A woman can't be happy if she can't look up to her man. It's just her nature. An' Amy is miserable because John worships her instead o' bossin' her. She feels like she got cheated, an' she takes her spite out by naggin' at him an' insultin' him all the time."

"He takes it meek an' tries to soothe her by bein' more humble, an' that just makes it worse."

"If John could do somethin' heroic, so's to let her know how much of a man he is, it might open her eyes. But there ain't much chance to be a hero in the grocery business, an' she keeps on judgin' him by his table manners an' the way he squirms an' fidgets at a party."

"I don't believe in bein' brutal; but if he was to spank her, I've got a notion it would make her look up to him an' respect him."

"I treat Pa shameful sometimes, but I know when to stop. If I had a husband that would let me walk on him, I'd just as soon be married to a worm."

Our Second Maids Make the Minute Men Look Like Pikers

BY WEARE HOLBROOK

THE dictionary does not distinguish between the words "servitor" and "servant." But there is an important difference. A servitor is an employe who, when the mortgage on the old homestead is to be foreclosed, approaches the master of the house and timidly offers him the savings of a lifetime. A servant is an employe who, when the guests have all assembled, announces that she must have the evening off because her sister-in-law has a toothache.

About the only place you find servitors now is on the stage. Usually they are soft-stepping old men who glide about the drawing room, picking up newspapers and putting them down again and saying, "If I may make so bold, sir." Any one who has witnessed a mystery-melodrama knows the ritual that the stage servitor goes through every night. First, he brings in a decanter and glasses on a tray which he sets on a small table beside the master's chair. Then he switches on the reading lamp, draws the curtains, returns a misplaced volume to the bookcase and pussy-foots to the door.

At the door he pauses for a moment, turns around slowly and inquires, "Will there be anything else, sir?"

"Nothing more, Staggers," replies the master—and if he adds, "You needn't stay in tonight, Staggers," we who have read our detective stories know that the master will never live to see the light of Act II.

In real life, the ritual is somewhat different. Sadie, who has been with the family, man and boy, for two and a half weeks, enters the drawing room noisily, chewing her gum with the cut-out open and humming "The Prisoner's Song" through her nose. She slams a tray down on a small table beside the master's chair and upsets an ash receiver. Then, tripping over the bridge lamp, she goes to the window and pulls down the shade. It slips from her fingers and rolls up with a crash.

At the door she pauses and inquires menacingly, "Anything else?"

"Yes," says the master wearily, after a glance around the room, "you might knock that case off the mantel and dump the wastebasket into the grand piano."

Maids, butlers and valets are the only well behaved characters on the stage today. Actually they are not such paragons of virtue, but they often have an ennobling effect upon their employers. The Van Ptarmigans, for instance, have been on the verge of rolling down to Reno at least a dozen times in the course of their married life, but always the presence of Mollusk deters them. Mollusk is a hereditary house servant who has been in the family for generations. The unanswerable question that confronts the Van Ptarmigans whenever they consider separating is "What will become of Mollusk?" Of course, Mollusk might divide his time between his master and his mistress, but that wouldn't give him the home life to which a hereditary house servant is entitled. So Mr. and Mrs. Van Ptarmigan continue to endure each other's society and Mollusk stays on.

Theirs is an exceptional case, however. The problem which most of us have to face is not what to do with the hired help, but what to do without it. Cooks and maids lack the bulldog tenacity and stick-to-it-iveness that distinguished the Bridgets, Gretchens and Mary Anns of yesteryear. Perhaps the works of Orison Sweet Marden should occupy a place on the pantry shelf beside Mrs. Rorer's cook book and "Tapioca Without Tears," for modern women seem to have an idea that there is no future in housework. As a matter of fact, housework is practically all future—an endless succession of days full of cooking, scrubbing, sweeping, dusting and mending. If more women realized this, more men would be living in apartment hotels.

The average cook may move about the kitchen like a hippopotamus, but she is a humming bird at heart. Hire today and gone tomorrow. If she stays with you for more than six weeks you feel positively feudal and begin to think about mentioning her in your will.

As for second maids their speed on the take-off makes the old-fashioned minute men look like a senate committee on ways and means. The rapidity with which they come and go is bewildering. Often you have the impression that you are employing a large retinue of servants when in reality you are not employing any; they are merely passing through your house on their way to that El Dorado known as "a better situation."

It is useless to cry, "Where are you going, my second maid?" She cannot tell you, for she does not know. Like a lemming on the plains of Norway, she is impelled by some blind urge to migrate westward or eastward or northward or southward, depending upon what direction your back door faces.

As I remarked to Phoebe the other day, there is nothing I like better than a quiet evening at home among my cooks. Some of the evenings are very quiet; I hardly dare to speak above a whisper, because I never know who may be listening beyond the pantry door. One cook follows another in swift succession and each one seems more sensitive than the one before.

When Hilda was with us I committed the faux pas of telling a story at the dinner table about a man with a wooden leg who took the Pasteur treatment because a woodpecker bit him. Hilda overheard it and left immediately. It seems that she was engaged to a man with a wooden leg; she felt that my remarks were a little too personal.

Anna, who succeeded her, belonged to a violent religious sect known as the Holy Twitchers. While she was around, all allusions to liquor, dancing, card playing, the "movies" and the Darwinian theory were taboo. Furthermore, we were not allowed to use tobacco or snuff—which was a terrible hardship for Phoebe—or eat any food found below the surface of the ground. This simplified our diet, as it eliminated potatoes, onions, carrots, radishes, beets, parsnips (hurrah!) turnips and oysters. I don't know how the oysters got on the verboten list. Perhaps the Holy Twitchers just put them in to make it harder.

It was a relief when Delphine came to take Anna's place, but on the very first day of her regime I was so careless as to mention the fact that I hadn't seen Ben Turpin in the "movies" for a long time. Phoebe kicked my shins beneath the table and signalled frantically with her eyebrows. But it was too late; the damage had been done, and Delphine departed next morning. Phoebe explained to me that Delphine's grandparents were cross-eyed on both sides. But how was I supposed to know that?

Then there was Pesta. Pesta was the only pie-maker I have ever encountered who seemed to realize that apples have cores; there was no debris in her dump-lings. But she had been born in Bulgaria and had never quite got over it. The mere mention of anything foreign reduced her to tears.

By the time Pesta, Margaret, Susan, Olga, Cesarine and Beulah had come and gone, I had trained myself not to speak of religion, politics, international relations, racial characteristics, anatomical peculiarities or commercial geography. As soon as I entered the house my expressions of opinion became as cautious as a syndicated newspaper editorial.

But although servants have a dampening effect upon conversation in the home, they stimulate conversation outside the home. Any one who has ever attended a bridge party can appreciate the importance of hired help as an unfailing topic of discussion.

The party is always divided into two factions: those who have Perfect Jewels, and those who have not. The former are on the defensive, ever ready to do a Horatius-at-the-Bridget in order to protect their servants from the sinister machinations of the have-nots. The have-nots are smiling and subtle. By artful questions they manage to find out how much the Perfect Jewels are being paid. Then they lie in wait for them on street corners and offer them two dollars a week more and the use of the radio.

It is all rather futile, this Machiavellian plotting and counter-plotting. A cook will stay just so long in one kitchen, and when she makes up her mind to go, nothing that mere mortals can say or do will stop her. Human nature being what it is, the most satisfactory solution of the servant problem would be for the employment agencies to join forces and furnish each of their clients with a new Perfect Jewel—and incidentally a new topic of conversation—every month. The time is ripe for the organization of a Cook-of-the-Month Club, or a Culinary Guild.

(Copyright, 1929, for The Constitution)

The Culinary Guild

A Fervid Plea for a Cook-of-the-Month Club to Furnish Perfect Jewels for Our Kitchens Every Thirty Days

Drawn by
by Stuart Hay

"He Gave Me a $600 Check for the Twenty Million Dollars' Worth of Certificates"

Drawn by Austin Jewell

He Deals In Broken Dreams

But Sometimes the Dreams Come True. Such Is the Business of Roland M. Smythe, Who Buys "Worthless" Securities and Keeps Track of Defunct Corporations, Which Occasionally Rise From the Grave and Walk the Earth Again With New Vigor and Value

BY JOHN T. FLYNN

AWAY back in 1860 men were pouring into the newly discovered oil regions of Pennsylvania. Drake had sunk the first oil well. That magic word "petroleum" was running like a traveling fuse through the land as that other magic word "gold" did in '49. And over every farm and along every creek in Crawford and Venango counties the oil hunters swarmed with their funny little wooden derricks.

Companies were organized by the score and while the drillers were busy boring for petroleum around Oil City, the nimble tongued stock salesmen were knocking on doors everywhere, boring for money. Every cornfield, every back yard was snapped up by the promoters and before the pipe for the well was delivered on the land the oil shares were on the market.

Some struck oil and got rich. More struck nothing but gravel and hard luck. One group of promoters took over a remote farm, sold stock certificates in the very neighborhood of Oil City, put down their well and found their old farm as dry as the desert. They quietly folded their tents, stole away and forgot all about the beautiful certificates they had issued. The stockholders in Venango county put their stock certificates into old cupboards, wallets, old drawers, trunks and china bowls or what-nots. And in course of time they, too, forgot about them.

The old corporation had been dead for almost sixty years when one day a gentleman walked into a small, old fashioned office in the Produce Exchange in New York. He called to see a man who deals in ancient and obsolete securities. If there is a corporation in its grave anywhere in the world, this man knows it if any one does. His caller was in search of information about the old oil company of 1860 which had been born and died aborning at Oil City. What has become of it? Where were its stockholders? Could they be located? In short, the gentleman, after all these years, wanted to buy the stock.

The dealer in obsolete securities thought he could get the stock. He went to Oil City and in a short time had rounded up and bought every outstanding share in that company—3,800 of them. After all those years the holders or their heirs got paid something for their stock and the security dealer got well paid for his trouble.

What had happened to that stock? Well, in those early days men sent their wells down twenty, thirty or forty feet. Those pioneers were just scraping off the surface oil. Indeed, oil in those days was floating on the waters of the creeks and brooks around Oil City. When the gushers failed to gush after a pipe had sunk forty feet, the adventurers concluded there was no oil and ended their adventure. But in these more knowing days wells are sent down 1,000, 2,000 feet. And a group of new prospectors had decided there was oil in that old farm at the deeper levels. They wanted to own the corporation which still held title to the farm. When they got it they put their well down 1,400 feet, and up came the rich black flood which the earlier seekers had sought in vain.

This story was told to me by the dealer in worthless securities who rounded up those old shares. His name is Roland M. Smythe. There are lots of gentlemen who deal in worthless securities—but they never call them by that name. Mr. Smythe is probably the only man in the world who deals in worthless securities and guarantees that they are worthless. He knows the names on all the tombstones that mark the resting places of dead corporations.

The Produce Exchange Building was put up about fifty years ago—a great, brilliant red brick pile, which was the office building wonder of its day. Shortly after its completion Mr. Smythe moved in, and there he is today in precisely the same office. When the telephone came along Mr. Smythe was one of the first dozen subscribers. His number was 10. But years ago he ordered the telephone out of his office. He is known in the financial district as the man who has been forty years in business without a telephone. Sitting at his desk surrounded by his "morgue" he looked for all the world like Kaiser Wilhelm in the pictures which come from Doorn.

"I just drifted into this business," he told me. He had been a member in succession of three different Stock Exchange houses. Years ago he was a partner in the firm which handled the business on the floor of the Stock Exchange for that prince of traders, James Keene, one of the most audacious operators in the history of Wall street. Mr. Smythe is a man of education, a graduate of Columbia university in both engineering and chemistry. But he is also a man of humor, being an Irishman from Dublin, and over his desk hangs in its ponderous frame the commission of his grandfather as Lord Mayor of Dublin.

"I just drifted into this business," he went on. "Many years ago I noticed that the notorious old John B. Manning was buying a lot of southern bonds. I was curious to know why he was doing this. The bonds had been repudiated and were considered worthless. But I investigated and discovered there was a market for these securities. So I bought them myself and made money out of them. That opened my eyes to the existence of a market for little known and apparently worthless stocks and bonds. So I looked about for them."

"I fell upon many opportunities. This led to keeping in a small way records and clippings about old, defunct or dormant corporations. Brokers and bankers began to find out that I collected this information, so they were constantly shooting questions at me about old issues."

"In fact, these requests became so numerous that answering began to take all my time. That's when I got rid of my telephone. I then conceived the notion of charging a fee for such information in order to discourage it. But that seemed only to make it worse, people, I suppose, putting a higher value on what they have to pay for.

"I had always maintained a separate office here in the Produce Building to which I could come away from the hurry and interruption of Wall street, and by degrees I found I was spending all my time here. This business interests me. I suppose I had a weakness for it. I have had a lot of fun ferreting out these old corporate ghosts and so gradually I severed my connections with the land of living issues and remained wholly in the dim region of the dead.

"The thing that has always made it interesting is that it is not all death. Every now and then a grave opens and an old stock certificate walks the earth again and claims its life back."

Of course, I immediately asked the obvious questions. How do all these worthless securities get to Mr. Smythe? What does he do with them? Why do people want to buy them? Where do they come from?

"Where do they come from?" Mr. Smythe smiled. "Why, from everywhere. Everybody seems to have a little sheaf of these gorgeous engravings tucked away somewhere which they can take out every now and then and stir old dreams for wealth that never came true. Some years ago a man walked in here and said he wanted to buy some old stock certificates—any old certificates would do. There was a box of old securities on the floor beside my desk which I had just bought and examined and which were waiting to be sorted out. He ran his fingers through them, said they would do, to be brief, gave me a check for $600 for them. There must have been twenty million dollars' worth there.

"I did not want to deliver them at first, because I wanted to find if the check was all right and—principally—because I wanted to know something about him. I have to be careful into whose hands I deliver such goods. At his bank I was told he was a responsible hide and leather dealer and that he had a hobby of collecting such things. He had managed, somehow, to build up that reputation. I put him down as all right and delivered the box full of worthless stocks and bonds.

"About six months later a lawyer walked into my office. He wanted to know if I had sold an armful of bonds to this man. He informed me further that my customer was the notorious get-rich-quick 'Five-Hundred-and-Twenty-Per-Cent' Miller and that that gentleman was in bankruptcy. He had used this bundle to delight the eyes of prospective victims with the evidences of wealth. I volunteered to testify that he had bought the whole batch for $600. In the court there must have been twenty lawyers facing me and representing various creditors' interests. I gave my testimony. At the end, one of the lawyers smilingly said:

"Mr. Smythe, will you please give me your address. You seem to know a lot about old and worthless stock. I have a collection I would like to have you look at."

"Then another lawyer got up. He said, with half hidden amusement, that he, too, had his little pile of worthless securities and he, too, would like my address. They all had their private portfolios of defunct certificates. Just as I was about to step down, one attorney got up and said:

"Your honor, we lawyers seem to have gathered quite a supply of the merchandise this gentleman deals in. He has customers among all the lawyers. May I suggest that perhaps your honor also would like his address."

"The judge smiled and whispered: 'Yes, I think you had better give me your card, too.'

"So you see, the source of supply for obsolete securities is not very limited. When the judges and the lawyers—the wise ones of the world—get their share of bad investments, how can we protect those of whom Barnum said they are born at the rate of one a minute?

"What is more surprising is that so many people want to buy them after they become worthless. Many collect rare and ancient securities just as others collect old programs or postage stamps or rare editions. Some want them for the signatures on the bonds. My wife is fond of collecting old and rare autographs and I have been able to get her some good ones on old bonds—Vanderbilts, Goulds and equally notable names.

"By the way, one of the rarest of such signatures is that of John D. Rockefeller. I once had one which I used to apply as a test of credulity. You, of course, have heard the tale of the man who tried in vain to sell pound notes on London Bridge for ten shillings. Well, I had a check for $5 from Mr. Rockefeller. When the first volume of my book on rare securities was issued Mr. Rockefeller was one of the first subscribers. He sent his check for $5. I kept it for a long time. I used to make a point of offering to sell it for a dollar. Of course no one would buy it, putting it down as spurious if I was willing to sell it so cheap. People who would come to buy worthless securities wouldn't buy for $1 a perfectly good check for $5 signed by John D. Rockefeller!

"With a large number of people, buying old securities is a kind of long-shot gamble. It is like buying a ticket in a lottery. People will buy hundreds of millions of old stocks and bonds and hold them in the hope of seeing them turn into gold in their hands. Whatever they do with them, they never want to let them go. None of the stocks or bonds I sell ever come back to me. And on a few occasions, when I have tried to get them back, the holders would not part with them. The tales of sudden riches they have heard stir in them the hope that their heap of impressive trash may, by some happy chance, bloom again into wealth.

"Let me tell you a story. You know, among other uses for old securities, a good many people will buy them for wall paper, usually in a man's den. A man with such a den will amuse his friends, I suppose, by ushering them into a room papered with ten or twenty or a hundred million dollars worth of bonds. Well, a doctor in Yonkers wanted to paper his den with bonds. Some one gave him my name. He called and bought a lot of stocks and bonds, for which he paid $40.

"A little while after that I got a letter from the treasurer of a coal mining company in Pennsylvania telling me that the company had unexpectedly come into possession of valuable property, that there were bonds outstanding and that he wished to get in touch with the holders to buy the bonds and cancel them. He requested me to locate the holders.

"I found that the bonds he wanted were included in the bale of old securities I had sold the Yonkers doctor, and I so advised the mining company treasurer. He wrote the doctor, asking him to forward the bonds for redemption. The doctor replied that the bonds were on his wall and that he was sorry to report it was impossible to get them off without destroying them.

"The mining company sent a representative to the doctor's house. That gentleman, with the aid of a step-ladder, wandered all over the wall locating all the bonds by number and canceling them without taking them down. When he was through he handed the doctor a check for $14,000.

"These things do not happen every day, but the remote chance of them happening is enough to give people a new affection for their old securities. A gentleman of my acquaintance had 700 shares in an old company. He asked me what I would give for them. I looked them over and told him they were worth about a dollar. That was really about their true value at the time.

"Within a year a man called and said he would like to buy some of that very issue. I told him I knew where there were 700 shares, but that I also knew they were worthless and that he was putting himself to a great deal of unnecessary trouble.

"Well," he replied, "you need not concern yourself on my account, as I know well enough what I am doing. I am the treasurer of that company and I will gladly pay $40 a share for these stocks!"

"That was $28,000, and I promptly transmitted the information to the gentleman who held the shares. I have discovered that they are really worth $400 a share, and that is what he will have to pay for them.

"Within a year these 700 shares had risen from $1 to $280,000!"

"I could tell you of other such cases, but they are all of the same type and illustrate the same point.

"I have said people buy these old certificates for all sorts of odd reasons. There seems to be no end to their uses. New ones are turning up constantly. Only last week a group of bankers were having a banquet. There were to be about twenty at the table. And the chairman of the committee came to me to get $20,000,000 worth of old securities. He wanted—as part of the fun of the occasion—to put $1,000,000 in bonds—very worthless ones of course—at each man's plate.

"Lately there has been quite a demand for them from banks, for their window displays. You know, banks have gone in for show windows like those of merchants. They will put a whole batch—millions of dollars—of worthless securities in their window on one side and on the other side they will place a little savings bank book. 'You have tried this way,' reads a legend pointing to the bonds. 'Now try this way,' reads another over the little bank book. And I think it excellent advice.

"Because I work so much in worthless securities I am always being asked how to guard against them. Well, it is very difficult to give such advice. The wisest financiers are being constantly trapped in corporate ventures. In New York state there are not less than 400,000 defunct corporations. In the country as a whole there are at least 5,000,000.

"There seldom is a rich man's safe opened which doesn't reveal a batch of stock certificates which evidence his mistakes. Some years ago I appraised the estate of one of the richest men in New York. He left many millions in gilt edged securities. But among his belongings I also found $55,000,000 of worthless securities.

"But to get back to the rules for avoiding losses in securities. Perhaps it is futile to give advice. Swindlers take several billion dollars a year from the American people through fraudulent security sales. Apparently nothing is easier. I don't know how to stop them.

"Our imprudence comes from our hunger for wealth. The average man, working every day, saving a little—but, after all, very little—begins after a while to feel a bit discouraged by the very, very slow progress of orderly, patient, week after week saving. He sees the promise of a quicker road, a swift, short cut to riches. Others have taken the cut and got there. It may turn out so again.

"At least there is an element of adventure in it. And a hope. Ah! yes! That's it. The hope that burns forever in our hearts and, after all is said, is the thing which makes life endurable. That is what makes people go on hugging poor, gaudy, worthless certificates to their hearts, hoping always that some day, in some way, fortune will touch them with her magic wand and turn them into gold."

Mr. Smythe smiled and shook his head. "Yes, fortune does that once in a while. But she is like the angels. Her visits are few and far between."

(Copyright, 1929, for The Constitution)

"$1,000,000 in Bonds—Worthless Ones, of Course—Appeared at Each Plate"

A Doggy Affair

A Dog Party, With Favors, Decorations and Bridge Prizes, All Very Canine, Too, Is an Original Way to Entertain Your Friends Who Are Dog Lovers

By Nippen Tuck

PARTIES seem to be gaining a new popularity with hosts—and losing their old popularity with guests. And there's a reason. Hosts and hostesses still stick to the same old formulas and depend upon bridge and gin to speed the party guest.

New ideas occur never—or practically never. There was the Pittsburgh host who had the happy idea of blindfolding all of his guests and conducting a smoke test—while his wife hid away a bottle of real pre-war stuff that had been brought out by mistake. But, for the most part, parties and ideas for parties have gone to the dogs.

This fact itself suggested a brand new idea to a Canton, Massachusetts, hostess two or three weeks ago. She gave a party that went to the dogs—and thereby achieved a unique success. For it was a dog party, in every slightest detail.

Owners of dogs and other pets were the guests. Tuck, a wire-haired fox terrier, with the distinctive habit of bounding along like a kangaroo instead of pursuing the usual canine trot, was the host. And everything about the party, from the place cards to the prizes at bridge, was doggy. Decorations—favors—every course at dinner—the "movie" that was shown before bridge was started—even the playing cards and tallies—were related to dogs in general, and to the pets of the guests in particular.

From the arrival of the first guest until the last bowed his way out with the announcement that he had "had a doggone good time"—the dogs dominated.

Tuck, with a huge red ribbon tied in a bow around his neck, barked a welcome to his guests as he met them at the door. And when they had all assembled he led them in to dinner.

The dining room was decorated in red and white—and dogs. From above the long, narrow table, hung a fringe of red, crinkly tissue paper. Through this—in various places and postures—peeped twenty or thirty little white celluloid dogs, of the bozo variety. A wire-haired fox terrier stood on a platform in the center of the table. Though he had come from a toy store he bore a marked resemblance to Tuck—and was almost as large.

Banked beneath him was a center piece of roses and sweet peas. (The original idea to have dogwood and pussywillow for the floral decorations was abandoned only after red had been chosen as the dominating color of the decorative scheme.)

A regiment of smaller toy dogs was mustered about the flowers in a hollow square. They wore red bows about their necks and each ribbon continued in a streamer to the place of one of the twenty-six guests. Ribbons were pulled. The hollow square was broken. Toward each guest marched a toy dog closely resembling his own pet and wearing a tag with the pet's name printed on it, instead of the customary dog license.

At each place was a group of favors and whatnots—all of a very doggy nature. The place cards bore paintings of a dog—a mut with a grin on his face despite the can on the end of his tail. From the top of the can emerged a tightly rolled bit of paper. Upon this was scribbled a verse or two of poetry—doggerel, of course.

The candy favors were large peppermint wafers—four inches or so in diameter—upon which an artistic confectioner had portrayed in candy a high relief of each guest's dog. The peppermints were white, but the dogs were done in natural color. Airedales, collies, wire-haired terriers, bulldogs, setters, chows, Scotch terriers, police dogs and other breeds were modeled in life-like detail. And, for one guest, who had a monkey instead of a dog for a pet, the confectioner had pictured the monkey balancing itself on a branch. A package, wrapped in white paper and tied with red ribbon, was placed beside each water glass. These gave no hint of their nature, but doggy they were just the same—cigarette boxes, lighters and holders, all decorated with dogs; coin banks in the shape of dogs, doorstop dogs, ash tray dogs.

And a little plaster bozo sat atop a cake of chocolate at each girl's place. Where the boys were seated the bozo was perched upon packages of cigarettes. Pasteboard packets of matches, with a silhouette of Tuck painted on the back and his initial on the front, accompanied the cigarettes.

As the guests were seated they put on red and white paper hats, decorated with little black silhouettes of dogs, and reached for their menus. These had been painted and lettered by the hostess. On the front was a photograph of Tuck, showing the puppy in a hesitant, inquisitive pose, with one paw raised as if waiting to shake hands with his friends.

Beneath the picture, in letters of gold and red, was the inscription, "Tuck's Party." Inside the covers were listed—and what courses!

A picture of Tuck, the host of the dog party, adorned each menu. Bone-shaped paper boxes held salted nuts. Place cards were puppyfied too, and small bozo dogs stood guard over a package of chocolates for each girl and cigarettes for each man.

The candy favors were large white peppermints, on which a clever confectioner had sculpted in high relief a likeness of each guest's pet.

Photographs by Zerbe

Menu

Juice of boiled puppy tails
Juicy Grass	Pecan-ese
Choice dog meat
Pomme de terrier
Collie - flower	Bark-a-roll's
Setter's fruit	Dog-fish salad
Frozen milk
Sweet dog biscuits
Black or tan beverage
Chicken bone candy
Barking dogs & Scratchers

Bridge followed. The first prize for girls was a leather handbag—with a dog pin fastened on the side.

For boys, the first prize was a cane, with a wire-haired terrier carved on the handle.

Meeting Place of the Puzzle Makers

By C. P. Holtzson

That center diamond is a masterpiece of interlock construction. If you don't believe it just erase your solution when you've finished and try to fill it in with one of your own.

- | ACROSS                                    | DOWN                                     |
|---|--|
| 1 Hostile intention.                      | 1 Inland.                                |
| 7 Transparent.                            | 2 Less distant.                          |
| 12 Spatter.                               | 3 Lodger.                                |
| 18 Aged.                                  | 4 Wire measure.                          |
| 19 River of France.                       | 5 Mexican trees.                         |
| 20 The public.                            | 6 Colonist.                              |
| 21 Small village.                         | 7 Fashionable.                           |
| 22 Sharp mountain spur.                   | 8 Listen.                                |
| 23 Escapes privately.                     | 9 Before.                                |
| 24 Danish money.                          | 10 Go in.                                |
| 25 Completely.                            | 11 Female of the sandpiper.              |
| 27 Occurrence.                            | 12 Sixteenth century English poet.       |
| 29 Corrode.                               | 13 Skin of fur-bearing animals.          |
| 30 Soaks.                                 | 14 Card game.                            |
| 32 Kindled.                               | 15 Seem.                                 |
| 33 Bear heavily.                          | 16 Knotted part of silk or thread.       |
| 34 Hoard.                                 | 17 Woman's name.                         |
| 35 Built.                                 | 26 Help.                                 |
| 37 Prefix; not.                           | 28 Kind of worm.                         |
| 38 Stricter.                              | 31 Scotch cake.                          |
| 40 Propeller.                             | 33 Prolongation.                         |
| 41 Door handles.                          | 34 Girl's name.                          |
| 44 Cereal grass.                          | 36 Make lace.                            |
| 45 Gleam.                                 | 37 Personal concern.                     |
| 48 Puts in order.                         | 39 Striving for superiority.             |
| 50 Harden.                                | 41 Metallic vessels.                     |
| 54 Be conveyed.                           | 42 Shattering.                           |
| 55 Able to read and write.                | 43 Background.                           |
| 56 Of the nose.                           | 45 Seek blindly.                         |
| 57 United.                                | 46 The words of a part in a play.        |
| 58 Comparing in order to show unlikeness. | 47 Impressions.                          |
| 60 Conjunction.                           | 48 Imposed a money penalty.              |
| 61 Harmony.                               | 49 Net.                                  |
| 63 Choosing.                              | 51 Custom.                               |
| 64 A molding.                             | 52 Wife of a rajah.                      |
| 65 City in Germany.                       | 53 Senior.                               |
| 66 Foreordain.                            | 55 Behold.                               |
| 67 Direct.                                | 58 Copper coins.                         |
| 68 Pronoun.                               | 59 Worthless; slang.                     |
| 70 Smart.                                 | 62 Overlays the inner surface of a roof. |
| 71 Expression of impatience.              | 64 Fish-eating animal.                   |
| 72 City in Massachusetts.                 | 67 Total.                                |
| 76 King of Bashan.                        | 69 Leads astray.                         |
| 77 Sign expressing a number.              | 71 Dinner jackets.                       |
| 81 Pronoun.                               | 72 Pure.                                 |
| 82 Couch.                                 | 73 Animated.                             |
| 85 Half-hose; coll.                       | 74 A commission.                         |
| 86 Wander.                                | 75 Purpose.                              |
| 87 Swiss river.                           | 77 Drowse.                               |
| 88 French novelist.                       | 78 Round-ups.                            |
| 89 Small tree.                            | 79 Unwilling.                            |
| 91 Lair.                                  | 80 Optical glasses.                      |
| 92 Motionless.                            | 84 Urns.                                 |
| 94 Divide.                                | 84 Very pale.                            |
| 96 Puts off.                              | 85 Smooth.                               |
| 98 Two-card whist combination.            | 88 Cut in cubes.                         |
| 99 Weird.                                 | 89 Melody.                               |
| 100 At rest.                              | 90 Network of nerves.                    |
| 101 Whirlpools.                           | 93 Language of the Siamese.              |
| 102 Petty thief.                          | 95 100 square meter.                     |
| 103 Feels.                                | 97 Fish propeller.                       |

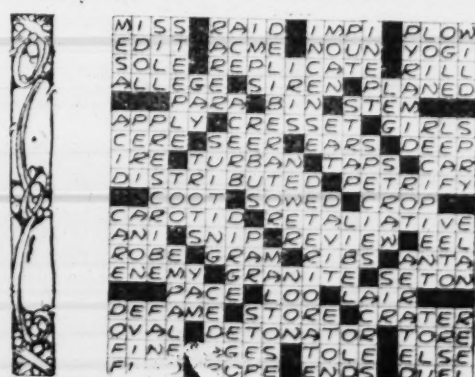

Diagramless, 15 x 15, by Grace Campbell

- | ACROSS                               | DOWN                             |
|--------------------------------------|----------------------------------|
| 1 Drudge.                            | 1 Frightened.                    |
| 6 Health resort.                     | 2 Concise.                       |
| 9 Vessel with twin hulls.            | 3 Ultimate particle.             |
| 14 Child's game.                     | 4 Front.                         |
| 15 Poisonous vegetable alkaloid.     | 5 Oriental prince.               |
| 16 Beverage.                         | 6 Of a post.                     |
| 17 Gipsy.                            | 7 Syrian country.                |
| 18 Oppose by argument.               | 8 Factor.                        |
| 19 A number.                         | 10 Goddess of mischief.          |
| 20 Half an em.                       | 11 A bone.                       |
| 21 Substance of a matter.            | 12 Babylonian God of the sky.    |
| 22 Obscure.                          | 13 Clear of charges.             |
| 24 Annoy.                            | 21 Fruit of a vine.              |
| 30 Nonsense.                         | 23 Pertaining to the jawbone.    |
| 31 According to ecclesiastical laws. | 24 Coal scuttle.                 |
| 33 Indigo plant.                     | 25 Article.                      |
| 35 Herb dish.                        | 26 Divide by tearing.            |
| 36 Boy in livery.                    | 27 Schools.                      |
| 37 Long, thin cigars.                | 28 Indian chiefs.                |
| 39 Period of time.                   | 29 Weaver's reeds.               |
| 40 A writ of execution.              | 32 Speaks through the nose.      |
| 41 Teacher; Hebrew.                  | 34 A limb.                       |
| 43 Garment edges.                    | 35 Make stable.                  |
| 44 Chinese weight.                   | 38 Note of scale.                |
| 46 I love; Latin.                    | 42 Two-footed animals.           |
| 46 West Indian fruit tree.           | 43 Celerity.                     |
| 51 Taste.                            | 46 Foot-like organ.              |
| 52 Title.                            | 47 Playing card.                 |
| 53 Manage with frugality.            | 48 Short, quick sound.           |
| 55 Small mound.                      | 49 Curious scraps of literature. |
| 56 Divided.                          | 50 An herb.                      |
| 57 Worm.                             | 51 Situation.                    |
| 58 Lock of hair.                     | 54 Spoil.                        |

"The Swan," 16 x 16, by Julian and Marian Hart Rice

- | ACROSS                      | DOWN                             |
|-----------------------------|----------------------------------|
| 1 Beetle.                   | 1 Frightened; Scotch.            |
| 4 Stitch.                   | 2 Gave medicine to.              |
| 7 Part of circle.           | 3 Send back.                     |
| 10 Unrefined metals.        | 4 Unhappy.                       |
| 12 Receptacle for wine.     | 5 Australian bird.               |
| 13 Assert.                  | 6 Conflict.                      |
| 14 African tree.            | 7 Means.                         |
| 17 Glacier ice.             | 8 Alters.                        |
| 18 Choicest part.           | 9 Wrinkles.                      |
| 19 Opening.                 | 11 Oversatisfy.                  |
| 22 Song.                    | 13 Grass resembling China grass. |
| 23 Hates.                   | 15 Home-building birds.          |
| 26 Mountain range in Mysia. | 16 Stirring.                     |
| 27 Fish.                    | 20 Fatty.                        |
| 28 Spinning toy.            | 21 Protect from imitators.       |
| 29 Small bird.              | 24 Civil wrong.                  |
| 30 A molding.               | 25 Watering place.               |
| 31 Age.                     | 34 Short poem.                   |
| 32 Monkey.                  | 35 Glittered.                    |
| 33 Worm.                    | 36 Tree.                         |
| 34 Worthless scrap.         | 37 Female ruff.                  |
| 35 Missile casters.         | 38 Meant.                        |
| 38 Small European fish.     | 39 Indite.                       |
| 39 Warning signal.          | 40 Side.                         |
| 40 Sole.                    | 41 Work.                         |
| 42 Face down.               | 42 Theatrical performance.       |
| 43 Blend.                   | 44 Withdrawer.                   |
| 47 Fit.                     | 45 Marsh crocodile.              |
| 48 Hurl.                    | 46 Finish.                       |
| 49 Period of time.          | 48 Pronoun.                      |
| 50 Golf term.               | 52 Slant.                        |
| 51 Detest.                  | 55 Adjoin.                       |
| 52 Saurel.                  | 57 Animal.                       |
| 53 Sea eagle.               | 58 Before.                       |
| 54 Look.                    |                                  |
| 55 Beverage.                |                                  |

Solutions of Last Week's Puzzles

"Mrs. Tuffs"—a Rare Cameo

ENTANGLED in the darkness of poverty and unfulfilled dreams, how could he know his star had begun to rise high into the heavens? He was destined to be the greatest sculptor America has produced, yet he had not been able to earn enough money to buy even the plaster in which to cast his first large clay statue. Marble—that would make his vision permanent—was but a tantalizing goal, a longing that gnawed at his heart.

At the age of twenty-four Augustus Saint-Gaudens was an art student in Rome, completing his training. As he had to make his livelihood, he had been working day and night for years to bring his hopes to harvest. But his hopes had borne no fruit. He was often woefully discouraged, brought almost to despair. Perhaps that is why his "Reminiscences" give us such scant discussion of this period in his life. They do not even mention his first commission.

The product of that commission, Saint-Gaudens' earliest known sculpture in marble, has just been found. In addition to this prize, there recently have been discovered two exquisite cameos cut by him and now authenticated by W. Frank Purdy—the only shell cameos that can be definitely attributed to his hand—and two minor, though rare, examples of his painting. Their romantic story here is told for the first time.

Walking one day in the streets of Rome, shortly after New Year's, 1872, Saint-Gaudens heard his name spoken, and, looking up, saw before him an American woman of middle age. As he did not remember her, she recalled to him that she was Mrs. John G. Tuffs, and that in his teens he had made a cameo portrait of her deceased husband back in New York. Saint-Gaudens probably did not remember her even then, for he had been cutting cameos for a living ever since he was thirteen.

But Mrs. Tuffs had liked his work well. She was glad to find him again. She asked if he would cut another portrait for her, this time for herself. Yes, of course, he would. He was not particularly overjoyed. To him it was just another cameo job. He always lavished great care upon them, but they fetched such slight sums that they barely sufficed to pay the rent and buy bread.

Mrs. Tuffs was chaperoning abroad her youngest sister, Miss Eva Rohr, a charming girl who had come to Rome for singing lessons. Their father had amassed a fortune of $500,000—a figure so large in those times that he is said to have been rated one of the five wealthiest men of America. In consequence, his daughters lived in considerable luxury. They welcomed Saint-Gaudens to their house, and he told them of his hope, his passion, his determination to become a sculptor.

Saint-Gaudens had been in Rome a little more than a year. He had left his home in New York at nineteen and for three years, he tells us himself, had been in Paris "attending a modeling school in the mornings and nights, and supporting myself on what I earned by the cameos I cut in the afternoon."

In Rome he had met one of his Paris companions, another sculptor, named Soares, with whom he shared a small, tumble-down studio. They hung a big sheet across the studio to separate them. Soares was at work on a figure to be called "The Exile." On the other side of the sheet Saint-Gaudens began his first important creation in clay—"Hiawatha," pondering, musing in the forest on the welfare of his people.

Half the day Soares had the place to himself,

St.-Gaudens' Early

Five of the First Works of America's Greatest Sculptor Here

By Malcolm V

"John Alden"—Painted on a Pie Plate

for at 1 o'clock Saint-Gaudens had to tear himself away from his precious "Hiawatha" and go to his bread-winning cameos. How, when the preliminary clay should be complete, he was to get the plaster in which to cast the statue, he had no notion.

His reminiscences give us a hint of his worry when he writes of "the unhappiness I suffered from Roman fever [he was often seriously ill] and the incessant dunning of the restaurant man who had been confident enough to trust me to the extent of a thousand lire, an enormous sum."

It seems incredible that none of his patrons had yet perceived the remarkable merit of his work or the greatness of the man's nature. Doubtless they were pleased enough with the portraits he cut for them, but no one had put forth any effort to aid the young man's advancement. It is an astonishing fact that out of the hundreds of cameos he made, only one—a stone cameo of Marie Stuart—has been treasured as a work from the hand of Saint-Gaudens. The two in shell just discovered—of Mr. and Mrs. Tuffs—to-day are appraised at $5,000 apiece. They have been preserved through

"Hiawatha," Now at Sa
Copyright by De Wit

Saint-Gaudens' Noted Lincoln Statue in Chicago
Copyright by the Brown Robertson Co., Inc.

The Recently Discovered Bus

Early Art Is Found!

Sculptor Have Just Come to Light After Years in Obscurity

Oliver Vaughan

"Now at Saratoga, N. Y.
Sculpted by De Witt Ward

Discovered Bust of Miss Eva Rohr

"Priscilla"—Another Pie Pan Work of Art

the years merely as family heirlooms, not as examples of a master's art.

In the friendly relationship that sprang up between the youthful sculptor and the two American ladies abroad, perhaps Mrs. Tuffs went to the makeshift studio and saw with her own eyes how his dreams were frustrated by lack of funds. Perhaps she knew nothing of his straits, but with a woman's intuition perceived he had genius. In any event, she soon encouraged him by commissioning him to make a portrait bust in marble of Miss Rohr. For this act Mrs. Tuffs should be honored forever.

We can only imagine the sculptor's emotions at this first evidence of faith in his powers. The three who could have told us of the event now are all gone, and no record remains save the bust itself.

It was the moment Saint-Gaudens had longed for, fought for, slaved for. Did he realize the star of his destiny had risen?

Certainly he did not let excitement get the better of his skill. Every line and plane of the stone bespeaks a restraint of which few young sculptors are capable. His later work was to be more glorious, as in his statue of

The Sherman Statue in New York

Copyright by the Brown Robertson Co., Inc.

The Shell Cameo of Mr. Tuffs

General Sherman, now standing in the Plaza at Fifth Avenue and Fifty-ninth Street, New York; more profound, as in the Shaw Memorial relief that faces the Massachusetts State House, atop Beacon Hill, Boston; more poignant, as in the standing Lincoln, now a national shrine in Lincoln Park, Chicago. But already the hand of Saint-Gaudens could express, as Roosevelt later declared, that "his genius had that lofty quality of insight which enables a man to see to the root of things."

The lovely bust of Miss Rohr acquires increased significance when we are informed that the girl was called back to America just as the clay model was finished. Saint-Gaudens had to chisel his first commissioned marble portrait by entire dependence on the model, without any opportunity of referring to the original for this or that correction.

That it is an excellent likeness is attested by contemporary photographs of Miss Rohr. Art critics will also recognize in it the influence of ancient Roman sculpture. Saint-Gaudens, while keeping the resemblance, interpreted the sitter as if she were half a girl of ancient Rome and half a young American Puritan.

On the base of the marble, written above the signature and the date "Roma, 1872," is an ornamental inscription that reads:

"I'm neither lady neither fair and home I can go without your care."

This quotation surely alludes to some pleasant occasion when one young man had encountered the young woman and asked to escort her home. We can almost hear her, with demure Victorian propriety, politely declining to put him to the bother. The youth must not have thought it a bother, and, with masculine Victorian insistence, urged his proffer, saying something to the effect that so beautiful a lady must not wend her way alone. Whereupon the maiden cast herself on classic authors and found her guide where one might least expect to find it—in an epigram from "Faust."

Some episode or other of that sort must have been the source of the curious inscription.

Several philosophers have remarked that important matters are quickly forgotten, while casual little things are usually kept bright in memory across the generations. That is what has happened with two pie pans which Saint-Gaudens once painted. The story of the bust and the cameos has come down to us so incomplete that it can barely be pieced out. The story of the pie pans has been preserved in its entirety.

Just before the spring of 1872 Saint-Gaudens gave a studio party. Studio parties had not yet become full-dress affairs, and the fact that Saint-Gaudens could not purchase refreshments was no deterrent whatever. For Miss Rohr went into her own kitchen and baked two large, deep pies for the party. A few days later the empty pans were returned, their interiors painted with diverting sketches of a girl and a boy, entitled "Priscilla and John Alden."

Saint-Gaudens was not a painter. The pans, of course, have not the slightest aesthetic value. Yet Miss Rohr is said to have prized them more than she prized the marble bust and the cameos; and they still are zealously guarded by the descendant who now owns all five pieces. Incidentally, they have proved worth the trouble. These pie pans to-day are the only intimate souvenirs, so far as is known of our greatest sculptor's student sojourn in Italy. It is possible that Saint-Gaud-

Things New and Old About the Bible

BY REV. W. P. KING

HERE are certain influences which make for the maintenance of religious belief.

While religion is persistent, its persistence results from complying with certain conditions.

1. The first of these is the social factor in religious belief. Neither the superstition of the savage nor the faith of the Christian is peculiar to himself.

Man is a social being and the social atmosphere is very powerful in sustaining belief in the minds of individuals. The dominance of the group is reflected in the sameness of belief in the members of the group.

The traditions of the past exercise a powerful authority over the beliefs of today. The immemorial customs of the tribe are strong fetters on the mind of the individual member of the tribe. And in a more advanced stage of society, the most effective beliefs in their working force are not peculiar to the in-

WILLIAM P. KING
Book Editor and Editor of
THE METHODIST
QUARTERLY REVIEW
Nashville, Tenn.

dividual, but are shared with others as a sacred inheritance.

The collective faith of the church lends stability and assurance to the faith of the single soul, and man becomes a prey to doubts when he can find no support for his own religion in the religion of others.

Novalis said, "My belief has gained infinitely to me from the moment when another human being has begun to believe the same." The church thus supports the faith of the individual, and throughout the changing history of many generations maintains the continuity of religious tradition and experience.

The church makes it possible for the men of each new age to face the problems of the present enriched by the spiritual wisdom of the past. The man who separates himself from religious institutions is prone to decline to a lower level of interests, and to be led captive under the tyranny of secular things.

Whatever may be the faults of the church, it at least urges on men the truth that they are more than "thriving earthworms," for their destiny lies beyond this material order of things.

Social and Personal Factors In Religion

This social factor of religion also manifests itself in acts of worship and social service.

This gives strength to religious belief.

This social worship impresses upon the worshiper the fact that his religious belief is shared by the congregation with whom he worships.

Worship is a great and vital part of religion and must be given a central place.

The person who is careless as regards his social fellowship of worship invariably declines in religious faith.

2. There is the personal factor in religious belief.

The danger always is that the social and institutional side of religion may become too heavy an encumbrance on the free, spiritual conviction of the individual.

Religion may become solely an inheritance instead of a free choice.

A clear and forceful thinker has stated this opinion: "Probably there never was a time when the amount of beliefs held by an average educated person, undemonstrated and unverified by himself, was greater than it is now."

There are many whose religion is illuminated by no personal vision and is the issue of no inner struggle.

Institutional religion cannot be long maintained if there is the absence of vital personal religion.

There has always been necessary the action of personal will on social customs and religion.

There has been the age long struggle between social institutions and personal ideas and convictions.

In the maintenance and progress of religion, there must be the interaction between the personal and social factors.

If religion is to conserve its value it must preserve its continuity with the past and show itself capable of developing in the future. The inheritance of the past will avail little for religion or any other institution, if religion does not expand to meet the wants of a growing world.

Dr. George Galloway in "The Philosophy of Religion" writes: "The decline of a personal religion is always the sure herald of a general spiritual decadence, for it betokens the advent of a formal religion from which the quickening spirit has fled. On the other hand the excessive predominance of the subjective factor stimulates the rise of sects or leads to a wide unsettlement of mind which may pass into skepticism. An institutional religion which has not the strength to overcome these individualistic movements, or at least to control them, must in the long run fall a prey to the process of disintegration."

Broadway Banter

BY FORNEY WYLY

Y GIRL FRIDAY" you may have read is the dainty little play which the authorities found sufficiently indelicate to close for a time. It had been your correspondent's somewhat doubtful pleasure to witness this little gem two nights before its somewhat abrupt termination. What I saw seemed to me far more tedious than indecent. Undoubtedly the author should have been arrested if for no other reason than having written an uncommonly boring play. I may as well admit that during certain passages of the season's most indecent play I dozed off into happy forgetfulness.

It was one of those antiquated affairs about a house party composed of the author, backer and angel of a show, having as their companions three young chorus ladies. Of course the men are married and those of the girls who weren't were at least engaged, so you can just imagine what a jolly little mess there was in Act III when all the missing husbands, wives and fiancées showed up. The particular objection which the police made to the masterpiece was the end of Act I when the ladies of the ensembles stepped out of step-ins.

I also learned—with much interest—that chorus girls are really lovely domestic little mice who have never done anything to earn the gaudy reputation they have. They all possess just so many hearts of gold and never let it be said that they ever do the slightest thing off-color. At least "My Girl Friday" teaches us that.

If you ask me, I think the play and the raid were really much ado about nothing.

.....

Charles Orme and his wife, Mary Cohen Orme, were members of the audience at "This Year of Grace" the evening I saw it for the sixth time. There can be no doubt that on seeing me Mrs. Orme quite courageously addressed me as "Fatty," but then nicknames have always seemed to be so—er—cozy. Mr. and Mrs. Orme saw the show during Noel Coward's illness. No one is sorrier than I that this brilliant young man was ill, but I have always contended the shows he writes so excellently, are far better when he does not choose to be in them.

.....

During Mr. Coward's temporary indisposition, his roles are being played by a young Englishman, Billy Milton, who has heretofore done only the "Try and Learn to Love a Little Bit" number and a few sketches in "This Year of Grace." Now we find him doing the musical hit of the year, "A Room With a View," in Mr. Coward's place, and if you ask me, doing it infinitely better. Mr. Milton possesses the youthful zest the number requires, a zest which Mr. Coward though also a young man, fails to list among his virtues. Furthermore, there are many who have suffered under the delusion that the "Dance, Dance Little Lady" number could be done only by Mr. Coward. It now develops Mr. Milton draws equally as much applause and spares us some of the facial gymnastics Mr. Coward indulged in. As has been said more than once, it is too bad Mr. Coward does not content himself with writing the cleverest revue in seasons and forget to appear in it. Incidentally, American producers should snatch up young Milton, for he is one of the few musical comedy juveniles who has looks, personality, the ability to dance and sing and—of all things—to act.

.....

Ruth Draper until this season has confined her New York appearances to Sunday evenings at some theater. This year, however, she is to be seen nightly and at three matinees each week at the Comedy theater.

St.-Gauden's Early Art Found

Continued From Page Thirteen.

ens' acquaintance with the two American sisters brought him indirectly even greater fortune than that already described. In the spring of 1872 another member of the American colony in Rome, Montgomery Gibbs, is known to have "asked some ladies about having a cameo cut of Marie Stuart. They told him of a young American who had designed some for them and who greatly needed work, and they gave his address to Mr. Gibbs." These ladies may have been Mrs. Tufts and Miss Rohr. It is not certain, but it is quite possible.

Calling at the studio of Saint-Gaudens, Gibbs found him absent; but a neighbor's boy volunteered to show him the statue of "Hiawatha," now practically finished in wet clay. Gibbs was so impressed with the excellence of this work that he hastened to find the sculptor and promptly brought to an end the struggles of Augustus Saint-Gaudens against poverty and unfulfilled dreams. Gibbs said he was not in need of a statue of Hiawatha, but that he wished to advance the sculptor enough funds to put the creation in marble. In return for this loan he said he would like to have a stone cameo of Marie Stuart and the portrait busts of his two daughters.

When the agreement was sealed Saint-Gaudens was ecstatically aware that his star had risen high into the heavens. From that time on it swept him ever upward from one bright glory to the next until it reached the zenith. His fame led all the rest. By the time his star went out the whole of American art had followed him to new standards, new levels, new heights of beauty.

(Copyright, 1929, for The Constitution.)

and doing quite nicely, too. Her material is varied and among the sketches are many new ones. None, however, seem to be quite so entertaining as the old ones. "The Southern Girl at a Dance," "The Italian Lesson," and "A Quiet Morning in Bed" will always remain my favorites, not forgetting "The Class in Greek Poise" either. You can do yourself no better turn than to see Miss Draper when she comes to you, or better still, when you come to New York on your next toot.

.....

It is not to be denied that certain performances by certain actors and actresses are the outstanding points of many of the present season's productions. I recall that Kenneth MacKenna's work in "The Big Pond" was the best thing about it; Katherine Cornell in "The Age of Innocence," Alice Brady in "A Most Immoral Lady," Jack Whiting in "Hold Everything," Ethel Barrymore in "The Kingdom of God," Zita Johann in "Machinal," Constance Collier in "Serena Blandish," Rose Hobart in "Crashing Through," Paul Gilfoyle in "Zeppelin," Betty Starbuck in "Hello, Daddy"—these are performances which were vastly superior to the plays in which they took place. Of course the Misses Cornell, Barrymore, Brady, Collier and Mr. MacKenna are already stars or featured players in their own names. Will stardom soon be the reward of the budding and promising Misses Johann, Hobart and Starbuck and the Messrs. Whiting and Gilfoyle?

Dear Friend: Draw your own good luck. Ancient lore has it that the best way to be lucky is to draw your luck in with WHITE LOADSTONE, as that is the purest and most powerful. They believe that "dead" loadstones are harmful and should be discarded as it makes conditions worse. So, for luck's sake, write today for our GENUINE DRAWING WHITE LOADSTONE. Its wonderful power is believed to draw your loved one to you, make you a winner in all games or do anything that you desire. For many years WHITE LOADSTONE has helped hundreds of people. What else? It brings immediate results and puts you on the road to happiness. Just what you need. You will notice the change. Shake the links.

Drive Away Evil for Good Change your luck—Buy Luck Book Free with your order that contains secrets that over mean thousands of dollars to you. Send no money. When the WHITE LOADSTONE, LUCK BOOK, and our MAGNIFICENT LUCK OIL and Sacred Incense arrive per post only $1.98 and postage. If not satisfied, money refunded.

SINCLAIR IMPORTING CO.
Dept. FL-8904, 3556 Archer Ave., Chicago

ATTRACT ANYTHING YOU WANT TO YOU!

I am your Friend Dearest Friend: If you are distressed, blue and unhappy, let me help you. I have helped thousands. Many thousands of people have found good luck and happiness in my Quack Drawing Loadstone Powder and Attraction and Quick Luck Oil. They are believed by certain high spirits to bring to you anything you desire and to bring back your loved one. Stop worrying. Just write me a personal letter, telling me all your troubles and necessities, and I will send you my free advice.

Guaranteed to Please You or Your Money Refunded FREE—Two Powerful Lucky Bags—FREE with your order. These bags are for two uses. BAG No. 1: To draw a money, success, power and general good luck. BAG No. 2: To bring success in controlling the opposite sex, your loved one with you all the time. Each bag contains Loadstone Powder, Attraction and Quick Luck Oil, Incense, Magical Perfumes, Incense, Magical Oil and many other lucky articles. You take no risk. When the postman delivers the package pay him only $2.98 and postage. Big instructions book of secrets free with your order. No matter how hard your case may be, just write me and I will help make your wishes and dreams come true. Special offer: Two Double strength outfits for only $5.00.

SINCLAIR IMPORTING CO.
Dept. JM 9504, 3556 Archer Ave., Chicago

The Glenlitten Murder

A Blue Ribbon Serial
By E. Phillips Oppenheim

INSTALLMENT VIII.

ELICE and Andrew found several members of the house party in the billiard room, and Andrew, after greeting Major Hartopp, unlocked a gun cabinet, produced the revolver, and laid it upon the table. It was a weapon of fairly modern type, with the flat handle and narrow barrels generally affected by the person who wishes to conceal the fact that he is armed. Hartopp examined it closely, turning it over once or twice in his hand. It was caked with mud in some places, and there was a little rust upon the barrels.

"I don't think," Sir Richard remarked, as he noticed the chief constable's precautions, "that we need consider the matter of finger prints. Personally, I used my handkerchief when it was brought to me, but that was probably too late, as the keeper was carrying it by the butt. In any case, even a few nights lying in an exposed place like that would obliterate any finger prints."

"A few nights!" Hartopp exclaimed. "It's six weeks today since the murder."

"Precisely," was the dry rejoinder, "but at present we have nothing but surmise to connect the finding of this weapon with the murder."

The chief constable smiled.

"You legal gentlemen are a little finicky," he observed, "but a weapon found exactly where you would expect the burglar to have disposed of it, knowing that pursuit was close at hand, certainly seems pretty well to speak for itself."

"Curious thing, though," Sir Richard reflected. "I have naturally had one or two conversations with the sergeant here. His men drew a cordon of fifty yards round the car, and searched for a whole day without finding a thing. This weapon must have been within that orbit."

"A fact which shows, I'm afraid," Major Hartopp confessed, "that my country police are sometimes a little at fault. They're a pretty rustic lot, I must admit."

"Or else that the revolver wasn't there when they searched."

The chief constable smiled tolerantly.

"I see your point," he observed. "You're suggesting that the weapon was planted here. Ingenious, but a little far fetched. There is another thing, too, Sir Richard, which I am afraid you will find it difficult to get over."

He pointed to the end of the stock. The lawyer adjusted his eyeglass, and bent downwards.

"Some one appears," Major Hartopp pointed out, "to have rudely scratched his initials there. What do you make of those two letters? I must confess that they look to me like an 'M' and a 'D.'"

Sir Richard nodded. He studied the initials for some time.

"Well," he remarked presently, "it may not, after all, be difficult to convince a jury that a man who takes a revolver out with him to commit a murder, and throws it away afterwards, knowing full well that some day or other it will be found, doesn't as a rule scratch his initials on it."

Major Hartopp shrugged his shoulders.

"Sir Richard," he said, "you and I both know something about criminals, and I do not mind telling you that my experience is that in matters of this sort they are the biggest lot of fools on God's earth. I can recall within the last seven years at least half a dozen murders where the criminal has covered up his tracks with the utmost cunning and yet left one perfectly obvious thread dangling for any one to see. Can I have the weapon locked up, Glenlitten?" he concluded, turning away and looking hopefully toward the tray of cocktails which Parkins was bringing in.

"Of course you can."

"One moment," Sir Richard begged. He took up the magnifying glass which some one had produced, and examined the rough letters which had been scratched upon the stock. When he set it down, it was with a slight gesture of contempt.

"I suppose you are all thinking," he said, "that the finding of this has cooked poor Drayton's goose. I don't mind telling you and dine. Curiously enough, it was Haslam, generally the most silent, who contributed the largest share to the conversation. A famous disciple of the occult had just died, and some of his theories had been held up almost to derision in the press, even by those earlier admirers who had once freely admitted his exceptional psychic powers. Haslam began to talk of the tribes in West Africa further removed from civilization, of their steady and consistent distaste of any association with the white men, their self-sufficiency, their secret and sometimes amazing rites. He gave them all a fascinating description of a month he had spent in the cave dwelling of one of the priests, when they had thirty. This is what my companion did. He sat at the mouth of our cave, and he faced the mountain and further range of hills over which these messengers would have to cross. For an hour he sat in absolute silence. I watched him, and although sometimes I fancied his lips moved, no sound came. Then later, as the night drew on, he began to make a curious humming sound, as though one were blowing into bowls of wood out of which some of these people fashion musical instruments. You might have believed that it could have been heard say fifty yards off by a person with good hearing. The settlement, as I think I told you, was thirty miles away. By nightfall of the next day two of the tribesmen arrived with fresh supplies of water."

"Did they give any explanation as to why they came?" Hartopp asked, after a moment's silence.

"At that time I didn't understand the language very well; but I did gather as much as this. The elder one said, 'We heard, we obeyed.' I asked the priest point blank, which was a wicked and irreligious thing to do, how he communicated with them, and at first he only smiled. Then he said, 'The heathen'—meaning us—'have built cities in which they live, and they have the law of cities, which they have filled with their own witchery. To us it is given to bend the winds and airs and stars to our will, so that they carry our messages.'"

There was another brief silence. Hartopp fidgeted uneasily in his place.

"All rot, of course," he muttered. "They faked the thing somehow."

"Nevertheless," Haslam maintained quietly, "we got the water. I," he went on, a moment or two later, "when I first went out there, was a skeptic. When I had been out there ten or twelve years I realized that skepticism was the most culpable form of ignorance."

Felice, who had been listening with dilated eyes, leaned a little toward him.

"Tell us," she begged, "did your priest teach you any of his gifts at all?"

Haslam shook his head.

"Very few. To us those men are savages," he continued. "They themselves pretend that they have something of Godship in their priestcraft. That may be. They seem to inherit a particular gift of focusing their brains and their will power upon any one object for an incredible space of time. They produce images in their brains which are perfectly amazing. They go on, and these images seem touched at last with something which might well be real life. One night—the night, poor fellow, when he felt that he was going to die—my man talked to me more than ever before, because by then I had learned the secret language which only the priests and a few others spoke. He told me, speaking of justice, that in his tribe no man was ever punished without deserts, whether the punishment was slight or of death. When I asked him how he could be sure of that, this was his answer—'Because,' he told me, 'those of us who have attained the priesthood—alas, our members grow fewer—have attained to the divine gift of knowing and seeing truth. Some white men,' he went —a bit unprofessional, I suppose, but still it can't do much harm—I don't mind telling you all that I never felt so hopeful of getting him off."

"Just why?" Andrew asked curiously.

"Because," Sir Richard continued, holding his cocktail up to the light, "I am convinced now that the real murderer is something of a fool as well as a rogue. I have three reasons for believing that this weapon was planted where it was found. Lock it up, Andrew—lock it up by all means. I would rather you did. In fact, I myself don't want it touched. I have seen all I want to of it. The prosecution will never be able to prove that the weapon belonged to Max Drayton. The one thing it may help to prove is that the real murderer—"

Sir Richard paused, took a cigaret from a box, and lit it. Every one looked at him inquiringly.

"I sometimes think," he concluded, "that I am too deeply imbued with the vice of my profession—I talk too much."

Hartopp was easily persuaded to stay on been shut off from the world by a terrible flood, and had been fed only by a few tribesmen who reached them with supplies along paths no white men could have trodden. Hartopp, who was a profound skeptic, listened to some of Haslam's statements with an air of obvious and immense disbelief.

"Tell us," he invited, "one thing that your friend did which was not capable of explanation, which seemed to you in any way supernatural?"

"I will tell you certainly," was the calm reply. "You may not believe it—it is the gift of some men not to believe—but this is what happened. We had received our usual food and supplies, and no more were due for five days. In the night I had an accident. I left the stopper out of the leather water bottle, and it was all spilt. We were without water for five days."

"Well?"

"The nearest huts from where we were, which had survived the flood, were between twenty-five and thirty miles away—more than that, I should say, but certainly

WHISKEY OR DRUG HABIT
CURED FOREVER OR NO PAY
Full treatment sent on trial. Can be given secretly in privacy of home. Guaranteed to break forever all desire for whiskey, gin, wine, home brew, moonshine, opium, morphine, heroin, paragon, and laudanum. Costs $2.99 if cured, nothing if fails. STANDARD LABORATORIES, Sta. N.P. 92, BALTIMORE, MD.

I AM YOUR FRIEND
LET ME ADVISE YOU
Dear Friend, Don't be unlucky and sad all your life. Why be only unhappy and worried when you can have all the good luck you want? I have just what you need. A real good luck bringer. For years and years thousands of people, the world over, have been using my famous Good Luck Stone. Loadstone powders and Hot Foot Oil with wonderful results. Why not you? This is something you have always wanted, something that you could carry with you everywhere you go, something that you could direct to bring you the winning in all games, the one you lose, or do anything that you desire. Just write me a personal letter, telling me your troubles and I will send you my free advice. The answers to all your questions and the big lucky outfit. As soon as you receive it, you will be delighted with the quick results and good luck which it brings to you.
Guaranteed to SATISFY or your money returned. Here is your chance to be lucky. Lucky numbers free. Many high priests believe that a person carrying this big lucky outfit will never be without money and can obtain anything he wants. He will always feel strong and powerful and have much luck. Write today. On arrival, pay postman only $1.00 and postage. Then keep and enjoy forever. Big lucky book and secret rules free with order.
J. C. STEVENS CO., 4211 Milwaukee Ave., Dept. FA-9314, Chicago, Ill.

TOBACCO
Or Snuff Habit Cured Or No Pay
Superba Tobacco Remedy destroys all craving for Cigarettes, Cigars, Pipes, Chewing or Snuff. Original and only remedy of its kind. Used by over 500,000 Men and Women. Perfectly harmless. Full treatment sent on trial. Costs $1.50 if it cures. Costs nothing if it fails. Write today for complete treatment.
SUPERBA CO., N. 96, BALTIMORE, MD.

Your Questions Answered FREE
No MORE BAD LUCK
Dear Friend, if you need help, are lonely and blue, and can't seem to get your head out of your own worries, write me. Let me answer all your questions free and give you my personal advice on how you can get your share of good luck and money. Learn the truth about yourself, your friends, enemies and everything that you want to know. Let my secret answers bring you the happiness that you desire. Write today, telling me all your troubles, for my famous Love Luck Loadstone and Controlling this are just your keys will open to the new happy life that awaits you. Let the magic power bring your loved one to you, make you a winner in all games, or do anything that you desire.
You Take No Risk! Here is your chance. Your writing may be the happiest moment in your life. So why delay? I will send you my famous Love Luck Loadstone and Controlling this, lock box and the answers to all your questions. On arrival, pay postman only $1.00 and postage. Then keep and enjoy forever. Guaranteed to delight you or money returned.
SINCLAIR IMPORTING CO.
Dept. G-9604, 3556 Archer Ave., Chicago

The Glenlitten Murder

on, 'come near the gift. Perhaps in time I could give it to you, Chief Haslam.'

"And did he?" Felice whispered.

"I sometimes think that he did," was the quiet but curiously convincing reply. "If ever a time has come when there has arisen a question as to the guilt or innocence of a certain person with regard to a certain deed, I have known the truth, and I have never been wrong."

Felice grasped his wrist. The fingers of her other hand pointed upwards towards her bed chamber.

"You know," she cried, "you know who fired that shot?"

"Yes," he answered. "I know."

.....

Suddenly Sir Richard leaned across and ipped his host by the arm.

"Look at Haslam," he whispered.

Haslam was sitting quite still in his chair, his eyes seemed to have grown larger, and yet to have become suddenly void of all expression. His lips were a little parted. He appeared perfectly rigid. Felice, noticing something unusual, addressed some casual remark to him. There was no reply.

"Is he ill?" Andrew exclaimed softly.

Doctor Meadows, who was seated on the other side of Lady Susan, intervened.

"Don't take any notice," he enjoined.

"Go on talking. I saw this once before. It will either pass off immediately, or he will be like that for days. Leave him alone. Let him come to naturally, or not at all."

They talked—no one knew exactly what about. The butler filled Haslam's glass with the others. Suddenly every one was surprised. He raised it to his lips, and began to talk in natural fashion to the young barrister by his side.

"You were bringing those tall ones down very well, Grindells," he observed.

The young man gasped.

"You weren't doing so badly yourself," he found presence of mind enough to reply.

Every one talked shooting at a great pace. Presently Haslam leaned a little towards Felice.

"Tell me," he asked, "have I been talking West Africa too much? I have an idea I let myself go, and then, as always happens if I do, I forget."

"You were very interesting," Felice assured him tactfully.

"One loses oneself," he confessed, "but I will tell you one more thing. My friend the priest there and I were talking one night during the last stage of his illness. I said to him then—'Are you not afraid that some day I shall go back and tell my white brothers all these wonderful things?' And he smiled. 'You will not go very far, Chief Haslam,' he assured me. 'The veil will drop over your eyes.' Anyhow the fellow told the truth," Haslam went on carelessly, "insofar that I always break off in the middle when I do feel disposed to talk, and I don't remember much afterwards. One thing I do remember," he concluded, looking down the table towards his host, "is this 1911 Cliquot. Do you recollect, Andrew, I was with you when you bought it? You were for having twenty dozen at first. Then the man pressed you, and got it up to fifty dozen. Eventually I think you bought the lot."

"Jove, you're right!" Andrew exclaimed. "Seventy-one dozen, and I never bought better wine in my life. What a memory you've got, Rodney."

ASTHMA

Stopped or No Pay Just your name and address will bring you all charges prepaid—a full sized bottle of Lane's Famous Treatment. No matter how long you have suffered or where you live—try my treatment without cost to you. It has been used by thousands and does not cost you a cent until you are completely satisfied—then send me only $1.25. Write me today.
B. J. LANE, 216 Lane Bldg., St. Marys, Kansas

BLACK CAT WISHING BONE
All the rage! This new Lucky Black Cat Wishing Bone, not an ordinary wishbone, but a distinctive bone, specially designed for the purpose it is sold. A most wonderful cure, bearing when you wish for a thing with all your might, it is bound to come. Start wishing now. Scientists believe that the most important force in this world is one's ambition, one's earnest wishes. You believe what you wish to believe, you get what you wish for most. Get your share. Be lucky in Games, in business always. Carry this wonderful Black Cat Wishing Bone with you wherever you go, and you should attract money, health, and control your loved ones. Follow our free Secret Rules and the Seven Luck's Secrets—For will be yours.
SIX LUCKY LOADSTONE FREE
With every order. Also the Big Book of Luck, containing many interesting and mysterious bits of information that will please you and your family members that you would like to know. For postage only $1.00 and postage on arrival for the complete outfit. Then carry it with you—touch the results. You'll be delighted or money refunded. Order today.
SINCLAIR IMPORTING CO.
Dept. C-9144, 3556 Archer Ave., Chicago

"Ten years ago it was," the latter remarked. "You had just succeeded. It was beginning to feel the real fascination of Africa in those days, and to realize that I would never be happy anywhere else. Yet we had a good time. I remember coming to the conclusion after seeing Andrew pass through his first season without even a touch, that he was a bachelor for life."

"So I should have been," Andrew declared, "if I hadn't found Felice."

She laughed happily as they all raised their glasses.

"I think," she said, "after that very charming speech, I remind myself of your English custom. I take myself away to think how vile six grown up men can be to one poor little woman."

Haslam moved across the floor, his usual cold, distinguished self, held open the door

"You'd have made a decent criminal lawyer yourself, Haslam," Sir Richard smiled.

"As a matter of fact," the other replied, "if it doesn't sound too egotistic, I may tell you that I have a great reputation in my own district as a judge. No one ever disputes my verdicts. I sometimes think that if I were to make a slip and pronounce an innocent man guilty he would believe that he had been deceived, and accept his fate quietly. The semi-savage mind is primitive but amazingly apprehensive."

"When do you retire?" Sir Richard inquired.

"Not until my limit has been reached. And I doubt whether I shall come home then."

"A confirmed bachelor?"

yet in a way naturally educated people, that makes one like that. I enjoy just the same things as other people out there. I'm very keen on my shooting. The governor very nearly complained of me last year for taking two months' leave instead of six weeks. They didn't know that I was hunting down a man as well as my big game. Then there are some quite decent chaps out there. We foregather once in a while. And those long trips of mine into the interior don't occur so often now. I have a great half-yearly court about two hundred miles in the bush, and I make the people come to me. I don't have a sheriff, and a coachman with a wig, and a glass windowed coast and outriders, or that sort of thing, but I have the equivalent. Form appeals to the African mind—form and sentiment. They haven't learned yet to place reason upon the throne, and worship nothing else. They still have to be convinced through their senses.

Parkins had entered the room and stood by Major Hartopp's side. During a momentary silence every word of his message was heard.

"I beg your pardon, sir; Colonel Woodward has telephoned from Winchester jail. He wishes to speak to you urgently."

With a word of apology the chief constable quitted his place and departed. Andrew presently rose to his feet.

"Can't suggest like Barrie that we 'join the ladies,'" he observed, "but I daresay Felice would be glad to see us."

They trooped toward the door. On their way they met Hartopp returning.

"A little loving message from our friend Drayton, eh?" Andrew remarked.

Hartopp shook his head.

"It seems Drayton has been taken ill," he said. "They got hold of the news of the finding of the revolver in Winchester this afternoon, and some ass must have told him. Governor wants my authority for his removal to the infirmary."

"You consented, of course?" Andrew asked.

Hartopp nodded.

"Can't go against the doctors," he replied.

.....

At about eleven o'clock on the following morning a faded looking yellow taxicab, running on three cylinders, hobbled up the

Continued on Page Nineteen.

THE TRUTH ABOUT THE EASTER EGGS

Bre'r Rabbit met Miss Molly Hen

Out by de ole pine tree;

Miss Hen she say: "How's you ter-day?"

"Mighty fine," sez Bre'r Rabbit, sez;

Den Miss Hen she ax: "Whut's de sho' nuff facks

Bout dis whut's puzzlin' me:

"How does you lay dem purple eggs,

An' dem whut's striped-blue?

An' some is gold, an' green, an' red,—

An' polka-dotted,—too;

How come you lays jest Easter days

An' not de whole year throo?

"Us Black Minorkys lays a egg

Des white ez new-fall snow;

Some hens lays brown; but dat's ez fur

Ez any hen kin go!

Now rabbits lays mos' any kind,—

But HOW, I'd like ter know?"

Bre'r Rabbit scratch his off-right ear

Wid his lef-hine foot, en say:

"To tell de honest trufe, Miss Hen,

You see, it's dis yere way:

We LAYS 'em WHITE, mos every night,

An' we colors 'em up next day!

"We takes de red fum de sunrise sky

An' green fum dis ole pine tree;

An' de yaller fum de yaller sun;

Brown come fum sassafax tea;

De blue we take fum de ole blue lake,—

Hit's blue ez blue kin be!"

Miss Hen she started takin' notes,

Bre'r Rabbit went on wid his tale:

"Jes take my advice," Bre'r Rabbit sez,

An' dem color jest cain't fail,—

An' mix in a dab o' Georgy clay

Ef de red looks kinder pale!"

Den Bre'r Rabbit lope off down de road

Wid a chuckle o' rabbit glee;

Miss Hen she sot a while,—an' den:

"Dat MIGHT be true," sez she.

(Now chillun, I's tole you all I know,— Dat's all Miss Hen tole me.)

(Copyright, 1929.)

—DAVID EDWARD UNGAR.

and smiled quietly down upon his hostess.

With their port upon the table, and the servants out of the room, conversation drifted almost inevitably back to the afternoon's find. Two people only withdrew from the discussion—Sir Richard and Haslam. The former, with his glass in his hand, moved to the other side of the table, and took the vacant chair next to Haslam.

"I will join you if I may," he suggested.

"Delighted," the other murmured.

"Apropos of this revolver find, he continued, "it is curious how the British mind—perhaps I should say, the mind of the British jury—is always fascinated by anything in the nature of circumstantial evidence. Any one in my profession knows that circumstantial evidence needs very careful linking up, or it may fall to pieces quicker than any other."

Haslam nodded assent.

"Evidence is sometimes very misleading," he said. "To my mind a lawyer should never waste too much time sweeping up the crumbs. It is through his psychological studies that he will attain the truth, and when he has the truth it is so much easier to work backwards."

Sir Richard was never sure whether it was his fancy or whether Haslam's eyes really rested for a moment upon that empty chair at the bottom of the table.

"I shall never marry," he said simply. "There is no form of life here which would content me, and certainly the life I lead in Africa would appeal to very few women. I have lost touch, you know, Sir Richard. These visits of mine to England, pleasant though they are, are like cameos, like wedgewood plates upon the panels of life. I always feel a sense of relief when I step on to the dock at Southampton, and a still greater one when I pass up the gang plank on to the steamer on my way home. Just at first perhaps I don't appreciate what is going to happen to me, because I find the bustle of the steamer annoying. It is when we come in sight of the low flat stretches, the cramped trees, the rising country beyond, when we near Africa—that is perhaps my happiest day."

"Any sport?" Sir Richard asked.

"Heaps," Haslam assented. "I talked a little strangely tonight, I believe. I do sometimes. It's the effect of living so much along amongst a very superstitious, and

DRAW YOUR LOVED ONE
FREE ADVICE Dear Friend: Are you lonely and blue for that sweetheart of yours? Are you worried and unhappy? If so, I have just what you need. You can now have back in love and everything. Let us send you our famous Love Powders, believed to draw your loved one to you, no matter where he or she is, and to make you a winner in all games and business. Have plenty of money. Settle your home troubles for good. This is just what you always wanted. And you can have it free on trial—until you are satisfied that it has done the work. So write today. Get my free advice and lucky secrets free with your order.

ORIENTAL LOVE ROOT FREE AND MAGIC PERFUME with your order. Keep your sweetheart with you forever. Let this big love outfit help you. Shake the jinks and be happy. Write today. On arrival pay postman only $1.99 and postage. Then keep and enjoy forever.

SINCLAIR IMPORTING CO.
Dept. D 9304, 3556 Archer Ave., Chicago

DROPSY TREATED ONE WEEK FREE

Short breathing relieved in 36 to 48 hours; swelling reduced in 15 to 20 days. Regulates the heart, corrects the liver and kidneys. Purifies the entire system. Collum Dropsy Remedy Company, Dept. 36, Atlanta, Ga.

LIQUOR or DRUG HABIT

Cured Forever or No Pay. Full treatment sent on trial. Can be given secretly in privacy of home. Guaranteed to banish forever all desire for whiskey, gin, wine, home brew, moonshine, opium, morphine, heroin, paregoric and laudanum. Costs $2.00 if cured, nothing if fails. Save him from Poison.

STANDARD LABORATORIES, Baltimore, Md.

LOADSTONE DRAWING POWDERS
DRAW ANYTHING YOU WANT
This is just what you need for real good luck. All you have to do is to carry it with you wherever you go, and notice the change for good luck that comes upon you. The greatest luck bringer in the world. Something that you will always be happy to have. If you are lonely, sad and blue, our Lucky Loadstone Drawing Powder and Quick Luck Oil are just what you need. Believed to draw your loved one to you, no matter where he or she is, and to make you a winner in all games and business. Have plenty of money. Settle your home troubles for good. This is just what you always wanted. And you can have it free on trial—until you are satisfied that it has done the work. So write today. Get my free advice and lucky secrets free with your order.

SENT ON FREE TRIAL
So sure are we of your delight and satisfaction that we are going to send you this big luck outfit without a penny in advance. As soon as we receive your letter, we will immediately send you our famous Seven Magic Secrets, the Lucky Drawing Loadstone Powder, Quick Luck Oil, and our Lucky Black Cat Wishing Bone. On arrival, pay postman only $1.00 and postage. Guaranteed to satisfy or your money returned. So write today.

J. C. STEVENS CO., 4211 Milwaukee Ave., Dept. C8-9414, Chicago

When Justice Triumphed

ONE knows just how many persons Paul Jaworski murdered during his violent criminal career. He was rather uncertain himself on that point. Once when a detective told him that he had killed seven, enumerating them to the bandit leader, Jaworski said, "I don't know. I might have." At another time he asserted the total was twenty-six. But that was likely an exaggeration. He had the boastful nature of his kind. It tickled his vanity to be regarded as a dangerous and notorious killer—which he certainly was, especially after his escape from the Allegheny county jail in Pittsburgh. He was typical of the modern breed of holdup men—daring, ruthless, egotistical. Jaworski gave Justice plenty of trouble ere he plunged into oblivion via 1,600 volts of electricity.

Born in Russia, he first became known to the police as a youth in the Hamtramck district of Detroit. He was then called Paul Pallas, but he soon dropped this name, either for protection or because his father had disowned him. According to Jaworski, his father was a very stern man, the sort who would not endure having his son disgrace the family name. Paul was to learn that Justice, too, is stern.

Very little is known about the young man's early career but he seems to have passed through the usual period of petty thievery and burglary before graduating into the highway robbery class. He was an apt pupil.

The first big job he is known to have taken part in was the holdup of the Christmas payroll of the Pittsburgh Coal Company in 1922. This robbery was attributed to the notorious Flathead gang, which Jaworski had either formed or become the leader of. A guard, J. Ross Dennis, of Carnegie, was shot to death and $23,000 stolen. Dennis was ordered to lie face down in the road during the looting of the payroll. Jaworski stepped over to the prostrate guard and shot him several times through the back.

The robbery was a complete success. It was not until long afterward that Jaworski was linked with the affair.

His first actual connection with the police came early in 1924 when, under the name of Paul Palmer, he attempted single-handed to hold up and rob the saloon of Louis Mechling in Sharpsburg, a suburb of Pittsburgh. In this affair he had Mechling and all the patrons standing with their hands in the air when Mechling's sister, hearing a commotion, stepped from the hall and looked in to see what was the matter. Jaworski flicked his gun in her direction ski for a month hovered between life and death but eventually recovered. In about five weeks he was removed to jail and in another five weeks friends had obtained bail for him. His bond, set at $5,000 by the district attorney, was furnished by a professional bondswoman, Cora Triplett. Jaworski disappeared as soon as he was released and bond was forfeited.

Check one mistake for Justice.

The police were to capture this man again but not until he had become a murderer several times over. Regarded at the time of his first arrest in Pittsburgh as nothing more than a "dumb Hunkey," he was to become known as the leader of one of the most efficient gangs of highwaymen in the land.

And even after that, even after he had become a known murderer and a prisoner,

Again the gang had operated with complete success. The police and the coal company detectives looked for the robbers with great determination and thoroughness, but the Flatheads remained uncaught.

More holdups occurred in subsequent months and then came the gang's master stroke—the dynamiting of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Company's bullet-proof armored car containing $104,000 on March 11, 1927.

In this affair nine men took part. They had evidently planned the holdup with careful attention to such details as the movements of the car and the money it carried. They planted dynamite bombs under the unpaved Bethel road, on the way to Coverdale, Pa., in a lonely stretch of country not more than a mile from the spot where Gump had been killed and less than five miles from the scene of the Dennis hurt to resist them. They were taken utterly by surprise.

Five of the guards were badly wounded by the explosion and one suffered a fractured skull.

(By Pacific & Atlantic)
Detective George Murren holding packages of Jaworski's loot recovered from farm in Washington county, Pennsylvania.

The armored car had been blown apart. The robbers had no difficulty in getting inside. They scooped up the money quickly, dividing it into two parts on the scene. Then they ran up the road, separated into two groups, and sped away in their two cars toward Coverdale.

Persons living in the vicinity hastened to the scene. They tried to notify police by telephone, but found that all the wires had been cut. It was necessary to drive to another town in order to give the alarm.

By this time the bandits were well out of that part of the country.

Detectives traced one of the cars far into the rural district of Washington county between Monongahela City and Bentleyville. One of the robber cars had blown out a tire, but the gangsters had not stopped to fix it. The detectives followed the tracks of this car for miles, but they suddenly ended. Again the officers were baffled.

But this time the Flatheads were not to be so lucky.

A tip came from a man who reported a crowd of suspicious appearing foreigners in

The late Paul Jaworski (By Pacific & Atlantic)

Justice again was destined to let him get away.

In the meanwhile the Dennis murder had been fastened on several Italians, chief among them being Dan Restilla, a coal miner of Avella, Pa., not far from Mount Lebanon, where the coal company holdup had occurred. Restilla was convicted of first degree murder and was in jail when Jaworski was shot and arrested for the Mechling holdup. Their cells were directly opposite each other.

Jaworski, the real slayer of Dennis, sat and watched the other man pining his cell. He talked with Restilla but never a word did he utter regarding his knowledge of the payroll holdup and murder. He was released and jumped bail, leaving Restilla to what looked like certain doom.

The gangsters struck again the day before Christmas, 1925. They attacked a party of guards and a payroll paymaster at Mollenauer, a mining settlement between Castle Shannon and Liberty on the state highway. As the payroll party crossed the road, a grace of rifles threw a hail of lead from a curtained car at the side of the road.

Isaiah Gump, one of the guards, fell dead at the first volley. As he crumpled to the ground, several men leaped from the car, snatched two bags containing $48,000 and sped away toward Washington county.

slaying. Two charges of explosive were planted about thirty feet apart, the nearest about 100 yards from the main highway. Wires connected the bombs with an electric battery behind a nearby tree.

While two of the gang remained at the wheels of automobiles hidden in a lane a short distance away, seven concealed themselves in the field near the electric battery.

The armored car approached. Behind it sped an automobile containing four guards. The man at the battery waited until the proper moment and then, as calmly as a workman in a quarry, pressed the button of the battery. He pushed one button as the armored car passed over one of the concealed bombs and then, after a brief interval, pressed another button as the following car passed over the second bomb.

The armored car was blown into the air with an upheaval of dirt and stones. The car behind it gave a similar convulsive leap. The men in both machines were hurled high in the air and thrown clear of the cars.

Before the stones and dirt had ceased falling, the seven men rushed to the scene. The guards, though armed with pistols, rifles and shotguns, were too dazed and

(By Pacific & Atlantic)
Joseph Weckowski, whom Jaworski implicated in the $104,000 payroll robbery.

and sent a bullet through her shoulder.

This was typical of him. He was seldom one to hesitate about pulling the trigger. But in this instance it was a mistake, for Mechling, enraged at this wanton shooting of his sister, managed to palm a small .22 caliber revolver while he was getting the money from the cash register. As he handed over the money, Mechling pulled the trigger.

The holdup man fell with a bullet in the chest.

Captured and sent to the hospital, Jawor-

Whooping Cough

FOR fifty years Vapo-Cresolene has relieved the paroxysms of Whooping Cough. Use it tonight and save the child from that wracking cough. Cresolene is widely used for Coughs, Bronchitis, Spasmodic Croup and Bronchial Asthma.

Sold by your druggist
Vapo-Cresolene
Send for descriptive booklet.
Vapo-Cresolene Co., Dept. A-11, 62 Cortlandt St., N.Y.C.

Asthma All Gone. Found Quick Relief

Suffered 16 Years. Then Regained Health Suddenly. Tells How.

Folk who have "tried everything" for asthma or bronchial trouble, may profit by following the example of Mrs. R. H. Wilson, 41 Hancock St., New Bern, N. C. She writes: "After 16 years of intense suffering from asthma, during which time I tried all kinds of medicine, I finally started taking Nacor in July, 1927. My asthma promptly began to disappear, and soon was entirely gone. I thought it might come back during the winter, but it didn't, and I have never had a sign of it since."

Hundreds of people who suffered for years from asthma, bronchitis and severe chronic coughs, have told how their trouble left and never returned. Their letters and a booklet of vital information about these diseases, will be sent free by Nacor Medicine Co., 737 State Life Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind. The more serious your case, the more important this free information may be. Write for it today. (adv.)

Wreck of the armored car which Jaworski's gang dynamited in order to seize $104,000 payroll near Coverdale, Pa.

a section not far from where the tracks of the car ended so abruptly near Bentleyville. This tip reached the police two days after the robbery, and George Murren, under-chief of detectives, set out with fifteen picked men in search of the gang's hideaway.

Within an hour Paul Jaworski stood handcuffed on the porch of a farmhouse in Washington county. Hoping to prove his innocence, he elected not to shoot it out with the officers. Possibly he hoped to do a bit of bail-jumping again.

This hideaway, it became known later, had been established by the gang several years before. It was there the gang had concealed themselves after many of their robberies. In this instance only Jaworski had gone there, the others electing to hurry on to Detroit until the chase died down. Jaworski had decided to keep away from Detroit for the very good reason that he had killed a Detroit policeman during a bank stickup only a little while before.

The prisoner insisted that he knew nothing about the Flathead gang and their activities, but several discoveries convinced the police that they were on the right track at last. One was the finding of a quantity of dynamite in an outbuilding. Another suspicious circumstance was the fact that there were at least half a dozen partly dismantled automobiles about the farm.

And on top of this, the detectives found in Jaworski's pocket an envelope containing $54 in bills—two $20 notes, a $10 note, and two $2 bills. The $2 bills were new and their numbers were consecutive.

One of the detectives recalled that on the way out that afternoon he had stopped at Mollenauer to buy cigarettes. The Mollenauer mine was to have been paid off from the same truck that carried the bandit loot. The change given the officers for a $5 bill included two $2 bills.

The numbers on these two $2 bills in the possession of the detective were only a few numbers separated from the numbers on the $2 bills found on Jaworski.

But he still maintained that he had no connection with the affair.

Ten days after the crime detectives took Jaworski back to the farm in an effort to get something out of him. During the questioning there, Detective Murren took two telegrams from his pocket. One was from Chief of Detectives Edward Fox, of Detroit. It stated that the man whose picture had been sent to them as Jaworski was Paul Toppa, wanted for killing a Detroit policeman. This was a genuine telegram.

The other telegram was one that a newspaper man had typed for Murren. It professed to be from the same office and stated that Joseph Weckowski, owner of the Washington county farm, had been arrested and would return to tell about the Coverdale robbery and reveal where the money had been hidden.

Murren showed the genuine telegram to the prisoner. His hand trembled a bit and his face turned pale. He handed it back.

"Anything to say to that?" inquired Murren.

Jaworski was silent.

"Now read this," said the detective. He handed the other the faked telegram.

Jaworski, reading it, closed his hand angrily on the slip of paper and uttered an oath. Within a few minutes he admitted having taken part in the robbery. He led the officers to the spot where his share of the money, $35,000, had been buried. He made a complete confession, implicating four others and Weckowski. That night Weckowski was arrested in Detroit.

The bandit leader pleaded guilty to all the crimes he was charged with and was sentenced to serve from 30 to 60 years in prison for the Mechling affair. He pleaded guilty to the three payroll robberies and two murders.

But before sentence could be passed he escaped.

Walking down the jail corridor, he and John Vasbinder encountered two guards, Harry Riger and John Hanlon. The guards, unarmed, attempted to stop them and each got a bullet in the shoulder.

"We're leaving here; hand over the keys," Jaworski told Bookkeeper Beiswanger.

Beiswanger turned over the keys.

"Now put up your hands and keep 'em up," continued Jaworski. The bookkeeper obeyed. The two backed out.

They unlocked the big steel doors leading to the street, walked unhurriedly to a car nearby, climbed in and sped away.

Again Jaworski dropped out of sight. For more than a year he was not seen again, though several robberies in that region told the police that he was active.

The following June occurred the $65,000 holdup of the Detroit News payroll. This was a Jaworski job. He seemed to alternate between Pittsburgh and Detroit as the field of his operations.

Then suddenly the break came.

Jaworski was eating in a Cleveland, Ohio, restaurant, on the afternoon of September 13, 1928, when a man recognized him. The man was John Zaworski, a former Pittsburgh grocery clerk, who had known the bandit as a youth in Butler, Pa. Zaworski informed the police of his discovery and officers hastened to the scene.

The police were most keen to make this capture. Perhaps they were a bit too precipitate.

Jaworski was sitting at a table when several officers walked in. Without a moment's hesitation the murderer drew his gun and killed Patrolman Anthony Wilczok, seriously wounded George E. Effinger, another officer, and dropped Benjamin Majstrek, a bystander, with a bullet in the groin.

His guns blazing, Jaworski retreated through a rear door, leaped over fences and fled down alleys to an unoccupied house near by. He broke into this house and the police surrounded the place.

A brief siege and it was all over. Tear bombs finally forced him to come out. As he stepped out of the door, Jaworski was peppered with buckshot and he fell, wounded in half a dozen places.

The next day, while he lay in a Cleveland hospital, Jaworski was indicted for murder. He confessed to six murders, and a host of robberies. Later he added to the total. He was credited with killing Guards Dennis and Gump in Pennsylvania; Ross Loney, Detroit payroll guard; a pal, Jack Wright, and Patrolman George Barstad, slain in the Detroit News robbery.

Three states wanted to try him and execute him for murder. Pennsylvania finally got the assignment. He was removed from Cleveland on a stretcher in a steel-plated car that was a veritable fortress and safely installed in the Allegheny county jail, awaited the door he knew now was sure to overtake him.

Jaworski a few days later was sentenced to die in the electric chair for the murder of Isaiah Gump. He spent but five minutes in court, having been carried to the courtroom in a chair. He had been partially paralyzed as a result of the wounds he suffered in the Cleveland battle. He said he had nothing to say. Later he said he wanted to die as soon as possible.

As the time of execution neared he steadfastly refused to see a priest, saying, "I have no faith. I have preached atheism from a soap box. What have I now to do with faith? I never believed in religion in my life and I don't believe in it in death."

He began his march to the electric chair at 7 o'clock on the morning of January 21 of this year. He entered the death chamber without uttering a word. He calmly took his seat, as calmly as though he were sitting down to have his hair cut, and almost immediately Executioner Robert Elliott threw the switch.

One of his last acts had been to write a letter confessing that he had also killed John Vasbinder, the man with whom he had escaped from jail. He said Vasbinder had been a dope addict and he had quarreled with him. The letter had been written to Assistant District Attorney Andrew T. Park and concluded with the words: "See you at 49 Hell's Fire Road, ten miles beyond Hell."

(Copyright, 1929, for The Constitution.)

Marriage a DO NOT GROPE IN DARKNESS Failure

Find Out the Mysteries of Life!

Read the Most Sensational Book in Years, "The Eternal Question"—and Know Why Marriage is So Often a Failure.

JUDGES granted over 2,000,000 misnamed couples divorces last year. Why? What's wrong with marriage? Is it spiritual? Is it physical? Is it the man's fault? Or does the woman fail? Will trial marriages solve sex mistakes? Is your love-life and sex-life complete? Are you unhappy because of ignorance of the fundamental facts of life? Are you committing errors which may ruin your future happiness? Do you know your desires, impulses, energies? Can you fascinate the other sex? These are but few of the subjects discussed in the amazing BRAND NEW book "The Eternal Question."

Sex Secrets!
This sensational book, now published for the first time, reveals sex secrets never before seen in print—true stories of grief caused by ignorance. Clears the way to successful marriages, happy matings, contentment and fulfillment of sexual desires. Discusses every side of sex relationship, mental, spiritual, moral, physical. Talks plainly, unafraid but decently. Analyzes moments of exultation, petting, adolescence, disease, vicious sex practices, anatomy, marital bliss, measles of marriage, "the dangerous age" and similar topics. A book you will read from cover to cover and then keep for future reference as you face the problems dealt with in everyday life. And everyone must face these problems at some time.

This book is not a novel—it is a penetrating searchlight fearlessly turned on the most intimate relations of men and women. It tells all you must and should know about Limitation of Offspring and why a wife should be permitted to decide when she shall become a mother, snatching indisputably every argument against Voluntary Parenthood. Its astounding facts, upon which the very laws of life are based, convey a vital message to brides, grooms, husbands, wives.

Life's Tragedies!
A beautiful and happy bride today. Too soon a mother, then more children. The result—overwork, strained constitution, broken health, unhappiness and too often a divorce. Why is this so often the case? Why should marriage convert a healthy, normal girl into a tired old woman? Why not a continuous, happy married life, with children in proportion to the mother's strength and the means of the family? Why such sex tragedies? Authoritative answers to

What's the Trouble? Whose Fault Is It?

In the problem of too many children the cause of much hardship, suffering, unhappiness and many divorces. The straightforward discussion of Birth Control in its many phases is a personal and intimate message of untold value to every husband and wife.

21 REMARKABLE, OUT-OF-THE-ORDINARY BOOKS—ALL IN ONE.
(Over 400 pages)

Strikingly Illustrated
Partial Contents

Love, Courtship, Marriage, Wooing to Win, Glands—Fountain of Youth, Psychoanalysis, Keeping Love Young, Monogamy, Secrets of Marriage, Wedlock, Mistakes of Bridegroom, Heredity, Parturition or Confinement, Pregnancy, Immorality in Marriage, Rejuvenation, Sex Determination, Sex Magnetism, How Babies are Conceived, The Social Evil, Physiology of Reproduction, Limitation of Offspring, Sterilization, Woman's Error and Her Debt.

Learn the Truth!

Learn the truth about your Love-Life and Sex-Life, portrayed in this great work on "LIFE'S GREATEST SECRETS." Take no foolish chances. Don't pay the dreadful price of ignorance and suffer possible untold agonizing grief later.

"The Eternal Question" is different from any book you ever read, although many sad faced men and women could tell similar tales if they only had the moral courage to bare their hearts. Letters from doctors, mothers, fathers, young husbands and happy brides testify to the value of the information crowded into the 412 pages of this book. "Its frankness is refreshing," says one reader. "Worth $10 of anyone's money" writes another.

This amazing 412-page book contains numerous full-page illustrations, beautifully cloth-bound. Its regular price is $3.50, but to introduce this vital knowledge into a million homes, for a limited time only we will send "The Eternal Question" to those who write for it, for the astonishingly low price of $1.00 which barely covers cost of handling.

We predict a rush on this fascinating and entrancing volume at this ridiculously low price, so order early—today if possible as we must charge its regular price of $3.50 immediately after this edition is exhausted.

Send No Money!

Just your name and address and this sensational, BRAND NEW book will be mailed at once in plain wrapper. Simply pay postman Special Introductory Price of $1.00 and postage on arrival. If not satisfied, return the book within five days and your money will be refunded. Don't Wait—Order Now!

STANDARD PUBLISHING CO.,
Dept. 156
TOPEKA, KANSAS
If you wish to save postage and C.O.D. charges, send $1.00 and book will be sent postpaid. (Price outside of U.S.—$1.25 cash with order.)

Continued From Page Sixteen.

[illegible]

She flung herself upon the box, tore at the sides, pried her fingers under the lid—in a few moments the blood was streaming from their tips.

"Listen," she said, "I am going to have Parkins pack up this gun again in another cartridge box. I will tell Sir Richard of your visit. He is here staying in the house. He knows already all about the gun. He will tell you how to act. If he finds out, remember, who borrowed the gun from your sister-in-law, who scratched those initials on, why, then the discovery of this thing will save him instead of hurting him."

(Copyright, 1929, for The Constitution.)
Continued in Next Sunday's Magazine.

[illegible]

WHEEL
DRAW A WINNING
WHEEL
IF YOU WANT
TO WIN

Dear Friend: Power Riches Success Happiness
Do you want all these? Do you want to win in games, new business and everything? Is something missing from back of you? Look London London London London London London
Is just what you need. Used on hundreds of successful people who are using it to draw in all the good luck you want. Every it works new characters, you get and draw it to bring you the winning in all games, to bring back your lost wealth and to, certainly that you desire. I need this Magnetic Wheel. Here is your chance to get one

Guarantee to Satisfy You If your money reduced wages, suffering this Magic Wheel will never be without it. You can win it. You can win it. You can win it. You can win it. operate and brings immediate results. Mark Lucy (and James Wheel, James Wheel, James Wheel, James Wheel, James Wheel, James Wheel, Adam and Eve, New Magnetic Wheel, Success,
Magic Perform and other magical properties

FREE Attraction and Love. (Use with your order, mailed to bring your loved one to you no matter where he is is. You don't have to wait. It works instantly. It write today. (in several pay problems only $2.50 and postage to take care of)

SINCLAIR IMPORTING CO.
Dept. F 9604, 3556 Archer Ave., Chicago

Sunday Health Talks

—By—
William Brady, M. D.

IT IS FAR from my wish to upset anybody, and certainly I should be the last to divest serious people of their dignity, for there is little enough of true humor in the world as it is. Yet I believe it my duty to take between my teeth my reputation as a sound and sensible health authority and urge upon the public, from time to time, the therapeutic efficacy of a simple, harmless remedy that is inexpensive and always pleasant to take, for what ails a lot of old crabs and is in store for many a young one who is now acquiring the temper of dignity. The medicine I refer to is somersaults. Don't ask the corner druggist for it—he'll probably tell you it is dangerous and suggest that you try his salts instead. Don't consult Webster for the technic—if you follow Dr. Webster's conception you are liable to break your neck. Ask any little boy to show you how; or drop into my playroom any time and I'll roll you a sample.

I do roll my own, several times in the course of the day's play. I keep a ten-foot strip of carpet over behind a tier of filing cabinets in the playroom and whenever anybody or anything threatens to get my goat I go right over and roll half a dozen times, then I come back to the game smiling.

Yes, yes, so I have heard, but we must remember that, after all, Hamlet was scarcely sane and it is well to be chary about accepting the philosophy of a crazy man. When I say I return to the game smiling, I do not mean just foolishly grinning; I mean chuckling inwardly, to express it politely; there's a ban against specific allusions to the place where chuckles have their origin. Perhaps it is permissible to say that some great physician once defined the blues as "splanchnic neurasthenia"; splanchnic is the way we

One May Roll and Roll and Be a Villain

Greek scholars get around saying entrails. Some other word artist, probably a psychologist, dubbed the gloomy, melancholic, serious, unhappy temperament or disposition anhedonia. Well, before taking the rolls I'm threatened with anhedonia; after taking I am a hedonist.

If this strikes you as at all silly, that is because you have never tried it. Believe me, friend, if dignity has crept that far over you, you're in the dangerous zone.

Formerly I placed at the very head of the list of "indications" for somersaulting these complaints:

1. Autointoxication from intestinal sasis.
2. Consipation.

But that was when I was young and had greater respect for the faith in mere authority than I have now. Now I would omit the first "indication" altogether, for it is fully covered by the second. Besides, I know now that there is no such state as "autointoxication." Still I make bold to say that the habit of rolling somersaults is one of the best remedies in the world against autointoxication if you insist you suffer from it. Any school boy who has had a term in psychology will see that this is perfectly consistent. If any one else thinks I am inconsistent about it, I doubt my treatment will help him very much.

There are several other "indications" for somersaults, and we had better omit some of them here, though I hope it will not shake anybody's confidence if we mention two more of them. Quick, now, before the editors have any sober second thoughts—

4. Poor circulation, especially cold feet.
5. Sallow complexion and so-called "liver spots."

Roll those off, if you please. Meanwhile, I'm going over and roll myself into the proper attitude—excuse me for fifty seconds, actual time by the watch, while I roll a dozen—and now I want to finish what I set out to tell you about the guy who may roll and roll and be a villain.

There is a great deal too much subsidized smiling done these days; you know, chorus girls and such, smiling over a newfangled washtub or something of the sort. Then, too, it is painful to contemplate all the idiotic smiling in the world; the vacant smile, the silly smile of the halfwit or the imbecile. Finally, it is quite maddening to observe what a terrible hold this accursed smile, smile propaganda has gained over the common herd, folks who consider it an admirable or courageous thing to smile or pretend to smile when they should in fact be crying, frowning, scowling, snarling or gritting their teeth. It may be quite all right for an actress in a play to smile through her glycerine, for a poor old character no longer able to defend his rights to smile when the world does him dirt; with a rose or orange light and special incidental music this sort of thing goes over pretty well. But now that we're all sober and in our normal minds, I ask you, what would you think if you caught your wife, your husband, your sweetheart smiling that way? You would immediately suspect something, of course. It just isn't done in true life.

Now and then some reader insinuates that I am sarcastic, and that's the truth. But, oh, dear, you ought to see some of the stuff I have pounded out here when my dander was up and my splanchnic cir-ulation maybe a trifle torrid. Many an outburst like that is laid aside for the moment, until I can get over behind the filing cases and get that blood out of the splanchnic pool. Then I rewrite the screed and dull the sharp edges somewhat.

Yet a man may roll himself dizzy and still be a villain, I suppose. I am not so sure I could roll myself dizzy any more. One gets past that after a while. I have often wondered, though, about the temperament of that fellow who rolled all the way from Germany to France a year or two ago; I wish he had rolled this way for observation and study. At first blush one is inclined to assume the fellow must have been plumb dotty, but maybe he had some good reason for the stunt. I am charitable about it because I know that a lot of dignified old parties who do not understand what these somersaults are all about, assume that I am nutty about it.

Now, then, everybody six to sixty is welcome to enter the Somersaultauqua, but remember, it is strictly a volunteer organization and I am not inviting you in nor assuming any responsibility whatever for any benefits or injuries accruing from your membership. You may roll yourself half a dozen first thing every morning and last thing every night and whenever through the day the desire or need may arise; or you may remain as you are, in all your dignity. I'm merely telling you about this. I don't care whether you do anything about it or not. I've earned my pay anyway.

Six to sixty is the range of age for beginners. There are plenty of rollers seventy and more and they are the most enthusiastic advocates of the practice.

Girls and women derive special benefits that are mentioned in the By-Laws of the Somersaultauqua. Any one may have the By-Laws mailed to him or her on request, if the request is accompanied with a stamped addressed envelope.

(Copyright, 1929, for The Constitution.)

It's Your Birthday

Continued From Page Four.

"What do you want me to give you," she asked, "criticism of your style?"

"I particularly don't want you to cramp it," he said. "Unfavorable criticism would. What I want, as I told you before, is to know what can be done about it. I hoped you were getting sort of—enthusiastic, as you dropped Ciro's."

"I'm terribly curious."

"Well, then, go to it!"

He took her latchkey and opened the door. "Remember, I'll be waiting." With the released latchkey he handed her an envelope. "Good night," he said, and was in the taxi which had brought them.

Rose went up to her room and, when she had turned on the light, opened the envelope. Queerer and queerer. There was only one sheet of paper inside.

"This is the story of my life," she read. "School. A few calf loves. College. More calf loves. Work. Chewing gum instead of love. No time for success in both. Chose gum. War. France. Guns and gum booming. Back home. Illuminated half Broadway. Work. More work. Most work. Slump in girls. Flappers not my type. Thought I had an ideal. Next, thought I saw it. Mother and daughter come up from south to conquer New York. F. F. V., which means first families of Virginia. Girl had beautiful face, beautiful manners; why not beautiful character? Don't know to this day what she and mother expected of New York grab-bag. I was what she got out of it. She seemed satisfied, but kept me unsatisfied. Sweet looks. Smiles. But would not be engaged. 'Almost sure of herself, but not quite.' Had to see England and be presented at court. Couldn't cancel previous arrangements for me, and waste good introductions. Good was the word! Nothing under a baronet, and didn't stop short of princes. I sulked and refused cordial invitation to follow by next ship. Changed my mind. She must have known I would. Arrived London to find her center of circle. Dukes, marquises, earls, etc. Not much room left for me, but kept my cheek and 'also ran,' despite discouragements. Never was more miserable! None so blind as those who won't see. But I did get my peepers opened at last to the fact that she had no further use for me.

"In New York I put her mother on to something good in Wall street, and it was seeing them through the London season. Anyhow, they weren't so stony that a girl with a fortune in her face and earls at her feet needs to marry some poor fish for money. A poor fish! I began to see that's just what I was in their eyes. Sunday put the lid on. I slammed out of that house at my worst. Never mind how I meant to drown my sorrows, but I meant to drown them! And then, there you were in my car, and it was your birthday.

"That is where the important part of my life began. It was a birthday for me, too. I was born over again. Before we finished lunch I was sure that what I felt for her had not really been love, but infatuation. And my sorrow had been wounded vanity. I felt it go when you and I laughed together, the way a headache goes for some people when they take ten grains of aspirin. You said you belonged to the superfluous millions. Before we bade each other good-by, I thought you were going to turn out the one in all the millions who wasn't superfluous.

"My writing this MS. began as a joke. But I soon saw more in it. I planned to make all this I'm telling you into a kind of story. I commenced on those lines till I got tangled up. It isn't as easy to be an author as I fancied. Mr. Percy Germaine can have the glory. He can stick to fiction and I'll stick to truth.

"While I was scribbling away and tearing up sheet after sheet, her mother called me up. Said the 'dear child' was so upset because of Sunday. It was all misunderstanding. Would I come around?"

"How I'd have felt about that yesterday, I don't know. Today I guess I felt like an oyster feels when it finds itself lemons and salted. All the same I went. Hair that had been golden for me yesterday was peroxide today. Lilies and roses had turned into powder and rouge. I knew then the ladies wouldn't have 'phoned me if something hadn't gone wrong with their belted earl.

"Later I learned what it was; early editions of the evening papers announced his engagement to the 'South African diamond debutante.' I suppose he'd found out that the American debutante's only diamonds were in her eyes.

"By this time I'd seen my way to condensing my life history so as to put it in your hands tonight, concentrate on the ending and save suspense for myself.

"Will you continue the birthday adventure into a lifelong romance? Please say yes. I'm sure of my own mind this time. Can you be? Will the Typist Queen of London sail for New York as the bride of the Chewing Gum King?"

Also she understood why he'd been pleased when she "turned down" Ciro's

Rose went to the looking glass and stared as she had stared at her 29-year-old self yesterday. Could she have dreamed everything since?

To make sure she hadn't she raced down stairs on tip toe to the telephone. . . . "Garard 4343! . . . Savoy hotel? Call Mr. John Grimes' suite, please. . . . Is that you, Jack? Yes, I've read it. And I do know what to do. O, it's too late tonight. But . . . yes, I'll have breakfast with you tomorrow. Shall we say 9? Well, then . . . O, not 6! But I can manage 7:30."

(Copyright, 1929, for The Constitution.)

OREN Cat Bone

Get this new sensational Oren Cat Bone. It's a winner in all games, money, love and everything. If you are lonely, unhappy and in bad luck, let me help you. This bone is regarded by many as being the most powerful of luck charms and is believed to change evil to good. If you have to do in a hurry it with you and notice the way it fits your pocketbook. Start being lucky now.

TWO PRIZES LUCKY LOSTONE FREE with your order. Many claim that at one place of London will drive away evil and the other will bring good luck. Join the lucky ones now. Send in your order and if you are not quite sure, we will gladly refund your money. I look back from if you order at once. If you want to be happy and lucky in games, draw your hand over to me, write today, and we will send you the Lucky Cat Bone, two pieces of Lostone and our Luck Book and instructions. On arrival pay postman only $1.00 and postage. These bones and water forever.
J. C. STEVENS CO., 4211 Milwaukee Ave.
Dept. MC-9814, Chicago

WIN A BUICK or $1800.00

WIN A BUICK or $1800.00

FIND THE DIFFERENT CAR

CHECK CAR MAIL COUPON

M. W. MYERS
Dept. 259, 500 N. Dearborn St.
Chicago, Ill.

I think the different car is No. _____ Send me award certificate immediately if this is right. No cost or obligation to me now or ever.

Name _____
Address _____
City _____ State _____

WIN A BUICK OR $1800.00

Club Motto
"Fair & Square"

Seckatary Hawkins Club

for Boys and Girls

Club Colors
Blue & White

Our Weekly Meeting

Tomorrow begins the month that is always thought of as the rainy season. Boys and girls as a rule do not like rainy days, because they are obliged to stay indoors. But that should not make us melancholy. As one of the great poets said, "Some days must be dark and dreary." We must be satisfied with half and half—we must take the rain with the sunshine, for too much of either would not be good. "April showers bring May flowers," you know, so instead of pouting on a rainy day, just think how happy you will be when the sun shines again, and you are able to enjoy the beauties and the blessings that the rain brings. Every cloud has a silver lining, you know. And being on the subject, do you realize what an interesting thing rain is? Following our custom—that is, to know more today than we knew yesterday—let us look up and find out all we can about rain, what causes it, and so forth, and then write to me and tell me all about it. Ask your teacher to tell you all about it—teachers like to have their pupils ask questions about such things—and perhaps your teacher will tell the whole class about it, so that every boy and girl who happens to be a member of our club can write about it for our contest. You will find all the rules of the contest in another part of this page. If you are not yet a member, we invite you to join right away, and fill out the membership coupon which you may send in with your contest work. Now don't put it off. Do it today! Now let's call the meeting to or-

THIS WEEK'S PASSWORD

"Watch Your Step" was our password for All Fools' Day, and if you do that very thing you're not likely to fall for so many tricks tomorrow.

Of course, it was an easy password to figure out. Most things are easy, after all, when once you make up your mind to do them.

Now, for this week's password, we will have one in keeping with the subject of our contest. Do you know what a saga is? Get out your dictionaries and look it up. And here is the password:

RAIN FALLS A G A

The letters are all mixed up, as usual. But take a pencil and paper and change the letters around until you have them in their proper places, and they will then spell something which is continually singing the most heroic rainfall saga in the world. I'm not going to give you any more tips on it. You'll have to do a little thinking for yourself now.

der and present a few new members whose letters win one of our books this week. We take pleasure in introducing a new member in Kentucky:

Dear Seck:
This is the first time I have written you but I know it won't be the last. I read your stories every Sunday, and I enjoy them very much. I only wish I were a boy and had the adventures like you do.
I belong to a club composed of five girls, and we call ourselves "Five Foolish Friends." We have loads of fun.
I hope I will win a book and also my membership card. I am a bookworm, and as I have read two of your books, I know the rest will be good.

I am 13 years old and a freshman in school.

Well, Seck, I guess I have about tired you out, so I must stop.

Sincerely,
MARY FRANCES MCCARTHY,
241 Campsie Place, Lexington, Ky.

Your letter was very neat as well as interesting. Mary Frances, and we are sending you a book for your effort. Watch the mail for it in a few days.

Next we have a communication from a member in Missouri:

Dear Seck:

I am enclosing a stamp for my badge. There isn't a day goes by that I do not read your adventures. They are very interesting. I am going to organize a club and use our shed for a clubhouse. I would like to have a few rules so our club, as well as yours, could live up to them. This is good till next time.

Yours, fair and square,
KENNETH SHANKLIN,
3319 E. Nineteenth St., Kansas City, Mo.

We hope you get your club together soon, Ken, and you will find the rules on the back of your membership card. Just tack up the card in your clubhouse, and follow those rules, and you will have a fair and square club. You'll receive a book in a few days for your nice letter.

And the next one is from a new member down in Dixie:

Dear Seck:

I do wish so much to join your club. I am sending in my membership blank. I am sure I would like to have one of your books of adventures. I am 12 years old and in the seventh grade. I am a girl, but I think your club is so nice. I read your page every day, and I sure do enjoy it. I live on a farm and think it is great. We have several baby squirrels. I have already named one "Seck."
Hoping I may receive one of your books, as I like reading so much.

Yours, fair and square,
MYRIE HUDDINS,
Hoschton, Ga.

I'm certainly proud to know you named that squirrel after me.

Myrtle, and I hope the little pet will be fair and square, too. We are sending you a book for your nice letter.

Now we take up a letter from the Pennsylvania basket:

Dear Seckatary Hawkins:

For the first time I heard you broadcast your club meeting on the air Monday evening, so I am sitting right down and writing for your details in becoming a member. Tonight one of my girl friends came over, and I told her about hearing you just ten minutes before, so this is what we've decided: I have a typewriter, so we are going to have a club and type letters. Don't you think that's a good idea? I do, so asking a favor of you, please send us a book with details. We are starting a library. Our slogan is Fair and Square. Our club's name is Seckatary Hawkins' club.

Sincere wishes and best of luck to your club. I remain,

MARTHA ANN EVANS, 11,
Mallery Place, Wilkes Barre, Penn.

Thanks for the good wishes, Martha, and we will be looking for those letters you are going to write on the typewriter. We will send you a book in a day or two.

And that brings us to the end of our page again, so we have to adjourn till next week. Tomorrow being the first of April I am just reminding you to watch your step and don't forget our radio meeting from Station WLW tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock, eastern standard time.

Bye, till next week.

Yours, fair and square,

Seckatary Hawkins

A NEW CONTEST EACH WEEK

Read the Rules Carefully.

In this week's contest the title must contain the word "RAIN." You may write a letter or story or verse, or draw a picture. Write on one side of paper only. Your composition must be written without any assistance from older persons. Drawings must be made in black drawing ink. All contributions must bear the writer's full name, address, and age. The contest will close Thursday. Prize winners will be announced April 14th.

PRIZE: A SECKATARY HAWKINS BOOK

Address all submissions in this contest to Seckatary Hawkins, care The Atlanta Constitution.

IN THE SECKATARY'S MAIL BOX

EASTER SUNDAY.

Jesus arose on Easter Sunday,
Early in the morn;
Mary came to weep over Him,
But found that He was gone.

She looked into the tomb,
And saw two angels there,
But when she looked again,
The tomb was bare.

She thought she heard a familiar voice
And turned around to see a man,
But when she looked she saw Jesus
With the scars still in His hand.
—LOUISE PAXTON, Age 11,
Lexington, S. C.

EASTER, FAIR AND SQUARE.

If you have two baskets of eggs,
And someone else has none,
Run fast on your two legs,
And give somebody else one—
That's Easter, fair and square!

If you have two rabbits or chicks,
And someone else has none,
And if you're in the kind of fix
To give to someone—run, run, run—
That's Easter, fair and square!
—VIRGINIA TERRELL, Age 12,
88 Mobile Ave., Atlanta, Ga.

Yes, we like Easter,
When Christ arose from the tomb,
And the bunny called Peter
Will be here very soon.

Peter with his basket full of eggs,
Will hop to a merry tune,
Hopping on his funny short legs,
Will be here very soon.
—FLORENCE GOODE, Age 12,
Carnesville, Ga.

EASTER.

Bunnies, bunnies everywhere,
Painting eggs with greatest care,
For little children on Easter day,
To make them happy and so gay.
The grass is turning oh, so green,
Everywhere new buds are seen,
The Easter bunnies on their way,
To bring us eggs on Easter day.
—RICHARD CULBREATH, Age 12,
Palmetto, Ga.

Dear Seck:
I sure am proud of my badge and all my classmates like it, too. They all want one like it, so I expect you'll hear from them before long. I think I'm the first one in Bayle to get one of your badges.

The first thing I do when I get home from school is read about you and your club. I think it is the best club that can be. My daddy calls me a "boy" and "his man," so maybe that's the reason I like you boys and your adventures.

We live on a farm and I like to help with the cows and chickens. I have a good time with my brothers. I help my sister in the house, too. Our mother died nearly a year ago and we sure are lonesome without her.

I'll try to obey your rules.

Yours, fair and square,
REBECCA SHORT,
Bayle, Ga.

"EASTER" PRIZE WINNER

THE FIRST EASTER

On Sunday after the Friday Christ died on the cross, some women went to the tomb in the garden. The names of these women were Mary Magdalene, Mary and Salome. They brought spices and gums. When they came to the tomb it was open and an angel stood there. No men were there because when the angel looked at them they fell down and then fled. But the body of Jesus was not there. An angel told them that Jesus had risen, as He had said. He told them that Jesus would go before them into Galilee and they would see Him there. When Mary Magdalene came (for she had hurried away to tell the disciples) two men in white gowns sat there. One of them said, "Woman, why do you weep?" She did not know him and said, "They have taken my Lord." Then he cried out, "Mary," and she knew it was Jesus. She fell down before Him and said, "My Master!" He said, "Do not take hold of me, for I am not yet ready to go away to my Father. But go to my brothers and say to them, I go up to my Father, and to your Father, to my God, and your God!" Mary went and told the disciples what Jesus had said. The other women, Mary and Salome and the disciples, went to Galilee. They were walking around when suddenly Jesus stood in front of them and said, "All hail!" That means, "A welcome to you all!" But the disciples were away and did not hear or see Jesus, but Jesus went to the place where the disciples were and told them about the people who had killed Jesus. But they did not know Jesus. They went to a place and had supper. This supper was called, "The Last Supper." Then they looked at Him and knew Him. He blessed them. Then He vanished and no one ever saw Him again, for He had risen. We remember Him and celebrate the day He rose and call it "Easter."

GEORGE NEILL, Age 9, Newnan, Ga.

Dear Seckatary:

I have heard a winner never quits and a quitter never wins. I have tried before, but I wasn't lucky. I am twelve years old. My birthday is January 18. I have blue eyes, brown hair and fair complexion. I read your page every Sunday and every day, too. Don't let those horrid Pelhams get you all and treat you any way because I know you don't deserve it and they're just a gang of rascals.

Yours, fair and square,
FLORENCE GOODE,
Box 107, Carnesville, Ga.

Dear Seck:

I am the first one to the paper every day. I love your stories so well. Seck, we have a club in the summer. We are going to start it up again. We have two rooms in a house we use for our clubhouse. I am the secretary. We have plays, too. We sure have lots of fun, but our club is not next to a river bank. But I wish it was.

We are going to have an egg hunt. I am sure we will have lots of fun if it doesn't rain. Yours, fair and square,
PRUE DARNELL,
Dillard, Ga.

Dear Seck:

I want to be a member of your club. I have been reading your stories and they are very interesting. I studied the word puzzle. It was Easter Lily. Am I right? I sure am glad when Easter comes, aren't you? It is very much fun to hunt for the eggs.

I live in the mountains, where it is very cold in the winter. We have lots of snow and sleet. I am very glad when summer comes, as mother runs a boarding house, and we meet so many nice people from the city.

Hoping to be your member,
KATHERINE WEATHERLY,
Mountain City, Ga.

EASTER.

Brightly from the blue spring sky,
Shines the Easter morning;
Lilies bloom along the way,
All the world adorning.

Blessed is the Easter day,
God and nature blending;
Teaching of the risen Christ,
And His life ascending.

DICKIE CULBREATH, Age 11,
Palmetto, Ga.

EASTER JOY.

Easter time is almost here,
With Easter joy and Easter cheer,
It comes each year for me and you,
It comes each year so very true.
The Easter rabbits look for eggs,
They hop about on their little legs;
They hop and skip, and dance, and play
Until the very close of the day.
—DAIRY MADARIE,
Route 1, Thompson, Ala.

Dear Seck:
Now I have longed to join your club. I am a little boy nine years old, and how I enjoy reading your letters every day and Sunday, too. Oh, boy, please don't let those Pelhams keep Little Gil's dog. Sure do wish I could be with you boys down on the old river bank.
I. A. DOWNS, JR.,
Grayson, Ga.

Dear Seckatary Hawkins:
I am in the sixth grade at school. I am thirteen years old. I have dark brown hair and eyes.

Seckatary, I have fun reading your letters for the last few weeks and enjoy them very much. I would like to become a member of your club and organize one in Fort Mill. I like your club motto and club colors.

If you will allow me to become a member of your club, I'll promise to try and make a good one.

At our school we have a literary society, and I enjoy it. This is my first time to write to you, but I'll promise you right here I don't intend for it to be my last. Tell all your members to please write me and send me their photos. I will gladly answer all letters.

Yours, fair and square,
LOUISE MARROW,
Fort Mill, S. C.

Dear Seckatary Hawkins:
I am a little girl eight years old, and am in the third grade.

I read your page every day, and sure do enjoy it. Every morning when the paper comes I'm the first to get it and I always read your page first.

Seck, will you let me be a member of your club? I like your motto, "Fair and square." I am going to try to be fair and square with everybody.

Hope you and your club get along fine on the old river bank.

Yours, fair and square,
DOROTHY LANE,
Shawmut, Ala.

EASTER

Drawn by Florence Kinney Ivey,
Route 4, Rockmart, Ga. Age, 12

Dear Seckatary:

I sure do enjoy reading your adventures every day, especially Sunday.

I guess I am about the oldest member in our club. I am fourteen and I haven't sent any letters from anyone that old yet.

Yours, fair and square,
BERTHA NALL,
Highlands, N. C.

Dear Seck:

We have a very good club and we are trying to keep the rules that you made. The mothers of some of the children like for them to be members because they stay out of trouble.

You are having a hard time finding the Skinny Guy's dog and getting caught in the rain. I hope you find the dog, because the Skinny Guy has a lot of trouble.

I am the captain of our club and I am trying my best to keep our club together and obey your rules.

Yours, fair and square,
NAT GREEN,
320 Jackson St., Lawrenceville, Ga.

Fill out this blank and enclose a 2-cent stamp for your club badge and mail to Seckatary Hawkins, care of The Atlanta Constitution.

MEMBERSHIP BLANK

Seckatary Hawkins:
I wish to be enrolled as a member of SECKATARY HAWKINS CLUB. I am enclosing a two-cent stamp for my club badge.

My name is .....

Street address .....

City .....

State .....

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Chapter CXXV: Changing Modes of Dress in Western Europe (400-1450 A. D.)

P. J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

FROM THE DAYS OF JULIUS CAESAR (100-44 B.C.) UNTIL THE BEGINNING OF THE 5TH CENTURY A.D. THE ROMAN CONQUERORS SPREAD THEIR CIVILIZATION AMONG THE "BARBARIAN" PEOPLES OF WESTERN EUROPE. THE INFLUENCE OF THE ROMAN OCCUPATION LEFT ITS MARK UPON THE LIFE AND CUSTOMS IN THE TRIBUTARY LANDS, INCLUDING THE DRESS OF THE PEOPLE.

THE ROMAN DRESS CONSISTED OF A LOOSE TUNIC AND A LONG, DRAPED "TOGA" OR MANTLE. THE GARB OF THE GERMANIC TRIBES WAS ADAPTED FOR HUNTING AND AN OUTDOOR LIFE, — A SHORT DOUBLET AND LONG, TIGHT TROUSERS "GARTERED TO THE LEGS WITH THONGS OR BANDS.

AS A RESULT OF THIS INTER-MINGLING OF IDEAS THE DRESS OF WESTERN EUROPE BECAME A COMBINATION OF THE "BARBARIAN" AND ROMAN. THE GERMANIC PEOPLES RETAINED THEIR LOVE OF ORNAMENT.

THE CHIEF CHARACTERISTICS OF THE DRESS OF THE EARLY MIDDLE AGES WERE THE "LONG GARMENT" AND THE CLOAK.

FOR CENTURIES MEN AND WOMEN DRESSED VERY MUCH ALIKE. THE LONG GARMENT OF THE MEN REACHED TO THE ANKLES, THAT OF THE WOMEN TO THE GROUND. WOMEN WORE THEIR HAIR IN LONG BRAIDS.

DURING THE EPOCH OF THE CRUSADES (1096-1270) CLOTHES OF COSTLY MATERIALS, RICH COLORS AND GRACEFUL LINES WERE WORN. THE MEN FAR EXCEEDED THE WOMEN IN THEIR LOVE OF FINERY.

IN THE PERIOD THAT FOLLOWED THE CRUSADES THE DRESS OF THE ARISTOCRACY BECAME EVEN MORE ELABORATE.

EXAGGERATED HEAD DRESSES FOR BOTH MEN AND WOMEN WERE A FEATURE OF THE DRESS OF THE LATE MIDDLE AGES. ABOVE ARE SHOWN TWO TYPES OF WOMEN'S HATS POPULAR IN THEIR DAY. —

IN THE 14TH AND 15TH CENTURIES LONG, TRAILING OVER-SLEEVES THAT REACHED TO THE GROUND WERE OFTEN WORN. THEY WERE CALLED "WEEPER'S."

THE COMMON FOLK OF MEDIAEVAL TIMES WORE HOME-SPUN GARMENTS INDICATIVE OF THEIR OCCUPATIONS, SO THAT ONE COULD TELL AT A GLANCE WHETHER A MAN WAS A FARMER, A CLERK, A HUNTER, A CARPENTER OR A SHEPHERD.

NATURALLY, THE WIVES OF MERCHANTS AND CRAFTSMEN WISHED TO DRESS LIKE THE LADIES OF THE COURT, AND THE KINGS OF ENGLAND AND FRANCE FELT OBLIGED TO ISSUE EDICTS REGULATING THE DRESS OF THEIR SUBJECTS. —

IN FRANCE IT WAS DECREED THAT "NO MERCHANT'S WIFE SHALL WEAR GOLD OR JEWELS," AND IN ENGLAND "TRADESMEN'S WIVES MAY WEAR NO SILKEN VEILS AND NO FUR BUT CAT-SKIN." IN SPITE OF THESE LAWS, THE WOMEN WORE WHAT THEY PLEASSED. —

THE ADVENTURES OF SECKATARY HAWKINS AND HIS CLUB

The telephone was ringing wildly when I came up the steps and opened the clubhouse door. It must have been ringing for several minutes. It made me so nervous I could hardly get the key in the lock—I fumbled with it for a few seconds, then shoved open the door and ran through the meeting room into the little room beyond, where I did my writing.

"Hello!" I yelled, as I put the receiver to my ear.

It was Jeckerson on the line—the detective from Watertown.

"I want to talk to Hawkins," he said. "Seckatary Hawkins, if you please."

"You're talkin' to him," I said. "What's the idea ringin' this bell so long and so loud?"

"Don't blame me, the operator did the ringin'—I've been trying to get you for the last ten minutes, Hawkins."

"Well, you know we boys don't get down here till school is out. I'm the first one down. Other boys will be here in a few minutes—"

"I don't want the other boys. I just want you, Hawkins. You can use those other boys all you please to help you. But I want only you to help me. You see? Now, listen closely—there's a rumor—that you know more about the people I'm looking for than you've let on to me—"

"I told you I would do all I could for you, Jeckerson. Give me time, won't you? I'll come across, all right. But when I do, it'll be fair and square all around. Now, do you see?"

A chuckle came over the wire. "Same old Hawkins!" came Jeckerson's low rumbling voice. "All right, kid. I just wanted to keep you reminded—don't forget what we want, now, will you—the king of the hoboes and a little boy. Old Man Sunshine the tramps call him—"

"And Little Boy Bluebird—yes, Jeckerson. I know what you want. I'll try to be fair and square with you."

"I know you will, Hawkins. You've always been that way. I'm depending upon you a whole lot, Seckatary. You've helped me on a few cases before, and I'm not one to be ungrateful. I told you I would trust you. Just don't forget me, when the time comes—"

"You can trust me—till Niagara falls!"

I hung up the receiver. Then I threw my cap in the corner and scratched my head. I was a bit angry, I suppose. It's natural for a boy to feel that way—yet I didn't have any reason to be. I had to do the fair and square thing. Jeckerson wanted Old Daddy Joe and Little Gil—Jeckerson wanted them! The detective! Every time that came to my mind I got mad. It was only fair and square to turn them over to Jeckerson, if they had broken the laws. But it wasn't fair and square to Old Daddy Joe and Little Gil until I knew positively that they had done so. No, sir! Daddy Joe was only a poor old tramp, a hobo; and Little Gil was a hobo's boy; but, by Jinks! I figure everybody's got a right to be treated fair and square, whether they have rags or riches.

"You boys don't happen to have your ears stopped up, do you?" asked Lew, smiling. "I want Little Gil in this club. You want to know my reason, I guess. I'll tell you. He's got the most beautiful singing voice I ever heard. You boys all like our singing practice. All right, now's your chance to add a voice to it that will make our club famous. Why, that kid can sing rings around any of us. I think I know something about voices. Gil is perfect. Not only that, he has the gift of knowing how to sing, even though nobody taught him—"

"How do you know nobody taught him?" demanded Shadow Loomis.

"Why, being brought up with tramps, like that, you wouldn't expect a boy to know anything—much, would you? Well, I'm not going to say any more. You boys have all heard the little beggar sing. You know how it sounds. Get him in this club. Let me have him for a while, and if I don't make the world say our club has the most wonderful boy singer in the world, I'll be willing to hand in my resignation. Why, with him in our choir, we could travel all over the world and give concerts in the biggest music halls in every big city. Think it over. If any boy here thinks Little Gil isn't the best singer he has ever heard, stand up and say it."

Nobody said a word. It was quite evident that every boy there believed what Lew said. Little Gil did have the most beautiful silvery voice we had ever heard. Lew Hunter himself was a great singer. His voice was well thought of by everyone who had heard it. He had joined our club through his singing, so to speak. And he had been our music master, conducting our singing practice all these years.

"I was just wondering," began Shadow Loomis, as he slowly rose from his chair and thrust his hands into his pockets, "wondering why, the other day, when you played and started to sing 'The Last Rose of Summer'—you fellows all remember Lew singin' that—and Little Gil screamed for you to stop. Just wondering why he did not want to hear that song, Lew."

Lew was smiling as he sat back in his chair and let his gaze travel to the ceiling.

"You're asking me a riddle," he said. "But I suppose it could be answered—that's one of the reasons I'd like to have Little Gil in our club. Listen here, fellows," and Lew leaned over the table, and we all leaned forward, too, our heads together. "Listen, now. There's something strange about Little Gil.

bust up this club and clear out of this clubhouse if we don't do as Jeckerson says. That detective can make more trouble for us boys—"

"He won't make any trouble, Jerry!" I said, hotly, for this talk was making me mad. "I'll take the blame if he does. Jeckerson has left this all to me—"

"Why don't you tell him, then, that Old Daddy Joe is the king of the hoboes—"

"Because," I cut in, "Old Daddy Joe isn't. He was, I'll admit that. But now he's lodgekeeper for Sir Eustace. Things are coming out all right. You boys know me. I've been your seckatary for all these years, and I've helped Jeckerson before, and we've come out on top, simply because we played fair and square to everybody. Well, we are going to play fair and square with Old Daddy Joe and Little Gil. Lew Hunter made a motion to make Little Gil a member of this club—all right, I'm seconding that motion, and I'll ask you boys to vote on it. Let's see how fair and square you braggarts are, now."

I sat down in my place. Dick Ferris hit the table with his wooden hammer.

"Motion made and seconded!" he called out. "All in favor—"

They all said "Aye!" It was unanimous—that's a big word, and

Lew. I said; "that's all I want for pay."

Another day gone. I am writing this alone in my writing room, before going home. Little Gil was here, in the clubhouse, today when we came down. It so happened that we all arrived at the same time and found him here. Making himself at home, the little beggar, as though he owned the place. He was looking at the pictures on the wall of my writing room as we came in. He didn't seem very much embarrassed. He simply said:

"I'm here again. Seems like I just can't keep away from this place. Don't know what makes my footsteps turn this-a-way every time I set foot out of doors. I don't belong here, nohow. So I don't see why I come. But here I am again. Just can't keep away, seems like."

And then he grinned at us and brushed back his straw-colored hair from his forehead, as we all stood there in a bunch and stared at him. And as I looked upon his pinched features, that seemed to show suffering and many days of hunger or worry, my heart went out to him. By Jinks! I don't know why I am so soft-hearted, but I guess I just can't help it. He raised his hand and ran it again through his yellow hair, and I noticed the ragged tiful picture, to my eyes. Like a little terrier, suddenly confronted by a lot of hounds. Little Gil stood in front of us, his eyes bold and defiant and painfully truthful—nothing to be afraid of; and then suddenly he cowered!

"No!" he exclaimed. "We ain't knights of the road no more. But they was honest—I give you my word! My word is as good as yorn, anyhow. I ask you to trust me. I won't break in your clubhouse any more, if you will believe me this time. Let me go. You'll never see me again."

He held out his hands. But Dick Ferris took a step forward and looked down into his big eyes.

"No," said Dick, shaking his head, slowly; "we can't let you go—now, Gil. Because we do want to see you again. We want to see you often—in fact, we want you to be a member of our club. Will you?"

The look of astonishment that came into Little Gil's eyes I cannot hope to describe.

"What?" he whispered. And his eyes traveled around the group of faces that now hemmed him in. "You want me—to be—a member."

"Yes, a member of our club. To promise to be fair and square with us, and with everybody, as you hope we and everybody will be fair and square with you. Will you join us?"

Little Gil seemed dumbfounded at that declaration. His eyes widened and his lower jaw dropped. He stared at us. His hands were outstretched.

"Not me?" he asked again. "You don't mean you want me—Old Daddy Joe's boy—to join this club?"

"You heard what I said. The boys voted on it yesterday. All of them voted yes—to take you in, as a member—now I've told it to you. Make up your own mind—"

"But you've got to be fair and square," interrupted Jerry Moore; "not only with us, but with everybody you meet. Get that, Gil."

Gil's lips were parted in a faint smile. His head bobbed up and down.

And so he was a member of our club.

Another day gone. Today was Little Gil's first day as a real member of our club. When the roll was called and Gil was asked to give his name, he said "Gilbert Gray." And when asked for his address, "Gate House, Lodge of Sir Eustace, Main Road and River Woods." Nobody asked for more information. Lew Hunter went up to Little Gil and told him that he expected him to sing in our choir.

"Oh, of course," said Little Gil. "I want to do all I can for this club. Do you think I've got a good singin' voice? Old Daddy Joe always says I have. But Happer Nam, he tells me always I better not get that notion in my head, lest somebody come along and tell me I'm foocy."

"Sing," says Lew. And he touched the yellowed keys of our old organ, and struck a chord. "Any old song you know, Gil."

And Gil raised his voice and sang

"In the gloaming, oh, my darling! When the lights are dim and low, And the quiet shadows falling Softly come and softly go."

Lew turned around suddenly from the organ, and asked:

"Why don't you sing some new songs, Gil?"

"I don't know any new ones," he said, "all I know is what I can remember—"

"Where," I spoke up, "did you learn all those old songs, Gil? Seems like you just love to sing all the old timers. Who taught 'em to you?"

Little Gil shook his head.

"I don't know," he says; "seems like long ago somebody sang 'em to me, somewhere. But I've forgotten everything except the songs. I wish I could remember—"

His voice trailed off, and the next moment I could see, by the look on his face, that he was far away from us in his thoughts. I brought him back.

"Never mind, Gil," I said; "sing for us the old songs. They are the best, after all. Sing Old Kentucky Home—or Way Down Upon the Sewanee River—or Massa's In de Cold, Cold Ground—or anything—by Jinks! Gil, we will be glad to listen and call for more."

Which we did.

(Copyright, 1929, for The Constitution.)

You've all noticed it. I don't mind saying that I think every boy in this club likes the little beggar. A little tramp, that's what he is, and his father brought him up a tramp, so the poor kid can't help it. But there's something about him that you've got to like, isn't there, now?"

Shadow was the only one who spoke, although every boy nodded.

"He seems so alone," said Shadow; "you feel sorry for the little cuss—so all by himself in the world. He seems to love his Old Daddy Joe, but it strikes me that he tries to pull away from the kind of life the tramps lead—"

"Don't call 'em tramps any more," I broke in, softly. "Old Daddy Joe is lodgekeeper up at Sir Eustace's place now. You all heard him tell us that he was no longer king of the hoboes—"

"That reminds us of another thing," interrupted our captain; "Hawkins, you're going to get us all in trouble if you don't tell Jeckerson, that Watertown detective friend of yours, that Old Daddy Joe is king of the hoboes—"

"I just got through telling you that Old Daddy Joe is lodgekeeper!" I exclaimed. "You heard him say so, himself, Dick. You were with us when we went up to the place and saw him and Little Gil and Happer Nam, that other tramp—"

"Once a tramp," said Dick, with a knowing look and a half smile, "you can't change 'em. He might be lodgekeeper for Sir Eustace. But Sir Eustace has a tramp for a lodgekeeper, that's all I've got to say."

"What's the use arguing about that?" spoke up Jerry Moore. "Old Judge Granbery will make us boys it means a whole lot, too, so I am glad I used it in writing about this particular motion. It mean a lot to me, too. After all the stormy times we had had in this clubhouse lately, and all the trouble I seemed to have caused by sticking up for Little Gil, I was glad to see the boys come forward this time and show that they were placing their confidence in me. Now I knew that I had to be fair and square, not only to Little Gil and his Old Daddy Joe, but to Jeckerson as well, because the good name of our club depended upon it.

"Thanks, awfully, Hawkins," said Lew Hunter to me, as the meeting broke up. "I want that kid, Little Gil! What a musical name, if you ask me! And his voice! Oh, boy! Say, there won't be a note too high for us now."

"All right, Lew," I said, wearily; "you think only of the singing, don't you?"

He smiled and laid his hand upon my arm.

"I know there's a lot behind it, Seck," he said; "but I've got enough faith in you for that. If Little Gil's in trouble, you'll get him out, won't you?"

"Seems like that's all I've been doing ever since this club started," I said, with a rueful smile; "trying to steer our club clear of trouble, and getting it out of it when we failed."

"For that you are seckatary," said Lew, with a laugh. "But I'll stand by you. Call on me when you need anybody. I want that kid's voice in our singing, and I'm willing to pay for it—with anything but money, which I haven't got any of."

"You've got plenty of good will, sleeve fall from his arm, that sleeve that always reminded me of a wounded wing of a bird.

"How did you get in?"

It was our captain's voice that asked that question. And Little Gil hesitated for a second—only a second he hesitated, then he drove his hand into one of those huge pockets of that greenish long coat that hung to his ankles, and brought forth a skeleton key made from a button-hook.

"This," he said, with a sheepish smile, "I used to get in. But I've been doin' some thinkin' an' don't want you boys to feel bad about me—I ain't bad, honest I ain't—an' I won't ever use it again to break into your clubhouse. There—take it!"

He threw the button-hook thing upon the table. Dick Ferris, our captain, stepped up and took it.

"You can make another one of these," said Dick, slowly; "that won't be any hard thing for you to do. Anybody can make a key out of one of these—to break in this clubhouse of ours, which has only a simple lock—"

Little Gil looked offended and ashamed. He moved from one foot to another.

"Something else, then," he said, "I promise you on my honor."

"The honor of the hobo?" asked Dick suddenly.

Little Gil's eyes sparkled.

"Yeah!" he said, quickly. "The honor of the road! A knight of the road! Never breaks his honor. I give you the honor of the knight of the road—"

He faltered there. It was a beau-

ABOUT BROADWAY

BY MARK HELLINGER.

IN THE basement of the Earl Carroll theater building on Fifth street and Seventh avenue, there is a cabaret known as the New Frivolity Club. From 11 in the evening until the hour of closing, it is a spot for gaiety and happiness—and false laughter. Here, during the early morning hours, one sees handsome men and beautiful women. Here, when the lights are blazing, are girls and music and song. Here, as others sleep peacefully in their homes, is Broadway merriment at its gayest heights. Here is where we live for today—and to hell with tomorrow.

But when the lights no longer blaze and the last patron has long since disappeared into the gray dawn the New Frivolity Club is far from a hilarious spot. Overhead, the traffic rumbles by. A new day has been born. And in the New Frivolity a lone man, guided by a lone light that shines dully, goes from table to table and sweeps up the litter that was left by the last of the laughers.

Porter, watchman, janitor—you may call this man any of these. He looks to be some 44 or 45 years of age. Actually, he is in his fifties. He's rather a handsome fellow with curly gray hair and eyes of steely blue. He talks with a drawl, somewhat in the fashion of Will Rogers.

Surely, in all the world, there is no more lonesome job than this. Above him, on the street thousands of people step briskly along—yet he sees none of them. All around him, during the long day, are reminders of the joy that night will bring—yet he never can sample that joy.

Always that lone light burns. Set in the center of the floor, it is his only sunlight. Sometimes when mop and broom have been laid aside, he reads by it. Sometimes he dozes by it—but the light is never turned off. That light is his spotlight. Perhaps his farewell spotlight.

The man's name is Yeatman C. Alley. We are proud to say that we have shaken his hand.

And here is his story.

Alley was born in Nashville, Tenn. His mother died when he was very young. His father thought that the way the horses ran was more important than family affairs. And Yeatman C. Alley was selling newspapers in Nashville at the tender age of eight.

There were eighteen routes on this newspaper list, and Alley was the youngest routeman of them all.

Thoughts of the stage were far from Alley's mind. He was interested in the theater, of course, in the same manner as any other normal American kid. But as far as being an actor was concerned—this had no place in the youngster's scheme of things.

In those days in Nashville, the big event of the season was the arrival of a famous Shakespearean star for a week's engagement. These stars carried but a small company and most of the extras were recruited from the boys and girls of the town.

Accompanied by a number of youths his own age, Alley applied for a job as an extra in a Shakespearean attraction. They gave him a bit to do, and he did it well. The next night, in another play, a slightly larger bit was waiting for him. At the end of the week, when the other boys were given a dollar each, his slip called for five.

The manager took him aside.

"Alley," he said, "you're a good boy and I'd like to have you with our company. You say you're carrying papers now and studying at night. Come along with us and study in the greatest school in the world. What do you say?"

The boy shook his head.

"Don't think so, Mr. Martin," was his response. "Think I'd better stick around here for a while. Maybe, some time later."

The two shook hands and Alley never saw that particular manager again. But the seed had been sown. The boy lay awake at night, dreaming of audiences that cheered him again and again.

Six months later, Alley was a member of a traveling theatrical organization presenting "Two Old Cronies." He was the prop boy, the assistant stage manager, the call boy, the curtain puller—and he often played as many as four small roles during one play. For this he received $25 a week, out of which he had to pay all expenses with the exception of transportation.

Mary Boland

Yeatman C. Alley

But he was happy. He was an actor now. The schoolbooks and the newspaper route were nothing more than memories of a past . . .

The years flew by. Alley played with a number of stock companies, including several seasons with the Boyle and Curry players. The latter organization was one of the best in the south and some of its graduates were Harry Mestayer, Donald Meek and Mary Boland.

Alley returned to Nashville and became interested in the business of amusement parks. Acting for a corporation, he opened one of these amusement centers in Nashville, Chattanooga and Knoxville. His particular pride and joy, however, was Glendale park, in Nashville.

On a certain morning in March, a woman named Mrs. Reynolds asked if she might see Mr. Alley. She had three children with her, and she wanted the theatrical manager to give them a chance to appear on one of his bills.

Alley watched the three children dance and then chose one of them—a little girl—to appear in an Easter scene. A huge Easter egg was wheeled upon the stage and, at the proper cue, the Reynolds child was to burst forth from the shell and go into a little toe dance.

Mrs. Reynolds was overjoyed at the opportunity. The child did as she was told and the Easter number was well received. People flocked to the park that week to see "that cute Reynolds girl perform."

From the time she last appeared in Glendale park, Alley never saw that Reynolds child again. He's heard of her, however—and so have you. Her name is now Marilyn Miller . . .

Some time later, a stock company was formed and went to Atlanta, Ga., for a short season. The company was known as "Alley's Associated Players" and the Georgians took the troupe to their hearts. Instead of a short season, Alley's company remained in Atlanta for six years.

Alley was riding high now. In the city of Atlanta, he was treated like a king. Money did not roll in with great speed, but there was more than sufficient for this man's needs. In his theater, he was a monarch.

Like most of us, Alley asked more. Then, as today, the dream of every troupier was to land on Broadway.

So Alley disbanded his stock company. He knew his theater from every angle. The real money was on Broadway and he was going there.

In the beginning, Alley found Broadway a cold and heartless street. It was the old, old story of the agency grind day after day and week after week. Finally, when things looked darkest, he landed a job with a new motion picture concern which had just been formed by a man named William Fox.

On the first picture that Fox ever turned out, Yeatman C. Alley was the assistant cameraman. The film was titled "Life's Shopwindow," and was made on Staten Island with Stuart Holmes as one of the stars. Part of Alley's duties were to provide the lunches for the players and hand in itemized bills to the home office.

Each player was allowed thirty cents for lunch. A sandwich, a piece of pie and a cup of milk or coffee was the average repast. The stars were treated like all the others and if Alley exceeded that thirty-cent limit, there was the devil to pay when the expense accounts were turned in.

Today, just across the street from the basement in which Alley works, stands the Roxy theater, which William Fox controls. It is the largest motion picture house in the world—and thirty cents, the price of the first Fox star's lunch, will not get a seat in the topmost balcony. Ah, Roscoe, it's a funny game.

After "Life's Shopwindow," Alley gradually forged ahead in the Fox organization. He was art and technical adviser for "Gold and the Woman" with Theda Bara, and for "Les Misérables," with William Farnum—to mention just two of a great many. He acted in the same capacity for Frank Lloyd and Harry Millarde, two of our best known directors of the present day. He was well on his way to the top.

And then he fell in love . . .

The girl was Mary Deane, who was playing at that time with Montgomery and Moore in "Hanky Panky." She loved him, too. They were married. And they were very, very happy.

But there was a fly in their ointment of content. Somehow, it seems, there always is. Alley's work kept him in New York—and his wife's work carried her to the coast.

They tried it for a time. It was no use. They loved each other too much to be apart. Alley threw up his job and Mary threw up hers. And the two of them went into business together as producers of tabloid girl acts.

Success crowned their efforts in a minor way. Half a dozen of their acts had been routed and the profits were piling in very nicely. Then, too, they had each other. Which mean more to them than all the wealth of a dozen Fords or Mellons.

In 1923 there was a baby boy. In 1925 there was a baby girl. God had been good to them. Alley purchased a small home on the outskirts of Athol, Mass., where they might spend their summers. More than summers, too. When the winters of their lives rolled around, they planned to spend them there—together.

Alley looked back on a life that had finally borne fruit. The ragged newsboy of Nashville had seen life in all its phases and he now had a wife, two children, a small bank account that was growing, and a home.

Not bad . . .

About a year and three months ago, the blow fell. His wife became desperately ill. They sent her to a Boston hospital. She suffered the tortures of hell. Cancer. No cure. They put in a hurry call for Alley. He rushed to Boston.

But too late. He arrived there just as the doctor was placing the cover over the woman's face.

Alley buried his wife five miles from the little farm on which they had planned spending their old age together. It was mid-winter and the snow was piled high. Bareheaded, he stood at the grave and watched them lower the body. Tears coursed from his eyes as the chill wind blew through his thin overcoat. Two days later, he was down with pneumonia . . .

We spoke with this man last Sunday afternoon. He seemed happy to see us. He introduced us to his children—proudly.

"This is Mary Emily," he cried, pointing to the little girl of four. Named after her mother you see.

"And this is Lionel David. Lionel for Lionel Barrymore and David for David Warfield. And if he's half the actor that either one of them is, I'll be a very happy father."

Except for the four of us, the cabaret was empty. Only that one light shone forth. We spoke to him about his story. He placed a warning finger on his lips and sent the children out into the foyer.

"Don't want them to hear anything," he cautioned after they had disappeared. "They don't know their mother's dead yet. I ain't never had the heart to tell em. I just say she's sick and that she'll come back some day."

"Can you use my story? Why not? I'm not ashamed of what I'm doing. After all, it's just the breaks in life. I get $30 a week, and that's bread and butter and clothes for my babies."

"They're all I have left in the world right now. After she died, my sickness and her burial took every cent I had in the world, including our home in the country. I took this job eight months ago and I'm keeping it as long as I can—for them."

"That's all there is to it. It's not so much of a story, is it?"

No? Yeatman C. Alley works from 5 in the morning to 5 in the afternoon. Sometimes he takes the children with him to the club. Other times he leaves them at home with a girl who is paid $5 a week out of his meager income.

He washes these children of his. Three times a day, he cooks for them—rushing home at noon to prepare their lunch. He washes their clothes and he irons them. At night, the three of them have supper together. Shortly after, he tenderly places them in their beds. After they are asleep, he goes to bed. His day as a watchman is over.

For two or three months the children had a playmate. A stray cat had wandered into the club—and they would not let their father depart for the club until he had cooked some breakfast for the cat. But even that little game is over. Somebody stole the cat.

He's cut out tobacco now. Doesn't use it because the cost runs a little too high.

"It's kinda hard to get along on $30," he explains laughingly. "You see, I'm payin' $5 a week insurance on my life. That kinda hurts a little. But after all, if I pop off, the kids are gonna be all right. I kin close my eyes in peace. I wouldn't let that insurance lapse for all the tobacco in the world."

We left Yeatman C. Alley. In the foyer of the club, we stopped to chat with the children for a while. Beautiful kids, they were—both of them with blue eyes like their father's.

As we ascended the stairs, we looked back. A few feet from that lonesome light, Alley was dozing. His face wore a peaceful smile. As we looked, we gulped twice and cursed ourselves for a sentimentalist.

For the light threw a strange shadow on the man's head. It was only the rim of the lamp, of course, but we could have sworn it looked like a halo. . . .

(Copyright, 1929, for The Constitution.)